MEMORIAL SERVICES AT SEA FOR FLYERS

Rites Planned Sept. 16—Navy Continues Search for Missing.

By the Associated Press.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 27.—Memorial services at sea for the six men and one woman missing in connection with the Dole flight has been planned by San Francisco citizens.

Tons of flowers are to be placed aboard the Matson liner Maui by relatives and admirers of the flyers—these to be cast upon the Pacific Ocean some 700 miles west of San Francisco, Sept. 16, one month after the exciting start at Oakland, Cal., of the first aerial race to Hawaii.

A clergyman aboard the Maui will be called on to deliver the eulogy in the memorial services and passengers bound for Hawaii are to form the chorus singing anthems as floral offerings are tossed from the steamer's decks to line the great circle for miles.

The Navy's search along the ocean lane to Honolulu was still in progress today. Admiral Richard H. Jackson, commander-in-chief of the Pacific fleet, declared the search for the flyers would be abandoned only with the abandonment of all hope of finding the aviators.

With the search on this side of the Pacific virtually concluded, submarines, mine sweepers, six destroyers and a light cruiser still were carrying on the hunt in the western sector and over a stretch of water 500 miles northwest of the main Hawaiian Islands.

MAN KILLED ON PORCH OF HIS HOME BY TWO ROBBERS

Vincenzo Datillo, 64, Owner of Fruit Market, Shot to Death at 5238 Kensington Avenue.

WIFE AND NIECE SEE HIM MURDERED

Highwaymen Flee Empty-Handed — Apparently Meant to Rob Victim of Day's Receipts.

Vincenzo Dattillo, 64 years old, proprietor of the Liberty Fruit and Vegetable Market, 315 DeBaliviere avenue, was shot to death by holdup men, in the presence of his wife and young niece, on the front porch of his home, 5238 Kensington avenue, at 10:25 last night.

Dattilo, his wife and his niece, Augustina Dattilo, 8 years old, were returning from the market. Mrs. Dattilo carried a handbag containing $50 of the market's receipts. The bag was on her left arm as she approached the front door, key in hand. She stopped as she saw two young men on the porch.

The youths, one of them displaying a revolver, gave a "hands up" order, and Mrs. Dattilo thrust her handbag behind her. One of them snatched at her arm, and the husband stepped to her side. Three shots followed.

Slayers Flee Empty-Handed.

The bullets entered Dattilo's throat and chest, and he was dead a few minutes later. The youths, without taking the handbag from Mrs. Dattilo, fled eastward on Kensington to Clarendon avenue, where one ran south toward Delmar boulevard, and the other north toward the Hodiamont tracks.

Persons who saw the young men said they wore light-colored clothing. Mrs. Dattilo accompanied her husband's body to the City Hospital, and became hysterical there.

The niece, who remained at the home, said she and her uncle and aunt walked from the Union car line to their home, and that she saw the young men on the porch at about the time that they were seen by her aunt. She heard the robbers' order, and it seemed to her that the shooting of her uncle followed almost immediately.

Nephew Killed by Gangster.

Anthony Dattilo, a nephew of Vincenzo Dattilo, was shot by gangsters the night of Sept. 23 last in the Submarine bar, Fourteenth and Locust streets, of which he was proprietor, and died a few days later. Michael Dattilo, a fruit merchant, twin brother of Anthony, was wounded at the same time, but recovered. Joseph Rugo was also killed at that time. The shootings were attributed to the Cuckoo-Italian feud, which soon after was halted by an armistice, but which has been renewed in the last few days, in the Russo and Spicuzza killings in Chicago, and the murder of Benjamin Giannco here.

The police, however, have found no evidence that the killing of Vincenzo was other than what it appeared to be, the outcome of an attempt at robbery, without especial regard to his identity.

STABS TWENTY-THIRD VICTIM

Mysterious Bridgeport, Conn., Assailant Escapes Unseen.

By the Associated Press.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Aug. 27.—The stabber who has terrorized this city with his periodic activities for the last 30 months, reappeared this afternoon in a crowded downtown department store, to claim his twenty-third victim.

Isabelle Pelskur, 14 years old, a messenger in the store in which the first of the series of stabbings was committed, was the victim. She was slashed as she was ascending a stairway, as the crowd of shoppers was leaving the store at closing time. Although there were scores of persons in the immediate vicinity, the man escaped unobserved. The girl got only a glimpse of him.

Storm Injures Seven on Ship.

By the Associated Press.

HAVANA, Aug. 27.—One day overdue, the German steamship Raimund came into port today from European ports with two of its officers and five members of the crew severely injured. The Raimund encountered exceptionally heavy weather from Aug. 21 to 25. Part of the superstructure was destroyed and the store rooms were flooded. The injured men were transferred to a hospital.

KILLING OF MAN AND WOMAN LAID TO FEUD OF GAMBLERS

Violent Death of Gangster and His Wife Linked With Shooting in Detroit Hotel.

By the Associated Press.

DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 27.—Two more names were added today to the list of victims of a gamblers' feud which has continued intermittently here for the last 14 months.

The bodies of a man and woman found shot to death last night in the back seat of an automobile were identified as those of Lester A. McCall and his wife, Clara.

Police catalogue McCall as a gambler and believe his death and that of his wife was an act of revenge for a pistol fight last Tuesday in which another gambler and an innocent bystander were shot. The affray Tuesday occurred in a hotel in which McCall and his wife lived. Immediately after the shooting two men and a woman ran from the hotel. The woman and one of the men leaped to the running board of a moving automobile. The man threatened the driver with a revolver and made him take them in. The driver noticed blood on the clothing of the man and believing he was injured, wrested the revolver from him. The man and the woman then jumped from the automobile and fled on foot. Police believe that others engaged in the hotel shooting traced the pair and killed them.

TEXAS SHERIFF AND DEPUTY SLAIN BY TWO PRISONERS

Shot After Starting to Jail With Men Accused of Stealing Bale of Cotton.

ABILENE, Tex., Aug. 27.—Sheriff Bob Smith, of Fisher County, and his deputy, Jake Owens, were shot and killed near Roby, Tex., today by two men they had arrested on a charge of stealing a bale of cotton. Lloyd Karensky and Bill Smith are sought for the killings. They escaped in a motor car.

The Sheriff was shot through the back after placing Smith and Karensky in his car and starting to jail with them. Owens, who was in the back seat, leaped from the car but was shot down by the two prisoners, witnesses said.

DUTY REFUNDED TO FILM STAR

Court Holds Penalty Invalid On Dresses of Betty Compson.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Aug. 27. — The Collector of Customs at Los Angeles is ordered to refund additional duties collected as a penalty on certain French dresses purchased by Betty Compson, motion picture actress, in a decision announced here today by Judge Sullivan in the United States Customs Court.

The dresses in question had a home valuation of 25,000 francs ($1000) but were sold to Miss Compson for 12,000 francs ($480) because of the advertising value attached to the purchase. Miss Compson accordingly entered them at a valuation of 12,000 francs. When their full value was ascertained duty was levied thereon, with an additional penalty of 10 per cent for undervaluation. The full valuation must stand under today's decision, but the penalty is to be refunded.

Feland reports quiet in Nicaragua, where native constabulary gradually is taking over the policing of the country. Marines are being withdrawn from interior points as rapidly as the constabulary is ready to assume control.

TWO ARRESTED IN ALLEGED $15,000 CHECK SWINDLE

N. David, Proprietor of Granite City Store That Was Stripped of Stock, One Man Involved.

SON DISAPPEARS, WARRANT ISSUED

Son-in-Law of Proprietor, Also Is Charged With Assisting in Cashing Bogus Paper.

Navas David, the gray-haired smiling merchant who operated the clothing store at 1336 Nineteenth street, Granite City, and his son-in-law, Meyer Weisman, who formerly helped back of the counter, were released under bond by Granite City police last night in connection with an alleged $15,000 bank swindle.

Although checks involved were drawn on the First National Bank of Woodriver, Ill., police were of the opinion the brunt of the loss would fall upon the First National Bank of Granite City, where they were cashed.

The son of the elderly merchant, C. H. David, who was his father's mainstay in business, is being sought by police. The father said that the son left town last Tuesday and took with him the bulk of the $15,000. The clothing establishment, in whose doorway Navas David basked and smiled on the world, is only an empty store, for mysterious individuals five days ago called there in the night and carted away its stock, valued at several thousand dollars.

In the Dead of the Night.

The first hint of the alleged swindle, in fact, came to Granite City police when Night Watchman Oscar Harris noticed two trucks in front of the clothing store in the dead of night. The trucks drove away at high speed when he hailed the drivers. He investigated the store and found that the shelves were depleted of their supposedly valuable stocks. In the showcases, however, a display of goods was arranged to indicate that the store was well stocked. That was Monday night.

Meanwhile, certain checks drawn upon the First National Bank of Woodriver, and cashed at the First National Bank of Granite City by Weisman, David's son-in-law, were causing speculation at Woodriver. Hour after hour, the checks kept coming in, and they were mounting into the thousands.

A final checkup showed that 48 checks in all were drawn, amounting to approximately $15,000, while the David account at Woodriver showed virtually no funds.

Arrests Follow Parley.

August Theilker and Steve Toman, tellers at the Granite City Bank, were summoned by the Woodriver institution and after a parley of tellers, warrants were sworn out against the David family, father, son and son-in-law, and arrests followed.

According to the story told police, David, the son, for the past two months, has been cashing checks daily for several hundred dollars each at the Granite City bank. Receiving the money, David or Weisman it was alleged, would drive to Woodriver, depositing the money to meet the check just cashed in Granite City. This procedure, kept up for 60 days, according to police, built up a credit for the clothing store operators. It was this credit, apparently, that young David "cashed in" on to the extent of $13,000 before he departed, the day following the disappearance of the stock in the clothing store, the authorities assert.

The son-in-law, Weisman, was arrested first, because he had indorsed the checks. Weisman denied to police that he knew the checks were drawn upon an account in which there were no funds, and he denied signing, in addition to his own, the "fake" name that appeared on the check.

He was nevertheless charged with forgery in one warrant, and with operating a confidence game in another. The bond, under which he was released, totaled $30,000.

David, the father, charged with operating a confidence game, was released on $5000 bond. The missing son is also charged in a warrant with operating a confidence game.

Weisman declares he does not know the whereabouts of his brother-in-law, and is astounded at his brother-in-law's seeming flight. David, the elder, says likewise that he does not know the direction of flight of his son.

The father and the son-in-law will have a hearing on Sept. 1.

BACKER FEARS RIO FLYER, BLOWN OFF COURSE, IS DOWN

Redfern's Fuel Would Have Run Out at 4:30 P. M. Yesterday, Flight Committee Head Points Out.

NO WORD IN 60 HOURS AFTER FLIGHT BEGAN

Capital of Brazil Gives Up Hope of Seeing Georgia Aviator — May Have Landed on Northern Coast

By the Associated Press.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Aug. 28. — Sunday, at 10 minutes past midnights this morning (9:10 p. m. Saturday St. Louis time) no news had been received here of Paul Redfern, the Georgia long-distance flyer, according to an announcement of the National Telegraphs, the Government branch operating all Brazilian telegraph and wireless stations.

The Minister of War, army officers and members of the American colony here left the air field after several hours of vain waiting. The air field's searchlights were extinguished.

By the Associated Press.

NASSAU, Bahamas, Aug. 27. — The Colonial Government has canvassed all the outlying islands without finding anyone who had seen the plane piloted by Paul Redfern. All stations in the group have been ordered to maintain watch on the chance that he may have been forced down in this vicinity early in the flight.

By the Associated Press.

BRUNSWICK, Ga., Aug. 27.—Fear that Paul Redfern, who hopped off here for Brazil Thursday in a Stinson-Detroiter monoplane, has been blown off his course and forced down on the northern coast of South America or some of the islands near Trinidad was expressed late today by Paul J. Varner, chairman of the flight committee.

"In view of the fact that we have had no definite reports since he left here Thursday afternoon, I feel that if he has not landed at Para, Pernambuco or Rio, he has been blown off his course and forced down somewhere on the coast of Northern South America or on one of the islands near Trinidad," Varner said.

"At 4:30 o'clock this afternoon it is certain Redfern no longer is in the air. His gasoline supply of 518 gallons positively would not last longer than 51 hours and 45 minutes, and as this number of hours has now elapsed, we have no hopes of his reaching Rio de Janeiro if he has not done so already.

"If he was forced down in the water, there can be no question but that his plane is afloat, as he would have ample time to drop into the water the gasoline remaining in his tanks before alighting. The tanks are built so the plane can be kept afloat until it goes to pieces. Redfern then has his rubber life raft and food for 10 days."

Gone Nearly Sixty Hours.

Nearly sixty hours have elapsed since Redfern took off from here in the Port of Brunswick. He took off at 12:45 p. m. Thursday afternoon (11:45 a. m. St. Louis time).

The youthful pilot, who abandoned the music of a violin for the drone of an airplane motor, was due at Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, at 2:45 o'clock Eastern Standard time this afternoon (1:45 St. Louis time). This time of arrival was based on the assumption that he had maintained his schedule and that everything had gone well.

"I am only waiting and hoping," said Mrs. Redfern, young wife of the flyer, tonight when she made a trip from Glynn Isle to Brunswick seeking news from her husband. Glynn Isle Beach was the scene of the hopoff Thursday. Not satisfied with telephoning from the island, Mrs. Redfern made half a dozen trips to the city today.

"I hope if Paul fell that he is safe and will be found," she said.

Mrs. Redfern was cheerful and hopeful up to 4:30 o'clock this afternoon, strong in her belief that her husband would land in Rio. When she realized later that his gasoline supply must be exhausted and that he could not be in the air at that time, her attitude changed. Tonight she was worried and distressed, but still hopeful the morrow would bring good news.

Meanwhile, powerful radio stations sought news from ships and West Indian island stations, and Edward Niramier, head pilot of the Biscayne Flyers, at Miami, was ready to send three seaplanes on the course over which Redfern was scheduled to have passed the first

POPE FROWNS ON BROADCASTING OF JAZZY PROGRAMS

Catholic Authorities in Various Countries Have Taken Action Against Radio.

By the Associated Press.

ROME, Aug. 27.—Certain phases of radio broadcasting are decried by the Osservatore Romano, official organ of the Vatican. Prelates in Italy, Spain, Austria, Holland and Czechoslovakia, it says, have taken a stand against the broadcasting of programs conducive to habits and practices frowned upon by the church.

In Lombardy the installation of radio sets in churches or buildings in any way connected with churches has been forbidden. Placing of antennae on a church has been banned in Czechoslovakia. In Austria, Cardinal Piffl has urged Catholics to try to keep radio control out of the hands of those who would use it for jazz purposes. In Holland a Catholic radiophonic institute has been founded.

The principal counts in the indictment of present radio broadcasting are: It is devoted primarily to stimulating jazz dancing and bad habits in general; it lends itself more to spreading cheap, vulgar, immoral, rather than good music, and it causes waste of time by creating the habit of listening in for hours every day.

On the other hand, the church realizes that the radio has great possibilities for educational and moral purposes.

Father Paolini in the Osservatore Romano urges the creation of more church broadcasting stations, many of which are already in existence.

GERMAN AIR FIRMS HELD NOT LIABLE FOR ACCIDENTS

Reich Supreme Court Rules Actions for Damages Cannot Be Brought Against Companies.

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, Aug. 27.—The German Supreme Court has decided that private air transport companies cannot be held liable for loss of life for injuries or for loss of goods carried by air.

Actions for damages, according to this court, could only be brought if the carrying company were a state organization or held a monopoly, in which latter case the traveler could plead force majeure. Meanwhile, a "non-liability" clause which appears on the tickets of different flying companies, holds good at law, it is declared.

The German Lufthansa, among two or three other European flying concerns, has solved the difficulty by insuring all their passengers against loss of life or limb.

Other European courts, notably the courts of cassation of Paris, Rome and Brunn, have decided that the non-liability clause is illegal and cannot be enforced at law.

GALLOWS FOR BIRGER HANGING

Jackson County Scaffold to Be Taken to Benton, Ill.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

MURPHYSBORO, Ill., Aug. 27.—Arrangements were made today by Sheriff William Flanigan to transport by truck from Jackson County, a scaffold on which to hang Charles Birger at Benton, Ill., Oct. 15 for the murder of Mayor Joe Adams of West City. This scaffold was first used Oct. 15, 1915—12 years to the day on which Birger is sentenced to die—in the execution of Joe Deberry, Negro murderer. Santo Desantis was executed on it at Marion in 1919. In 1925 it was used in the execution of a Negro in Pulaski County.

ROCKLAND, Me., Aug. 27.—Attaining a speed of 20.26 knots over the mile measured course here, the battleship Texas today successfully completed the first of her standardization trials, Commander A. W. Brown, recorder of the naval trial board, reported tonight. The Texas, which has been modernized at a cost of $2,000,000, will put to sea next for fuel consumption tests.

MAN SLAIN, $5000 PAYROLL STOLEN IN NEW YORK HOLDUP

Body of Construction Superintendent Found in Auto Abandoned in Lonely Road.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—Robbers today murdered Judson Pratt, construction superintendent, as he sat in his automobile and fled with a $5000 payroll he was carrying.

Pratt's body was found slumped over the steering wheel by a patrolman who saw the car in the center of the roadway in an isolated section of the Bronx. There was one bullet hole in the man's right temple.

The murdered man was 38 years old and recently married. He had left the Manhattan offices of T. H. Rhodes & Co. about 10 o'clock with the payroll for employes upon a building operation only a few blocks away. The spot in the Bronx where his body was found was several miles from his destination. One theory advanced is that Pratt was shot while in Manhattan and his body driven to the lonely road where it was discovered.

The slayers overlooked $236 in cash in Pratt's pockets.

VOLSTEAD FEARS LIGHT WINES WOULD WRECK PROHIBITION

Return of Whisky and Saloons Would Follow, Ex-Congressman Tells W. C. T. U.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Aug. 27.—Membership awards, speeches stressing the success of the temperance movement and a statement by the author of the prohibition law that legalized beer and light wines would mean the ultimate return of whisky and the saloon held the attention of the National W. C. T. U. convention today.

New York was credited with gaining the greatest number of adult members. Ohio with the most young women under 21, and Oklahoma with the largest percentage gain. A pageant depicted the addition of 51,840 new members, which raised the total membership in the United States to 600,000.

Andrew J. Volstead of Granite Falls, Minn., who, as a Minnesota Congressman, wrote the prohibition law, told the delegates that the faction seeking modification "does not want beer and wine at all, but wants strong liquor." Volstead now is legal adviser of the Northwest prohibition enforcement forces.

"The opponents of prohibition," he declared, "are working for the complete repeal of the eighteenth amendment, with the return of the old saloon, its whisky, its brandy and all the other liquor and evils which the American people have outlawed."

FIRE HEMS IN 10 PERSONS

Two Families Cut Off by Oregon Forest Blaze.

By the Associated Press.

EUGENE, Ore., Aug. 27.—Ten persons, members of two families, were reported hemmed in tonight by a forest fire at the mouth of Nelson Creek, 35 miles west of here. The homes of M. N. Keck and a Mrs. Wilcutt were menaced, the occupants being cut off from escape by fire burning on both sides of the roads leading to their dwellings. All efforts to reach the families had failed. The family of Roy Spry, which had been cut off by the flames, was saved.

AUTO KILLS MAN IN FRONT OF SON AND SPEEDS AWAY

J. M. Reaefer of Webster Groves Fatally Injured When Assisting Boy at News Stand in County.

J. M. Reafer, gardener of Webster Groves, was killed last night at the intersection of Lockwood avenue and Big Bend road when he was struck by an automobile. The driver of the car did not stop. The machine, a Ford touring car, swerved sharply after striking the man, and sped away.

Reafer's 12-year-old son was the only witness of the accident. The boy has a news stand at the intersection of the two highways, in front of the Webster Groves Soldier Memorial, and his father helped him with the papers on Saturday night and Sunday morning.

Reafer had started across the road to deliver a newspaper to a nearby customer, according to the report Webster police got from the boy. The automobile, traveling westward, approached. A man was at the wheel and a woman was with him in the front seat. The boy could not tell just how the accident occurred. He glanced up only in time to see his father's vain effort to get out of the path of the car.

Reafer's body was taken to the undertaking establishment of Coroner Bopp in Kirkwood.

LIFE-TERM CONVICT FILLS CELL WITH COLLECTED BOOKS

Slayer Assembles Library of First Editions; Asks Warden for Larger Quarters.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 27.—John J. Lawler, life term convict from San Francisco for murder, petitioned Warden Frank J. Smith of San Quentin today for a bigger cell. His request was based on the flourishing condition of his prison hobby—the collection of first editions of the works of celebrated authors.

Lawler entered the prison seven years ago. He wanted to break the monotony of prison life and set about to collect the best works of modern authors. Today his library would be the envy of many a man of wealth. It is filling up his cell so he scarcely can move about. He has autographed copies and letters from hundreds of authors, including Galsworthy, John Masefield, Theodore Dreiser, Jim Tully, Charles Evans Hughes and Booth Tarkington.

PLANE SEEN AT SEA 400 MILES OFF BRITAIN

Flyer Sighted by Steamer California at 3 P. M. St. Louis Time Thought to Be Pride of Detroit.

CROYDON AWAITING AMERICANS' COMING

Brock and Schlee Leave Harbor Grace, N. F., at 4:40 A. M.—Hope to Circle Globe in 15 Days.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Aug. 27.—The Valentia (Ireland) radio reports the receipt of the following message from the steamer California:

"Greenwich mean time 2100; latitude 51.01 north, longitude 24.45 west, sighted monoplane flying east; height about 1000 feet."

While not identified, the monoplane sighted by the California is thought to be the Pride of Detroit from Harbor Grace, N. F., on its way to Croydon, England. The position given places the plane about 400 miles from the British Isles at 9 o'clock this evening, Greenwich mean time (3 p. m. St. Louis time).

The radio station at Devizes (England) reports that the steamers Empress of France and Montarnin also picked up the same message from the California as was received at Valentia, with this addition: "Weather conditions, strong westerly wind, fine and clear."

Rooms are in readiness for the aviators at a hotel within five minutes of the landing spot. At 10:50 p. m. a great crowd of newspaper men and camera men had assembled as well as many interested airmen. Visibility tonight is perfect.

The Sunday papers carry pictures of the airmen and their plane.

The arrival of the Pride of Detroit is awaited eagerly at Croydon airdrome. The field is flooded with lights, both lower and ground lights, and all the staff will stand by throughout the night in the case the airmen arrive earlier than expected. Weather conditions are favorable—clear starlight, but a rather strong wind.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—The first race against time around the world by airplane was under way tonight with the Stinson-Detroiter monoplane Pride of Detroit over the Atlantic on its way to London, the first stopping place.

Edward F. Schlee, president of the Wayco Oil Co. of Detroit, and William S. Brock, former mail pilot, hopped off from Harbor Grace, Newfoundland, at 5:40 eastern standard time (4:40 St. Louis time) this morning in their attempt to beat the world girdling record of 28 days, 14 hours and 20 minutes held by Edward S. Evans and Linton Wells, who traveled by airplane, steamboat and train. The Pride of Detroit is driven by a Wright Whirlwind motor.

The first leg of the round the world speed flight, from Harbor Grace to Croydon, just outside London, is 2350 miles. The course to be taken around the earth is 22,000 miles and the flyers hope to cover it in 240 flying hours and in 15 days elapsed time.

Weather Conditions.

It was expected that the Pride of Detroit would arrive in Croydon in 24 hours, as she developed 100 miles an hour speed in her flight to the starting place.

Weather on the western half of the Atlantic Ocean was not entirely unfavorable. Dense clouds and fog were reported but the winds of gale force in the region of Newfoundland were not apparent at sea. Moderate to fresh west and northwest winds were reported through all the course the aviators were expected to cover tonight.

The second half of the ocean course was the more hazardous according to predictions of the Weather Bureau. From mid-ocean to the Irish coast it was said there would be strong westerly winds tomorrow reaching gale force. On the slightly more southern course to France the gales could be avoided although strong winds and showery weather were predicted.

The takeoff of Schlee and Brock followed a two-day flight from Curtiss Field, with a halt at Old Orchard, Me.

SACCO-VANZETTI FUNERAL TO BE A QUIET AFFAIR

Defense Committee to Dispense With Band; All Police in Boston Ordered on Duty.

WIDOW AND SISTER TO FOLLOW HEARSES

Procession to Pass State House and Common; Man Arrested 5 Times Sues Police Captain.

By the Associated Press.

BOSTON, Aug. 27.—Superintendent Michael H. Crowley of the Boston police today ordered every policeman on the force on duty for tomorrow, when the funerals of Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti are to be held, but indicated that he did not expect any disorder.

"I believe," he said, "this will be a perfectly orderly funeral procession, and as such it will be given protection to the fullest extent by the police."

Altering their previous plans for an elaborate procession with a band from the North End Italian quarter to the crematory at Forest Hills. The Sacco-Vanzetti Defense Committee announced that the hearses will be followed by not more than 200 mourners. This change was made because a permit was necessary for a larger procession and city authorities stipulated that it must follow the most direct route.

To Go Past Statehouse.

For the smaller procession no permit is required and the police will not interfere with the committee's desire to have it pass the State house and the common, scene of numerous demonstrations by sympathizers before the execution of the two men. Mrs. Rose Sacco and Miss Luigia Vanzetti will ride in automobiles directly behind the two hearses. There will be no band.

A comparatively small number of persons today viewed the bodies of the two men in the North End undertaking establishment, where they were viewed by thousands yesterday. A heavy rain was largely responsible.

Sues Police Captain.

Powers Hapgood of Pittsburg, Sacco-Vanzetti sympathizer, has filed a civil suit for $100,000 damages against Capt. Thomas E. Bligh of the State Police in connection with his arrest as a picket.

Hapgood was arrested five times during his activities in the Sacco-Vanzetti case. The last time he was taken to the psychopathic hospital by State police and held there for more than 24 hours for observation.

PREMIER BALDWIN DENOUNCES COMMUNISM AS A MENACE

Contrasts Canada's Stability With Britain's Turmoil and Defends His Russian Policy.

By the Associated Press

DOUGLAS CASTLE, Lanarkshire, Scotland, Aug. 27.—Premier Stanley Baldwin, newly returned from Canada, eulogized the Dominion, in an address before 20,000 people here this afternoon, as "a land of good wages and unlimited possibilities, built up primarily by British brains, capital and skill. The secret of its success is its British character."

"It is a striking contrast, coming back from Canada to my own country. Are the leaders here not satisfied to seek the millenium unless they can get it by methods of communism? It is a long way from Canada to communism, but it is a very short way from communism to disaster.

"Have we learned nothing in the last two centuries? Cannot we co-operate with one another instead of fighting the State, which is our child? What guarantee can Maxton (chairman of the Independent Labor Party) give that a few months of turmoil will not be followed by centuries of degradation. They had a few months of turmoil in Russia followed by 10 years of tyranny and degradation. It was the knowledge of this that led us after prolonged provocation to expel the Russian trade delegates. British merchants are as free to trade with Russia as before, and it is for them to say whether the present conditions are sufficiently stable to make the business worth while."

of Schlee and Brock until their plane returns to its starting point they are going to eat and sleep "on the fly." While the plane was still at Curtiss Field Brock ridiculed the idea that the long hours and hasty meals might wear them down.

"Say, didn't you ever hear of Edison?" he asked. "If we get five hours' sleep a night we'll be satisfied. We'll get our food where we can get it. Maybe we won't know all the languages where we stop but we know the motions and the gestures."

To assure one of them sleep while the other is piloting the two men rigged up a bunk by laying a single thickness of felt across a great square gasoline tank in the fuselage.

"Schlee and I will stretch out on that when we feel we need a bit of sleep," Brock said. "It isn't bad. At least not for me, because I'm small. The first time Schlee got into it he thought he'd have to learn to be a contortionist."

Crowd Cheers Departure.

Before leavin gthe flyers express pleasure at the warmth of their entire population of the place, welcome to Newfoundland. The about 4000 persons, turned out to greet them on arrival, and hundreds more came by automobile from the scattered settlements along the bay. Sir John R. Bennett, colonial secretary was among those who greeted them.

The flyers got six hours' sleep last night and at 5 a. m. today had a generous breakfast, "enough to last us to England" as they expressed it. They then drove to the flying field and warmed up the engines of the monoplane.

Despite her weight of more than three tons the plane got away to a perfect start in half the length of the 4000 feet runway specially constructed for trans-Atlantic flyers. The crowd cheered lustily as the Pride of Detroit circled and disappeared to the east.

Others Hop-Offs Scheduled.

By leaving today the flyers precluded the possibility of a three-cornered ocean air derby which had been hoped for by the crews of two other planes, the Sir John Carling, now at its starting point for a flight from London, Ont., to London, England, and the Royal Windsor, which flew today to Windsor, Ont., prepartory for a flight to Windsor, England. The Royal Windsor, named by Phil Wood and Duke Schiller, will hop off tomorrow, weather permitting. The Sir John Carling, with James Medcalf and Terence Tully as pilots, is not expected to start before Monday, although it was announced that the flight would be begun any morning at 5 o'clock on which the Toronto, Ont., forecaster reported the weather to be favorable.

WINDSOR, Ont., Aug. 27.—The monoplane, Royal Windsor, in which Phil Wood and Duke Schiller plan a flight from Windsor, Ont., to Windsor, England, was christened at the Walkerville field near Windsor, Ont., this afternoon by Mrs. Helen Wood, wife of Phil Wood and Miss Ada Greer, fiancee of Pilot Schiller.

In their flight from Curtiss field, Schiller and Wood encountered heavy wind and rain storms which forced them to within a hundred feet of the ground near Buffalo.

BACKER FEARS RIO FLYER WAS FORCED DOWN ON AN ISLAND

night. Niramier made his offer to Mrs. Redfern, who stoically waits for word of her husband's safety, but no announcement of action on the proposal has been made.

Citizens Await Reports.

Early this afternoon crowds began to gather before the office of the Brunswick News, and as the scheduled time for Redfern's arrival at Rio de Janeiro approached, more than 300 citizens were at the newspaper building.

Varner had instructed Redfern to take no chances, but to make Rio de Janeiro, Pernambuco or Para, according to his judgment and fuel supply. After receiving reports of moderate head winds across the Caribbean Sea yesterday, Varner expressed belief the aviator would land at Para this morning.

No word came and it was hoped that Redfern had negotiated the Caribbean passage successfully and had passed in the vicinity of Para with plenty of fuel to make one of the other probable destinations. This hope seemed lost late today and concern turned to Redfern's safety as it appeared he must have been forced down.

U. S. coast guard cutters now operating in Bahama waters were ordered late today to co-operate with the three seaplanes which are planning to leave Miami, Fla., to search for the Port of Brunswick.

Island Which Awaited Redfern's Flare Has No Report of Him.

By the Associated Press.

GURUPA, Brazil, Aug. 27.—No news of Paul Redfern, American aviator, had been received here up to 2:20 o'clock this afternoon. Watchers here were on the alert.

On the island of Gurupa in the Amazon River near Macapa, it was expected Redfern would drop a flare. The island is near the mouth of the river. The town of Gurupa is near the island.

Severe Storm at Sea Reported in Area on Redfern's Route.

By the Associated Press.

MIAMI, Fla., Aug. 27.—Word of a severe tropical storm which raged in the vicinity of Great Abaco, Bahama, Thursday afternoon during the hours Paul Redfern was due to have passed over that area on his Brunswick-to-Brazil flight, was brought here late today by Robert Moore, a seaplane pilot, who expressed the belief that the flyer was forced down by the gale or driven off his course toward mid-ocean.

Moore said his opinion was shared by John R. Salter, Assistant Superintendent of the Bahamas Government, who informed him that the Commissioner at Hopetown, Great Abaca, officially reported the disturbance was central off that coast between 3 and 6 p. m. Thursday.

If Redfern set a course of 135 degrees out of Brunswick, as reported, a speed of 90 to 100 miles an hour would have placed his monoplane approximately 350 miles northeast of Great Abaco between 5:30 and 6 p. m.

BLAME FIXED FOR FATAL WRECK

Dead Engineer Responsible for Deaths of 21 at Chamonix.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, Aug. 27.—A Havas dispatch from Chamonix says that an inquiry has placed blame for the wreck of a mountain railway train there Wednesday on the dead engineer. It was found he opened the steam regulator on a decline causing the train to gain speed before being derailed and plunging into a ravine. Twenty-one persons were killed.

Mrs. Newton Perry and her daughter, Americans injured in the accident, are being cared for at Chamonix. They are reported only slightly injured.

TROOPS SENT TO GUARD AMERICANS, MEXICANS SAY

Statement From Capital Is That Soldiers Will Protect Those Besieged by Radicals Near Guadalajara.

WASHINGTON IS WITHOUT NEWS

State Department Is Leaving Matter in Hands of Embassy at Mexico City for the Present.

By the Associated Press.

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 27—Troops have been sent and American interests will be protected, the Mexico City authorities declare.

Numerous mining companies in various parts of Mexico have suspended or reduced operations, it is stated, just as the Amparo Co. has suspended, because of the low price of silver and the high taxes. The Amparo mines produce for the most part silver and employ numerous British as well as American workmen.

Because of the general strike 1500 to 2000 workers belonging to the Red unions—the name given to the General Confederation of Labor, rival of the Regional Confederation of Mexican Workers—are out. Press dispatches deny that conditions are serious, but say that American officials have fled from the mining camps to near by towns.

Gov. Ramirez of the state of Jalisco has gone to Atzatlan, the Jalisco headquarters of the Amparo company, in an effort to adjust the trouble.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—Uncertainty today at the State Department as to the plight of 18 Americans reported besieged Thursday in their homes barricaded at the Amparo mines near Guadalajara, Mexico, when the mining properties were seized by radicals.

A telegram, dated 1 p. m., yesterday, from Consul Satterwhite at Guadalajara informed the department that telegraphic advices from Amparo were that no Mexican troops, either Federal or State, had appeared on the scene up to yesterday morning.

This report contrasted with assurances given to the American charge d' affaires of the Mexican acting Foreign Minister that the military had matters in hand and the situation of the Americans at Amparo was satisfactory.

Other reports from Mexico City indicate that President Calles has personally ordered the protection of American lives and property at the mines.

State Department officials, emphasised that the contradiction between the two messages to the department might be more apparent than real inasmuch as Satterwhite's report was probably based on information coming from Amparo in the early morning, before Mexican troops had opportunity to reach the mines.

The American embassy in Mexico City is able to judge as to the official Mexican attitude, State Department officers said, and therefore all action would be left to it for the present.

Approval, however, of the embassy's attitude in making representations concerning the seizure of the mines and in asking for Mexican Federal protection for the foreigners in Amparo was cabled to Mexico City.

Seeks $100,000 for Killing of Niece by Mexican Bandits.

By the Associated Press

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Aug. 27.—Mrs. Jean Garrison, Aunt of Florence M. Anderson, California school teacher who died of wounds received when bandits attacked a Mexican train last Tuesday, said she had demanded through the State Department at Washington $100,000 damages from the Mexican government for her niece's death.

Mrs. Garrison said the hospital at Mazatlan ha telegraphed her today asking $800 in payment for treatment of Miss Anderson and preparation of her body for transportation to the United States.

Rebel and Robber Bands Raiding Again in Mexico.

By the Associated Press.

NOGALES, Ariz., Aug. 27.—The Nogales Herald says a composite report of rebel activities on the Mexican West Coast received today from Guadalajara says three heavy engagements and four skirmishes have occurred in the State of Jalisco during the last week with heavy losses to both rebels and Federal troops.

Bands ranging from 50 to 1000 men each are reported to have been unusually active in Jalisco with the zone of fighting spreading over the line into the State of Nayarit, where an American girl, Miss Florence M. Anderson of Los Angeles, was killed in an attack on a train last Tuesday.

Extraordinary precautions have been taken along the rail route on the West Coast to prevent similar attacks on trains. Escorts treble the usual number of rurales have been placed on each train.

Advices from Vera Cruz say that Vidal Lenorio, heading a large band of robbers has resumed operations in that State.

CALL SON-IN-LAW OF M'CRAY IN INDIANA GRAFT INQUIRY

Grand Jury to Investigate Alleged Offer of $10,000 to Former Governor by Present One.

By the Associated Press.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Aug. 27.—Official investigation by the Marion County grand jury of allegations that Gov. Edward Jackson and other persons had offered money and safety from court conviction to former Gov. Warren T. McCray if he appointed James E. McDonald as Marion County prosecutor three years ago was understood to be back of a subpena issued today for appearance of William P. Evans, McCray's son-in-law, next Monday for examination. The grand jury is investigating charges of political graft in Indiana.

Evans was County Prosecutor at the time McCray was indicted by a Marion County grand jury on charges of larceny, embezzlement and forgery, but resigned rather than prosecute his father-in-law. McCray appointed William M. Remy, the present prosecutor, in the face of an offer from Jackson, then Secretary of State, of $10,000 and immunity from convictino if he would appoint McDonald, according to articles published in local newspapers a few weeks ago.

The same offer later was reported to have been made to James W. Noel, McCray's attorney, by D. C. Stephenson, former grand dragon of the Ku Klux Klan and now serving a life sentence for murder.

Penniless and facing expensive court action, McCray was said to have declined the proposal, asserting he wanted to retain his self respect.

WORLD PRESS CONFERENCE SUGGESTS REGULATIONS

Facilities to All News Gatherers, Travel Tours and Identifying Cards Urged.

By the Associated Press.

GENEVA, Switzerland, Aug. 27.—A resolution was adopted by the International Press Conference today insisting that all facilities should be granted to journalists in order to permit them to fulfill their task as purveyors of knowledge to the public more thoroughly and more rapidly. It carries a stipulation, however, that newspaper men want no favors which infringe the independence of the press or interfere with the freedom and judgment of writers.

Another resolution advocates collective travel tours of journalists in foreign countries. Still another decision was for the establishment or maintenance of university institutions for journalists, but which shall not constitute a means of influencing young journalists or give them, deliberately, a definite political orientation. Additional resolutions favored a system of international identity cards for journalists issued either by the League of Nations or the Ministry of Foreign Affairs of the country of which the writer is a citizen.

RS-1 FLIGHT TO IOWA PUT OFF BECAUSE OF BAD WEATHER

Dirigible May Get Away Today for Lindbergh Celebration if Conditions Improve.

Postponement of the scheduled flight of the army semirigid dirigible RS-1 from Scott Field to Mason City, Ia., for participation today in a Lindbergh celebration, was decided upon because of unfavorable weather.

If weather conditions are favorable the ship will take off some time today with five officers and 10 men. Predicted thunderstorms to the west caused apprehension on the part of officers for the safety of the blimp should it attempt the flight up through Illinois and Iowa.

ST. JOSEPH WINS RATE CASE

Charges on Apple Shipments From City to Be Revised.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—St. Joseph, Mo., was declared today by the Interstate Commerce Commission to be unfairly treated by existing freight rates on apples and to suffer from discriminations unduly favorable to St. Louis and other distributing centers.

A revision of the apple rates out of St. Joseph to destination in Nebraska, Iowa, Minnesota and the Dakotas was ordered, effective Nov. 28. The new rates, based on a mileage scale, will operate to place the charges from St. Joseph to consuming territory on a basis equivalent to that now enjoyed by St. Louis shippers.

NAVY ARRANGES FINAL HUNT FOR DOLE FLYERS

Vessels Leaving Honolulu Monday and Tuesday Ordered to Cover Additional Area.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—Plans for further search by the Navy for the missing Dole flyers were outlined today in a report to the Navy Department from Admiral Jackson, commanding the battle fleet.

The light cruiser Omaha and six destroyers now searching toward the Hawaiian Islands expect to reach Honolulu Monday, and on the same day the submarine tender Holland, and mine sweeper Ortolan, and the "S" class of submarines will leave Honolulu for San Diego.

After taking fuel and provisions on board, the Omaha detachment plans to leave Honolulu about Tuesday and both detachments will search the drift waters of the planes' great circle course as far as longitude 135 west, when they will alter their course and steer for San Diego.

Admiral Jackson said these operations "will terminate the search by the vessels of the battle fleet, except for the "R" class submarines, which are searching the area in the vicinity of the Hawaiian Islands, under the direction of Rear Admiral John D. McDonald, commandant of the naval district in the Hawaiian Islands.

Reports today from Maui indicated continuation of the search for the missing flyers in the Nahika Hills, whence have come rumors that a wrecked airplane has been seen. It was estimated that searchers had covered one-tenth of the densely wooded area yesterday.

Navigator of Aloha, Dole Flight Prize Winner, Through With Flying

HONOLULU, Aug. 27.—Capt. Paul Schluter, navigator of the monoplane Aloha, second prize winner in the Dole flight, was aboard the liner Sonoma bound for San Francisco today, richer by $1000, which Pilot Martin Jensen's backers gave him. Schluter also has the promise of more money to be derived from sale of Jensen's syndicated newspaper articles telling the story of the flight.

The navigator said he was through with airplanes and is returning to work on ships.

Jensen plans two cross-country flights with the backing of the Ryan Airplane Corporation of San Diego. He expects to start about Sept. 10 on a non-stop flight from San Diego to New York in a plane carrying himself, his wife and 400 pounds of dead weight to demonstrate the practicability of carrying heavy loads. He also plans to participate in the National Air Derby from New York to Spokane, starting Sept. 19, with Mrs. Jensen as a passenger.

Memorial Services at Sea For Lost Flyers Planned.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 27.—Major James Rolph Jr., today announced he would appoint a committee to represent the city in carrying through arrangements for a memorial service at sea for the seven flyers who disappeared in three planes during the Dole race to Hawaii. The services will be held on the decks of the liner Maui, Sept. 16.

Mayor John L. Davie of Oakland, said he would issue a proclamation calling on East San Francisco Bay citizens to support the memorial plans.

As a result of this civic approval the decks of the Maui are expected to be deeply banked with flowers sent by hundreds of persons who admired the daring of Miss Mildred Doran and her six companions of the air.

PROSECUTOR SEEKING SLAIN WOMAN'S WILL

Friend Says Harry Hill, Fugitive Murder Suspect, Told of Being Disinherited.

By the Associated Press.

STREATOR, Ill., Aug. 27. — A theory that Harry Hill soon will return to answer a charge of murder in connection with the slaying of his mother was strengthened today by the hurried reutrn to the city of Arthur Shea, a Streator attorney, who has been on a vacation in Canada.

It was reported here that R. C. Osborne, attorney for Dr. H. C. Hill, father of the missing youth, had wired Shea, and that that resulted in the precipitate ending of his outing. Osborne denied calling upon Shea and the latter merely smiled when informed of the rumors.

Action by Coroner's Judy.

The Coroner's jury, after an inquest into the death of Mrs. Hill, named her son as the slayer. A warrant charging him with the murder had been issued, however, before the inquest was held.

Russell Hanson, State's Attorney, hopes to obtain Mrs. Hill's will in an effort to ascertain if it contains a motive for her murder.

William Brydges, a friend of Harry Hill, and one of the last to see him before he dropped from sight in Chicago the day after the body was found, told the Coroner's jury Hill had said his mother had disinherited him. As a reason for this, Brydges declared, Hill indicated it was his love affair with Alice Sawyer, a Streator girl.

Safety Box May Hold Secret.

Mrs. Hill's will is said to be in a safety deposit box of a Streator bank but officers cannot open it without the consent of the dead woman's relatives. This they are seeking. Mrs. Hill was divorced from Dr. Hill, a wealthy oculist.

Reports continue to come in from places where young Hill is thought to have been seen. Cincinnati police informed W. R. Robb, Streator Chief of Police, that a youth resembling Hill enlisted in the army here a few days ago and had been sent to Fort Thomas, Ky., where an inquiry is being made.

Robb said today that he was reasonably certain that the fugitive had watched from a distance the burial of his mother in Springfield, Wednesday. On Thursday, Robb said, a messenger told Dr. Hill his son wanted to meet him Friday, at Springfield. Robb and Dr. Hill went to Springfield, but the son did not show up.

Chief Robb believes that the youth watched the burial, was stricken by remorse and then arranged the meeting, only to run away again.

Lindbergh Reaches Sioux City, Ia.

SIOUX CITY, Ia., Aug. 27.—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh was greeted here today by thousands who cheered a welcome as the Spirit of St. Louis circled over the city. After a brief speech at the fair grounds, additional thousands viewed the parade along a 40 block route to his hotel. The schedule provided for a banquet in honor of Lindbergh tonight.

WAR SECRETARY DENIES RESIGNATION RUMOR

Dwight F. Davis Says Report He May Run for U. S. Senate Also Is False.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—Secretary of War Davis, who returned to his office today after an absence of about a month, most of which he spent in Europe, denied flatly published reports that he contemplates resigning from the Cabinet to run for the Senate in his home state of Missouri.

Davis declared that if at any time he should determine to run for elective offices he would make the announcement. He added that any similar report that gains currency should be discounted unless it comes directly from him.

He prepared to tackle the task of flood control and with the conviction that there is no reason for Americans to have an "inferiority complex" in the matter of militray aviation.

Davis said he may take a trip of inspection soon over the Mississippi River flood area. The Mississippi commission and army engineers will continue their efforts to work out definite plans for flood control in time for presentation to Congress next December, he says.

"American army airplane types are at least equal to anything in Europe," Davis said. "Besides, the trans-Atlantic flights have given Europe a wholesome respect for American aviation, especially as far as engine developments are concerned." The great airport development in Europe was found by Davis to be largely dependent upon Government subsidies. He praised he European system of weather reporting by which every two hours complete accounts of atmospheric conditions over all air routes are received in Paris.

COOLIDGE QUITS YELLOWSTONE FOR THE BLACK HILLS

Due at Summer White House Today After One Week Devoted Solely to Recreation.

IN WASHINGTON ABOUT SEPT. 12

Greeted at Cody, Wyo., by Cowboys After 100-Mile Drive That Started in Freezing Weather.

By the Associated Press.

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE'S SPECIAL TRAIN, Aug. 27.—Carrying away the memory of a week's pleasure in Yelowstone National Park, President Coolidge moved tonight toward the summer White House in the Black Hills, where he will remain probably two more weeks before returning to Washington. One more trip is scheduled in that time—a journey into the Northern hills to inspect the irrigation project near Newell and Nisland, S. D. On his way back to Washington, he plans to stop at Brookings to dedicate the Lincoln Memorial Library at the South Dakota Agricultural College. He will reach Washington about Sept. 12.

The President's train is due at Custer, S. D. early tomorrow morning and following the 15-mile drive to the State Game Lodge, Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge planned to go to Hermosa to church although there was a suggestion they might decide to attend the services at either Custer or Rapid City.

"The Time of My Life."

In his own words, Mr. Coolidge had had "the time of my life," at Yellowstone Park the week having been devoted solely to rest and recreation.

While the Yellowstone trip afforded Mr. Coolidge his first real vacation since entering the White House, it also brought relaxation and enjoyment of a new character to Mrs. Coolidge and John, who accompanied his parents. Little in the way of entertainment which Yellowstone Park had to offer, was missed by either of them and on the last night they enjoyed themselves particularly, mingling with the rest of the Canyon Hotel guests at a dance.

The President did not appear at any of the evening entertainments, finding sleep the most welcome thing at night after long days at the lakes fishing for cut-throat trout.

Early this morning the presidential party drove 100 miles by automobile to Cody, Wyo., where they boarded the special train. It was so cold that the party stopped on the way at Sylvan Lodge to get warm at the huge fireplace. Icicles were hanging from the water taps. Another halt was made to inspect the Shoshone dam, the second highest in the world.

Cowboys Escort President.

A group of mounted cowboys met the presidential party a few miles outside of Cody and escorted it with plenty "Yippees" to the monument of Col. William F. Cody, (Buffalo Bill). Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge drove to the Cody Museum to inspect the mementos of the famous frontiersman. At the museum a boquet of Wyoming flowers and an Indian blanket were presented to Mrs. Coolidge by Miss Jane Garlow, 18, granddaughter of Buffalo Bill. The President and all of his party were made honorary members of the museum.

Although the drive from Canyon Hotel began in almost freezing weather, the sun had warmed up the countryside to an opposite extreme by the time Cody was reached and the President retired immediately to his private car for a brief rest before luncheon. Then he went into the dining car with Mrs. Coolidge and John and waved to the groups as his train sped through Powell, Frannie and other small Wyoming towns. No stop was made at Billings.

During his journey to and from the park the President came in contact with some of the political leaders of Montana and Wyoming. These did not have a chance to talk politics with Mr. Coolidge, but they left the word that Secretary Hoover and Frank O. Lowden were among the leading Republican presidential candidates in both States, while Al Smith seemed to be favored b ythe Democrats, with some sentiment for Senator Reed of Missouri.

Senator Kendrick Introduces President to Sheridan Crowd.

By the Associated Press.

SHERIDAN, Wyo., Aug. 27.—President Coolidge's special train left here at 9:25 o'clock tonight after a brief stop during which the President and Mrs. Coolidge were introduced to a large crowd by United States Senator John B. Kendrick.

Blanche Sweet in Hospital.

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Aug. 27.—Blanche Sweet, screen star and wife of Marshal Neilan, director, was taken to a hospital here yesterday for a minor operation. Hospital attendants said her condition was not serious.

COOLIDGE QUITS YELLOWSTONE FOR THE BLACK HILLS

Due at Summer White House Today After One Week Devoted Solely to Recreation.

IN WASHINGTON ABOUT SEPT. 12

Greeted at Cody, Wyo., by Cowboys After 100-Mile Drive That Started in Freezing Weather.

By the Associated Press.

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE'S SPECIAL TRAIN, Aug. 27.—Carrying away the memory of a week's pleasure in Yelowstone National Park, President Coolidge moved tonight toward the summer White House in the Black Hills, where he will remain probably two more weeks before returning to Washington. One more trip is scheduled in that time—a journey into the Northern hills to inspect the irrigation project near Newell and Nisland, S. D. On his way back to Washington, he plans to stop at Brookings to dedicate the Lincoln Memorial Library at the South Dakota Agricultural College. He will reach Washington about Sept. 12.

The President's train is due at Custer, S. D. early tomorrow morning and following the 15-mile drive to the State Game Lodge, Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge planned to go to Hermosa to church although there was a suggestion they might decide to attend the services at either Custer or Rapid City.

"The Time of My Life."

In his own words, Mr. Coolidge had had "the time of my life," at Yellowstone Park the week having been devoted solely to rest and recreation.

While the Yellowstone trip afforded Mr. Coolidge his first real vacation since entering the White House, it also brought relaxation and enjoyment of a new character to Mrs. Coolidge and John, who accompanied his parents. Little in the way of entertainment which Yellowstone Park had to offer, was missed by either of them and on the last night they enjoyed themselves particularly, mingling with the rest of the Canyon Hotel guests at a dance.

The President did not appear at any of the evening entertainments, finding sleep the most welcome thing at night after long days at the lakes fishing for cut-throat trout.

Early this morning the presidential party drove 100 miles by automobile to Cody, Wyo., where they boarded the special train. It was so cold that the party stopped on the way at Sylvan Lodge to get warm at the huge fireplace. Icicles were hanging from the water taps. Another halt was made to inspect the Shoshone dam, the second highest in the world.

Cowboys Escort President.

A group of mounted cowboys met the presidential party a few miles outside of Cody and escorted it with plenty "Yippees" to the monument of Col. William F. Cody, (Buffalo Bill). Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge drove to the Cody Museum to inspect the mementos of the famous frontiersman. At the museum a boquet of Wyoming flowers and an Indian blanket were presented to Mrs. Coolidge by Miss Jane Garlow, 18, granddaughter of Buffalo Bill. The President and all of his party were made honorary members of the museum.

Although the drive from Canyon Hotel began in almost freezing weather, the sun had warmed up the countryside to an opposite extreme by the time Cody was reached and the President retired immediately to his private car for a brief rest before luncheon. Then he went into the dining car with Mrs. Coolidge and John and waved to the groups as his train sped through Powell, Frannie and other small Wyoming towns. No stop was made at Billings.

During his journey to and from the park the President came in contact with some of the political leaders of Montana and Wyoming. These did not have a chance to talk politics with Mr. Coolidge, but they left the word that Secretary Hoover and Frank O. Lowden were among the leading Republican presidential candidates n both States, while Al Smith seemed to be favored b ythe Democrats, with some sentiment for Senator Reed of Missouri.

Senator Kendrick Introduces President to Sheridan Crowd.

By the Associated Press.

SHERIDAN, Wyo., Aug. 27.—President Coolidge's special train left here at 9:25 o'clock tonight after a brief stop during which the President and Mrs. Coolidge were introduced to a large crowd by United States Senator John B. Kendrick.

Blanche Sweet in Hospital.

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Aug. 27.—Blanche Sweet, screen star and wife of Marshal Neilan, director, was taken to a hospital here yesterday for a minor operation. Hospital attendants said her condition was not serious.

NAVAL FLYER ON TRIAL REPUTED ROMEO OF AIR

Washington Society Gossip Is That Officer Flew Low to Thrill Girl Friend.

By Leased Wire from the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—Another plane flashed across the scene today at the court martial of Lieut Thomas B. Williamson, naval pilot, charged with violation of the anti-low flying regulation and "stunting" his plane in the vicinity of the Argonne apartments here, July 24.

Lieut. Williamson, according to gossip in society circles, met at Annapolis a young woman who lives in the apartments and on the day in question was playing Romeo to his Juliet in most modern fashion, dwellers in many stories of the building holding their breath in mortal fear as he roared past their windows and pedestrians scurrying for cover lest the pane be dashed to the paved street.

Flyer Denies Charges.

The young naval flyer insists he did not at any time fly lower than 2000 feet, except when he executed a couple of zooms and even then he did not lose sufficient speed or altitude to prevent a forced landing without endangering others. Furthermore, he declares these stunts were performed over Rock Creek Park, nearby, not in the immediate vicinity of the apartment house.

Be that as it may, and regardless of the identity of the second plane, which promises at least to furnish an element of doubt, the story of Romeo and Juliet continue to go the rounds of the gospis. This angle of the case received at least partial confirmation in the testimony of Miss Eva Shuster, an employe of the Treasury Department, who said she saw two planes not more than 10 minutes apart, both flying high. The second, she said, was pointed out to her by "someone" as that of Lieut. Williamson, whom she had met shortly before.

Girl Was Expecting Flyer.

Miss Shuster positively declined to identify "someone" but her testimony indicated clearly that the other young lady was expecting a call by air from the naval flyer.

Miss Shuster ventured the remark that she thought Lieut. Williamson's flying attractive. The court prosecutor in turn thought at last he had struck something and began firing questions. What did sh mean by "attractive?" Miss Shuster did not bat an eye, saying simply that the navy officer's plane was so high as to be almost invisible and looked like a huge and lovely bird.

Asked whether Lieut. Williamson stunted in her presence, Miss Shuster was emphatic in her denial.

Witness Tells of Second Plane.

W. F. Mitchell Jr., technical expert of the Railway Board of Mediation and a former aviator, substantiated Miss Shuster's testimony about a second plane. He said this plane passed directly over him at an altitude of 350 feet, making two very steep banks. Mr. Mitchell said he noticed it was a commercial plane, carrying two persons, and of a construction and coloring similar to that of the naval officer.

So the naval court has a good chance to lend a helping hand to Romeo and his Juliet by finding that another plane of the same color and general makeup did all the dirty work and that Lieut. Williamson flew high over the apartment house where "someone" was on the lookout for him and did his zooming a few hundred yards away over Rock Creek Park for the delectation of the animals in the zoo.

Lieutenant Member of Prominent Edwardsville (Ill.) Family.

Lieut. Thomas B. Williamson is the son of Thomas Williamson, prominent Illinois attorney and president of the Board of Education of Edwardsville, Ill., where the family resides. Lieut. Williamson is a graduate of Annapolis and has been a naval pilot for four years. He is 26 years old.

The elder Williamson, who was formerly United States District Attorney at Springfield, is at Washington looking after his son's interests at the courtmartial.

ANNA Q. NILSSON AND E. J. KRAUSE JR. TO WED

Film Star Announces Engagement to Broker, Former Resident of St. Louis.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Aug. 27.—Anna Q. Nilsson, film star, has announced her engagement to Earnest J. Krause Jr., Beverly Hills investment broker and former St. Louisan.

Miss Nilsson said the date of the marriage had not been set, but both she and Krause believed in long engagements. She and Krause met in Berlin in 1921 and renewed their acquaintance here.

Each has been married before. Krause is a widower. Miss Nilsson, in 1925, divorced John Marshall Gunnerson, wealthy shoe merchant. Krause is 30 years old; Miss Nilsson is somewhat older. She was born in Ystad, Sweden, and came to America at the age of 12, and was employed successively as governess, artists' model and motion picture actress. Among her recent pictures have been "Ponjola," "If I Marry Again," "Winds of Chance," "Greater Glory," "Too Much Money" and "Miss Nobody."

Krause is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Earnest J. Krause of 716 Belt avenue, St. Louis, the father being head of the C. H. Willis Coal and Mining Co.

In 1920 he married Miss Jeanette Huttig, daughter of the late Charles H. Huttig, banker. Mrs. Krause and a brother inherited $1,000,000 from their parents. She died in 1922 in Berlin, where Krause was stationed as the European representative of the Fairbanks Co. of New York.

While in Germany in 1923 Krause acquired an interest in a German shipyard and also purchased an expensive yacht, in which he cruised amout Europe before shipping it to this country.

A venture in business here at 5187 Delmar boulevard, under the name of Earnest J. Krause Inc., distributors of Rolls-Royce and Moon motor cars, ended in November, 1925, with the filing of a voluntary petition in bankruptcy by the firm.

Since then Krause has lived in California, visiting St. Louis occasionally. At the home of hos parents last night it was stated no word had been received from him concerning his engagement to Miss Nilsson.

3500 SEE AIR CIRCUS AT LAMBERT FIELD

Thirty-fifth Division Corps Closes Two Weeks' Encampment With Exhibition.

The 35th Division Air Corps yesterday afternoon closed its two weeks' encampment at Lambert-St. Louis Field with an informal flying circus, which was attended by about 3500 aviation fans.

Led by the commanding officer, Major C. Ray Wassall, a six-plane formation opened the show. After a series of well-executed evolutions over the field, three "Jennies"—obsolete training planes—dropped out and the remaining three planes ran off a win-to-wing formation flight.

It was neat air work, with Lieuts. Julius Johannpeter and Robert L. Coulter in the PT-1's on either side of Wassall's ship. Meanwhile Capt. William M. Robertson had taken off in a "Jennie" for an altitude flight. He landed within 50 minutes and reported that his altimeter showed 14,400 feet at the height of the flight.

Exhibitions of message dropping and the laying of a light smoke screen preceded two "dead stick" landings by Capt. Russell Young and Lieut. William Wimer, in which the flyers brought their planes down from 1000 feet with the motors dead.

Planes Tied Together.

Wassall, Coulter and Johannpeter, who had looped their planes in formation in their first trip aloft, tied their ships together with 30-foot lengths of tape and took off without breaking the thin bindings which kept the planes wing to wing.

In circling the field Johannpeter broke his tape but Coulter kept his intact and landed beside the Major's plane with the line unbroken. Johannpeter made up for his lapse in breaking the tape in the following event, a race for six planes.

The contest was five times over a triangular course which kept the ships in sight of the crowd virtually all of the time. Johannpeter sent his PT-1 over the course just a few feet off the ground, making the turns in spectacular manner. His nearest competitor was a half mile behind him when he crossed the finish lien.

Race Completes Program.

The final event was a race between Maj. Wassall in a Douglas observation plane and Coulter in a DH-4. Wassall hung behind his junior officer until the last lap and closed up easily with his faster and newer ship to win the race. Johannpeter closed the day by giving a flashing exhibition of stunt flying as the crowd broke up.

It was the last appearance of the squadron's "Jennies," the JN's on which hundreds of American aviators learned the flying game during the war. The War Department has decreed their destruction and after Sept. 1, they will be chopped up and burned, to be replaced by the newer PT-1's.

Son Finds Father Dead in Bed.

Arthur Lawson, 55 years old, a coal miner, was fonud dead in bed at his home, 534 Orchard street, Edwardsville, yesterday. The body, fully dressed, was found by Lawson's son, John Lawson, of St. Louis, who had motored to Edwardsville with his wife to spend Sunday with his father. The elder Lawson, who lived alone since the death of his wife last February, was subject to heart attacks. A physician who was called said Lawson had been dead about four hours.

Boy Badly Injured by Auto.

Ernest Shaw, 11 years old, a Negro, of 4338 Maffitt avenue, suffered a possible fracture of the skull and a fractured left leg yesterday when struck by an automobile at Pendleton and Cote Brilliante avenue. The driver of the machine told police the boy jumped from the step of an ice wagon on which he was riding into the path of the car.

BOPP, REFUSING INQUEST, LATER CHANGES MIND

Orders Inquiry Into Death of Man, Killed by Auto, Whose Body Was Taken to Rival Undertaker.

Coroner Louis H. Bopp of St. Louis County yesterday refused to hold an inquest into the death of John Keyes, an automobile victim, whose body was taken to a rival undertaking establishment, instead of being taken to Bopp's private mortuary in Kirkwood.

Later in the day, when Walter Whitaker was arrested in connection with the fatality, Bopp reconsidered his decision, and an inquest will be held tomorrow morning.

Keyes, who was 45 years old and lived south of Valley Park, was struck by Witaker's automobile, on a roadway near his home, late Monday night. He died Friday in Bethesda-Dilworth Memorial Hospital, Kirkwood.

Rival Undertaker Took Body.

Keyes' family summoned Kenneth Koch, undertaker at Fenton, and he took the body to prepare it for burial. He notified Coroner Bopp of the death. Koch said later that Bopp seemed to be surprised and angry because the business had not gone to Bopp's establishment. As Coroner, Bopp instructed the attending physician, Dr. F. P. Knabb of Valley Park, to sign a burial certificate, without an inquest. Dr. Knabb certified that Keyes had died from a fracture of the spine, with two rib fractures. The funeral was set for 2 p. m. today.

Bopp, when first asked about the case by a Post-Dispatch reporter, said he had not been "officially notified" of the death, and would not hold an inquest.

Deputy Sheriff Arrests Driver.

Reporters at Clayton informed the Sheriff's office of the matter, and a deputy sheriff arrested Whitaker, who lives south of Valley Park. He was taken to Clayton and held in jail, being unable to furnish $500 bond. He admitted that his machine hit Keyes, but said the accident was unavoidable, and that because of a steep grade, the light of the car did not show the man in the roadway ahead. He carried the injured man to Dr. Knabb's home.

As the Sheriff's office was holding Whitaker "for the Coroner," it became necessary for that official to call an inquest, as the law requires him to do in any case of a violent death, whether or not an arrest has been made.

The Louis H. Bopp Undertaking Co., headed by Coroner Bopp, enjoys a virtual monopoly of funerals of persons dying by violence in the county. The Coroner is notified whenever a person is found dead under unusual circumstances, and the body almost invariably is taken to Bopp's mortuary. Other undertakers have complained the Coroner takes an unfair advantage, due to his official position, and "freezes" them out.

A recent Missouri law prohibits a Coroner from being a private undertaker at the same time. When this law went into effect, Coroner Bopp announced his son, Roland, would take charge of the Bopp Co., but the firm still is known as the Louis H. Bopp Undertaking Co., and Coroner Bopp continues as the active head.

100 Iowa Children Have Busy Day Seeing St. Louis

Come From Shenandoah and Clarinda on Excursion Arranged by Presbyterian Churchmen—Spend Two Nights in Day Coaches.

Back home in Shenandoah and Clarinda, Ia., today, 100 happy and tired children will tell their parents of their wonderful day in St. Louis yesterday. How they saw the Zoo, and rode on the bus-tops, and drank soda pop, and saw and heard the Municipal Opera. And how—oh, B, L, I, double S—they saw Babe Ruth knock his forty-first home run of the season in the slugging game which the Yankees won from the Browns 14-4.

The children left St. Louis on a late Wabash train, with visions of elephants and movie palace facades dancing through their heads. There were no visions of sugarplums, because these children specialized on all-day suckers.

The visitors, brought to the big city on an excursian through the kindness of Shenandoah and Clarinda Presbyterian churchmen, scattered early in the morning to see the sights. Some went to Forest Park to see the Zoo, the golfers trying to drive across the lagoon on No. 17 and other curiosities. Some went to the ball game. Here again there were curiosities, including hot dog peddlers, the quick-action score board and the St. Louis Browns.

While most of the children were thus engaged, others traveled by bus on sightseeing tours of the city. Oddities of big city life kept bobbing up. There were whiffs of the stockyards in East St. Louis, glimpses of a United Railways street car playing snail in the business district and hilarious actions of pedestrians trying to cross Locust street between automobiles.

Last night the children went to the Municipal Theater to hear "The Tales of Hoffman." A few were a bit disappointed, expecting to hear some bedtime stories. It didn't matter, though, because there was no bedtime on those day coaches going back to Iowa full of 14-year-olds.

NEGRO HEALTH CONDITIONS GROW WORSE, LODGE HEARS

Kansas City Doctor Points to High Tuberculosis and Infant Death Rate.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—Negro health conditions throughout the country are worse than ever before, Dr. William J. Thompkins of Kansas City told the Benevolent Protective Order of Elks of the World, in convention here.

"This is particularly true in the Southern and central cities," Dr. Thompkins said. "Throughout the country the percentage of tuberculosis deaths, largely because of neglect, is seven times higher among the Negroes than among the whites; the infant mortality among Negroes is nearly twice that among whites, and deaths by homicide, partly owing to bad educational and living conditions, are eight times more numerous." A nation-wide survey with the view of obtaining remedial legislation and spreading educational propaganda has been undertaken by the 700 Negro Elk lodges in all parts of the country.

Two Die, Five Hurt, in Crash.

By the Associated Press.

ASHLAND, Ky., Aug. 27.—Two persons were killed and five injured as the result of an automobile accident on the Scioto Trail, near here, late today. The dead are Mildred Hopper and Dewey Howell, both of Chillicothe, O. The injured are Jessie McClain and Mrs. Anna McClain, Chillicothe, and Harry Gillenwater, his wife, and J. R. Gillenwater, Negroes. The injured were taken to a Portsmouth, Ky., hospital where it was said physicians held little hope for their recovery. The accident occurred when the automobiles, driven by Gillenwater and Jesse McClain, collided head-on.

WOMAN FILES DEPOSITION IN $5000 SUIT OVER GRAVES

Tells of Visiting Old St. Paul Cemetery and Finding Bodies of Husband and Sister Moved.

When she went to visit the burial places of her husband and her sister, in the old St. Paul Congregation Cemetery on Gravois road, she found the bodies had been dug up and the headstones had fallen into the empty graves, Mrs. Mary Uthoff of 7389 Maple boulevard, Maplewood, said yesterday, in deposition filed in Circuit Court. She is suing the Evangelical St. Paul Congregation for $5000 damages in connection with the alleged removal of the bodies.

The Gravois avenue site of the cemetery was abandoned a year ago, so that buildings might be erected there, and the congregation arranged for a new site on Watson road, near Rock Hill road, in St. Louis County.

Circuit Judge Calhoun authorized the sale of the Gravois site, by the trustees, last October, on the grounds that high taxes made its continuance at that location inadvisable.

"Y" SCHOOLS TO OPEN SOON

Enrollment of 1600 Is Expected; Director Says.

Doubled enrollment is expected in the Y. M. C. A. schools when they open early next month, W. J. See, metropolitan education director, announced yesterday. Last year's enrollment was 800.

See pointed to a steady increase in the past. He said the total enrollment of the 20 largest universities was less than that of the Y. M. C. A. schools of the country.

CHICAGO, Aug. 27.—Funeral services for J. Ogden Armour, Chicago capitalist and packer, who died recently in London, will be held in the Fourth Presbyterian church here at 2 p. m. Tuesday. The services at the church will be public and will be followed by private services at Graceland Cemetery. The body of Mr. Armour arrived here late today from New York.

HOT DOGS SUBSTITUTE FOR HOUNDS AT RACES

Strike of Electric Rabbit Puts Off Opening of Wellston Club Till Tomorrow.

Hot dogs substituted for greyhounds last night at the new Wellston Kennel Club track on the St. Charles road when a shortage of electricity prevented the artificial rabbit from running, and the opening races were postponed untol tomorrow night.

The grand stand, the bleachers, the concessions, the cages for tellers and cashiers and the paddocks for the racing greyhounds were well lighted as the crowd began arriving at dusk. But the lines carrying current to light the quarter-mile track and operate the mechanical rabbit which lures the greyhounds had not been connected.

A temporary generator was assembled, but failed to develop sufficient power. The first race, scheduled to begin at 8:15 o'clock, had not started three hours later when the management gave up the generator as hopeless, and announced the postponement. In the three hours of waiting, the patient crowd of 10,000 men and women ate hot dogs and listened to a jazz band and singers.

Traffic congestion prevailed on the St. Charles road. It required as much as an hour to drive from the Wellston loop westward to the track, a distance of 4½ miles. Special street cars, busses, service cars and taxicabs were operating, in addition to private cars.

Last night was the first time Tony Foley's Ramona Park plant had another St. Louis County plant competing with it for the dollars of those who bet on hounds. The Madison Kennel Club track near Collinsville, Ill., owned by the Wellston Kennel Club interests, closed Thursday and the employes and dogs moved out to the new and more pretentious plant. It has not been decided whether the track at Madison will be re-opened next year.

The certificate, or contribution, system of betting is in effect at both county tracks. A recent Missouri Supreme Court decision held such betting to be legal.

Constructed in the record time of two weeks, with three shifts of workmen, the Wellston Kennel Club plant is said to have cost about $250,000. The Wellston Kennel Club Corporation has a paid up capital stock of $100,000. Martin J. Hyland of University City, the general manager, holds 334 of the 1000 shares of stock. Other stockholders of record are: Thomas A. Keene and Murray Kemp, St. Louis, 329 shares each, and J. H. Quinn, Creve Coeur, 8.

MAN SLAIN IN POOR HOUSE

By the Associated Press.

BLUEFIELD, W. Va., Aug. 27.—A quarrel between two aged inmates of the Tazewell, Va., County poor house over possession of a bed quilt, made desirable by the chilly weather, ended tonight in the slaying of one of the men.

Gus Whitt, 60 years old, a blind musician from the Southern West Virginia Coal field, was committed to the Tazewell jail charged with the fatal stabbing of Charles McClare, 73. County authorities said that Whitt slashed McClare's cheeks after stabbing him in the heart. Whitt and his wife entered the institution only a few days ago. The woman witnessed the fight but declined to make a statement.

Aluminum Auto Frames in France.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, Aug. 27.—Aluminum alloy automobile chassis, which reduce the weight of cars almost by half, are being experimented with by French makers. A frame that weighs only 350 pounds was exhibited recen'y to the Academy of Sciences. This chassis, it was said, was for a six-cylinder car that would weigh, complete, only 1760 pounds. With a normal steel construction, such a car would weigh 3300 pounds. The light chassis was cast in one piece, eliminating bolts and rivets.

WOMAN KILLED IN AUTO CRASH

Man Injured When Cars Collide On Poplar Bluff (Mo.) Street.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

POPLAR BLUFF, Mo., Aug. 27.—Mrs. Freda Roebkin, 40 years old was killed and W. J. Meadows, her brother-in-law, was dangerously injured tonight in an automobile collision in the business section. Meadows, a local merchant and Mrs. Roebkin were thrown from their auto when another car, with three Doniphan men in it, collided with their machine at a street intersection.

Police arrested James Fulbright, 20, and George Odom, and are searching for the third man. Fulbright is a son of Congressman James Fulbright of Doniphan. The Doniphan men are said to have sideswiped three other machines before striking Meadows' automobile.

ATTENDANCE AT STATE FAIR MORE THAN 250,000

Annual Session at Sedalia Closes With New Record and Estimated Profit of $10,000.

80,396 VISITORS IN SINGLE DAY

Exhibits Totaled 15,000 and Had Estimated Value of Nearly $3,000,000, Covering Wide Variety.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

SEDALIA, Mo., Aug. 27.—Desire for information about progress in agriculture, industry and serial subjects, good roads and prosperity are cited by officials as the reasons for the continued and growing interest in the annual Missouri State Fair.

The twenty-seventh fair, which lasted for the usual period of eight days, closed today with total paid attendance approximating 258,000, which was the largest in the fair's history except in 1921, when the time was extended to two weeks and a special program added in the celebration of Missouri's centennial, attracting 313,716 visitors.

"People come here," said C. D. Bellows, president of the fair board and a large scale farmer and retired banker of Maryville, because of the educational desire. They see complete exhibits of the things that interest them, and learn new things. They keep abreast of the times at the fair. We have ust begun in the last year or two to develop this as a really permanent fair; it is a big institution. We have a fine plant, but we are going to need a bigger grand stand.

Entertainment Improved.

"Good roads leading to Sedalia from all directions now help the attendance. Everybody has automobiles and they can come that way as well as by rail. Farmers have been having a hard time in the last three or four years, but we can see a turn in conditions now; prices are better; there have been indications of the turn at the fair, and some exhibitors have made sales at good figures.

"There has been a change in the sort of entertainment demanded at the fair. Recently the people wanted jazzy stuff; now they want more serious things, and even this year were glad to listen to grand opera (an excerpt from Samson and Delilah)."

W. D. Smith of Sedalia, secretary of the fair board and executive on the grounds, pointed out that the fair was keeping pace with modern developments. He though the personal interest aroused among the friends and neighbors of those having exhibits largely explained the growing popularity of the place, together with the ease of access provided by the highways.

Receipts Total $100,000.

He was of the opinion the fair reflected prosperity and pointed to large sales of implements as indicating at least that Missouri farmers were developing their business.

Receipts from all sources will total $100,000 this year, plus $60,000 appropriated by the legislature, Smith said, and expenses will be about $150,000, half of which goes for premiums, leaving $10,000 profit for betterments.

Gathered at the $1,500,000 fair grounds plant this week have been 13,500 exhibits, rating from chocolate layer cake to huge tractors, and including 4500 head of livestock valued at $2,500,000, and $100,000 in agricultural machinery. Smith said he hadn't received a single complaint from the 43 departments, and added the comment that no one could really see the fair in a single day.

80,396 Visitors in Day.

The first Missouri State fair, in 1901, attracted 25,346 persons who paid $8248 to get in. The attendance thereafter grew, with some fluctuation, but generally increasing year by year. Admissions paid centennial year were $107,477. In 1925 the last record for an ordinary year was set, 240,000 attendance and $58,634 paid at the gate, last year dropping down slightly.

This year, up to Friday night, 250,264 persons had entered the grounds, paying $61,957, and there were about 8000 more visitors today, as exhibitors were beginning to pack up. Always there are certain free admissions in addition.

"Big Thursday" this year broke the record for a day's attendance, with 80,396, compared with 72,800 in 1923 and 69,372 last year.

Besides its well-built, permanent structures, erected for use one week out of 52 and its all-year executive staff, the fair boasts its own thorough-going police force, augmented by off years from St. Louis, Kansas City and elsewhere, trained gatekeepers, a postoffice, a bank, a modern fire department, a hospital, telegraph and telephone offices checkrooms, numerous eating and refreshment facilities, local and rail transportation terminals, a big parking grounds and tourist camp, a housing bureau and a press bureau of invaluable aid to the newspapers and agricultural journals covering the fair.

Winners in Baby Contest.

Cecil Lowell Williams of Dresden, Mo., is the most perfect boy and Marilyn Ruth Minnus of Appleton City, Mo., the most perfect girl of 118 infants between 12 and 36 months of age, registered and examined in the child health contest at the fair. Cecil's score was 98.9 and Marilyn's 99.2.

Among the girls, Betty Joe Tharp of Sedalia was a close second, with an eve 99. There were 44 loving cup winners in all, the lowest score being 95.3. Dr. James P. Clemens of St. Louis University was the judge.

In a kindred contest, 190 children between 4 and 14 years were examined as to posture, weight, eyes, ears, noses and throats, and 103 of them were found well qualified in all six points. Out of 26 counties they represented, Pettis sent 57 "Six-pointers," Cole 12 and Johnson and Cooper six each. Loving cups will be sent to the school superintendents of these counties.

Six St. Louisans Seek Paroles.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Aug. 27.—Six St. Louis prisoners are included in the list of 45 convicts scheduled to receive parole hearings on the September docket. Sixteen cases will be heard Sept. 12 and 19 on Sept. 13. The St. Louis convicts listed are: Roy Crowley, serving 40 years from St. Louis County from May 26, 1922 for first degree robbery; Walter S. Snyder, 12 years from June 1921, for robbery, and Roland Durnil, Charles Schuff, Joseph Flavaty and Elmer R. Atteberry, under short sentences.

33 LIVES LOST IN RECENT NEWFOUNDLAND STORM

Five Fishing Boats Were Lost With All Hands—Fear Felt for Grand Banks Fleet.

By the Associated Press.

ST. JOHNS, N. F., Aug. 27.—Thirty-three lives lost and property damage that probably will total more than $150,000 was the toll listed today from Thursday's great storm in Newfoundland.

The possibility that the death list and property damage figures may mount much higher was seen in the fact that scores of coast line communities were still cut off from outside communication.

Five fishing schooners went down with all hands, while 11 others were known to have been destroyed, with their crews getting off safely.

Twenty-five fishing boats were destroyed at Bonavista without casualties, while nearly all the fishing establishments at Bay de Verde were demolished.

The coastal steamers Argyle and Philomena were driven ashore and the passengers and crews reported safe. Grave fears are felt here that the Grand Banks fishing fleet suffered heavily.

SEMINARY CAMPAIGN MEETING IS CALLED

Workers to Receive Instructions Wednesday in Raising Funds for Building.

William L. Igoe, general chairman in charge of Archbishop Glennon's fund-raising campaign for a new Junior Seminary, announced last night that the initial meeting of the regional or geographical organization will be held at the deanery in St. Charles at 2:30 p. m., Wednesday.

The meeting will be under the general direction of Igoe and Msgr. Tannrath, Chancellor of the Archdiocese of St. Louis and Executive Chairman of the campaign. Archbishop Glennon will be present. Instruction in campaign methods will be given.

Honorary parish chairman of the various parishes in the deanery, which include the following, will attend: the Rev. Anthony T. Strauss, Augusta, Mo.; the Rev. Adolph J. Range, Cottleville, Mo.; the Rev. H. Strieve, Dardenne, Mo.; the Rev. William Dames, Dutzow, Mo.; the Rev. Joseph P. Fitzkam, Flinthill, Mo.; the Rev. Wenceslaus Svehla, Hawk Point, Mo.; the Rev. John Schramm, Josephville, Mo.; the Rev. William F. Carr, Millwood, Mo.; the Rev. Daniel J. O'Brien, Montgomery City, Mo.; the Rev. Clement Moenig, O'Fallon, Mo.; the Rev. William J. Reef, Old Monroe, Mo.; the Rev. J. L. Paffhausen, Peers, Mo.; the Rev. Leonard Puffer, Portage des Sioux, Mo.; the Rev. F. H. Kehlenbrink, S. T. L., Rhineland, Mo.; the Rev. Richard E. Lang, Starkenburg, Mo.; the Rt. Rev. F. X. Willmes, R. D., St. Charles, Mo.; the Rev. Henry Ehrhard, S. J., St. Charles, Mo.; the Rev. Edward J. Kern, St. Paul, Mo.; the Rev. John H. Girse, St. Peters, Mo.; the Rev. L. F. Schlathoelter, Troy, Mo.; the Rev. Daniel J. Hurley, Wellsville, Mo.; the Rev. Martin J. Clarke, Wentzville, Mo.; the Rev. August Fechtel, West Alton, Mo.

These chairman in the meantime will appoint lay parish chairmen and vice-chairmen and preliminary gifts committee chairmen, who will attend the meeting also.

Other meetings of the various deaneries, which comprise eight in the country and two in the city proper of St. Louis, will be held later.

The campaign calls for an investment in a new Junior Seminary, a part of which sum will be used for a new Catholic Colored Children's school and a home for the teachers of the McBride High School. It is the first general appeal that has been made to all the Catholic population of the archdiocese since Archbishop Glennon came here 24 years ago.

DEPOSITORS OF DEFUNCT WOODRIVER BANK LOSE 51 PCT.

Final Report on Liquidation Is Filed by Receiver E. J. Berlie.

Liquidation of the defunct First State & Savings Bank of Woodriver, Ill., which failed in November, 1922, resulted in a loss to depositors and creditors of 51 per cent, according to the final report filed by Receiver E. J. Berlie of Alton in the Circuit Court at Edwardsville yesterday.

The receiver paid to secured, preferred and general creditors of the bank, including depositors, a total of $507,095.74, representing 49 per cent of the bank's total liabilities.

Irwin Hatridge, cashier, and H. H. Clark, president of the bank, were convicted of assenting to the receipt of deposits when they knew the bank was in a failing condition. Hatridge was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary and Clark was fined $290. On appeal, the higher court affirmed Clark's fine, but ordered that Hatridge's sentence be entered as "from one to three years," to agree with the technical reading of the statute under which he was convicted. S. A. Beach, chairman of the Board of Directors tried with Clark and Hatridge, was acquitted.

KILLED IN HEAD-ON COLLISION

Clanton Smitherman of Raymond, Ill., Is the Victim.

Clanton Smitherman of Raymond, Ill., was killed in a head-on collision of motor vehicles on State Highway No. 4, near Staunton, early yesterday.

Smitherman, who was 45 years old, with two other men, was driving toward Staunton in a truck when an automobile driven by Earl Ellzey, in which Ellzey's wife was riding, loomed suddenly in the path of the truck on a sharp curve. Impact of the crash threw Smitherman from his truck, injuring him internally. The two men with him were uninjured, as were Ellzey and his wife.

STATE SUNDAY SCHOOL MEETING

2000 Expected at Convention in St. Louis, Nov. 15-18.

The 66th annual convention of the Missouri Sunday School Council of Religious Education will be held here Nov. 15-18. At least 2000 Sunday school workers from all parts of the State are expected to be in attendance.

Headquarters will be at the Union Avenue Christian Church, Union boulevard and Enright avenue, with some meetings held at the Westminster Presbyterian Church. Abbott Book, Director of Religious Education of the Union Avenue Christian Church, has been made general chairman of the convention committee.

$83,000 Switchboard Cut In.

The first unit of telephone equipment, which will cost $1,600,000, was placed in service at 10 o'clock last night. It is an $83,000 intermediate switchboard through which telephone calls are passed from one exchange to another. Fewer errors in the total number of telephone calls placed each day are expected to result from the use of the new board.

Glandular Extracts Concentrated Used In New Modern Tonic

NEW developments occur almost every day in the world of Science. Now, glandular extracts, highly concentrated, have been effectively combined with well-recognized vegetable tonic agents in tablet form. So here is a new kind of tonic you have perhaps long been waiting for. This glandular and vegetable compound tonic is known as Morex (formerly called Glandogen). Its success has been remarkable for thousands now use it and leading druggists throughout America recommend it. Why not see for yourself what this modern tonic will do in your own particular case. Obtain an original and genuine package of Morex (formerly called Glandogen) and take two tablets three times a day for ten days.

Long ago this annual event established itself as the outstanding Millinery occasion of early Autumn! Women and misses anticipate it eagerly—their enthusiastic choice of one, two and three Hats showing their appreciation of the remarkable values invariably presented—and their early attendance indicating how well they realize the importance of coming early!

This year you have choice of 700 Hats . . . each depicting an authentic style mode for the new season . . . each a value seldom obtainable! Many are replicas of the new French Hats!

THE TRIMMINGS

Rhinestone pins, tiny veils, novelty quills, heckle pads, metal ribbons, metal bands and other ornamentations that had their inspiration in Paris models.

Large head sizes in youthful types—small head sizes and matrons' Hats.

SALE OF FURS

Only Three More Days in Which to Avail Yourself of the Super-Values Offered in This Annual Event!

Pelts of the highest quality—carefully selected, and expertly fashioned into coats which are representative of the authentic vogue for the Winter Season! At savings which women who recognize superior quality have been quick to appreciate!

Cash and Charge Purchases

Small cash payment will hold any Fur Coat until October first, when balance is payable. Charge purchases are payable in November.

Bonded Northern Seal Coats Are Featured

Bonded Northern Seal is seal-dyed coney, and each one of the Coats made of this fur has a label, guaranteeing that only the finest New Zealand Buck Coney pelts have been used, and that the dye, color fastness, workmanship and wearing quality are all backed by the dyer and Famous-Barr Co.

QUALITY!

These Coats are certain to be popular, for prices are moderate, the styling exceptionally smart and the quality assures fullest satisfaction. The trimmings include skunk, red and brown fox, cocoa and natural squirrel, fitch and mink tails, in many attractive effects.

Women's and misses' sizes 15 to 44.

The Coat Illustrated
$150

Is of Bonded Northern Seal (seal-dyed Coney) in a deep, rich black. Cuffs and a deep shawl collar are of beautifully matched squirrel skins. A most unusual value at this low price.

INCREASE IN ST. LOUIS EXPORTS DISCUSSED

American Trade Commissioner Tells Firms Here of Possibilities in Philippines.

The Philippine Islands are developing so rapidly commercially that within 20 years the value of its products has multiplied nine times.

O. M. Butler, American Trade Commissioner at Manila, capital of the Islands, told of the growth of the Islands while in St. Louis yesterday, during which he discussed with exporters of the city possibilities for increased export business from St. Louis to the Philippines.

The imports of the Islands average about $250,000,000 a year, of which 60 per cent comes from the United States, Butler said. A number of St. Louis firms are doing a considerable export business to the territory, a machinery manufacturing firm here having recently closed a contract for $2,000,000 worth of sugar mill machinery to be sent to the Islands.

Other Exports From City.

Other exports from St. Louis to the Philippines are hardware, boots and shoes, dry goods, electrical supplies, paints and varnishes and proprietary medicines.

"The principal crops of the islands are rice, sugar, cocoanut products, hemp and tobacco," Butler said. "With the exception of tobacco, all of the crops this year will be larger than in several years and business conditions there are sure to be good.

"Although the Philippines have developed greatly under American supervision, they are 90 per cent undeveloped insofar as their possibilities are concerned. What we need there now is outside capital and a few young men who are willing to remain some little time."

Commissioner Here Tomorrow.

Although prohibition is not in force in the Philippines, Butler said he does not notice any considerable amount of drinking. The natives have two favorite drinks—whisky made from the cocoanut palm and another kind of whisky from the Nipa palm. The natives

Commissioner Butler will remain here over tomorrow. He may be seen at the offices of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, at 1201 Liberty Central Trust Co., during the day, by appointment.

LORD CECIL EXPECTED TO QUIT OVER GENEVA

Will Confer With Premier Over His Differences With Naval Experts.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Aug. 27.—The Sunday Observer, dealing with the reports of Viscount Cecil's impending resignation as Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster, a Cabinet post, says the real cause of his decision is the failure of the naval limitations conference.

In the last stages of that meeting, he strove hard to avoid its complete breakdown, but it was reported to have been overwhelmed by upholders of opposing naval views. In his opinion, failure could have been avoided had there been a readier disposition on the part of the British delegates to compromise. It is doubtless in connection with the League of Nations disarmament plan, the observer says, that Lord Cecil has found his position impossible.

While Lord Cecil's resignation has not yet become actuality, it was said in official quarters, it seems that he had been waiting for Premier Baldwin to return from Canada, to discuss with him his dissatisfaction with the attitude of First Lord of the Admiralty Bridgeman and navy experts at the tripartite conference.

It is stated variously that he acquainted Premier Baldwin with his views in an official written communication and that he will confer wth the Premier tomorrow. The outcome is expected to be known Monday, since Lord Cecil is due to start Tuesday for Geneva for a League Council meeting. Final decision hardly can be delayed as the Premier is leaving England shortly for Aix-les-Bains.

When asked about the report that he had resigned from the Cabinet, Lord Cecil replied, "I cannot answer that question." This was generally regarded as confirmation.

LONDON BANKS HOLD £2,000,000 LESS GOLD

Fact Must Be Remembered in Considering Autumn Monetary Outlook, Says Review.

Special to the Post-Dispatch and the New York Evening Post.

LONDON, Aug. 27.—Arthur W. Kiddy, editor of Bankers' Magazine and financial editor of the London Morning Post, in financial review says:

"In considering the autumn monetary outlook it must be remembered that the stock of gold in banws here is £2,000,000 less than it was a year ago, that the new factor of Argentine gold demands have not yet ceased and that India's demands are most uncertain. The French monetary policy is also presenting itself as a problem, added to which the world-wide requirements for gold are noticeably larger.

"It should also be remembered that we are approaching the time when it is desirable that our treasury notes and the Bank of England notes should be amalgamated and fresh fiduciary limits arranged, which means virtually slight changes in the bank account.

"Consequently a cautious attitude is apparent, though there is a general disposition to repose considerable confidence in the general combined policy of the central banks to avoid excessive stringency.

"While Australian borrowing in New York is welcomed, in view of our present limited absorption operation, nevertheless it comes as a further reminder of the power conferred on the United States by the enormous favorable trade balance, while Britain's power is greatly curtailed by the depressed export trade.

"Commenting on the 1926-27 cotton season, the Manchester Guardian commercial supplement says:

"'Under stimulation of good general business, low prices for cotton and a shortage of foreign growths the world will apparently consume more than 16,000,000 bales of American cotton exclusive of linters, and the carry-over to 1927-28 season will be nearer 7,000,000 bales than the 9,000,000 bales estimated when the full size of the crop was known.' The same source says that the prospective crop for the new season is believed to be considerably less than 15,000,000 bales and that consumption is placed somewhat above that level.

"Activity in many of our industrials in face of the alleged trade depression possibly requires an explanation. The facts are that key industries like rails, coal, iron and steel are still depressed, and, while securities of the last three rallied from the lowest, rails were virtually at the worst price on record.

"On the other hand, many industries representing mostly retail trade and home consumption, like artificial silk, gramophones, retail stores, tobacco groups and certain newspapers, are quite prosperous and their shares advanced sensationally.

"This activity in stocks was partly because of good profits and dividends, but was due also to the desire to obtain capital appreciation, which as distinct from dividend income escapes their income tax. In certain key industries like iron and steel there are some indications of local fusions combined with working agreements with foreign concerns, but progress is slow.

"The rubber outlook is regarded as moderately good, though it is believed that big stocks on hand will prevent any great rise, and that any period of real scarcity will probably be of comparatively short duration.

"In considering the European outlook, negotiations between Britain and France about reduction of the occupation forces in the Rhineland cannot be altogether ignored."

Weekly Butter Review.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Aug. 27.—The firmness and active trade on butter noted last week continued during the week ending Aug. 27. Prices gradually worked to higher levels with the most rapid advance effective at Chicago where fancy butter was in exceptionally light supply and other grades were none too plentiful. Business in general on all markets was quite satisfactory to both the receivers and the jobbers. Some operators were still skeptical of the soundness of the market position and predict that the advance will soon check consumption or reach a level that will permit a more free use of butter from the freezers.

The recent price advance brought the price level to a point where some short held as well as early stored low cost butter could be moved at a profit. Users of fancy butter were drawing on their storage stocks to supplement their current arrivals and some fair sized lots of fancy storage butter was sold to go directly into consumptive channels.

The firmness and price advance was confined principally to the better grades of "whole milk" butter although the price on centralized cars advanced in sympathy. Trading in centralized cars, however, was not altogether satisfactory. At Chicago trade was especially slow with liberal offerings resulting in a slight price decline on Thursday.

In spite of the light supplies available on the various markets the receipts at the four markets were practically the same as for the previous week. Butter continued to move into storage but the rate was slightly lower than for the week previous although exceeding that of a year ago.

Although conditions throughout most of the producing area were favorable, some sections are too dry to keep pastures in good condition. Temperatures have been below normal and growth of crops has been retarded. Receivers of butter report a fairly sharp shrink in almost all factories in the larger "whole milk" butter producing States. The Southern territory which manufacturing the large percentage of the centralized butter reports a falling off in the "make" but not as sharp as in the "whole milk" area.

$900,000 Profit for Co-Operatives.

COLLEGE STATION, Tex.—Business amounting to more than $5,000,000 was done in Texas co-operatively last year by farmers' associations groups and committees in selling and buying, according to a statement issued here by the Extension Service, A. and M. College. The profits reported from these transactions were more than $900,000. Co-operative sales constituted more than 90 per cent of the total business. About 30 per cent of it was transacted by associations or groups formed in 1926.

HOG PRICES HIGHER IN TRADE FOR WEEK

COMPARATIVE RECEIPTS.

| | Last Week. | Prev. Week. | Last Year. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Cattle and calves | 38,815 | 40,135 | 36,994 |
| Hogs | 61,926 | 68,750 | 63,931 |
| Sheep | 15,213 | 17,577 | 22,367 |
| Horses and mules | 352 | 771 | 354 |
| Totals | 116,306 | 126,233 | 123,646 |

Mostly steady prices were maintained in cattle this week, grassy native steers featuring a 25c decline, with some Western heifers also a quarter lower. Veal calves except for good and choice and first cuts, were 50c to $1 lower, while some heavy calves were quoted $2 off. Best yearling steers sold strong. Receipts were fair and quality about an average.

Both mature and yearling native steers established new highs for the year, with yearlings reaching $14.25 and more aged steers at $14.15. A right fair representation of sales was noted upward from $12, with bulk of sales, however, registering at $10.50 t o$13.50, the low end justified by the number of plain and grassy steers received.

Mixed yearlings included a sparse selection of quality, in sizeable lots, although a top of $13 was reached by mixed and straight heifers sold up to $12.50. Bulk of sales was at $9.50 to $12.

Bulk beef cows made $6 to $7.25, while tops reached $9 and $9.25 in a small way. Cutters sold chiefly at $5 and $5.25, while canners were most numerous at $4.35 to $4.60.

Bulls registered no change, either for better or worse, with slow movement featured in all classes. Beef adn butcher grades made $6 to $6.75 mostly, while bolognas were noted mostly at $5.25 to $5.75 and $6, tops $6.25.

A firm price trend was maintained in all stocker and feeder cattle, with she-stuff especially in good demand. Stocker and feeder steers bulked at $7.25 to $8.75, with a top of $9.75 recorded. Most heifers sold from $6.75 to $7.50 and $8, while cows bulked at the $5.50 figure.

Good and choice veal calves bulked for the week at $15 to $15.50, with the latter figure representing top on the close. Next cuts varied from $12.50 to $13, while heavy calves made $6 to $8.50 mostly, better kinds up to $9 occasionally. Canner yearlings declined to $5.25 to $5.50 basis on the week's closing trade.

Hog Market Higher.

has been betwen light hogs and heavies has classes, with the exception of pigs, show a substantial improvement over last Saturday. Trading was generally on a stronger basis in active markets, especially in the latter part of the week. Medium and heavy hogs, due to a decreased supply, show the most advance, and the wide spread that has ben btwn light hogs and havis has narrowed considerably. Buyers the past week were paying a premium for quality hogs, as so many "grassy" half-fat kinds were on the market. That class, in most cases, was penalized as much as 25c to 50c, and in extreme cases more. Receipts were comparatively light, and with an exceptionally good demand from all sources, the market was cleared good each day. Medium and heavy rogs again were very spotted and uneven, making it hard to give an accurate comparison each day. The heaviest hogs here the past period weighed 425 pounds and cashed at $9.10.

Pigs and light lights, in contrast with the other classes, are little if any changed. Bulk of pigs sold for the week at $9 to $9.75.

Packing sows advanced 50c over last Saturday's best prices. Top sows the past week made $8.50, as compared with $8 a week ago. Bulk of sows sold for the period at $8 to $8.40. Stags mostly $6.75 to $7.50.

Today's market was uneven and there was only a few medium and heavy hogs on sale. Sales were made from 15c to 50c higher. As compared from today to last Saturday, light hogs are 50c to 60c higher, medium and heavy hogs, 75c to $1.25 higher. Extremes up more. As compared from last Saturday to Friday's close, light hogs 30c to 40c higher, medium and heavy hogs, 50c to $1.05 higher. Clearance for the week was good.

Lamb Prices Down.

Offerings the past week at the leading markets were a good deal heavier than a week ago, and consequently lambs experienced a slump the first part of the week. Lighter receipts locally, however, tended to hold the market steady the remaining sessions. Monday lambs declined 25c to 50c, Tuesday lambs again registered a like decline. In subsequent sessions the market held to a steady level and lambs closed the week 50c to $1 lower. Bucky lambs also fell under the buyer's hammer, in fact, more so than good lambs. In most cases that class failed to better $12.25, and the bulk sold at $12 to $12.25. Medium, plain and cull grades were not materially changed. Culls continued at $8.50, while the medium and plain grades made $11 to $12. Bulk of lambs sold for the week at $12.50 to $13, mostly $12.75. Aged sheep continued in light supply, prices however, were steady. Most ewes ranged $4.50 to $5.50, with the higher prices claiming those weighing 120 pounds and less. Choppers and bucks sold principally at $3 to $3.50, canners $1 to $2.50.

Quotations: Slaughter stock—Good to choice spring lambs $12.50 to $13, medium to good $11.50 to $12.50, plain to medium $10.50 to $11.50, cull and common $8 to $10; good to choice yearling wethers $10 to $10.50, medium to good $9 to $10, plain to medium $8 to $9, cull and common $7 to $8; good to choice aged Western wethers $8 to $9, good fat Southern kinds $7.50 to $8.50, thin to fair kinds $4 to $6.50; good to choice mutton ewes $4.50 to $5.50, plain to good $4 to $4.50, choppers and bucks $3 to $3.50, canners $1 to $2.50; fat goats, $3 to $4; fair to good kids, $4 to $7; thin to fair kids, $1.50 to $3.

Horses and Mules.

All classes of horses and mules sold on a firm basis here the past week and while there was no particular demand for some of the plainer kinds a ready outlet was furnished all offerings. Most of the week's supply was native stock, although some contributions were received from Kansas. The market closed for the week with a good clearance effected on all grades.

GRAINS DEVELOP SINKING SPELLS IN LATE TRADING

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Aug. 27.—All grains developed sinking spells in the late trading today after firmness at the start. Buyers who took hold on the declines earlier in the week were free sellers, and there was not much disposition to go heavily long over the week-end. At the finish wheat showed a net loss of ¼c to 1¼c, corn was unchanged to ⅜c down, oats unchanged to ¼c off and provisions 7½c to 20c advance.

Unfavorable weather conditions played an important part in the upturn in wheat. A fair demand from commission houses disclosed an absence of selling pressure as well as tendency on the part of shorts to cover recent commitments. Further rains in continental countries where harvest is in progress and the arrival of the German crop in inferior condition, with much damage feared in that country did much to lift values here.

Generally clear conditions existed in the Alberta and Saskatchewan, where the harvest is progressing rapidly. Heavy rains were encountered in North Dakota and showers in South Dakota but the forecast was for improved conditions. Strength in Minneapolis attracted some attention, advices there claiming heavy flour sales overnight. Export demand continued brisk, but curtailment of ocean freight acted as a check on export buying.

Corn was firmer early with commission houses fair buyers, but eased off later with wheat. Crop reports were decidedly mixed. Early wheat strength and the settlement of the elevator situation relative to the posting of grain out of condition were instrumental in bringing about a better class of buying.

Oats were influenced largely by the action of other grains.

Provisions were firm with hogs and cotton.

Harvesting in the Canadian Northwest is making rapid progress and with 10 days' continued warm weather will become general. Unsettled weather conditions in continental Europe, with showers in Germany and generally unfavorable for harvesting, is doing much to encourage export business on this side of the Atlantic, it is said. Winnipeg reported a good-sized export trade yesterday and said business would have been better if freight space had been available, as many of the European countries were in the market for wheat because of the delayed harvesting abroad.

Freight rates and the upturn in premiums served to limit offerings today and checked foreign buying to some extent.

Oregon, Washington and Idaho have raised more than 130,000,000 bushels of wheat, according to a reliable crop authority on the West coast. This is 25,000,000 more than the Government estimate. mate.

TRADERS MUST PAY $10,000 IN COMMISSIONS, GAIN NAUGHT

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—Cancellation of all contracts in the original issue of Lackawanna Securities Co. capital stock on the curb market caused a loss to traders of approximately $10,000 in commissions, it was estimated today, in addition to the loss of all profits accruing on the advance of the price of the shares. The constitution of the curb exchange provides that commissions must be paid on all transactions, even if they are subsequently voided.

Lackawanna Securities stock was admitted to trading in March and transactions aggregated about 25,000 shares at prices ranging from 87 to 106½. Trading fell off sharply after the recommendation of an Interstate Commerce Commissioner that $33,506,000 bonds of two subsidiary lines of the Lackawanna Railroad be excluded from the assets of the securities company, thus reducing the assets to the $58,000,000 4 per cent bonds of the Glen Alden Coal Co.

The new Lackawanna Securities stock, admitted to trading yesterday on a "when issued basis," changed hands up to the close today to the extent of 700 shares at prices between $73 and $79 a share.

LOCAL WHEAT PRICES LOWER AT THE CLOSE

ST. LOUIS MERCHANTS' EXCHANGE, Aug. 27.—Wheat was irregular on the local market, closing lower on most deliveries after an early higher range. Corn showed shade improvement at close.

Fractional gains were shown by wheat futures in the early trade, while December corn rose a full cent.

Unfavorable European weather reports and seaboard report of 600,000 bushels taken for export had influence for time on wheat. Then profit taking was felt.

Winnipeg early was ⅝c to 1c higher and Liverpool came ½d higher on all three deliveries.

Hard September wheat opened at $1.37, hard December $1.41⅛, September corn $1.10¼ and December corn $1.15¼.

Local wheat receipts, which were 145,600 bushels, compared with 124,600 a week ago and 180,600 last year, included 65 cars local and 39 through. Corn receipts, which were 89,600 bushels, compared with 70,000 a week ago and 51,800 last year, included 26 cars local and 38 through. Oats receipts, which were 58,000 bushels, compared with 56,000 a week ago and 100,000 last year, included 25 cars local and 4 through. Hay receipts were 25 cars local and 2 through.

The three Northwestern markets com- with 361 a wee kago and 592 last year. bined had 552 cars of wheat, compared Minneapolis today receiving 372 cars, Duluth 138 and Winnipeg 42.

Stocks in St. Louis Public Elevators were 2,749,957 blushels of wheat, 1,320,174 bushels of corn, 97,523 bushels of oats.

Grain stocks comprised 250,715 bushels of No. 1 red winter wheat; 181,936 bushels of No. 2 red winter wheat; 309,807 bushels of No. 1 hard winter wheat; 762,166 bushels of No. 2 hard winter wheat, 5,497 bushels of No. 2 corn; 656,590 bushels of No. 2 yellow corn; 104,344 bushels of No. 2 white corn; 22,532 bushels of No. 2 white oats; 48,967 bushels of No. 3 white oats.

Primary receipts of wheat were 1,956,000 bushels, compared with 2,033,000 a week ago and 1,666,000 last year. Corn receipts were 691,000 bushels, compared with 621,000 a week ago and 265,000 last year, oats receipts were 941,000 bushels, compared with 1,104,000 a week ago and 1,090,000 last year. Wheat shipments were 1,388,000 bushels, compared with 1,546,000 a week ago and 975,000 last year, corn shipments were 596,000 bushels, compared with 692,000 a week ago and 251,000 last year, oats shipments were 280,000 bushels, compared with 488,000 a week ago and 441,000 last year.

In the local cash grain market Saturday No. 2 red and good No. 3s were steady with light test high moisture No. 3s and common qualities No. 4 possibly 1c lower. There was a fair demand at ruling prices, with scattered mill orders for dry wheat and shipping demand for cheap mixing grades. The market was cleaned up. Hard wheat was down ½c to 1c. The demand was principally milling. No. 1 hard sold late at $1.40. No. 2 hard at $1.39. Lot of 5000 bushels No. 2 hard 12½ per cent protein was bought to arrive at $1.45½, transit billing. Corn was unchanged to 1c higher with trade rather scattered. The low grades, however, were taken by a glucose plant. Offerings were moderate. A few cars were carried over. Oats were steady to 1c higher. The choice heavy-test samples met with a good demand from local trade and mills, but for ordinary to poor stuff there was only a fair inquiry.

No home! On the street!

They're using Peterman's in the houses where he used to pick up a fine living!

THERE is only one way to exterminate bedbugs. That is with a liquid.

Remember most bedbugs live behind the picture moldings, deep down behind baseboards, where no spray can possibly reach. Only a liquid can seep down into the teeming nests and exterminate all the young and eggs.

Peterman's Discovery is the right liquid.

Used through spout on the can, it will exterminate all bedbugs in any house in 48 hours.

Here is the right insecticide for each insect:
PETERMAN'S DISCOVERY (liquid) exterminates bedbugs (used through spout on can)
FLYOSAN (liquid spray) kills flies and mosquitoes
PETERMAN'S ROACH FOOD exterminates cockroaches
PETERMAN'S ANT FOOD exterminates ants
PETERMAN'S MOTH FOOD protects against moths

You must have a specific insecticide for each insect. No single insecticide will exterminate them all. We have had nearly 50 years' experience. We know that is true.

Peterman's has the right insecticide for each insect. On sale wherever drugs are sold.

HIGH-PRICED STOCKS LEAD WEEK'S TRADE

Financial Markets Lack Stability and Consistency — Trend Changes Abruptly From Day to Day With Volume of Business Maintained at High Figures.

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—The Evening Post in its weekly copyrighted financial review, says:

The financial markets lacked stability and consistency this week and the action of the stock market was not illuminating to those whose business it is to analyze security prices. The trend of the market changed abruptly from day to day and although the volume of business on the Exchange was maintained at high figures, trading was not of a decisive character and the speculative position appeared to be full of uncertainties. Bullish and bearish statements were made in various quarters with and without qualification and apparently with little regard to conditions as they are. Never before perhaps has the Street been so lacking in definite knowledge of these conditions. Continued confidence was expressed in the business outlook in the face of numerous evidences of smaller trade. Secretary Hoover in a statement early last week said that the business outlook was "fair." Departing for Europe late last week William C. Durant predicted a bull market over a period of many years to come. Charles M. Schwab and Charles E. Mitchell were among the optimistic. On the other hand warnings were sounded of a rise in unemployment because of curtailed operations at various manufacturing centers. These cross currents of opinion served to upset the position of the shares of some of the smaller corporations, particularly those in the non-dividend group. The higher priced shares such as General Motors, Du Pont, General Electric were active and strong. New high records were made by all those and at time trading in the four stocks constituted the greater part of the business.

Call Money Pegged at 3½.

"At the beginning of the week the money market displayed a slightly firmer tendency, but this promise was not fulfilled, as the flow of new funds from the outside more than offset any increased demand. Call money was pegged at 3½ per cent on the stock exchange throughout the week, although in the outside market offerings at 3¼ per cent were freely made. Time money and bankers' acceptances were a shade lower. Huge foreign balances now being held here have a great deal to do with the continued ease of the money market. The foreign exchange market was interesting this week on two counts, the rise of Argentine pesos to the gold shipping point and a further advance in sterling.

New Activity in Investments.

"The investment market underwent the greatest change during the week developing new activity through the public offering of several large issues of new bonds. The most important new bond issues sold were $40,000,000 Australian Government 5s and $40,000,000 Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific 4½s. These issues were issued after a careful survey of investment conditions and bankers were not surprised at the enthusiastic response from investors. Other sizeable issues placed on the market were quickly oversubscribed. Investment bankers are grooming several large new loans for offering next week. Among the loans in prospect are the French Government refunding bonds and the New Haven financing. A decrease of almost $21,000,000 in New York brokers' loans was thought to reflect a clearance of bond dealers' shelves. The total of brokers' loans, however, still is $436,000,000 above the same week last year.

Weather Affecting Crops.

"The long speel of cold and rainy weather is affecting the crops, so that cotton and grain prices were up quite substantially during the week. The most interesting side of the commodity markets at this time is the threat of a corn crop failure. It is said that an early killing frost would cause the worst corn crop failure in generations. On the other hand, a few weeks' delay of the frost date might bring a harvest well above present estimates.

HIGH SPOTS IN FINANCIAL AND OTHER MARKETS

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—An irregularly higher movement of stock prices in the face of distinctly unfavorable trade news, a sudden influx of new bond offerings which carried the week's total above $100,000,000 for the first time since last spring; a further advance in cotton future to new high levels for the season, and the establishment of a new 1927 peak by sterling exchange were the high spots in this week's financial and commodities markets.

Gigantic buying operations in the stocks of some of the pivotal industrials carried the average of 20 leading issues to a record high level for all time. This was accomplished despite the tardiness of the expected improvement in the steel trade, the falling off in motor car production in July and the sharp declines in freight car traffic and railroad earnings, compared with the corresponding periods of last year. An unexpectedly large decrease in brokers' loans, continued ease of money rates and predictions of fair business this fall by Secretary Hoover, however, helped to maintain bullish sentiment.

Trading in listed bonds was dull, pending the announcement of the new government financing. The market, however, appeared to have recovered from the sluggishess caused by the flood of "undigested securities" earlier in the year.

Cotton responded to reports of improved domestic demand and further boll weevil damage. Predictions of a large wheat carryover had an unsettling influence on the futures market.

Sterling's rise was indirectly due to the lower rediscount rates here, and the resultant flow of capital abroad. The Canadian dollar sold at a premium for the first time since last June, and Argentina returned to the gold standard.

Money rates continued easy, with a plentiful supply of funds available on call at 3½ per cent, the official rate, which was shaded in the "outside market." Some surprise was shown by the drop of more than $20,000,000 in brokers' loans reported by the New York Federal Reserve Bank.

U. S. Steel common sold at the highest price since the declaration of the 40 per cent stock dividend. A sensational advance in the old stock of the General Motors corporation carried it to a record high level above $250 a share. Government statistics on automobile production showed a sharp falling off in July compared with the same month last year.

Oils again turned reactionary on selling inspired partly by the Pennsylvania and Panhandle crude oil price cuts. Scattered selling also developed in a number of specialties but this apparently failed to check the bullish tactics of pools which were plentifully supplied with funds. In view of the absence of any widespread public participation, the source of the buying in many issues was somewhat of a mystery.

The list of individual highs included such diversified issues as American Bank Note, Bon Ami, Utah Copper, Mackay Companies, Davison Chemical, Mullins Body, General Electric, S. H. Kress, American Power & Light, Texas Gulf Sulphur and General American Tank.

NEW YORK, August 27.—The stock market displayed a complete reversal of form in today's brief session† bouncing upward at the opening under the leadership of the pivotal industrials, several of which attained record high levels, and then turning reactionary under the combined weight of realizing sales and a renewal of professional selling pressure against the oils and a few of the vulnerable specialties.

General Motors issues continued to dominate trading, the "old" stock touching another new high record at 250¾, and then slipping back to 249 for a small fractional loss on the day, while the new "when issued" stock reacted about a point from its peak of 126⅜. Sales of both issues approximated 140,000 shares.

General Electric, directors of which declared only the regular dividends yesterday, was nevertheless run up 4 points to a new peak at 138, as against a low of 81 earlier in the year. U. S. Steel common reached a new high level at 142. Both Steel and General Electric closed near the top. Baldwin Locomotive showed a net loss of [illegible] points at 256 as a result of the conflicting reports regarding entrance of Fisher Brothers interests to the directorate.

Buying of General Motors.

Buying of the General Motors issues was stimulated by the publication of a newspaper interview by John J. Raskob, chairman of the finance committee of the corporation, who expressed the opinion that business conditions were healthy, and that a turn for the better could be expected in the motor industry. Chrysler also attained a new high at 61 on buying credited to a certain banking interest, while Pierce-Arrow issues sold at new low levels for the year.

Pan American issues sank to the lowest levels since 1924 when selling pressure was renewed against the oil group. Houston oil broke 2 points to 130 but snapped back to 132 and 19 shares of Texas & Pacific Land Trust old stock, which was recently split up on a 100 for 1 basis, changed hands at 2845, a drop of 155 points below the previous sale.

Among the other issues to reach new high prices were American Machine & Foundry, Eaton Axle, Jewel Tea, and General American Tank Car. Shubert Theaters ran up nearly 3 points on expectations as to what the annual report, soon to be issued, would show.

Publication of additional unfavorable earnings statements had a depressing effect on the rail group, Delaware & Hudson standing out with a break of 9½ points. Recessions in other seasoned dividend paying issues were held to a point or so.

A jump of $3.50 a bale in cotton prices featured the commodity markets.

Exchange Market Easier.

The weekly statement of clearing house banks and trust companies showed excess reserve of $20,670,670, at the close of the week, a decrease of $26,879,040 from the week before. The detailed statement of actual condition this day showed decreases in all the principal items except cash in own vaults, which gained $335,000. Loans, discounts, investments, etc., fell off $25,442,000; reserve in Federal Reserve Banks of member banks, $28,380,000; net demand deposits, $11,470,000, and time deposits $13,509,000.

Easing tendencies characterized the foreign exchange market, Italian lire sinking 4¼ points to 5.39¾ cents and Japanese cables dropping 5 to 47.26 cents. Demand sterling and French francs were quoted practically unchanged around $4.85 13-16 and 3.91¾ cents respectively.

Drygoods Market Strong.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, August 27.—Cotton goods markets were strong today with the price tendency steadily upward. Sales for the week were large enough to cover the output. Several contracts were made for deliveries ten to twelve weeks ahead. Yarns were firm and advancing. Raw silk held steadier. Silk goods sold moderately. Burlap markets were strong, with Calcutta prices above the parity of sales here. Agents of wool goods mills offering fancies for spring men's wear report a very fair volume of business during the week. Heavy and light weight knit underwear lines are being advanced from 25 to 50 cents a dozen, due to the rapid advance in yarns. This is the second advance within two or three weeks.

COTTON $27.50 A BALE OVER LEVEL OF EARLY AUGUST

Advance of $3.50 at Week End Session Brings Price to Season's Highest— Reports Dealing With New Crop Outlook Are Factors

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—Continuance of unfavorable crop reports was reflected in a broadening demand and a further advance of approximately $3.50 a bale in the cotton market today. Prices made new high records for the season on all deliveries. December contracts selling up to 22.67c, or 71 points net higher, and nearly 5½ cents a pound or $27.50 a bale above the price prevailing shortly before publication of the Government crop report at the beginning of this month. December closed at 22.62c, the general market closing steady at net advances of 59 to 70 points.

The market opened firm at an advance of 24 to 45 points. Buying was stimulated by strong cables from Liverpool. Heavy realizing sales were absorbed on comparatively slight reactions in early trading.

Reports of unseasonably low temperatures in the Eastern belt, prospects for showers in Arkansas and Oklahoma, and continual bullishness of private crop advices from nearly all sections of the South, appeared to be causing more general alarm over the outlook for the season's supply. Buying was attributed to trade interests as well as recent sellers, and a broadening of commission house demand was reported on the advance which extended to 22.40c for October and 22.78c for March or 66 to 76 points net higher on the general list. Naturally there was realizing on a considerable scale as prices worked higher, but it was taken by the broadening demand and last prices showed setbacks of only a few points from the best.

The opinion in bullish circles here is said to be that spinners have bought very little against their forward requirements, and that a demand fro mthat quarter is now beginning to develop with a probability that it may become more active if there is not an early improvement in weather and crop news. There was probably buying on this view of the situation today but while the selling was attributed chiefly to realizing, reactionary views were expressed in some quarters, on a possibility that crop damage reports were being exaggerated and that the advance had been sufficient to discount a considerable falling off in crop prospects since Aug. 1.

Weekly Metal Review.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—Here and there some slight improvement in the volume of demand for steel was reported during the week, but as a rule the trade was not showing expected seasonal revival and mill production remained moderate. Prices, with few exceptions, were steady. There was more attention given to the coal situation, and some of the principal steel producing centers reported industrial bituminous stocks as depleted to some extent. Coal prices were advanced moderately at Pittsburg.

Pig iron was steady and the demand again moderate.

Copper has been unsettled. Buyers generally continued to hold off and further price shading was reported, with rumors that small lots were obtainable as low as 13 cents during the early week. Producers however, have refused to follow the decline below 13⅛ cents apparently, while some of them have been holding firm for 13¼ or even 13⅜ cents, and the market showed a somewhat better tone yesterday when it looked as if holders were tightening up and more inquiry was in evidence. The lower export price brought in some demand from abroad.

Tin declined early in the week and this was followed by a recovery. Consumers were reported to have bought a fair amount on the upturn.

Lead quotations were reduced by leading producers apparently to correspond with the easier trend abroad. Consuming demand was moderate.

Zinc was slightly easier, but leading producers were not pressing the market.

Antimony was higher and there was some consuming interest for September and October. Demand was reported as largely from dealers.

Industrial and Financial Briefs

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.

Heavy melting steel scrap No. 1 is 25 cents a ton lower in the Pittsburg district, quotations now ranging from $15.25 to $15.75.

The first 37 class one railroads to report July earnings had aggregate net operating income of $40,553,216 in contrast to $56,628,856 in the same month last year.

July surplus of the St. Louis Southwestern system (Cotton Belt) was only $1976 after charges, compared with $75,489 in July last year. Surplus for the seven months of 1927 dropped to $157,143 from $679,652 in the same period of 1926.

Reynolds Spring Co. reports net loss of $25,576 for the first half of 1927 against net loss of $39,308 in the first half of 1926.

A sharp drop in July net operating income is reported by the Pennsylvania Railroad—$7,907,439 from $9,653,086 in July last year. Net for the seven months, however, was $59,072,504, against $53,354,096 in the same period of 1926.

Total operating revenue of the Chicago & Northwestern Railway Co. for July was $13,030,023, against $13,869,739 for July, 1926. Total operating expense was $9,922,115 last month, compared with $10,380,464 in July last year.

The Curtis Publishing Co. declared two dividends of 50 cents each on the common stock, payable Sept. 2 and Sept. 10, both to stock of record Aug. 22. In August a dividend of 50 cents was paid.

Business in the electrical industry is holding up well for this time of year, with a moderate gain in inquiries reaching the market. Taking the country as a whole, says Electrical World, central station companies are purchasing material in good volume, but the industrials are operating in rather a conservative way.

July net operating income of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe dropped to $4,667,262 from $8,446,943 and for the seven months of 1927 to $25,338,052 from $27,455,202 in the same period of 1926. The Baltimore & Ohio also had a poorer month, net falling to $3,687,106 from $5,608,369. For the seven months the total was $26,337,921, against $26,472,745 a year ago.

Net operating income for all class 1 railroads for July, based on reports of 46 carriers having aggregate net of $63,642,000, is calculated at $83,500,000, compared with actual net of $116,895,311 in July, 1926. This would represent July's proportion of an annual return of 4.55 per cent on a partly estimated rate-making valuation of $21,050,000,000 as Jan. 1, 1927.

Lower steel prices are reported from the Youngstown district, quotations of tin plate, steel pipe, strips and strip sheets having been shaded from the nominal market.

July net operating income of the Chicago & Northwestern dropped to $1,981,003 from $2,448,707 in July, last year, and for the seven months of 1927 to $10,413,846 from $12,250,068 in the same period of 1926.

Baldwin Locomotive Works has an order for five locomotives from the Belt Railroad of Chicago.

Chevrolet Motor Co. is proceeding under the heaviest production schedule in its history, says Vice President Barth. Output this year to Aug. 12 was 732,147 cars, surpassing the year's output for 1926. The August schedule calls for 89,474 units.

July surplus of the Texas & Pacific was $128,439 after charges, against $144,481 a year ago and for the seven months this year, $1,215,075, against $1,052,685 in the same period of 1926.

Reports of iron and steel production just received from the United Steel Works Corporation of Germany, largest unit in the European industry, indicate the successful operation of the newly organized International Raw Steel Association, representing Germany, France, Belgium, Luxemburg and the Saar district. In the first quarter this year members of the association produced 7,912,356 tons of raw steel. Germany's quota was the largest, 43 per cent of this the United Steel Works contributed 39 per cent, nearly 17 per cent of the entire output of the association.

The Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul is expected to be in the market shortly for 20,000 to 25,000 tons of rails, says American Metal Market.

BONDS IRREGULAR AS PROFITS TAKEN

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—High grade bonds continued to be supported by current easy money conditions and the disposition of bond owners to retain their holdings, even at the present high level of prices. Irregularity which crept into the trend was almost entirely owing to week-end profit taking in some of the semi-speculative liens, such as Erie "D" 4s, International Telephone 5½s and other convertibles which have been intermittently strong in recent weeks.

Cities Service Power 6s were around their previous peak price at 104½ and Davis Chemical 5½s touched par for the first time this year, up a point. Park Lexington 6½s and New Haven 4s were a point or so higher, but Wheeling Steel 5½s lost ground.

French issues were firm, but reflected the hesitancy of traders pending developments in the Paris Government's refunding plan. Completion of negotiations with American bankers is understood to be awaiting a sign from the United States Treasury Department.

Argentine 6s were offered in rather heavy amounts, but held close to yesterday's last price.

United States Government bonds were irregular and dull.

LOCAL STOCK TRADE VOLUME LITTLE LARGER

ST. LOUIS STOCK EXCHANGE, Aug. 27.—Business on the local market the past week was a little larger, in aggregate, than that of prvious week, but still not of great volume. Brown Shoe sold on a better basis as did the same stock on the New York Stock Exchange. Hamilton-Brown showed net gain on the week. Aloe common turnover was of fair volume. There were sales of Stix, Baer & Fuller at advance in price. One of the incidents of the period was small lot transactions in St. Louis Union Trust at 400. A small lot of the same stock sold last in July at 370. Several small lots of banking institution shares figured in trading.

LITTLE CHANGE NOTED IN PRICES ON CURB

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—Buying orders were in sufficient volume at the opening on the curb exchange today to prevent any appearance of unsettlement that may have arisen from the liquidation of speculative accounts for evening-up purposes. Quotations in the main list pursued an even tenor with little change from levels lately prevailing. United States Battery scored an early gain of 3 points to a new high and Auburn Motor also lifted to a new peak at 119. Johns-Manville was easier, yielding 2¾ points at the opening and rallied partially toward the close.

Public utilities shares displayed quiet strength. Singer Manufacturing sold at a new high at 393½.

Oil shares were quiet without much change of market importance. Standard Oil of Indiana and Kentucky were fractionally higher.

New York Bank Statement.

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—The actual condition of clearing house banks and trust companies for the week shows excess reserve of $20,670,670. This is a decrease in reserve of $26,879,040, compared with the week before when excess reserve of $47,549,710 was reported.

CLEARINGS, MONEY AND SILVER

The St. Louis Clearing House Association reported clearings for Aug. 27, 1927 $17,400,000; corresponding day last year $17,700,000; this year, $4,826,300,000 corresponding period last year $5,088,600,000. Report of debits for Aug. 26, 1927 were: Debits to individual accounts, $21,000,000; total to date $5,775,000,000 debits to bank and bankers' accounts $14,700,000; total to date $3,558,600,000 combined debits were $35,800,000; total to date to individual and bank and bankers' accounts $9,333,600,000.

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—Bar silver 54½; Mexican dollars 41.

LONDON, Aug. 27.—Bar silver 25 3-16 per ounce; money 2¾ per cent; discount rates short and three-months' bills 4 5-16 per cent.

Close to $375,000 Paid By Park Opera Patrons In Season Ending Tonight

Final Performance Likely to Decide Question of Profit or Loss—Orpheum to Open This Afternoon.

By NIE.

WITH the final performance tonight of "Tales of Hoffman," the ninth season of summer opera at the Municipal Theater in Forest Park will come to an end. It has been the banner year of the organization in so far as attendance and gross intake is concerned but additional expenses this season of something like $20,000 may eat up all of the profits and show a small financial loss for the run of 12 weeks. So close is the margin between profit and loss that tonight's seat sale may swing the balance sheet one way or the other.

The total amount of business done this summer will be in the neighborhood of $375,000. Receipts last summer, which established a record, were $368,128, while the expenditures were $6272 less than that amount. Up to the start of "Tales of Hoffman" last Monday night the first 11 weeks of the present season were ahead of the corresponding weeks of last year in both attendance and revenue.

The increase for the ninth season is remarkable in view of the unfavorable weather that has prevailed through the summer—the worst in the history of Municipal Opera.

The record for 1926 was achieved with only three performances lost in the first 11 weeks, whereas the 1927 mark has been set with five performances called off on account of inclement weather. On top of this absolute loss Municipal Opera has suffered from cold or threatening weather throughout a large part of the season.

The programs this summer ranged from the lightest form of extravaganzas, "The Red Mill," through the regular light opera, to the higher musical art in Offenbach's grand opera, "Tales of Hoffman," and included composers from practically every nation which has produced light opera on any scale.

THE high water mark in receipts and attendance was reached with the presentation of "Rose Marie," with "The Song of the Flame" running a close second. Business was at its lowest ebb for the summer during the weeks of "The Dollar Princess" and "Princess Pat." This should point the way when it comes to making up the repertory for next season. The public is not much interested in the old models of musical comedy with its ancient jokes and time-worn situations. The patrons demand modern musical shows—and stay away when they are not offered.

The unfavorable weather extended its influence to the cast. In the first week Myrtle Schaaf contracted a cold, and was forced to leave in the middle of the season, Irene Pavloska taking her place in "The Mikado" to be succeeded by Charlotte Woodruff.

Paul Kleman and Allan Rogers also suffered from colds in the early part of the summer, but managed to stay on, while illness also took away the first comedian, Robert Pitkin. Robinson Newbold, who succeeded him, also resigned to enter a new New York production.

Heightening the popularity of opera were the colorful productions presented in even more elaborate form than before. The chorus of 96 St. Louis boys and girls, whose vocal volume, dancing and youthfulness was unusually fine, was an outstanding feature.

Municipal Opera also entered into a new field of exploitation, undertaking in co-operation with the railroads an extensive campaign to advertise St. Louis as a summer resort with Municipal Opera as the chief attraction. With the campaign extended into many states and the railroads running numerous excursions to St. Louis, more than 25,000 persons visited St. Louis on account of Municipal Opera.

THE opening of the regular dramatic—and musical comedy—season in the two "legitimate" theaters is still some distance away for the American brings in the motion picture, "Old Ironsides" next Sunday for a run of several weeks, while the Shubert-Rialto has not yet announced an opening date or attraction. Meanwhile the Orpheum gets going today, the National Players resume their stock run at the Empress next Saturday night and the burlesque houses are already in full swing with the exception of the Gayety, which is changing its policy by opening next week with a musical stock company.

This will be the sixth season in St. Louis for the National Players Stock Company and its opening bill will be Don Burroughs and Ruth Thomas in "American Born." This initial production will run eight days—through Saturday, Sept. 10—with matinees Sunday, Thursday and Saturday. In support of Burroughs and Miss Thomas in this Cohan comedy will be Maureen Olson, Alice Baker, Helene Robin, Millard Vincent, Frank Jaquet, Edward Schilling, Phil Macy,

Behind the Screens

CLOSE UPS OF THE STARS — OUT IN HOLLYWOOD

By MARGARET POST NIEMEYER.

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Aug. 27.

THIS has been rather an off week at the picture factories, not "off" in the sense of slack production—quite to the contrary, but "off on location," and as a consequence the enormous studios have seemed rather deserted, but the productions which did remain at home proved fascinating.

Corinne Griffith, always interesting, was working in her new picture, "The Garden of Eden," an adaptation by Hans Kraly of a sensationally successful German stage play. Miss Griffith plays a young Viennese girl with a "voice," who runs away from home after signing what she believes to be a contract to sing in opera in Paris, but which is really only a place in a cabaret in a cheap and rather questionable cafe. The set I saw showed an untidy room off the cafe hung with theatrical posters and pictures. A table in the center was crowded with a typewriter, containing a half-written letter, a telephone, ash trays, bills and such, all of which had been pushed aside to make room for a tangled mass of tawdry finery belonging to the cabaret. Perched on the edge of this table for better light sat Louise Dresser in a plain black dress and white apron, a tapeline hung across her shoulders and her waist stuck full of pins, sewing for dear life—and to give the true European atmosphere, she had on the only pair of black cotton stockings I've seen since leaving Paris.

Into this room came a pretty and sweet, but rather drab looking girl in plain blue serge and a youthful, rolling brimmed hat with its simple wreath of daisies, and carrying a heavy leather valise. She approached the "Wardrobe Woman," who at first didn't even glance up from her sewing to answer her questions, and not until the "contract" was taken from the worn old bag and thrust under her nose did she push up her spectacles and look at Corinne. Then, realizing the situation, with an appraising and half amused glance at the girl she went to call the proprietor of the cafe. This bit was shot several times before the exacting director, Lewis Milestone, was satisfied, and then Miss Griffith and Miss Dresser came over to where I was talking with Mr. Morosco and the "script girl."

In the meanwhile "Eloise," the dressmaker's form dummy for Miss Griffith was being moved from spot to spot on the set and distances being measured for lights and camera for the next bit. Eloise really is a very helpful person. I had with me a photograph which Miss Griffith had offered to autograph, but the usual comedy occurred when I produced my fountain pen and it didn't work. Murmuring an apology and the explanation that I was quite attached to it as it was a gift from my son, she laughingly suggested that for sentiment's sake I frame this pen and get a new one for writing.

In speaking of the parts she had played and those she still hopes to, Miss Griffith again spoke enthusiastically of the role of Empress Josephine. If she does play that, Josephine's charm will be greater than ever, for she will have, instead of her own disfiguring teeth, a set perfect enough to make even Venus envious, unless, of course, for "art's sake" Miss Griffith sees fit to disfigure her own.

ON the "No Place to Go" set, for which the title may have accounted for their still being there, were Mary Astor and Lloyd Hughes. In the center of a room was a pile of luggage strapped and ready and in front of it stood Mary in the stunningest of traveling dresses and a chic little hat with its rhinestone ornament, and Lloyd looking like a million dollars carrying a cane on his arm and holding his new straw hat. They looked like a couple who should be happy but evidently there was a fly in the ointment somewhere. For Mary was nervously tapping her foot and seemed about to cry and Lloyd was trying to conciliate and explain while the Japanese valet and colored maid stood hopefully by. Suddenly they decided to toss a coin to settle the trouble, but I never found out what it was, for at that point the camera stopped clicking and the maid went forward, rolled one of Miss Astor's stockings down and adjusted her golden anklet—worn under the stocking and now exceedingly popular in Hollywood—to a better position. And then, as they started to do it all over again to the strains of the wedding march, I left.

JUST outside the studio, hurrying to Sparta and "Helen of Troy," I met Ricardo Cortez, as Paris, blazing in purple and gold and his dark curls bound with a golden band studded with jewels; George Fawcett, who plays Etonneus, that bearer of bad tidings in "The Private Life of Helen of Troy" was also hastening in the same direction, his white toga flying in the wind and carrying his golden staff of office in his hand. And then the three Kings, heavily armored—one of them was Tom O'Brien, who played the hard-boiled Corporal in "The Big Parade"—went tramping past to the Greek Set, so although I'd spent a day's time there last week; I decided to look in again—and I didn't wonder all the world seemed headed for the Greek palace. Maria Corda as the beautiful Helen and Lewis Stone as Menelaus, were reclining on golden couches, alongside which were tables loaded with every delicacy and tall flagons of wine. Nubian slaves walked about bearing large golden platters of meat and fruits, and all about were fountains and flowers. At one side of Helen a couch was

"Second Thoughts — on — First Nights"

By Alison Smith

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.

AFTER long summer nights of half empty theaters and weeks without a single opening, the new season has suddenly awakened into action. It began with five new plays in the week before last one. As a season's starter, however, this was a matter of quantity rather than quality—with one conspicuous exception. For, in the midst of a mediocre list which included everything from moral melodrama to incredible farce, Florenz Ziegfeld brought his "Follies" back to the New Amsterdam.

For weeks, this twenty-first edition of the famous revue had been heralded as the most ambitious of them all. It is not quite that. There have been louder "Follies" and certainly funnier ones, and we recall some that were invested with even more pomp and circumstance. But, as "Follies" go, it certainly meets the extravagant carols of its press agent half way. It has tons of gilt and velvet hangings and yards of brilliant Urban canvas and row after row of whirling choruses. In fact, the most critical observer would admit that it had everything—except the faintest glimmer of imagination.

This does not mean that there is not at least one figure that brings to it the most satisfying form of artful lunatic humor. Eddie Cantor is the chief comedian and, while he is on the stage, you could ask for no fuller compensation for the price you paid to get in or for the trouble of getting your evening clothes out of camphor. He plays in black face, in ballet clothes, in a taxi-cab struggle and in the official garb of Mayor Walker and while some of his skits might faintly horrify the more sedate theater goer you can be sure that he never bores them. As long as he is bouncing before the footlights in that curious epeleptic excitement of his, the show is at its most amusing and stimulating best. It is, of course, unfair to blame the performance because it was not all Eddie Cantor but for all that, we could not rid ourselves of an active sense of resentment whenever he left the stage.

WE also felt that more might have been done with that excellent laconic comedian Andrew Tombes who merely wanders on occasionally for meagre bits of his suave and deliberate comedy. It is the comparatively brief attention given both these players that leads to the impression that they were smothered under the elaborate bulk of a topheavy performance. There are times when it manages even to drown out the strains of Irving Berlin's characteristic melodies which have contributed at least one song hit (ecstatically called "Ooh, Maybe It's You") to the new season.

Of course, even in a production as big as the "Follies," the director has to make a choice. Mr. Ziegfeld has made his. Instead of attempting any subtlety of wit or meaning in his whole scheme, he has seen fit to dazzle his spectators with a blinding bright-hued whirl of lights, color and prancing show-girls. This policy is based on the theory that the average revue audience would rather watch a stage packed to the footlights with glittering display than to listen to the most brilliant humor and the most bewitching melodies. And judging from the fact that the current "Follies" has been playing to long rows of standing room only ever since it opened, the assumption is that he is right.

THE other new arrivals have been less important than this event and, at the moment of writing, not a single hit has raised its head above the footlights. The list is a varied one and fairly representative of all sorts and conditions of plays reaching Broadway this season. In addition to the "Follies," the last two weeks have brought us, for better or for worse, the following newcomers:

"Tenth Avenue": A highly moral drama of the underworld proving that even the most desperate crook is all right at heart.

"Babies a la Carte": A feeble attempt to get a laugh out of birth-control in a plot based on the time-worn theory that all babies (or the lack of them) are the most hilarious joke in the world.

"A La Carte": A show put on by Rosalie Stewart of St. Louis, whose name of late years has been identified with the inestimable service of producing George Kelly's plays. Before this, she was associated with vaudeville production and her new venture is really a series of two-a-day numbers strung together under one title. They are well worth seeing for two reasons. One is that Mr. Kelly himself has contributed three sketches which have all the human and ruefully comic quality that characterized "The Show-Off" or "Daisy Mayme."

The other is an uncommonly lovely and glamorous dancer called Harriet Hoctor in a ballet scene. In seeing this show it would be a good idea to provide yourself with plenty of cigarettes for prolonged smokes in the lobby for we have never seen a piece through which such incredibly stupid numbers

Movie Houses All Shoot Their Best Film Guns As Vaudeville Begins

"The Big Parade" and "Beau Geste" Come Back at Popular Prices While "Metropolis" Gets Its First Showing Here.

IT may be just a coincidence but with the Orpheum Theater opening its season today the three leading picture houses are meeting the situation of vaudeville's cut price policy by showing three of the finest films ever made. In addition the Grand Opera House, an ally of the Orpheum, will display the popular "What Price Glory," which only a week or so ago "stood 'em up" for seven days at Loew's. Two of this week's films have been seen here before, but at advanced prices. The Ambassador has the magnificent picture "Beau Geste," while Loew's will show "The Big Parade." Both of these, it will be recalled, are war films but along entirely different lines. Both of them are worth seeing more than once.

The St. Louis Theater, too, is putting its best foot forward this week with Wallace Eddinger, a well-known star from the "legit" appearing as the vaudeville headliner, while the picture will be a story of Napoleon, "The Fighting Eagle," with Rod La Rocque as the star.

The novelty, and it is a distinct novelty, is "Metropolis," which is at the Missouri. This is a great picture—not in its story and plot, which gets pretty tiresome before it is over and which will certainly bore the usual flapper and drug store cowboy part of the audiences—in the way it has been directed and photographed.

The picture had a private showing here some weeks ago and it is safe to say that nothing exactly like "Metropolis" has been seen on the screen. It stands alone, in some respects, as a remarkable achievement. It is a technical marvel with feet of clay, a picture as soulless as the manufactured woman of its story. Its scenes bristle with cinematic imagination, with hordes of men and women and astounding stage settings. It is hardly a film to be judged by its narrative, for despite the fantastic nature of the story, it is, on the whole, unconvincing, lacking in suspense and at times extravagantly theatric. It suggests a combination of a preachment on capital and labor in a city of the future, an R. U. R. idea and something of Mrs. Shelley's "Frankenstein." Its moral is that the brains and the hands fail when the heart (love) does not work with them. The brains represent capital, and the hands, labor.

THE production itself appears to have been a Frankenstein model to the story. Fritz Lang, the German director, who was responsible for the "Siegfried" film, handled the making of the photodrama. Occasionally it strikes one that he wanted to include too much and then that all one anticipates does not appear. But at the same time the various ideas have been spliced together quite adroitly. It is a subject on which an adverse comment has to be taken from the perspective of the enormity of the task, as most other pictures would fade into insignificance if compared to it. When one criticises the halting steps of workmen, their stagy efforts to demonstrate fatigue and even the lacking details of life in this metropolis, one realizes that there is in this screen effort much that borders on symbolism.

The narrative is based on a novel by Mr. Lang's wife, Thea von Harbou, who also supplied the manuscripts for "The Indian Mausoleum" and "Siegfried." Roughly, it concerns an inventor who makes a woman from a real woman, without injuring the latter. This manufactured Mary at first is employed to quell the dissatisfied workers, but by some queer freak she eventually incites the men and women laborers to rebel against the wealthiest man in Metropolis.

Here the producer shows the laborers living in tall buildings underground, while the families of the wealthy enjoy the fresh air and sunshine atop a great skyscraper. Metropolis is ruled by John Masterman, a man of great brain and whose only soft spot in his heart is for his son, Eric. This son falls in love with Mary, one of the workers, and he, in sympathy for those who work and dwell far under the ground, becomes one of the underlings, much against his father's wishes.

MR. LANG introduces the up-to-date appliances in Masterman's office, including a giant board with push buttons and the television means of communication, whereby he can see the man to whom he is talking but himself can't be seen. You see a quailing waiting for Paris. No small wonder that gentleman was hurrying.

Behind the Screens Out in Hollywood

QUITE a contrast to all the grandeur was found in the set making "Grandmother Bernle Learns Her Letters," taken from the story of J. R. Wylie. John Ford, that very dramatic director, is in charge, and the early scenes, laid in the home of a humble Bavarian woman, are perfect in every detail, Mr. Ford himself having gone to Bavaria and selected the furnishings there. The bedroom with its quaint, ornamented handmade bed and chairs; the kitchen, with its real tile oven, and the dining room, with its racks of colored Bavarian wine glasses, pewter plates and all the endless china ornaments so dear to those people.

It was during the early days of the war, and gathered in Grandmother Bernle's dining room to roll bandages and make clothing for the soldiers were her neighbors. A table was piled high with bandages and sewing, but the workers were taking a little rest and a cup of coffee. Grandmother had just tied up a beautiful box to send to her boy in the trenches and was watching happily as a neighbor addresses it for her, as she herself cannot read or write. A knock at the door and the letter-carrier, majestic in a long blue coat and followed by his dog, enters.

The mailman, an admirable bit played by Albert Gran, slowly shakes his head, looking away, and pulled from behind him a long black-bordered envelope.

At first the woman exclaims, questioningly—from my boy in America—but looking steadily at the mail carrier's face she sees only tragedy there. All joy gone, she calls for her youngest son, an invalid who is still at home, to come and tell her what it all means.

It was so well done that my eyes were wet, and I was glad when Mr. Ford, in a business-like voice, stopped the camera man, wishing to make some slight change. I was glad, for it was a relief to see Margaret Mann, who plays Grandmother Bernle, smiling that wonderful smile of her again, and Albert Gran petting his dog, forgetful of the black-bordered letter.

FROM this tragic moment I ran almost at the next step into comedy. I don't know what the plot or picture was, but in a stateroom of a boat stood a pretty young woman in the sheerest of lace negligees, talking to an evidently jealous man, and just at this moment two sailors thrust another man through the porthole. The man in the room with an exclamation of "Who is that man?" dashes at him and nearly drags him into the room and then the sailors, tugging at their end, drag him back, the victim struggling and yelling all the time. This pulling in and out continued several times and then the camera stopped and everyone laughed and seemed very well pleased with the results. Among the most amused was an interesting little group of four young foreigners, two boys and two girls. The girls were winners of the Fox beauty contests in Italy and Spain who are being given a chance here. They are very pretty now, much more so than when they arrived here a couple of months ago in their rather queer-looking clothes, no money and no English. Proving they are quick to learn, they are now modishly dressed, permanently waved, and with the assistance of their lovely black eyes can make at least the men understand their "Engleesh."

Stopping in the office on the way out, I met Bodil Rosing, a celebrated Danish star, who made her debut as an old, old woman in the "Volga Boatman" and later appeared in "Peter Grimm." She is now in "Sunrise." Miss Rosing, who was looking charmingly young and attractive in an all-white costume with a shoulder flower to add a splash of color, had a hard time persuading me that she had really played the old woman parts. But she apparently takes as much pride in making up "old" as Fannie Ward does in playing the flapper.

man going to the telephone to talk with Masterman. This ruler of Metropolis also has his secretaries, who stand in abject fear of him, and one of these, a bloodless, square-headed individual in whom bone predominates, is delegated to watch Eric. This secretary has a slanting forehead and a receding chin, an excellent type for the heartless Masterman.

Some idea of the prodigious work in this production can be imagined when it is said that about 37,000 extras were engaged in some of the episodes. Eleven thousand of the men have shaven heads. These workers are perceived storming the gates of the underground tunnel, and are also beheld going to and from their daily toil. The relief watch walks with easy step, while the others, tired after their long hours of monotonous work, are halting in their gait and bent of back.

MOVIE HOUSES SHOOT THEIR BIGGEST FILMS AGAINST VAUDVILLE

man going to the telephone to talk with Masterman. This ruler of Metropolis also has his secretaries, who stand in abject fear of him, and one of these, a bloodless, square-headed individual in whom bone predominates, is delegated to watch Eric. This secretary has a slanting forehead and a receding chin, an excellent type for the heartless Masterman.

Some idea of the prodigious work in this production can be imagined when it is said that about 37,000 extras were engaged in some of the episodes. Eleven thousand of the men have shaven heads. These workers are perceived storming the gates of the underground tunnel, and are also beheld going to and from their daily toil. The relief watch walks with easy step, while the others, tired after their long hours of monotonous work, are halting in their gait and bent of back.

The sequence in which Rotwang, the inventor, manufactures a double of Mary is put forth in a startling fashion. Rotwang first gives chase to the real Mary, and then puts her in a glass cylinder, around which appear circles of radium lights. To add to the impression, there are boiling liquids in glass globes, and finally the Mary without a soul is produced with the help of an iron Robotlike woman Rotwang had made previously. The artificial Mary, the "woman" who could walk and talk but possessed no soul, has queer drooping underlids to her eyes. She leers at those who approach her. In one sequence she stirs the multitude of workers with her arguments in favor of Masterman, and in another she is seen as a dancing queen. Meanwhile the real Mary has been shut up in a chamber in Rotwang's house of many doors.

In the last chapter of this picture, after the artificial Mary has turned traitor to Rotwang and Masterman, the "woman" is discovered and burned. During this scene the manufactured Mary suddenly changes into the form of the metal creature. There is a flood underground, and it is through the fact that Eric and the real Mary save the workers' children that Masterman himself is spared.

Brigitte Helm is extraordinarily fine in the roles of the real and the artificial Mary. Alfred Abel gives a vivid portrayal of Masterman, and Gustay Froelich is excellent as Eric. Rudolf Klein-Rogge is splendid as the inventor. The cast is remarkably well chosen.

AMERICAN vaudeville and films are rigging themselves out with painless jokes and properties. The Galway whiskers of Harrigan and Hart and other old timers who won fame and fortune burlesquing the Irish have gone the way of the joke about Belleville.

Recent developments have placed the profession of "wise cracking" on its merits without resort to stereotypes of racial or group ridicule. Hereafter, say the theatrical magnates, no one will have his prejudices reinforced or his sensibilities offended by motion pictures or vaudeville acts.

The American-Irish Vigilance Committee, brought the film and vaudeville reform into the limelight by its vigorous attack on the film "The Callahans and the Murphys," which was seen here in St. Louis a few weeks ago. John T. Kelly, chairman of the committee, denies that the film company has made the changes demanded by representatives of Irish-American citizens and the battle still rages. The committee has organized nationally its drives against pictures and theaters which ridicule the Irish and which show them in bellicose or rowdy aspects. The controversy has aroused much discussion and it has been revealed that during the last two years there has been a continuous response on the part of amusement enterprises to the demands of various political and racial groups that propaganda of all kinds shall be swept from the stage. The ban on prohibition jokes now stands in both vaudeville and films. Protestant clergymen have been successful in routing the old stage caricature of the sanctimonious minister. Last week the blue pencil cut through jokes about public utilities and corporations.

While it is generally believed that the house cleaning now going on will do a great deal to stave off official censorship of the stage, there is, incidental to the attacks made on various films, an increasing demand for censorship. The American-Irish Vigilance Committee, with other groups, is organizing this movement nationally and it is understood that several bills providing for a national board may be introduced at the next session of Congress.

Second Thoughts On First Nights

were crowded next to masterpieces. The revue dives with dizzy suddenness from practically perfect to simply terrible.

"WHAT the Doctor Ordered" is fun in a doctor's office through which the author has developed a mildly risque plot with all the nudget and winks and suppressed chuckles of a playwright who is trying to give the audience the full benefit of the theme and still keep within the law. Its only redeeming feature is the deft and ingratiating acting of Herbert Yost.

"Blood Money": The first murder mystery play of the new season. In spite of a good first act, it didn't quite come off owing to the difficulties of the playwright, George Middleton, in making a somewhat talky drama of a magazine serial by H. H. Van Loan. Phyllis Povah, as a highly decorative and resourceful stenographer, and Thomas Mitchell, as the harassed but valiant hero, headed an excellent cast.

"Her First Affaire": an engaging little piece by a new playwright, Merrill Rogers, which deals with a novelist wife who gracefully and tactfully steers her susceptible husband away from the emotional complications that beset the writing man. It gives Aline MacMahom her first comedy role and she meets the new technique with admirable humor and charm.

"Footlight": the first incredible atrocity of the new season. It was one of those things which is so bad that our normally courteous and sedate audiences broke into the derisive jeers of the less inhibited European playgoer. The season may bring in other unhappy attempts at entertainments just as bad as this one but it can't possibly give us anything any worse.

WITH this list, the early autumn play box now stands. It is credible enough as the schedule of early arrivals go, and from it at least three plays stand a fair chance of a reasonable run. (This of course, does not include the "Follies," which is already established as a hit.) Meanwhile from every conceivable corner of Broadway are the rustlings and stirrings and suppressed excitement of rehearsals going on. Of these mysterious goings-on (carefully guarded from the press and their potential public) little shifts out to the layman's world and the result of their activities will be revealed with the sudden onrush of openings which comes with September.

Hal Price, Richard Weight and Director Clyde Armstrong.

Among the plays listed for early production at the Empress are: "Lazy Bones," "A Tailor Made Man," "The Gossipy Sex," "Spread Eagle," "Peter Ibbetson," "The Love Test" and "Jack in the Pulpit."

The Orpheum inaugurates its 1927-28 season today with an attractive looking show, booked in celebration of the 40th anniversary of the Orpheum Circuit, which will be observed coincidentally with the opening of the Ninth street house.

Vanessi, a dancer, will be the headliner, assisted by the Gamble boys and Sonny Hines, known as the Manhattan syncopators. Another feature of the bill will be Steve Freda, an Italian comic, with Johnny Palace, the guitarist. Lillian Fitzgerald, musical comedy comedienne, who has been featured in Eddie Cantor productions and with Ed Wynn in "The Perfect Fool," will be seen and heard in a program of comedy numbers. She will be assisted by Joe Daly. "A Vaudeville Surprise" is the title of the vehicle of Franklyn D'Amore and Jack Lane and Ethel Truesdale. Ray Dalton and Jane Craig will offer "Check Mate," and one other act will conclude the stage program.

The photoplay will be "The Kid Sister," a story of stage life. The cast features Marguerite de la Motte and Malcolm McGregor.

MRS. BUSCH ROUTS BURGLAR

Negro in Bedroom Flees When She Screams.

Aroused by a noise at 4:50 a. m. yesterday Mrs. August A. Busch Jr., saw a Negro ransacking her bedroom on the second-floor of the Busch home at 5577 Lindell drive. She screamed and the marauder fled downstairs and out of the house, taking nothing.

A prowler on the Busch grounds was routed under fire two weeks ago by a private watchman.

ATLANTAN BEATS EVANS IN THE FINAL BY 8 AND 7

Match Ends When Chicago Veteran Touches Ball When Addressing It With Putter on 29th Green.

By Brian Bell.

Associated Press Sports Writer.

MINNEAPOLIS, Aug. 27.—Bobby Jones today won the national amateur golf championship for the third time in four years, bowling over the last obstacle in his path, the veteran Chick Evans, 8 up and 7 to go.

To defeat the Chicago player the Atlantan, who recently won the British open championship with a record-breaking 285, clubbed the Minikahda course into complete submission, scoring a 67, five under par, in the morning round, when he had Evans six down, and stepping out in the afternoon, when he seemed for a time to have lost his fine touch, in 36, one over par, for the first nine. Going to the twenty-ninth green seven down and eight to play, Chick had a short putt for a half, which would have left the match dormie.

It was raining and the twelfth hole was nearly 400 yards away, so no one, not even the loser, seemed to mind when Chick suddenly walked over to Bobby and congratulated him. The gallery for a few minutes did not know what to make of this, as Evans had not putted, but he had used up a stroke by inadvertently moving his ball as he took his stance.

Evans Shines in Defeat.

In the game Evans looked good in defeat for he made a golf match of it in the afternoon after he had gone to luncheon 6 holes behind. He knew that no man could come from six holes back to win from Bobby Jones but he kept trying and at one time in the afternoon round had cut the lead to four holes, getting two back in the first five holes of the afternoon.

However, after the 24th was halved, Bobby won the next three and started out on the last nine with his greatest advantage of the match. The 28th was halved with poor fives when both players needed three putts and the end came at the next hole.

In the afternoon, Bobby lost his first hole when he slipped over par at the 21st, and although he was over par at the 23rd he could not have won with par, as Chick had a birdie 3.

By winning today Bobby equaled the record of the late Walter J. Travis, who won the championship

Dempsey Shows Precision and Power in Glove Workout

Sparring Partner, Frightened by Jack's Scowl, Loses His Job—Challenger Does Three-Mile Road Jaunt— To Make Another Public Appearance Today.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Aug. 27.—Jack Dempsey concluded his first week of training at Lincoln Fields today with another session of the gloves, the third he has engaged in since opening his camp at the racing plant last Monday.

Working under the watchful eye of Leo P. Flynn, the old fox of Fistiana, Dempsey faced three sparring partners for a round each and was hitting with precision and power. He looked better than on any previous workout and finished fresh and strong.

A crowd of about 400 saw the former world's champion exercise in public for the first time. The decision to close the gates to the public and work before newspapermen only was reversed with the result that the public was admitted at an admission price of $1.10. Manager Flynn said that Dempsey would box again tomorrow with the prospects that a crowd of 1000 or more would make the 35-mile trip to see Dempsey wallop his sparring mates.

K. O. Christner, Pete Wistort, a new heavyweight from South Chicago, and Bennie Krueger, the German heavyweight, traded socks with Dempsey today, and each was belted about during the three rounds, the former titleholder kept pegging away with the big, heavy gloves.

Christener put such a feeble resistance against Dempsey that he was released from the staff of sparring mates. He was so frightened by Dempsey's scowl and vicious punches that he no longer had any value for boxing.

A Good Partner.

Wistort, a protege of Johnny Coulon, one-time world's bantamweight champion, did fairly well against Dempsey. Manager Flynn thinks he will turn out to be a valuable camp mate.

Krueger was on the receiving end as usual, but the German warrior is big and healthy and did not seem to mind his leathering.

In addition to the boxing, Dempsey reeled off three miles on the

VITO, 20 TO 1, WINS SARATOGA FEATURE RACE

Sun Edwin Second and Nassak Third in Grand Union Stakes — Chance Play Scores Victory

SARATOGA, N. Y., Aug. 27.—J. S. Cosden scored his first success of the Saratoga meeting when Vito, carrying his silks, scored in a romp in winning the Grand Union Hotel Stakes here today. He was a 20 to 1 shot and was neglected in the betting. The race was run over a sloppy track and Vito showed himself to be a first-class mudder. Arden Farm's Sun Edwin, second choice at 7 to 2, was second, and the Rancocas Stable's Nassak, favorite at 6 to 5, third, with Misstep fourth.

The start was good, but before the field had gone a sixteenth of a mile several of the starters were knocked back and their winning chances were ruined. Algernon was the chief sufferer. Finite, with his brilliant burst of speed, rushed into the lead, with Vito second and Cloudy third. When the field straightened out in the stretch for the run to wire, Finite tired and Vito rushed to the front with Sun Edwin right afer him and Nassak on the rail. Vito, with his pull in the weights, drew out to win by three lengths. Sun Edwin beat Nassak two lengths for the place.

Chance Play, with Snade up, was winner of the Merchants and Citizens Handicap, the fifth event, with Black Maria second and Pompey third. Black Maria and Chance Play alternated in the running but right at the end Chance Play drew away to win by a length. Black Maria beat Pompey four lengths for the place.

Cards Gain Two Percentage Points

IDLE in New York because of rain, while the league-leading Chicago Cubs were breaking even in a double-header at Philadelphia, the Cardinals yesterday gained ground in the pennant race, as the Cubs lost two percentage points.

Today the 1926 world champions will try again to engage the Giants in a doubleheader. The Pirates and Cubs will be idle.

It still would take four Cardinal victories in a row, coupled with four straight defeats for Chicago, for St. Louis to pass the present leaders.

Cards Purchase Three Pitchers From Syracuse

Johnson, Stout and Frankhouse Bought by Champions, Date of Reporting Unsettled.

Purchase of three righthand pitchers, Sylvester Johnson, Allyn Stout and Fred Frankhouse, from the Syracuse club of the International League was announced by the Cardinals yesterday. The purchase prices were not stated nor was the date or dates on which the players will report to he champions. It was said, however, that they might be called in quickly if the Cardinals develop an urgent need for hurlers.

Frankhouse is now with the Houston Club under option from Syracuse. He has won 21 games and lost six in the Texas League.

It was also announced by the Cardinal office that reserved seat tickets for the champions' series with the Chicago Cubs at Sportsman's Park, Sept. 6, 7 and 8 would go on sale tomorrow at the club's downtown ticket office 409 Olive street.

CUBS DIVIDE DOUBLE BILL WITH PHILS

Charley Root, in Relief Role,, Gains 24th Victory of Season in 10-Inning Nightcap.

By the Associated Press.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 27.—The tailend Phillies proved as pesky as ever for the Chicago Cubs this afternoon by forcing the league leaders to divide a doubleheader. The Phillies won the first game behind Ulrich's fine pitching by a score of 2 to 1, and lost the second after 10 innings, 10 to 6.

Percy Jones, who went to Bush's rescue with the bases filled in the eighth inning of the first game, issued a pass that forced the winning run over the plate.

Charley Root acted in the rescue role in both games and by pitching the last four innings of the sec-

St. Louisans Lose Kansas Net Title

By the Associated Press.

INDEPENDENCE, Kan., Aug. 27.—Fred Royer, Dallas, Missouri Valley collegiate champion, won the Kansas State open tennis singles title here today, defeating Floyd Pierpont, Wichita, Kan., 6—2, 6—3, 6—1, in the tournament finals.

The doubles championship for 1927 was won by Royer and Henry Browne of Oklahoma City, from Richard Rosebrough and Proctor Wright, both of St. Louis, 6—1, 8—6, 6—4. Roseborough and Wright were the 1926 champions.

Anaconda, displaying high speed, sprinted into a good lead at once and, continuing gamely, held sway to win well in hand. Fresco raced well up during early stages and, hard urged, overhauled Harass in last sixteenth. Harass raced prominently in early part, but raced wide at stretch turn, which cost him considerable ground and he tired near end. Scimitar came steadily after beginning slowly and was going good at end. Sun Altos tired badly under his heavy impost. Wooldridge showed a poor effort and was always far out of it.

$2 mutuels paid: Anaconda, win $15.32, place $6.58, show $3.82; Fresco, place $8.20, show $4.62; Harass, show $3.26.

By Dent McSkimming

Fairmount Park yesterday enjoyed its most colorful and most successful opening day when 12,000 persons filled the stands and grounds to witness seven races ushering in the fall meeting which will last until Sept. 24.

From a racing standpoint the program was full of excitement. The inveterate "form" player would have called it a terrible day because the favorites were beaten, but this overthrow of the popular "choice" in each race resulted in a flood of long prices which seemed to give the majority of the spectators a real thrill.

Anaconda Sets Track Record.

One new track record was established and another mark was equaled. The record-breaking performance was turned in by C. D. Pryor's Anaconda, which decisively defeated Harry Payne Whitney's Fresco, C. Graffagnini's Harass, the stake winner Sun Altos and four others at a mile and 70 yards in the Autumn Handicap, the feature race of the day.

Anaconda's surprising victory over the well-played Sun Altos and Fresco was made possible by a favorable break at the barrier, good early speed and wonderful staying qualities. In covering the mile and 70 yards in 1 minute and 42 seconds, Anaconda clipped a full second off the mark set by the great Captain Hal a year ago and this alone proves that the best horse won. Sun Altos, on whom most eyes were fastened, suffered no especial difficulty at the start but was fourth as they went around the clubhouse turn, Anaconda on top.

Sun Altos Is Beaten.

Before entering the back stretch, E. Legere, on Sun Altos, had pushed the favorite past Fresco which at this stage appeared beaten. All the maneuvering was being done for second and third positions, for Anaconda had no worries, running easily on top and increasing his advantage as they went toward the far turn. It was here that Fresco, under apprentice Jockey Tommy Root's urging, reversed the order by passing up Sun Altos which thereafter was out of the race. Fresco continued to come on, passing also Harass but that was the extent of his good effort for Anaconda was a good half dozen lengths to the front running like the wind.

Of all the disappointments of the afternoon, suffered by those who religiously adhere to "form," perhaps the most shocking was the defeat of the French bred Meknes in the fourth race. In defense of the "foreigner" it may be noted that only a most astonishing performance by the bay filly, Mazetta accomplished the undoing of the favorite.

Mazetta Equals Track Record.

Mazetta popped out on top under the urgent coaxing of Jockey C. Miller and all the efforts of Meknes to overtake the filly were unavailing. The pace was swift, Meknes pressing every step of the way and when they flashed past the judges' stand Mazetta had equaled the track record of 1 minutes 11⅗ seconds for three quarters of a mile. That record had been set by Reputation and equaled only by My Colonel, two of the best sprinters in the country, Meknes, therefore was not disgraced and his game performance won many friends.

The French horse is a handsome gray with a trace of red or dark brown. He is owned and trained by Phil Reuter.

New Coat Speeds Up Track.

This breaking of a track record by Anaconda in the feature race and the record equaling performance of Mazetta is an immediate answer to track Supt. John T. Edwards' prediction that faster time would prevail throughout the meeting than has been recorded at Fairmount heretofore. This additional speed has been gained not by baking the track surface so to make it harder but by the application of a new top coat of black sandy loam which seems to have greater resilience. Edwards predicts this will be the fastest track in the country.

Barn Dollar, always prominent, but restrained in third position for the first half mile by Jockey L. McClair, came fast from the head of the stretch to win the last race at a mile and a sixteenth. Collie Tokalon was second and Goodnight third, losing ground at every stride near the finish.

Joe Marquis State Inspector.

Joe Marquis, of Mt Vernon, Ill., State inspector of licensed race tracks, is at Fairmount Park as the personal representative of S. J. Stanard, director of Agriculture of the Stiae of Illinois. Owing to Stanard's connection with the Illinois State Fair, which closes today, he was unable to personally deliver the Fairmount Jockey Club's license and sent Marquis in his stead. The neatly framed license shows that the club has paid to the State of Illinois the sum of $62,500, representing a daily license fee of $2500 for each day of the twenty-five days scheduled for the autumn meeting. In a letter delivered to C. Bruce Head, General Manager, by Mr. Marquis, Mr. Stanard expressed keen interest in the successful conduct of the Fairmount Park meeting.

Crowd Estimated at 12,000.

Yesterday's crowd was officially estimated at 12,000 and was the largest opening day crowd at any of the Fairmount Park meetings.

Several thousand fans went out to Sportsman's Park yesterday to see a ball game and to witness the hitting of a homer or so by Babe Ruth or Lou Gehrig. They saw the Babe hit his forty-first to take the lead over Lou, but they didn't see a ball game.

What passed for a contest was won by the Yanks by the topheavy count of 14-4. It was the sixteenth straight victory of the Yankees over the Browns this season and it was Waite Hoyt's eighteenth victory of the year. It was good fortune for Hoyt to get the pitching assignment for the Yanks. Sam Jones, Ernie Nevers, Win Ballou and Walter Stewart toiled at various times for the Browns. It was off Nevers that Ruth hit his homer. Meusel also touched the former collegian for a circuit drive, while Combs slapped one off Jones. All told, the New Yorkers made 14 safeties.

Browns First to Score.

The Browns managed to get three hits and a run in the opening inning and actually led for two innings as Jones pitched hitlessly for that many. The trouble was that the Browns then stopped counting until the eighth while the Yanks, beginning with the third frame, scored in every succeeding inning but the ninth.

After Hoyt had fanned in the third, Combs singled, Koenig doubled and Ruth walked, filling the bases. Gehrig then doubled through Melillo to score Combs and Koenig, and Ruth tallied while Melillo was throwing out Meusel. In the fourth with two out and Hoyt on first, Combs hit over the right field pavilion for a homer and two more runs.

Ruth Bangs No. 41.

Ernie Nevers was the Brownie hurler in the fifth. Ruth said hello with a triple and, after Gehrig walked and stole second, Babe scored on Meusel's grounder. Three more New York runs were sent over in the sixth, the combination being a pass to Collins, his force by Hoyt, Combs' double, Koenig's single and an error by Bing Miller on the latter hit.

Three singles pushed over a tenth tally in the seventh and then came the eighth, when the Bambino socked his four-bagger to make it 41 for the year and to give him a margin over Gehrig.

Nevers Appears in Box.

Nevers, making his first appearance in the box since his recovery from an operation from appendicitis seemed to have very little "stuff" opening the eighth. Koenig singled and Ruth's high one disappeared far over the top of the pavilion in right. Ernie then walked Gehrig and Meusel obliged with a wallop into the seats in left center. Whereupon, without further ado, Nevers decided for himself that it wasn't his day and walked out of the box, giving way to Win Ballou who retired the side in quick time.

After having held the Browns runless from the first through the seventh inning, Hoyt eased up in the eighth and the locals got three courtesy-tallies. Williams led off with a single and scored on a double by Bing Miller. Melillo followed with another and Miller registered. Then Oscar counted when Dixon sent a third double to right. Hoyt, having been kind-hearted, then settled down and the Browns soon were out.

Four Hits for Combs.

Ruth had a triple to add to his homer while Gehrig, his rival, had to be content with a double and a pair of passes. Combs was the big hitter of the afternoon with two singles, a double and a homer in six chances.

According to managerial plans, Elam Vangilder will work for the Browns in the second of the series today, while Walter "Dutch" Ruether, the ex-National League southpaw, will perform for Huggins' trained seals.

All-America Team Entries Will Not Be Accepted After Midnight, Aug. 31

Letters Must Bear No Later Postmark Than Wednesday; Judges Are Named; Babe Ruth Contestants Advised to Study Rules.

Rules of Babe Ruth Contest

The contest will close at midnight Aug. 31.

The object of the contest is to select an all-star team for the National and American Leagues which will most closely agree with one which Babe Ruth will select, aided by a committee of leading baseball writers in the major leagues cities.

Only ONE team may be spbmitted by each reader.

It must consist of 10 players (two pitchers and eight men for the other positions).

Take your time in making your pick. No corrections may be made once an entry is sent in.

A short explanation of the reasons for your choice MUST accompany your entiry. The reader whose team is the same or nearest Ruth's selection and is accompanied by the best letter giving reasons for the choice will be declared the winner. The letter must not exceed 200 words.

A player may be placed in a position other than his regular one, providing he has occupied the alternate position in one or more games of the current season.

Players must be selected on the basis of their playing during the 1927 season only. Do not take into consideration records made in previous seasons.

Babe Ruth is not eligible. He will not pick himself for his team.

Trophies of $100, $50 and $25 will be awarded first, second and third places respectively. The winner of the capital trophy will also receive a ball and bat autographed by Babe Ruth.

Mail selections to Babe Ruth Contest Editor, care the Post-Dispatch.

With only four more days in which to enter the Babe Ruth All-America team contest, fans interested in competing for the three cash prizes of $100, $50 and $25, offered by the Post-Dispatch, will have to speed up their selections and their 200-word essays explanatory of their choices.

Only letters received here postmarked at the point of mailing before midnight of Aug. 31 will be eligible. The consideration of the thousands of contributions that have been received will be begun at once. The date of the official announcement of Babe Ruth's winning team will be made later. At this time the Babe's pick has not even been completed.

Ruth's All-America team is chosen with the assistance of a committee of 10 sporting writers, all men of long experience in the game. Each writer contributes his choice and an explanation of his reasons. These choices are used by Ruth to aid in making his own selection.

Babe Consults Writers.

Wherever there is a doubt concerning a player, Babe writes to the sports editor in the home city of the star in question for the fullest facts concerning the player's work.

Ruth's final choice of the 10 players he considers entitled to representation on the All-America team will be accompanied by a detailed explanation of his reasons for selecting each man.

Three St. Louisans, whose names are not only locally but nationally known because of their connection with baseball, have been accepted the task of picking the prize winners in the Post-Dispatch's contest. They are:

R. L. Mathews, director of athletics and head football coach at St. Louis University.

R. J. Collins, now in the real estate business, formerly sports editor of the St. Louis Republic.

J. G. Taylor Spink, publisher of the Sporting News, a nationally circulated baseball publication.

The committee will have no sinecure. This year has resulted in more than twice the number of entries for the contest than ever before. In the last few days they have been pouring into the office at the rate of more than 200 a day.

Observe the Rules Closely.

Many have disqualified themselves by violating the rules which have been printed daily throughout the month of August. Those trying to make the grade during the next few days are warned to strictly observe the rules or their time will be wasted.

In the final analysis in case two or more entrants arrive at the same conclusion, the quality of the explanation submitted with the All-America selection will have an important bearing on the selection of the winner.

road in the morning and whaled away at the heavy bag for two rounds. In the afternoon he worked a round with the pulleys, a round with the light bag, three minutes of wrestling and another session at abdominal exercises, besides the work with the gloves. It was a rather strenuous day so far ahead of the fight, but Dempsey apparently is eager to work and Flynn did not attempt to restrain him.

Tunney Takes a Layoff, Will Resume Hard Work Tomorrow.

SPECULATOR, N. Y., Aug. 27.—The "sport of kings" took most of the attention today of the leader of the "manly sport" when Gene Tunney, world's heavyweight champion, motored to Saratoga Springs for the races.

Gene's only training exercise was a road jog in the morning. It was the second layoff day in succession. The champion will step into the ring for a good hard workout tomorrow.

Chuck Wiggins, heavyweight of Indianapolis, will join the string of sparring partners.

Yacht Is Shipped.

OSLO, Norway, Aug. 27.—The eight meter yacht Noreg, owned in part by Crown Prince Olaf, was aboard the steamer Bergensfjord which sailed for New York today. The crew of the Noreg also sailed. The yacht will compete for the Seawanhanka and gold cup.

Macks Defeat Tigers to Take Second Place

Three-Run Rally in Ninth Is Enough to Nose Out Detroit Team, 7 to 6.

By the Associated Press.

DETROIT, Aug. 27.—The Philadelphia Athletics, after trailing the Tigers for three innings today, staged a ninth-inning rally, driving in three runs to win, 8 to 7.

The Athletics' victory placed them in second place. Smith, relief pitcher for Detroit, drove out a home run in the sixth inning.

RUTH NOW LEADS GEHRIG IN RACE FOR HOMER HONORS

Babe Ruth assumed complete control of home run leadership when he cracked No. 41, to leave his mate, Lou Gehrig, trailing by one. However, Ruth failed to improve on his standing in relation to catching up with his 1921 performance, for he continues to lag by eight homers.

The standing:

ond contest hung up his twenty-fourth victory of the season.

The Phillies tied the score in this game by scoring three runs in the seventh inning that drove Brillheart to cover and in the following round tied the score on Root.

By breaking even the Cubs retained their three and a half game lead over the St. Louis Cardinals, but lost one percentage point.

MORSE'S ENTRY TO BE OFFERED IN DISTRICT EVENT

But President Kenney of Golf Body Says It Will Be Rejected; Youngster No Longer Amateur, He States.

By Jack Alexander.

While Christian Kenney, president of the St. Louis District Golf Association, has announced that Clarke Morse, 17-year-old public links star, will be barred from the district junior tournament Tuesday at Glen Echo, Morse's entry will be filed tomorrow along with those of the Forest Park club's other candidates for the junior cup.

Morse, regarded by competent judges as the most promising youngster in this vicinity since Eddie Held first began to develop, was runner-up in the junior tournament last year. He has taken part in a number of other events, including last year's trans-Mississippi at Algonquin, the national public links at Cleveland and Baltimore and the senior district meet.

Kenney's contention, in broaching the subject of Morse's eligibility and ruling upon it, is that he is employed in Duwe's golf shop adjoining the locker room in Forest Park, and hence may be said to derive his income from the game. This bare fact, he holds, definitely takes Morse out of the amateur class.

Say Morse's Case Not Parallel.

Morse's friends concede the fact that he works in the shop, but hold that the type of work he does does not fall under the "pro" ban of the United States Golf Association as set out in its by-laws. In support of their contention they quote the rule, which follows:

"Article IV. Amateur Definition. An amateur golfer is one who, attaining the age of 16 years, has not

(a) Carried clubs for hire.

(b) Received any consideration, either directly or indirectly, for playing or for teaching the game, or for playing in a match or tournament.

(c) Because of his skill as a golfer, received (after Dec. 31, 1922) a salary or remuneration, either directly or indirectly, from any firm dealing in goods relating to the playing of the game.

(d) Played for a money prize in any competition.

Concerning (a) and (b) there is no argument, his friends say. Morse has not caddied for several years nor has he taught the game or received money for appearing on somebody's course. And he is not charged with playing for a money prize, as is forbidden by section (d).

Section (c) is the important paragraph, and on its interpretation depends Morse's ultimate fate as an amateur here. It is almost a foregone conclusion that the ban against him will stand for the present, at least.

Clarke's friends interpret this section as being intended to apply to well-known players who permit sporting goods houses to capitalize their reputation by hiring them and letting the public know about it. Or players who accept gratuities from such firms in the form of equipment.

Job Requires No Golf Skill.

"Morse is not employed in the golf shop 'because of his skill' as a golfer," one member stated yesterday. "The work that Clarke does requires no golfing skill whatever. It is mere manual labor which could as well be done by a man who had never swung a club. Clarke's duties are to buff and shine clubs, repaint balls and similar jobs such as cleaning up the shop at the end of the day. The knowledge and skill he employs are those of a mechanic, not of a golfer.

"He works because he has to. Both his parents are dead and he has to support himself. The salary he gets is meager and he has been at the work about three years.

"He was not hired to add prestige to the shop, having virtually no prestige to capitalize. He has never won a tournament, except our club affairs."

That is the explanation of the Forest Park interpretation of the disputed clause.

President Kenney of the district association did not care to go into detail as to his view of it yesterday except to reiterate that Morse "was making his living off the game and couldn't expect to compete as an amateur."

ST. LOUIS GIRL LOSES EASTERN GOLF FINAL

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

OGUNQUIT, Me., Aug. 27.—Miss Winifred Baldwin of East Orange, N. J., won the finals in the annual women's handicap golf tournament today at the Cliff Country Club, defeating Miss Merrydelle Gambrill of St. Louis by 6 and 5.

Miss Baldwin wins a leg on the cup given by Judge Webster Thayer of Worcester, Mass., a summer resident here.

Wonder-Player Who Regained National Amateur Golf Title

BOBBY JONES.

Jones' victory over Evans gave him his third national championship. He also holds the British open title. Jones' remarkable play included victories by the following wide margins: Quarterfinal, 10 up and 9 to go; semifinal, 11 up and 10 to go; final, 8 up and 7 to go.

Bobby Jones Wins U. S. Amateur Title Third Time

in 1900, 1901 and 1903. The comparison is not quite the same, for Bobby was runner-up last year, making his record three championships and once runnerup over a period of four years.

The champion has another mark to shoot at in the amateur, however, for Jerome D. Travers won the title four times, 1907, 1908, 1912 and 1913.

Routing Old Man Par.

Jones' great golf today routed the well-trapped and rough-bordered Minikahda course. That venerable nemesis of all but the best golf players, old man par, had been flat on his back for several days under the terrible punishment meted out to him by the fast flying Bobby. Today the twice-crowned national open, national amateur and British open champion jumped on him with both feet and left him quite groggy, if not completely knocked out.

The loser, who has been runner up three times and twice won the title, paid the winner high tribute when President William C. Fownes Jr., of the United States Golf Association, standing in the rain, presented the medals to Bobby, the champion, and Chick, the runner-up, and gave Bobby the championship cup to take to the Atlanta Athletic Club with him.

"I did not mind losing," Evans said. "It was worth the defeat to see such an exhibition of marvelous golf."

The champion in his brief speech acknowledging the presentation, said nothing about his golf game, but admitted he liked the Minikahda course. A survey of the scores he made on it would suggest that he should want to take it home with him.

Survey of Jones' Scores.

In the first 18 holes of his three 36-hole matches in the quarter-finals, semifinals and finals, Jones shot 68-69-67. Jimmy Johnston, Francis Ouimet and Chick Evans falling before the attack.

The champion played 152 holes in 598 strokes in the championship, five strokes under par and 10 strokes under fours.

Monday and Tuesday he played the 36-hole qualifying round in 142 strokes to become medalist, his second day's 67 establishing a course record. Wednesday, when he had a 78, he did 34 holes in 141 strokes. Thursday's play totaled 27 holes in 104 strokes and Friday he played 26 holes in 100. Today's 29 holes used up 111 strokes.

Jones never before has been ten under fours in a major championship, but at the East Lake course in Atlanta he won the Southern amateur with a score ten strokes under fours and a like number under par.

The week's play by the champion gave future generations of golfers a mark to set their sights for. His great scoring record included a 78, made in a round when he was on the verge of elimination by Maurice McCarthy, young Georgetown student. With that single exception he won under wraps.

Two Outstanding Shots.

In his final exhibition today he made the two greatest shots of the play, one rewarding him with an eagle and the other yielding a birdie. On the second hole, calling for an exacting second shot, he sent a midiron whistling straight to the cup. At the ninth he placed a long spoon inches from the cup for an eagle 3 on an uphill hole, 512 yards long.

In the final struggle, which was at first only shadowboxing, later a good preliminary battle and finally a knockout, Bobby had five birdies and an eagle against three birdies for Chick. The runner-up, however, did not play bad golf and against a man playing with more respect for par, he would have made it a fine showing. His "Sour Dough" putter behaved very well, and at intervals asked no quarter from the far-famed "Calamity Jane," a putter which has often answered Bobby's appeal for help in a golf crisis.

Bobby gave no indication with his first shot of the day that he was about to "burn up" the course with his fourth round of the week under 70. His opening tee shot landed in the rough. He was out of the high grass in time to halve the hole and he ran into no more trouble until the eighth, when he found the bank of a trap. This did him no harm for he got a par there also.

An Eagle At the Ninth.

In between, he won the third with a par when Chick was in trouble after he had scored a birdie at the second and he added another birdie at the fifth. The sixth and seventh were halved in par. Bobby won the ninth without opposition when he scored an eagle and Chick picked up.

At the tenth Bobby had a birdie, but the tables were turned at the eleventh when Chick got the birdie. They matched birdie fours at the thirteenth and halved the fourteenth in par. Jones won the fifteenth at par, but Chick took the sixteenth in par. It was Jones' first hole over par. After halving the seventeenth Jones found par good enough to win the eighteenth and leave him six up.

Evans Makes a Rally.

The nineteenth and twentieth were halved at par and Chick won the twenty-first with a par 3 when Bobby could not get close enough to get the par. The twenty-second was halved in pars and Evans took the twenty-third with 3 to Jones' 5, one over par. Evans was then only 4 down.

The short twenty-fourth was halved, and Jones won the twenty-fifth with a par four and the twenty-sixth with a par 3. Chick was in serious trouble from the tee and although Bobby was in the rough, he chipped close enough to get down in one putt.

Jones has made the par-five ninth hole, which was 27 this afternoon, practically a par four for him with his long second shots throughout the tournament and he won it when he scored his birdie and became seven up.

A half at the twenty-eighth and Chick's gift of the twenty-ninth ended the match and decided the championship.

Atlantans in Knickers and Carrying Clubs to Greet Jones.

By the Associated Press.

ATLANTA, Ga., Aug. 27.—Getting ready for a ceremony that repetition has not dulled, Atlanta tonight prepared to welcome Bobby Jones back home again triumphant from the golfing wars.

Golfers of Atlanta, from the public links and the most exclusive clubs, have been asked to gather in golf attire, each carrying a wooded club, to give Bobby united acclaim for his accumulated laurels. Influence will be responsible for the gigantic proportions this crowd is expected to attain.

INDIANS BEAT RED SOX FOR SEVEN IN ROW

Hudlin and Wiltse Duel for Three Innings, Then Cleveland Piles Up 9-2 Margin.

By the Associated Press.

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 27.—Cleveland shot its winning streak to seven games today when it downed Boston, 9 to 2.

For three innings Hudlin and Wiltse held their adversaries scoreless then things began to pop. Boston scored one and Cleveland came back with two and repeated for two more in the fifth.

In the sixth, the Indians drove Southpaw Wiltse from the box and Wingfield, who replaced him, was batted even harder, Cleveland scoring four runs in the seventh.

INDIANS BEAT RED SOX FOR SEVEN IN ROW

Hudlin and Wiltse Duel for Three Innings, Then Cleveland Piles Up 9-2 Margin.

By the Associated Press.

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 27.—Cleveland shot its winning streak to seven games today when it downed Boston, 9 to 2.

For three innings Hudlin and Wiltse held their adversaries scoreless then things began to pop. Boston scored one and Cleveland came back with two and repeated for two more in the fifth.

In the sixth, the Indians drove Southpaw Wiltse from the box and Wingfield, who replaced him, was batted even harder, Cleveland scoring four runs in the seventh.

MENARD DEFEATS MARION STARS, 5-4

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHESTER, Ill., Aug. 27.—The Marion Stars went down to defeat to Menard in a well played game on the Penitentiary grounds here this afternoon, 5 to 4. The feature of the game was the long distance sacrifice hit by Mitchell, Menard's sensational slugger, which let in the winning tally in the ninth.

The score:

| | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Menard | ....002 010 011 | —5 | 7 | 2 |
| Marion | ....101 100 010 | —4 | 6 | 3 |

good enough to win the eighteenth and leave him six up.

Evans Makes a Rally.

The nineteenth and twentieth were halved at par and Chick won the twenty-first with a par 3 when Bobby could not get close enough to get the par. The twenty-second was halved in pars and Evans took the twenty-third with 3 to Jones' 5, one over par. Evans was then only 4 down.

The short twenty-fourth was halved, and Jones won the twenty-fifth with a par four and the twenty-sixth with a par 3. Chick was in serious trouble from the tee and although Bobby was in the rough, he chipped close enough to get down in one putt.

Jones has made the par-five ninth hole, which was 27 this afternoon, practically a par four for him with his long second shots throughout the tournament and he won it when he scored his birdie and became seven up.

A half at the twenty-eighth and Chick's gift of the twenty-ninth ended the match and decided the championship.

Atlantans in Knickers and Carrying Clubs to Greet Jones.

By the Associated Press.

ATLANTA, Ga., Aug. 27.—Getting ready for a ceremony that repetition has not dulled, Atlanta tonight prepared to welcome Bobby Jones back home again triumphant from the golfing wars.

Golfers of Atlanta, from the public links and the most exclusive clubs, have been asked to gather in golf attire, each carrying a wooded club, to give Bobby unitel acclaim for his accumulated laurels. Influence will be responsible for the gigantic proportions this crowd is expected to attain.

he Pants, last year's champions, expected to come through their s with the Sentinels of the De- y League without great diffi- y. The same is true of the gans, who, in the other bracket, looked upon as the most potent t to the supremacy of the ti- lders. The Morgans play the nts.

esterday the Morgans got be- Hasmer's pitching and batted a 6 to 1 victory over the hwest Business Men, showing power on offense. Hennessy homer in the eighth with one d Fred Barth got four hits in times at bat.

GETTING IN SHAPE FOR HIS GREATEST FIGHT

JACK DEMPSEY,

Hammering the "dummy" at Lincoln Fields. Dempsey, the picture shows, is in advanced condition and needs only shaping up for his crucial struggle Sept. 22. He weighed 202 pounds, but doesn't look it.

Net Semifinals Tomorrow in Women's Tourney

Rain Causes Postponement of Nuthall-Chapin and Wills-Jacobs Matches.

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Aug. 27.—The semifinal matches in the national women's tennis championship, which were postponed today because of rain, will be played Monday, and the finals on Tuesday.

The semifinals will bring together Betty Nuthall of England and Mrs. Charlotte Hosmer Chapin, conqueror of Mrs. Molla Mallory, the defending champion, in one bracket, while in the other division Helen Jacobs will oppose Helen Wills.

Hard Task Faces O'Farrell In Selection of Pitchers For Contests in Next Week

Alexander and Haines Are Down to Oppose Giants in Double-Header Today, Following Postponement of Yesterday's Twin Bill Because of Rain.

By J. Roy Stockton

Of the Post-Dispatch Sport Staff.

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—John McGraw and the New York Giants suffered a blow to the pocketbook today when the scheduled double-header with the Cardinals was called off because of wet grounds. It was drizzling shortly before starting time and it drizzled most of the afternoon, but the games might have been played, had it not been for ankle-deep mud in the outfield. Thus the action of the box office in calling off yesterday's game, when the turf was dry and only a few drops of rain fell, did act as a boomerang.

Now two games of the series of four are lost as far as the local box office is concerned and if they are played they will be booked at St. Louis as part of double-headers during the Giant series at Sportsman's Park, Sept. 13, 14 and 15. This will be to the advantage of the Cardinals in that they are stronger at home, usually, and also to the St. Louis exchequer. The visiting club's share of the gate receipts is small, compared to what would have been the Giant's cut here, where the vast area of box seats makes for a rich harvest on big days.

Manager Bob O'Farrell's problem of arranging his pitching schedule for the approaching important series is not made more simple by the two rany days. Haines and Alexander undoubtedly will oppose the Giants in tomorrow afternoon's double-header, with Sherdel and Rhem facing Brooklyn in the two games Monday.

Tough Question to Decide.

Reinhart and Keen or McGraw probably will be sent against Brooklyn Tuesday and Wednesday and then with an open date Thursday, O'Farrell will have to decide the big question of whether he is going to send Alexander and Haines against Pittsburg or save them for two of the three games against the Cubs.

The Pirates will be opposed Friday and Saturday and the Cubs in one game Sunday and two next Monday. If Alex and Haines work in Pittsburg they will hardly be ready for Chicago as they should have more than two days' rest, especially as a four game series with the Cubs at St. Louis follows the three game struggle at Chicago.

O'Farrell hasn't decided his schedule as yet, but it appears that it would be good strategy to save the best hurlers for Chicago, as the Cubs are the team to be cut down now. If the Cardinals can whittle down their lead they can trust to other clubs to take care of the Pirates.

Another way of looking at it is that it would be better to pitch Alex and Haines against the Pirates, as those are the only remaining games with the Buccaneer's and therefore the last chance for the Cardinals to knock them over, whereas nine more games remain with the Cubs, giving the Cardinals a later chance even if the Cubs hold their own in the Chicago series. Any way you look at it a difficult problem confronts Manager O'Farrell.

Bench Strategy Can't Win.

"All the master minds will have plenty of trouble from now on," Grover Cleveland Alexander remarked this afternoon as the Cardinals were fanning on their pennant chances. There was a reference to McGraw considered the outstanding managerial figure in baseball and Alexander had a few interesting comments to make on the subject of management.

"I've never seen any bench strategy win a pennant yet," said Old Pete "I believe a manager's big job is to keep the players happy and harmonious, to see that the men attain and stay in condition and to know his pitchers so he will know when they need help Then if you haven't the players you can't do much. I never saw a smart manager make a dumb player make a smart play and a dumb manager can't keep a smart player from thinking fast.

"As far as a smart manager developing players, who did McGraw ever develop? When he wants a player he goes out and buys him. He needed a center fielder this year. Did he pick one that he had developed? No he had Kelly to spare, with Terry coming along as a pretty fair first baseman and so he traded Kelly for Roush, a ready-made center fielder. McGraw can't tell Roush how to play center field and he can't tell Hornsby how to play second base or how to hit. This master mind stuff is the bunk.

Pre-Game Meetings Bunk.

"Most of the pre-game meetings are the bunk, too. You can sit down before a game and figure a lot of plays you are going to work, perhaps a play to stop a runner or to get a run. Then you may go on the field and wait 40 games before you have the chance. When the time does come to make a smart play in the field, the man who goes after the ball may slip or fumble momentarily and then he has no time to look to the bench. He has to act right now. That's baseball. Every man on the field has to make up his mind what to do as the play develops and the greatest minds in the world can't do anything when they are on the bench."

Alexander is an example of what the player can do when he uses his brain. The old master has catalogued every batter in both leagues. When a new one comes up when Alex sees his name in a box score, he makes it his business to find what other players know about the newcomer. The other day the name of Yoter appeared in the Cub lineup.

"I believe he was with Cleveland and then went to the Association," Alexander remarked. Then he called Herman Bell and inquired about Yoter. "Didn't you pitch so and so to Yoter?" Alexander asked. "You have him right," Bell replied. "If you pitch that way to him he will never see first base unless he closes his eyes and staggers into one."

So it is with every batter, old or young. Alex makes it his business to know them and that's why when a Lazzeri or a Ruth comes up with the game hanging in the balance, Alex knows what to feed them.

TUNNEY SEEN AS BETTER IN EVERY WAY, BY M'GANN

Gene Is More Confident, Knows Self Better, Hits Harder and Is Harder to Hit, He Writes.

By Sparrow McGann

(Copyright, 1927.)

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—Tunney's training workouts have already shown one thing—he hits harder and he is harder to hit, than he has ever been.

He is socking his sparring partners with solid punches and it is a feather in his cap that he can land on such men as Eddie Eagan, Harold Mays, Billy Vidabeck and Frank Muskie, any one of whom is sufficiently good to make it interesting for the first lightheavyweights.

Gene is working very carefully and studying all the time. He is missing no tricks and intends to miss none. None realizes better than he his present position in the estimation of the great mob of fans whose opinions are never better than half baked.

Better Man Won.

They don't regard him as a real champion, holding that there was something wrong about that Philadelphia fight last September. Tunney knows it is up to him to prove beyond argument that there was nothing wrong about that Sesqui battle beyond Dempsey's inability to stop Gene's wallops, except with his chin, and to land solid punches to bring him the victory.

It might be well for those who discredit Tunney's victory to bear in mind that the New Yorker was firm in his opinion that he would turn the trick. He made all due allowances for the fact that Dempsey could hit and when Jack proved that he could in that fourth round Tunney met the emergency with masterly skill and gameness.

Instead of hanging upon the ropes, petrified into inaction, he kept his wits, skipping along the rope to his own corner, throwing Dempsey off his stride by the quick change of position. Then, when Dempsey did get his direction and slammed in, Tunney threw all he had into a left jab which bounced his opponent off balance and kept him that way the remainder of the bout.

Gene Knows Self Better.

Nearly a year has passed since that eventful evening. Tunney has grown bigger and stronger. Mentally he has matched up to the position he occupies. The championship has proved to be a burden to many men. It has not changed Tunney, if one may judge by his deportment since he won the title. But it has given him something which may be the deciding factor in the struggle on Sept. 22 and that is confidence. Confidence very often marks the difference between a good fighter and a great one.

Tunney knows himself now, and he knows what few know, that he is a far better scrapper than he has yet shown himself to be. Tunney's creed as those close to him get it, may be set forth in five words: "I can and I will."

Drewes Captures Another Title

Paired With Dick Dietrich, He Wins St. Louis County Doubles Tennis Crown.

Ted Drewes and Dick Dietrich, newly teamed, won the doubles tennis championship of St. Louis County yesterday on the Woodlawn Country Club courts. They defeated Herbert Bryant and W. D. Dalrymple, 6—3, 6—3, 6—3, in the final match.

Drewes recently defended his title as national public parks champion in the annual tournament. Dietrich is a Cornell University football player and a promising tennis prospect.

His smashes, combined with those of Drewes, kept the ball bouncing over the backstop in yesterday's match.

The Passing Show.

A BASEBALL pitcher killed a bird,
His name was "Lefty" Skillings;
We ask you if you ever heard
Of more peculiar killings?
More power to the good left arm
That beaned the pesky chippy!
Although we view them with alarm
All southpaws are not dippy.

The Browns again are losing scraps
With Eclat and precision;
We cannot see in their relapse
A hint of first division.
But still in spite of all we claim
We shouldn't be dejected;
For them to capture every game
It could not be expected.

The parent body pennant race
Is growing quite exciting;
To hold their grip upon first place
The Cubs are fiercely fighting.
Their lead has been reduced to yards,
And it is worth remarking,
That New York, Pittsburg and the Cards
Upon their tail are parking.

Quite So.

The Prince of Wales is said to have a ticket for the Dempsey-Tunney fight. What is it, Prince, a King-side seat?

Being a candidate for a crown himself, we take it the Prince's sympathies will be with Dempsey.

Old Songs Made New.

(The Life of a Permanent Wave.)

The Los Angeles woman who got a permanent wave at the age of 91 evidently expects it to last her a lifetime.

HER HAIR just wouldn't behave,
She was missing a lot of the fun,
So she got her a permanent wave
At the age of ninety-and-one.

May her hair continue to curl
And in other respects behave;
Here's hoping the dear old girl
Outlives her permanent wave!

Too True.

After the beautye shoppe expert gets through with her it's a wise child that knows its own grandmother.

Gramma is up and coming these days and isn't asking any odds of the flappiest flapper that ever flapped. They're all sisters over the skin.

Tex Rickard will pay $100,000 rent for Soldiers' Field. Pretty stiff overhead considering there is no roof on the plant.

This fight isn't going to be all profit although all the prophets are speculating on the outcome of it.

It costs money to pull off prize fights and wars. The difference is that a war always leaves the promoters several billion dollars in the red ink.

Our descendants unto the third and fourth generation will be paying for our last war while the promoter is over in Holland with nothing to show for it but a crop of white whiskers and a few cords of sawed wood.

Few Teams in American League Will Earn Money

Too Many $10,000 Contracts for $5000 Baseball, J. B. Foster Asserts.

By John B. Foster.

(Copyright, 1927.)

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—As the American League pennant race goes into the home stretch, with Detroit making a bid to draw away from Washington and Philadelphia in the scramble for second place, it is interesting to note that these three teams were beautifully matched and handicapped for the 1927 campaign. Take into consideration that the Washington team suffered from injuries to players at the start and the fact that Detroit stayed idle for more than a week at a stretch, suffering at the hands of the weather man, a fair summary may rate these clubs as a trifle stronger than Philadelphia, which has suffered slightly from the too experienced mind of Connie Mack.

The Athletics' combination of age and youth did not mix with more freedom than oil and water. No team had the benefit of more experienced management than the Athletics, but less experience and more agility might have taken the boys nearer the promised land.

The Athletics also claim that they were handicapped by Umpire Ormsby and no amount of argument will ever change their opinion on this point. The greater the sagacity and experience of managers the more positive they often are in their convictions that body blows may be dealt by an umpire's bad decision if it comes at a critical moment when a team is pawing to rush ahead but also just ready to collapse if some one steps on its corns.

Chicago and Cleveland Disappoint.

Chicago and Cleveland have been great disappointments to their admirers. Chicago's experience has been particularly bitter for the team started as if it was on its way to Prosperityville. Then the batters sloughed and the team ran afoul of injuries. Cleveland has not materialized because its pitchers are too mushy. They need scattering.

The most systematically run club in the American League except the New York Yanks is Boston. Bill Carrigan began the season knowing nothing about his players and not wishing to know the worst. He has taken what the dispensation of fate gave him and followed the policy of using his pitchers in regular order, keeping their noses to the grindstone to sharpen them up for 1928. If they do 20 per cent better next year, Carrigan will have accomplished more with his staff than some of the other managers will have done with all their shifts and experiments.

Trades Impend.

The American League is in a trading mood. The losses will be considerable this season for some of the owners. It is not due wholly to lack of attendance at early games, but largely to the way the Yankees with their big crowds at the home stand have made the circuit topheavy.

Jacob Kaysing Captures 15-Mile Marathon Title

Runner, Age 35, Circles Quarter-Mile Track 60 Times at Caledonian Games.

By Gerald Holland.

Jacob Kaysing, 35-year-old St. Louis distance runner, ran around a quarter mile dirt track 60 times at Crystal Springs Lake Park yesterday and won the National Amateur Athletic Union 15-mile marathon championship.

The event was the feature of an athletic program sponsored by the Caledonian Society at its annual picnic, attended by about 1500 persons. Kaysing, who finished second to Frank Titterton in last year's title run here, covered the distance in one hour, 45 minutes, 8 3-5 seconds, which is about 20 minutes slower than the record. Track conditions were poor, however.

John Keefe finished second, a lap and a half behind Kaysing. Joe Holland, St. Louis University distance man, took third place, two laps behind.

Nine Western A. A. U. events for men and women were also on the program. Catherine and Irene Maguire, who depart today for the national championship track and field meet at Eureka, Cal., as district representatives, each won an event. Catherine took first place in the high jump, for which she holds the national record, and Irene won the 100-yard dash in 12 seconds. Catherine jumped 57 inches in winning her event, 2¼ inches below her record. She also took second place in the women's 8-pound shot put. Dolores Boeckmann, also entered in the national track and field meet, withdrew her original entry in yesterday's events.

CARDS' BATTLES WITH CUBS MAY DECIDE PENNANT

If 1926 History Repeats, Club in Front on Labor Day, Will Win Flag in National League This Year

By GEORGE CHADWICK,

A Special Correspondent of The Post-Dispatch.

(Copyright, 1927.)

NEW YORK, August 28.—All the weather signs have failed this year and possibly the baseball signs will fail too, but there are several things to be said on the side of omens as they apply to the four-ply fight now being waged in the National League.

As the major league races splash through the last dripping week of August, Labor day looms up in all its prophetic prestige. The old axiom about the leading team on the Fourth of July always winning the pennant is about to take the count, letting the purple mantle fall on the brawny shoulders of Labor day.

The dope stands about this way: If the outcome of the games to be played on Labor day leaves the standing of the teams with the Chicago Cubs first, Pittsburg second, St. Louis third and New York fourth, and, if the omens of the 1926 season hold good, that will be the way the National League race will end in 1927.

Just Go Back to 1926.

Labor day put a bigger mark on the baseball calendar in 1926 than did the Fourth of July. Let's have a look at the record. The Cincinnati Reds led the league on July 4, 1926. New York led the American League, but as the Yankees had their league by the nose all the way it mattered little about July 4. Crowding the Cincinnati team on Independence day were Pittsburg in second place, St. Louis in third and Brooklyn and Chicago tied for fourth.

Now move along to Labor day, 1926. St. Louis is found in the lead in the National League at sundown on that holiday. Cincinnati was second, Pittsburg third and Chicago fourth. Thus the first division was outlined exactly as it finished the season. This may or may not happen in the good year 1927, but the occurrence is prophetic. It establishes for one season at least the fact that Labor day did have a direct index on the position of the teams at the end of the season.

St. Louis even suffered a reversal after Labor day in 1926, but that did not spoil the charm for the Cardinals. The Cincinnati Reds took the lead on September 14, but three days later the Cardinals came back to the top of the heap. The Cards recovered their lead on September 17 by smothering the Phillies, 10 to 1, while New York helped them by defeating Cincinnati 5 to 4 in 10 innings.

The next day St. Louis split even in a double-header while Brooklyn was winning from Pittsburg and New York was downing Cincinnati again. The dividing of a double-header, which is really a defeat for a leading team, did not amount to much in this case because Cincinnati and Pittsburg were too feeble to help themselves to the feast spread before them.

Important Games Ahead.

On this coming Labor day the Cincinnati Reds will play at Pittsburg and St. Louis is booked to play Chicago. The flame of fierce competition will be all over the western half of the circuit, while in the east the Boston Braves will collide with the New York Giants at the Polo Grounds.

To date the Giants have won 11 games from Boston and have lost 6 to that team. Only three games remain to be played in their series, but if the Braves can maintain their reputation as wreckers they are likely to put the Giants out of the race for good and all. The question arises, of course whether the Braves are merely wreckers at home or combine also the rough habits of wreckers when calling on the neighbors.

Every fans' eyes will be on the Chicago Cubs on Labor day. If the Cubs shake a nasty paw around the mugs of the St. Louis players on Labor day and give the champions a thorough clawing, Chicago probably will have that pennant which it has sought long and valorously. But if the Cubs are rolled over on their bushy backs, it may mean a lot of other things.

SID TERRIS TO BOX PHIL McGRAW AGAIN

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—Sid Terris, New York lightweight, and Phil McGraw of Detroit have been matched by Promoter Humbert Fugazy to fight 15 rounds at Ebbets Field, Brooklyn, Sept. 14. Terris gained a decision over McGraw in 10 rounds last Wednesday, although McGraw had the New York lad down four times in the first round.

W. GARNER IS SET DOWN FOR REST OF MEET

May Cooper Takes 2-Year-Old Purse and Pays $17.50 Straight; 20,000 Jam Chicago Turf Plant.

Jockey Draws Two Suspensions in Day, One for 30 Days

CHICAGO, Aug. 27.

AFTER repeated warning for rough riding, the Hawthorne Track stewards today suspended Jockey Willie Garner for 30 days. Garner had already drawn one suspension today, for the one week remaining in the Hawthorne meeting, for his action in the third race.

Lee Hardy, on Little Cyn, was leading the favorite, Oh Susanna, by half a length down the stretch when Garner on Savanna, kept crowding Little Cyn over the outside rail. Little Cyn carried the half length margin under the wire, and Garner was given his first suspension.

Similar tactics in the fifth race, the Great Chicago Handicap for $5000. With Garner and Hardy riding Chicago and Mix Up, brought Garner his additional layoff.

CHICAGO, Aug. 27.—Earl Pool carried the colors of the Audley Farm Stable to victory in the Greater Chicago Handicap at Hawthorne by piloting Princess Doreen across the wire in front of Mix Up and Chicago.

A crowd of 20,000 jammed the grandstand and mutuel windows to see one of the best programs of the season.

Princess Doreen's victory by a length and a half in the $5000 event was enlivened by a battle between two jockeys, Willie Garner, riding Chicago, and Lee Hardy, astride Mix Up, which ran second.

It was the first big stake Princess Doreen had won this season and sent her on her way toward the high money-winning record of all time for racing mares, not only in America but throughout the world.

May Cooper was the winner of the other big race of the day, the Chicago Juvenile Handicap, $5000 added. J. W. Marchbank, California turfman, the owner, gained $6325 from May Cooper's victory. May was in front all the way after they had gone the first furlong of the three-quarter mile dash.

While officials of the Hawthorne track would not make public the attendance and mutuel play, it was admitted that the amount wagered on the seven races today, including the two big stakes, was close to a million dollars. The crowd approximated 20,000 spectators.

May Cooper paid $17.54 straight in the mutuels. The race was worth $6325 to the winner.

New Orleans Buys Catcher.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Aug. 27.—Jack Mealey, catcher with the Okmulgee Drillers, has been sold to the New Orleans club of the Southern Association, it was announced here today by Manager Troy Agnew. Mealey will report at New Orleans Sunday.

DOWN the STRETCH

Name Officials.

OFFICIALS for the coming fall meeting at Wahington Park were announced Thursday, following a meeting at Washington Park. Joseph McLellan will again serve as racing secretary and handicapper, while Martin Nathanson will be presiding steward and Harry Morrissey starter. The fall meeting at Washington Park is scheduled to open Labor Day, Sept. 5, and continue for 18 days.

There will be four $5000 stake races run during the meeting, the first on Labor Day, for 3-year-olds at one mile and a sixteenth. Nominations for the Labor Day Handicap close tomorrow night. The rich stake will provide a late comparison of the ability of the 3-year-olds in training and it is not unlikely that several outsiders will journey from distant points to participate in the race.

* * *

No purse of less than $1200 will be offered at the fall meeting of the Chicago Business Men's Racing Association at Hawthorne, which begins Sept. 26. Overnight handicaps will range from $1500 to $2500. An attractive list of stake races will be announced later.

Silver Fox Sold.

RANCOCAS STABLE'S gray colt, Silver Fox, son of Grey Fox II—Mary, Queen of Scots, was disposed of by auction at the Saratoga Sales, Wednesday night. The English colt was purchased by John Hastings for $5000. It is rumored that Hastings was acting for the Rancocas Stable. The great stallion Catalan, winner of a few handicaps at Miami a year ago, was sold by Bedford Farm to Harrison Nesbitt for $25,000.

The entire evening at Saratoga was given over to the sale of young mares, stallions, weanlings and brood mares. Oktibenna, dam of Sweepster and other good horses, was knocked down by A. B. Gordon for $6000. Oktibenna was sold by T. F. Simms and J. Marshall.

Buys Valorous.

JAMES COX BRADY, owner of Hamilton Farm, purchased the crack colt Valorous from Harry Payne Whitney at private sale Friday afternoon. Brady purchased the horse with the intention of placing him at the head of his stud. Brady has no stallion of his own and will put Valorous in stud after his racing days are over. The purchase price was not made known. Valorous, by Pennant-Courage, was one of the best 2-year-olds of 1926 and won the Kentucky Jockey Club Stakes, worth $29,000, last year. He is engaged in the Lawrence Realization Stakes, Jockey Club Gold Cup and other rich races to be decided this year.

Miller Henderson, trainer of the Eastern division of the Audley Farm Stable, has announced that he had shipped twenty horses to Fairmount Park from Saratoga. In the string is the good 2-year-old filly, Sister Ship, sister of the crack colt, Crusader.

Eliminations For Dog Purse Start Tomorrow

Thirty-Two of Best Greyhounds at Ramona to Race for Places in Final.

Elimination races for the "Ramona Labor Day Handicap" to be held Sept. 5 for the championship of the Ramona Kennel Club over the quarter mile course, and a purse of $500, will begin tomorrow night.

Thirty-two of the fastest dogs will start in these elimination races, eight dogs competing Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday nights. The first four to finish in these races will meet in the semi-finals Friday and Saturday night. The eight dogs which survive the elimination tests will be eligible for the climactic event Monday night, Sept. 5.

The handicap will be an annual stake, and in addition to the purse, the winner will receive a loving cup.

It is believed that the track record, now held by Whirl, will be broken, or at least equalled. Such dogs as Melrose, Actor Boy, Boy King, Commander Jamie, Buggawn, Henry Clay, Bunker Hill, Speckled Joe, Der Tag, Moving Trigger, Bingo and Lambro will be among the entries.

The eighth race each night will be the elimination race, Racing Secretary C. A. Halnan has announced.

"Hurling" Game Here Next Week

St. Louis and Chicago Teams Will Meet in Irish National Sports.

An intercity contest at "hurling," the national sport of Ireland, will be played between St. Louis and Chicago teams next Sunday at St. Louis University field.

Hurling is a game of ancient origin which combines features of football, hockey, baseball and a sprinkling of other sports and makes periodic appearances here among athletes of Irish nativity or descent.

Last year the Chicago team beat the locals. Jack McGrath will again lead the locals this time. Other St. Louis players are James and Michael Coleman, who hail from Limerick; Michael Ryan, who used to play in Tipperary; W. Burke, J. McCarthy, Jack O'Meara, Jack Carroll and others, who have been practicing at Sherman Park.

The Chicago squad is made up mostly of Boland Hurling Club players with a dash of stars from other Chicago teams.

ST. LOUIS STARS BEAT MEMPHIS RED SOX IN SERIES OPENER, 8-4

ST. LOUISAN LOSES IN CHESS TOURNEY

By the Associated Press.

KALAMAZOO, Mich., Aug. 27.—Closely fought games featured the third round of the national chess tournament here today.

Lewis J. Isaacs, Chicago, climbed up in the standings when he defeated Marvin Palmer, Detroit. Palmer resigned after the 35th move. The men played a Ruy Lopez opening. In midgame Isaacs sacrificed a drop for rooks pawn and finished himself in an advantageous position.

Eugene J. Roesch, St. Louis, resigned to Samuel Factor, Chicago, at the 31st move in the third game. Factor, with the white men, opened with his queen's pawn. In the following play Roesch seemed to have a slight advantage until the 27th move, when he captured a pawn, leaving a serious opening, of which Factor took advantage.

The two leaders in the Western Association tournament, F. A. Hollway, Grand Rapids, and R. S. Schrivener, Memphis, Tenn., were defeated Saturday in upset games. Albert C. Margolis, Chicago, triumphed over Hollway, when after a queen's gambit declined, on the tenth move, he captured a key pawn.

Schrivener resigned before the splendid play of Dr. P. G. Keeney, Bellevue, Ky., on the 35th move.

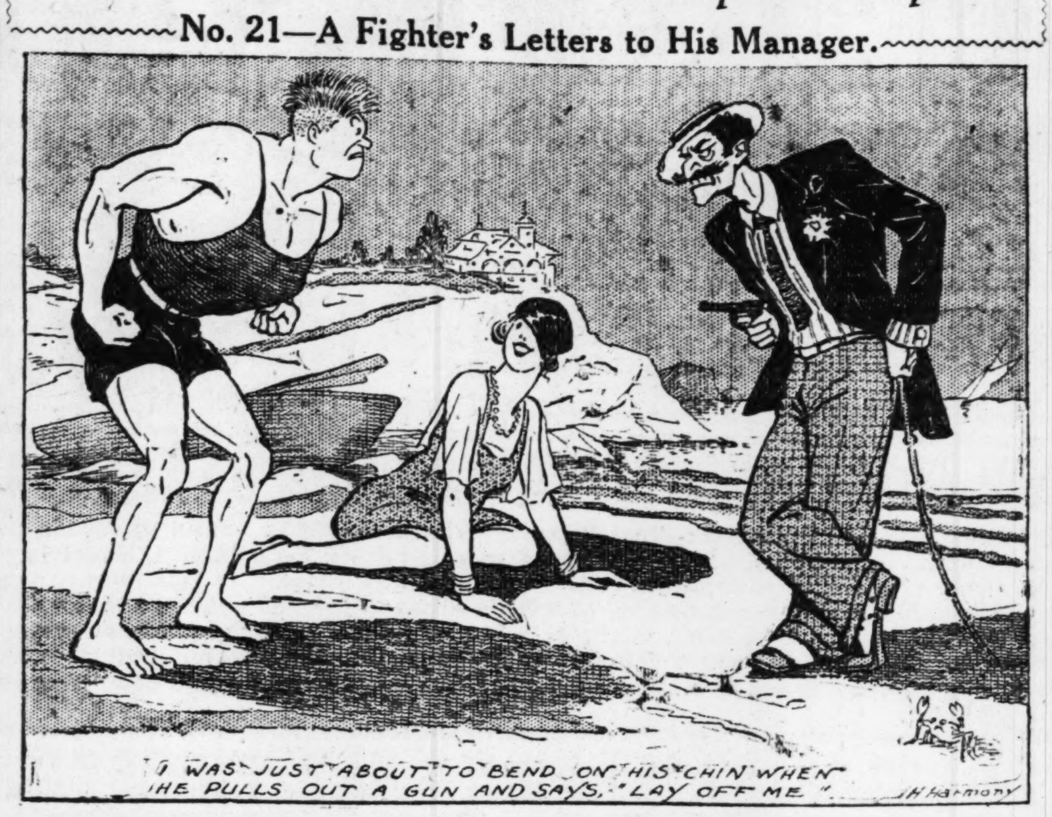
K. O. Frisbie Decides to Resume Fighting —And Gets a Chance at Liverpool Lumpke

No. 21—A Fighter's Letters to His Manager.



"I WAS JUST ABOUT TO BEND ON HIS CHIN WHEN HE PULLS OUT A GUN AND SAYS, "LAY OFF ME".
H Harmony

By Walter Davenport.

DEAR Patsy: My job of being life guard for the big society people up here at Belgravia Beach took a flop today because Mrs. Blish, my boss who owns this place, told me this morning that the season was over and that everybody with any brains at all were going home now.

"A few of my guests will stay up here but it would be a sin and a shame to have a life guard for them," she said. "The chances are that they will not get drowned but it would be a big waste of time to save them if they did get in danger of getting drowned. Some of them need it pretty bad so I am paying you off and letting you go because I want nature to take its course and not have any beach guards around if there is any chance of these people getting drowned. Would you like another job for the winter?"

"Well, Mrs. Blish," I said, "I am a promising heavyweight boxer who can't help being the champion if I had a manager who could get me a fight with Tunney and I expect to do a lot of fighting this winter, including Johnny Risko."

"Suit yourself," she said, "but Mr. Alps the big oil man who is the father of Ralph Alps, the college football player they call the hurdling half wit, is here and he has a job for you if you will take it. He will pay you wages to follow his son around and keep him straight as he has just inherited a million dollars from his grandmother and has decided not to go back to college until he sees how much noise they is in a million dollars."

A Sparring Partner Offered.

"I got several propositions on," I said. "The Countess of Balloona wants me to go over to Portugal with her and another Portugee named John and be heavyweight champion of Europe so that Portugal will have something to be proud of."

"Listen, Frisbie," said Mrs. Blish, "suit yourself, but remember that the Countess of Balloona has not got much sense and is probably still sending sweaters to France which shows you how much she knows about what is not going on any more. Suit yourself but if I was you I would take Mr. Alpse's offer because all you will have to do is to sock his son on the chin every time he takes more than two drinks and your work is over for the day. Mr. Alps will pay big jack for it because he would rather have his son busted on the jaw regulary than not know what might be happening to him."

"But I will have to have time to train for my big fights when my manager gets them for me," I said.

"Well it is nothing in my life," said Mrs. Blish. "I was only thinking that this job would give you the hurdling half wit for a sparring partner and you would be getting big dough for it also. If you got a fight you could go down to where the fight was and take the hurdling half wit with you. He is the kind of a boy who would like that."

Well I had a talk with Mr. Alps who is Ralph's old man and from the looks of the tapestry nose he carries around with him I guess the boy gets his drinking all right. It looks like a map of somewheres. I told him I would ask you. What do you say?

I thought maybe I ought to tell the Countess of Balloona that I was not going to Portugal with her and the man she calls John and she said she was so disappointed that she had a feeling that she would have to throw herself into the ocean.

"Listen," I said, "lay off the ocean because I am all worn out rescuing you all summer. Every time you get near the water you are hollering for me to save you from a watery grave and I am getting tired of it."

A Gun Spans the Difference.

"I am not thinking of that," she said, "but I am thinking of my native country Portugal which has to have something done for it before it looks more like something Spain threw away than it does already."

"I can't help that," I said. "All I know is I am not going to Portugal with you. If it is as bad as you say why don't you be an American citizen and lay off Portugal."

"And desert poor Portugal?" she said.

"Listen," I said, "I don't care what you do with Portugal. As far as I go you can spend the rest of your life rolling in Portugal or you can stay here and marry some fine big American fellow and be an American citizen."

"Are you really serious," she said.

"Sure I am serious," I said.

"It sounds too good to be true," she said, and with that she threw her arms around my neck and tried to get familiar with me.

I gave her a push and tried to make her let go but she is a pretty husky dame and Strangler Lewis could not put the clamp on a boy's bean any harder than she did with me. Finally I got loose and was going to tell her for the last time that she could go take a swim under a ferryboat when John the big Portuguese who was asking me to go to Portugal to be champion of Europe and pull the country out of a hole came around the corner and wanted to know what was going on.

"You ought to be ashamed of yourself busting a lady like that especially a countess," he said.

"Listen," I said, "I did not bust her, but the only reason I did not was because she is a lady which you are not which lets me out as far as socking you in the jaw goes."

I was just about to bend one on his chin when he pulls out a gun and says.

"Lay off me."

Well I saw he was a pretty small man and I might kill him if I forget myself so I beat it. What do you think?

Yours truly,
K. O. FRISBIE.

EVENTS RECITED IN PREVIOUS LETTERS

HARVEY (K. O.) FRISBIE, 18-year-old chauffeur, joins the boxing stable of Patsy O'Brien, a hard boiled but human, prize fight manager. Aside from his ring proclivities, Frisbie is the self-appointed successor to Rudy Valentino as the world's leading sheik. K. O. Frisbie is quite sure he can bowl over Paolino, Sharkey or Tunney. After watching Harvey polish off a number of tough second rates, O'Brien secures the boy a summer job as life saver at ultra fashionable Belgravia Beach. Mrs. Blish, who owns half the beach, is crazy about fighters and wants one to add tone to her swimming domain. On the other hand, Mrs. O. N. T. Sledge, Mrs. Blish's sister, is also pug-struck, but owing to a terrific squabble with her sister, has ended diplomatic relations with the Blishes, taken over the other half of the beach as her territory, and engaged Angry Anthony, another canvas kisser, for a life saver. Shortly after Harvey's arrival, he is annoyed by Ralph Alps, a college boy known as the hurdling half-wit, so Frisbie knocks him down and out. Frisbie fears dismissal, but is retained.

Enter an Englishman.

DEAR FRISBIE: Go to Mr. Alps and tell him the job of tending his son just suits you. From what I see now this is going to be a good winter to have a job with wages on it. I can get you a few fights with boys like Monte Munn, Johnny Risko, George La Rocco, and Constant Bolo, the South American Tapir as they call him, but between you and me the public is getting pretty tired of having so many decisions taken off it and customers are getting scarcer and scarcer.

Also I can get you a bout with an Englishman named Liverpool Lumpke who is a pupil of Joe Beckett and who they say would be almost as good as Joe if he could think as fast. The only big difference between Joe and Liverpool is that you can't fool Joe. Joe decided not to trust anybody so the minute he sees a rope stretched out on front of him he takes a dive thinking maybe somebody is trying to build a ring around him and smack him down.

With Liverpool it's different. Liverpool is a young fellow and can't think as fast as Joe. Liverpool will let you sock him after which he does his dive like a man.

As I say I think I can get you a fight with Liverpool almost any time. He has just landed in America and has Lord Cowslip, a sporting baron or something with him as manager and his Lordship is pretty particular about who Liverpool fights. I told him you had spent the whole summer with a collection of society folks and probably were a gentleman by this time.

A Bout in the Making.

"Will this man of yours, this Frisbie, be forever complaining that he has ben fouled?" his Lordship asked me. "You see," the American boxers have a way of complaining that they have been fouled when as a matter of fact all they've been is struck rather hard, you know."

"Leave that to Frisbie," I said. "Unless Frisbie's changed a lot since I saw him fight he wouldn't know if he had been fouled or not. When can your boy be ready to take his beating."

"Almost any Tuesday provided, of course, we can induce somebody to put up a purse," said his Lordship. "How about a trifling sidebet—say $5000?"

"Sure," I said.

Now all we need is a place to fight.

Drop in and see me before you start running back and forth between here and wherever else the halfwit does his major drinking. It oughtn't to take you more than a few minutes to flatten Liverpool and I'll watch the halfwit while you are ruining the evening for Lord Cowslip.

Your manager,
PATSY O'BRIEN.

ZITA DOYLE IS WINNER OVER MISS LINDEMANN

Seeded Player Meets Defeat, 6-3 and 6-0, in First Round of Women's Tennis Tourney.

The public parks tournament for women, which opened yesterday on the Jefferson Memorial courts in Forest Park, will be occupied principally this afternoon, when play will be continued, with second round singles matches, and first round doubles, although 10 matches are still to be played to complete the first round of singles.

Twenty-two singles matches and one doubles match were played yesterday. Seeded players, with one exception, were winners, and there were no especial surprises in the play, most of the matches being decided in two sets. Miss Verona Lindemann, who was seeded No. 4 for the tournament, was defeated in a first round match by Miss Zita Doyle, 6—3, 6—0, but she has not been playing in her usual form, having been eliminated in the third round of the girls' tournament, which closed Friday. Miss Marion Brokaw, the new girl champion of the public parks, made a start in the present tournament by defeating her first opponent, Miss Adaline Weber, 6—0, 6—2.

Although the tournament which opened yesterday is known as a "women's" tournament, a considerable number of the entrants are girls under 18 years of age, the rules permitting them to take part in adult tennis events, as well as in those arranged especially for them. The same rule permits boys in the junior class—between 15 and 18 years—to play in men's tournaments. The purpose is to aid the development of the younger players by giving them experience, under tournament conditions, against older and stronger players.

Following are yesterday's first-round results:

SINGLES.

First round—Miss Ethel Baer defeated Miss Irene Knecht, 6—3, 6—3; Mrs. Violet Furlong defeated Miss Hilda Evertz, 6—1, 6—1; Miss Delphine Rauch defeated Miss Edna Kuhs, 6—3, 6—2; Miss Lottie Hagemeier defeated Miss Louise Dieselhorst, 6—2, 6—1; Miss Elda Stemmler defeated Miss Frances MacCubbin, 6—0, 6—2; Miss Johanna Bauman defeated Mrs. J. Stahl, 6—1, 6—2; Miss Frances Bulkley defeated Miss Evelyn Emendorf; 6—1, 6—0; Mrs. B. K. Brouster defeated Miss Genevieve Walsh, 6—0, 6—0; Miss Hortense Doyle defeated Miss Dorothy Graham, 6—3, 6—2; Mrs. Melicent Baehr defeated Miss Bettye Murphy, 6—0, 6—1; Miss Josie Hoellenbeck defeated Miss Violet Eaton, 6—1, 6—3; Miss Hope Stanton defeated Miss Elinore Hencken, 7—5, 6—1; Miss Zita Doyle defeated Miss Verona Lindemann, 6—3, 6—0; Miss Madge Grooms defeated Miss Marcella Kraus, 7—5, 2—6, 6—2; Miss Louise Rauch defeated Miss Mary Dowling, 6—2, 6—2; Miss Wilma Benton won from Miss Rose Templeman, by default; Miss Elvera Weber defeated Mrs. A. Harris, 6—0, 6—2; Miss Virginia Baer defeated Miss Mary Lawless, 6—0, 6—0; Miss Dorothy Berkemeier defeated Miss Clara Stoltz, 6—4, 3—6, 7—5; Miss Marion Brokaw defeated Miss Adaline Weber, 6—0, 6—2; Miss Bernardine Lutz defeated Miss Aimee Dubuque, 7—5, 6—4; Miss Barbara Stevenson defeated Miss Ruth Minucciani, 7—5, 6—3.

DOUBLES.

Miss Madge Grooms and Miss Frances Bulkley defeated Miss Hope Stanton and Miss Louise Dieselhorst, 6—2, 11—9.

The pairings for today follow:

WRAY'S COLUMN

Doyle to the Rescue.

THE battle of the old-timer vs. the modern fighter wages merrily. The Old Timers gained a new recruit today in Malachy Doyle, former St. Louisan, known from Winnipeg to Havana and Tia Juana to New York as a veteran turf and fight fan.

Mal, after perusing comments by J. B. Sheridan and the writer of this column, trying to strike a comparison between Dempsey and the stars of old, writes:

"How is it possible to make comparison between present and past fighters?

"The fighters of other days won by endurance. The boxer of today wins by skill.

"Championship fights of other days were practically unlimited affairs. Sullivan, Corbett, Fitzsimmons, Jeffries, Johnson and Willard won the title in finish fights. They were dubbed 'boxing contests' to get within the law.

"Five ounce gloves (with nearly all of the padding placed on the forearm instead of the knuckles) were used to dupe the reformers.

"But, gloves or knuckles, the purpose was the same—to fight to a finish.

"Today we have limited round boxing contests decided by points. Science, not endurance, tells the story."

MAL DOYLE.

What Do You Mean "Finish?"

TODAY, Mal, we have finish fights—only they are finished much more quickly.

We also have light gloves with much of the padding in the wrists, or else squeezed back from the knuckle.

The endurance of modern fighters we know little about, because fights seldom go the limit when a world's championship of today is fought.

Dempsey, the livest champion of latter days, has required an average of only seven rounds (counting two decision fights) since he reached the championship. What need of unlimited bouts for him?

And as for science, two stevedores from the levee could display more skill than was evident in that terrific bludgeoning, called a "championship boxing contest" between Luis Firpo and Dempsey.

Men are just as enduring today as ever, only they do their stuff quicker. They punch harder and better, as is shown by quick knockouts. They are just as game, as countless incidents show; and the limited round fight seems to have served to make men get down to business in a hurry, without useless dallying.

The moderns for us, Mal, in everything.

Youth, and Mr. O'Leary.

DAN O'LEARY is still doing his stuff, at the age of 88. Dan 50 years ago was world's champion pedestrian. Despite his 18 years past the normal span of life, Dan is still capable of making the youth of America sit up.

Dan is a living example of the benefit of outdoor life, moderation and continued activity.

With human and other machines, the rust of idleness or neglect does more damage than long continued use.

That's why Dan is "Kid O'Leary" at 88.

Dan still has a standing challenge; it reads:

"I'll walk any man in the world 500 miles, heel-and-toe, for $1000 to $5000, youth not barred. I'll walk any man past 70 years of age and walk 100 miles to his 90."

Now then challengers—don't crowd.

St. Louis, Please Copy.

THAT the commission form of government for high school athletics is taking root, we learn from Kansas dispatches. These announce that E. A. Thomas has been appointed as "czar" over 600 high schools of the State.

Thomas, a Kansas University graduate, is a paid official with the title of secretary to the Kansas State High School Association, with the power to pass on all eligibility and other problems and take charge of all district and State tournaments. He is answerable only to a board.

The writer suggested the commissioner form of government for St. Louis high schools and the suggestion since has been followed up by the School Board, in requesting the Superintendent of Instruction to report favorably on the plan.

One-man government will eliminate the conflicts of authority and opinion that hitherto have marred high school athletics and kept back the progress of our teams and individual athletes.

St. Louis is one of two or three cities in the country to boast a concrete high school "bowl." Its progressiveness in this respect should be matched by its other high school athletic activities.

Who Was Stung?

"WE have a little bet out here at the Coronado," a masculine voice announced over the telephone to the Post-Dispatch sports department, "and we want the Post-Dispatch to decide it. Which do you think has the best claim on the wrestling championship: Joe Stecher or Strangler Lewis?"

He was told STECHER had whatever claim either man was entitled to.

"Strangler Lewis, you say? Thanks!"

Bang! The inquirer hung up the receiver.

The line was clear. No misunderstanding of the answer was possible, except an intentional one. The party's reply indicated that he was making it for the benefit of another person at the inquirer's end of the wire—the other party to the wager!

Also the loser, right or wrong. Somebody was flimflammed.

Finlay One of Best Newcomers In Golf Ranks

Homans, Moser and Martin Others Who Came to Front in U. S. Amateur.

By FRANCIS J. POWERS.
A Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
(Copyright, 1927.)

MINNEAPOLIS, Aug. 27.—One of the most promising young golfers to appear in the National Amateur championship over a run of several years is Phillips Finlay, the New York school boy, who plays his game at the Shinnecock Hills Club. Finlay was one of 50 or more youthful golfers who made their debut in the 1927 amateur at Minikahda and he quickly established himself as the best of the flock and eligible to be rated along with Roland MacKenzie, Watts Gunn and Eugene McCarthy, the budding beauties of the past four years.

Finlay, who is only 19 years of age, and as yet runs largely to arms and legs, showed medal play skill by scoring a 72 in one of the kualifying rounds and being one of the few in the large field to equal par for Minikahda. He then dashed into the match rounds and without hesitation disposed of Dr. O. F. Willing, a Walker Cup player of 1924, and D. Clarke Corkran, for years an outstanding star in the amateur ranks. There are few tougher fighters in golf than the huge Willing and fiery little Corkran but that meant nothing to Finlay.

Finlay is a methodical youngster, according to his friends, and keeps a close record of his scores for every round played, whether in tournament or casual matches. His check on this year's play at the time of the amateur showed that his average for the season was 72½ strokes a round which is magnificent golf as comparable with the best efforts of Jones, Farrell, Armour, Hagen and the other great players of the game.

Another fine young player who qualified at Minikahda is Eugene Homans of the Englewood, N. J., Club and a student at Exeter Academy. Homans inherits a certain amount of athletic ability from his father, "Shep" Homans, the famous old Princeton football star. Homans is a close friend of Finlay, to whom he lost in the eastern interscholastic championship and has a game a great deal similar to that of the Shinnecock Hills lad.

Los Angeles sent a couple of flashy youngsters to the championship to prove that the golden west can produce more than three-reel comedies and oranges. A lot will be heard in the near future from Allen Moser and Dave Martin, even though both of them went out in the first round of play.

38 Pin Leagues To Open Season

Major City Bowling Organization Will Begin Its Campaign on Sept. 6.

Plenty of action is promised in local bowling circles during the coming week at the Rogers alleys when 38 leagues will raise the curtain on their season's schedule.

The Major City League which is composed of the leading bowlers of the city will start their drive on Tuesday, Sept. 6, while the Traffic Club will open their campaign on Friday night, Sept. 9.

The Craftsman League with 16 clubs in the handicap division and 12 teams from scratch will face the pins on Wednesday night, Sept. 14.

The Recreation Handicap League with 12 clubs started their grind last Friday night and considering the earliness of the season flashed over some scores that were away above the average. T. Cait sewed up the individual three-game honors with a total of 664, while A. Price was the best in the single game department with a count of 244.

Jones Again Emphasizes That Ball Should Be Hit Downward For Good Lift With Brassie

Backspin Imparted to Ball With Such Blow Will Force It to Climb, American Golf Star Points Out—Few Exceptions to Rule Noted.

By Bobby Jones,
British Open and Southern Champion.

Some days ago I received a letter in which I was asked if I actually meant that a ball should be hit downward in order to get it up from the fairway with a brassie. I wrote sometime ago that the average golfer's difficulty in this department is due to the fact that he makes too much of an effort to lift the ball, and failed to hit through it, permitting the loft of the club and the spin imparted to take it off the ground. Now, again I have been asked by a friend to explain how I play a ball from a "hanging" or downhill lie.

BOB JONES.

I intended to say about the brassie shot exactly what my correspondent understood. I admit that there may be some difficulty in at first believing that a downward blow will produce an elevated trajectory; but upon reflection it seems to me not too farfetched to say that the backspin on the ball forces it to climb.

The same thing applies to a hanging or down-hill lie. I always use a brassie with very little loft on the face; it is in truth a driver with a brass sole and with a bit thinner head. I am certain that from a decent lie on the fairway it has fully as much carrying range as my driver and ordinarily I experience little difficulty in playing a ball with that club from almost any sort of lie apt to be met on a good fairway.

There is one requisite, of course—there must be no obstructions immediately in front, for it takes time for the spin and speed to have effect. I am sure every golfer has seen a hard-hit brassie shot start off very low and head straight for a mound or bunker, rising just enough to clear it, and then go sailing onward toward the green.

Vicious Blow Necessary.

When playing a brassie shot of this kind I feel that a vicious blow is necessary, for the faster the ball can be made to fly the more quickly it will ascend. Very often I hit so hard that I go off balance down the slope and draw my right foot forward out of position. So it may be that some people lack the power to accomplish the shot in this manner, but for them there is no solution, except a more lofted club. If the brassie is to be played it must be done in this fashion.

Bill Mehlhorn and Johnny Farrell and Tommy Armour or any first-class professional will afford ample illustrations of what I mean. I have seen them on countless occasions playing from a close or bare lie, go right into the ground with a wood club very much as they do with all their irons.

I do not mean that all brassie shots should be played in this way. If the ball is lying cleanly or teed it is better to hit it as squarely in the back as possible. Just as the backspin assists the ball to rise it lessens its power to make headway against a wind and cuts down the roll considerably. The brassie shot from a good lie is to all purposes another drive. I see no reason why the two should differ.

I find that when digging out of a bad lie with a wood club the tendency is to slice a bit. Probably that is the result of my inborn desire to "play across the ball," but possbily others may have the same tendency, and it might be well to allow for a bit of a fade in the shot.

If you are worried about getting the ball up, remember—don't try to lift it! Hit it down and hit it hard.

The Call of the Outdoors

By ALEC MERMOD

ONLY a short time till the opening of the duck season (Sept. 16) which reminds us about what the United States Bureau of Biological Survey is contemplating doing in the way of taking the census of ducks, geese, swans and coots, and obtaining some accurate information regarding distribution, migration and fluctuation in numbers of the different species. By establishing observation stations throughout the United States, Canada and Mexico where monthly counts will be made throughout the entire year much valuable information can be had which will be of vast help in administering the Migratory Bird Treaty Act.

Competent observers will be selected at points where these birds congregate who will, as far as possible, make an accurate count once a month, and this count to be made at each station on the same day, which will avoid any chance of duplication. Information obtained by this survey will be much more accurate than any that might be had from volunteer observers who would not go about making the count in a systematic manner.

The plan for this waterfowl survey is more comprehensive than anything along the same lines that has ever been attempted in this country or possibly in any other. This survey is intended to be continuous and will be more valuable from year to year. Now if each state would enact laws making it compulsory for every hunter to return with his license, at the end of the year an accurate statement as to the number of migratory birds taken it would be of immense benefit, and in a very few years the Bureau would have conclusive proof that it is not the hunter who is to blame for the decrease in the numbers of our migratory birds, and drastic steps could be taken to stop the draining of the lakes, ponds and sloughs which are the natural feeding and resting places of the ducks and geese.

Case of the Everglades.

SHOULD the State of Florida succeed in draining the Everglades, it would be an awful calamity, for it would mean the destruction of millions of birds of all description.

Western sportsmen are planning to make a thorough investigation of the practicability and cost of constructing dikes and other control works necessary to provide refuges at Lower Klamath Lake in Northern California, Malheur Lake in Oregon and the delta of Bear River in Utah. During the past few years the ducks have been dying by the thousands as the result of alkali poisoning, due to lowering of the waters in these lakes by evaporation and drainage, and unless steps are taken at once to retain sufficient fresh water in the delta and lakes to prevent this alkali poisoning and to furnish feed for the waterfowl, the destruction will continue to such an extent that the sportsmen of the Pacific Coast will be cut off entirely from enjoying the shooting of waterfowl.

The time has passed for dodging the issue at stake, and both our Federal and state governments must wake up to the fact that something must be done now, if we expect to preserve the wild waterfowl.

The sportsmen of St. Paul, Minn., in co-operation with the City Park Commission and the State Game Protective Association, are planning a breeding ground for waterfowl within the city limits of St. Paul by inclosing an area of marsh, lake and some high ground with a vermin-proof fence, and stocking this inclosure with ducks of different species for breeding. This refuge is in charge of a gamekeeper, who looks after the birds adn kills off the vermin.

If this experiment proves a success, no doubt the Game Commission will establish other breeding grounds throughout the State, which will contribute materially to the local supply. Other states which have suitable waters will probably fall in line by establishing similar sanctuaries, so that eventually we may be able to restore in part that which we have so ruthlessly destroyed.

Missouri, the Hunter's Paradise.

MISSOURI cannot do very much in the way of either breeding ducks and other waterfowl or in establishing sanctuaries because we are too far South for breeding and have no suitable waters for refuges, consequently we must do our bit by confining our efforts to upland birds and animals. There is no state in the Union better adapted to the propagation of deer, turkey, quail and pheasants than Missouri. We have 14,000,000 acres of undeveloped and forest land in the State, 75 per cent of which is in the Ozark region, which, owing to the rocky hills, can be preserved for all time in a semiwild state, making a paradise for the hunter, provided we can only get a good start in the way of game propagation, and in educating the coming generation along the lines we are advocating.

There are several reasons why fishing has been good during the summer; first, the high water from the two large rivers, Mississippi and Missouri, caused thousands of fish to ascend the smaller streams, and a big percentage remained there to spawn. Another reason is that this same high water kept the fishermen at home during the spring months. Still another reason is that the cool weather allowed the fish to scatter out instead of seeking the cool deep pools as they generally do in the hot months of July and August. Again, we are just beginning to reap the benefits of our extensive hatcheries, which have supplied fish for so many of our streams and ponds.

Engel-Mudd Wedding To Take Place Oct. 15

MISS KATHERINE TAYLOR ENGEL, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis A. Engel of 6252 Westminster place, has chosen Saturday, Oct. 15, for her marriage to Henry Hodgen Mudd, son of Mrs. Robert H. Mudd of 4601 McPherson avenue. The wedding will take place at Second Presbyterian Church at 8:30 o'clock in the evening and will be followed by a reception at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Engel.

Miss Engel attended Mary Institute and was graduated from the Knox School at Cooperstown, N. Y., and Vassar College. She made her debut with her sister, Miss Lois Engel, two seasons ago. Mr. Mudd is an alumnus of the University of Michigan and a member of the University Club.

The marriage of Miss Margaret Morris Yeomans, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Seabury Yeomans of Kansas City, to William Randolph Compton Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. William Randolph Compton of 18 Kingsbury place, will take place Tuesday evening, Oct. 8, at 8:30 o'clock in the Christian Church. A reception at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Yeomans, 6155 Overhill road, will follow.

Miss Yeomans will have as her matron of honor her sister, Mrs. Collins of Kansas City. Other attendants will include Mrs. Palmer Clarkson of St. Louis and Mrs. Simpson Yeomans of Kansas City. Mr. Compton will have as his best man his brother, Randolph P. Compton of Scarsdale, N. Y. The ushers and groomsmen will be Eugene W. Sloan, J. Turner Clarkson, Lynn Schroeder, John J. Johns, Willis Wilmot of New Orleans and William K. Gardner. Miss Yeomans, accompanied by her father, spent a few days in St. Louis while en route home from a trip to Chicago. She will be the guest of Mrs. Palmer Clarkson next month for several days, arriving here about Sept. 15.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Humphrey Semple of the McKnight road, who planned to present their daughter, Miss Anne Farrar Semple, formally to society at a dinner dance at the St. Louis Country Club the evening of Oct. 1, have changed their plans and will give her coming out party later in the season.

Miss Charlotte Nelson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Nelson, who will make her debut at a reception, followed by a dinner dance, at the St. Louis Woman's Club, Oct. 15, will be the guest of honor at a dinner dance which her parents will give for her the evening of Tuesday, Nov. 15, in the Tower Room of the Congress Hotel.

The annual costume ball at the Farragut House Rye Beach, N. H., this week was one of the outstanding events of the season. The elaborate decorations presented a kaleidoscope of color. The judges included Mrs. Breckenridge Jones, Mrs. Charles Wiggins and Mrs. Ewing Hill, all of St. Louis.

Among St. Louisans At the Lake Resorts

Activities at Michigan and Wisconsin Vacation Centers Include Tennis, Golf and Social Events.

HARBOR POINT, Mich., Aug. 27.

THE social season is at its height on Harbor Point and the many St. Louisans there are arranging for their last brilliant affairs before the summer reaches a climax and the exodus to the cities begins. But with such events as the Annual Regatta Ball of the Little Traverse Yacht Club still in the offing there are still many of the season's most important events to come. Sixty-one tables will be set in the Casino for the guests at the Regatta Ball. The amosphere of an oceanside cabaret will pervade as the evening is opened by quaint sailor hornpipes and quadrilles. Miniature sailboats will hang from the arched roof of the casino while halyard ropes streak down to the floor where huge anchors and sailing equipment remind one of the deck of a yacht.

Next Saturday at the dinner hour the members of the racing fleet of the Little Traverse Yacht Club will meet at the Harbor Point clubhouse for their annual banquet.

One of the most colorful affairs of the season at Harbor Point was the recent bridge-luncheon given by Mrs. H. E. Woodward in the dining room and parlors of the Point clubhouse. The entire room was banked with flowers, one of the most elaborate floral arrangements the Point has witnessed. After the luncheon a bridge party lasted until late afternoon. Many members of prominent St. Louis families at the Point were present.

A. L. Shapleigh's president's clup matches are over and the cups have been awarded. St. Louisans failed to capture all the awards by a very narrow margin. Elliot King Ludington won the men's trophy by defeating his opponents through four days of matched play. A slight upset altered the expectations of the gallery when Mrs. T. K. Neidringhaus, favorite in the women's bracket, was defeated by Mrs. Josef Finn of Detroit in the final round of play. Mrs. Neidringhaus won the runner-up trophy.

A novel outcome of the tennis tournament at the Point has been causing much comment among the St. Louisans. There were three classes of men's play and in one St. Louis family there are today three champions, title-holders in each of the classes. Frederick Schlafly holds the older boys' title, Daniel Schlafly the 12-13-14-year-old class title, and Robert Schlafly is the undisputed victor in the clay courts for boys under 12.

The second charity event of the season at Harbor Point is being sponsored by Mrs. D. I. Meier. A bridge party has been planned by Mrs. Meier in the parlors of the Harbor Point clubhouse.

Mrs. J. F. Schlafly gave a bridge luncheon at her cottage last Wednesday which was attended by many St. Louis women at the Point.

Douglas Danforth and Henry Richards were at the Point clubhouse Aug. 17.

Mrs. Asa Wallace, Mrs. Clarence King, and Mrs. Cecil Gregg of St. Louis, who are spending the summer at Charlevoix, visited at Harbor Point last week.

The children's fancy dress masque ball took place at the Casino last Saturday night. Hundreds of children from the cottages and clubhouse were in the grand march, which was one of the prettiest sights seen at the Point this summer. A distinguished gallery stood on the verandas of the casino and watched the young George Washingtons and Lady Marthas at their annual party.

The annual Gymkhana of the Little Traverse Bay Riding Academy will be one of the big events next week. In the program arranged by the academy a number of St. Louisans are listed. Miss Eleanor Schlafly will compete with five other entries for the title of "Blue Ribbon Girl Rider." In class four, Arthur Hilmer will seek the "Blue Ribbon Boy Rider" award, which is the aim of six other entries in the class. Mr. Hilmer is summering at Wequetonsing. In class five, Miss Cornelia Ranney of Wequetonsing is seeking the honors, while her older sister, Miss Dorothy, is entered in the "musical ride" with 25 others. Frederick and Robert Schlafly are entered in the seventh class. Miss Mary Jane Bell is in class eight, for girls between the ages of 11 and 14. The Gymkhana will take place on the paddock above the bayou.

of which is to be spent in Scotland.

BEVERLY, Mass., Aug. 27.—Swiftly swinging towards its apex, the North Shore season, just now at its late August best, is proving alluring to St. Louis sojourners on the Massachusetts coast. Glories of the gardens which brighten the sea and shore lines have been on show this week at exhibitions held at Swampscott, Nahant, Manchester and Gloucester.

Garden parties continue in favor and for the most part these are for the aid of some worthy organization. Hotel life has been gay with dances and concerts on the afternoon and evening programs, while in the artists' colonies, especially at Gloucester and at Marblehead, the exhibits have proved attractive. The Gloucester Society of Artists had its annual Fakir's costume ball last night and next week one of the features of the Rockport "Artists' Week" will be a costume ball Monday evening. The country clubs, especially Myopia, Essex County and Montserrat, have as usual been busy with their golf and tennis attractions, and the yacht clubs at Marblehead continued to be centers of interest for their race and social programs.

Mrs. H. W. Davis of St. Louis has been visiting friends in the North Shore colonies.

Mrs. Thomas S. Blumer has returned to her Manchester home after a visit at Rye Beach where she attended the wedding of Miss Alice Scott, daughter of Mrs. Henry Clarkson Scott of St. Louis, to Francis L. Gross, also of St. Louis. Mrs. Blumer, who is a sister of Mrs. Gross, was matron of honor at the ceremony, and two of her daughters, Miss Nancy and Miss Priscilla, together with little Miss Nancy Scott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Scott, were flower girls.

The Lambert E. Walthers of St. Louis have been on the North Shore for a late season sojourn at Marblehead.

A. R. Page and his son, Lawrence, and Miss Virginia Page of Kansas City have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Jones at their summer home at Eastern Point in the Gloucester district of the North Shore.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Sherwin of St. Louis have been enjoying a late August visit on the North Shore at East Gloucester.

Work is progressing on the new golf course at Magnolia, which promises to be one of the sportiest on the North Shore. Mrs. Samuel M. Kennard of St. Louis has joined the group of colonists who are sponsoring the project.

The Saturday night dinner at Del Monte's Rafe's Chasm casino was unusually gay with a large number of parties from the North Shore colonies. Mrs. Eugene A. Perry of New York came from Magnolia with a party of 20, including her mother, Mrs. Claude Kilpatrick, of St. Louis.

Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Sherwin of St. Louis are late arrivals at the Rockaway, East Gloucester.

Mrs. W. F. Clarkson, Miss Susan McMahon and Miss Eileen McMahon of St. Louis are guests at Merrill Hall, East Gloucester.

Mr. and Mrs. Eben Richards of Tuxedo Park, who formerly spent their summers at the North Shore, are making their annual visit to their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Stuart B. Kaiser of New York, at Pride's Crossing, where they are occupying the cottage of the late Henry Clay Pierce of St. Louis, Mrs. Richard's father.

Mrs. Wallace Renard of St. Louis, a guest at the Poland Spring House, Poland Spring, Me., and Mrs. Helen Larssen of Boston, were the runners-up in the women's doubles tennis championship held Thursday on the hotel courts. The score in the finals was 6—3, 6—4.

The annual schooner race of the Bar Harbor Yacht Club was held Tuesday after being postponed on account of fog. Dr. Seth M. Milliken of New York, was the winner for the third consecutive year, and thus gains permanent possession of the Mount Desert Island Trophy presented by Vice-Commodore Joseph Pulitzer. Dave H. Morris' new yacht won second place and Joseph Pulitzer's "Discoverer" came across the line in fourth place.

Mr. George Tiffany of St. Louis, whose summer home is at Islesboro, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Pulitzer at Chatwold, Bar Harbor, coming from New York with Mr. Pulitzer on the "Discoverer."

At a dance given at the Islesboro Casino during the week the trophies won in the recent cruise of the yacht club were awarded by former Commodore Dr. Maitland Alexander. Each young skipper was given liberal applause by his friends upon receiving his cup. Nicholas Tiffany, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Tiffany of St. Louis, was the winner of two cups, having carried off the honors in two 17-foot races.

RYE BEACH, N. H., August 27.—The summer season is fast waning and many of the summer residents are returning to their homes. Among those to entertain this week at the Beach Club was Mrs. Richard F. Kennard of St. Louis, who gave a dinner for 50 guests. A dance followed at the Abenaqui Golf Club.

Sixty guests attended the lawn part given this week by Mr. and Mrs. George L. Allen of St. Louis, and Mrs. Richard Hawkins of Pittsburg, Pa., formerly of St. Louis, was hostess at a large tea.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Herndon Smith and Mr. and Mrs. John H. Shepley of St. Louis are late arrivals at the Stoneleigh Manor.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederic Gooding of Cambridge, Mass., also entertained this week. Mrs. Gooding formerly was Miss Josephine Papin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. V. Papin of St. Louis.

A number of St. Louisans attended the tea given Wednesday afternoon by Mrs. Huntley N. Spaulding, wife of Gov. Spaulding of New Hampshire. Mrs. Alvan T. Fuller, wife of Gov. Fuller of Massachusetts, who has a summer home at Little Boarshead nearby, and Mrs. George H. Moses, wife of United States Senator Moses, were among those present.

Mrs. William Frost of St. Louis is stopping at the Harding cottage at Newcastle.

Among St. Louisans At the Lake Resorts

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence King of St. Louis are guests at Harbor Point.

G. Gauneau Weld of St. Louis and his family are now at the Point.

WEQUETONSING, Mich., Aug. 27.—Mrs. Minerva E. Carr will leave the Wequetonsing Hotel next week. Mrs. Carr has been here all summer.

Mrs. William Barnett gave a dinner party for 75 friends. A dance in masque and fancy dress followed. A number of prominent St. Louisans were among Mrs. Barnett's guests. The party was one of the most brilliant given at Wequetonsing this summer.

Mr. Henry J. Butler and sister, Jane Butler, of 5534 Bartmer avenue, arrived at the Everett last Friday to spend a week with their mother, Mrs. H. S. Butler.

H. M. Patton and Leonard C. Martin of Webster Groves, Mo., are spending a few days with their families at the Everett, Eagle River.

E. H. Thurston arrived at the Everett last Sunday, to be present for the annual regatta which was held that day. Mr. Thurston's son, Myles, drove his boat, "Sun Ray," in the race, making third place in his division.

The annual regatta of the Eagle Waters Boat Club was held last Sunday at the Everett and was attended by people from all the surrounding country. There were two large division races, winners of the first division being as follows: W. C. Olson's "Roland," first with a time of 18:56 2-5 minutes; P. J. Schaeffer's "P. J.," second with a time of 23.41 2-5 minutes; Stuart M. Butler's "Take Your Time," third with a time of 20.54 minutes. The course is 2.71 miles long and there were five laps for each race. The second division race winners were as follows: H. Tyson's "Howdy," first; L. C. Harbison's "Betty H." second; and E. A. Everett's "I Don't Care," third. There were also outboard motor races of one lap each. A. H. Handlan Jr., R. P. Atwood and W. Dowdall of St. Louis were judges. A. H. Handlan Sr., was head timer.

Mrs. Ralph Bixby and son are planning to return to St. Louis shortly.

A. H. Handlan won the second putting prize in the golf tournament held at Eagle Waters Golf Club with a total of 32 putts to his credit.

CHARLEVOIX, Mich., Aug. 27.—The Annual Masquerade Ball at the Belvedere casino last Saturday night was the outstanding event of the social season here. More than 200 guests at the local colony, along with many people from the Chicago Club, across Pine River, Wequetonsing and Harbor Point made the affair a gesture of the entire resort district. The masquerade was a benefit for the new golf course and club opened this year.

The scene was highly colorful with two orchestras, one from the Harbor Point casino, combined with the local music, keeping a continuous program going. Every manner of costume from a weird Hindu fakir to a patient dressed for the operating table flashed about the floor. The young folk from the Chicago Club were garbed in the manner of a Sing Sing ball-and-chain gang as they kept their lockstep throughout the grand march.

A number of dinner parties among both the old and younger sets added to the evening. Most of the younger group met at the beautiful W. N. Bemis cottage where Miss Dorothy Bemis was hostess to 25 friends. This group went directly to the ball, after which they met at the Thorman Country Club.

Mrs. George Tramel of Chicago entertained the young married people at the colony at a dinner party at her cottage, among them a great many St. Louisans. The other party was given by Mrs. George Schwab of Nashville, Tenn.

Mr. and Mrs. Roland Knight recently arrived in Wequetonsing for a late summer visit.

Mrs. Eugene B. Stinde gave a dinner party last night at Koch's Colonial Club.

The exodus back home has begun to take its first toll here. Among those soon to depart from the colony are the Curbys and the Paul B. Jamiesons. They leave next week.

A house party at the R. Vernon Clark cottage given by Miss Elizabeth Clark has been the center of activity here for the past week. Among her guests are Miss Florence Ludington, Miss Katherine Herndon Smith, Boyd Ware, James Howe, and William Weld. Miss Katherine Smith was recently the guest of Miss Dorothy Moorehead at the Moorehead cottage here. William Weld is over from Harbor Point where his brother, Garneau Weld is occupying a cottage.

This week has been perhaps the most active at the colony this summer. On Tuesday night Miss Ruth Curby gave a dinner party at the Josephine Scullin tea room. Later a group of 25 young people drove out to the Belvedere Golf Club for the regular Tuesday nigh party.

Lesser Goldman is entertaining a group of friends from the Belvedere colony aboard his palatial yacht, "Bess," tonight. Mr. Goldman will carry the group out to Goldman's Point on the shores of picturesque Pine Lake, where the log villa of Alvin T. Goldman will be the scene of a dinner party with Mrs. Whelpley to Entertain.

The former presidents of the American Pharmaceutical Association will be guests of Mrs. H. M. Whelpley at a dinner at the Coronado Hotel Thursday evening. Although the number present will constitute a small proportion of the 75 presidents, it will be a large proportion of those now living as there will be only four absentees.

Twenty-five years ago when the association celebrated its golden jubilee the late Dr. Whelpley was its president and it is at his invitation that they are meeting here this year. Dr. Whelpley attended 42 consecutive meetings during which time he held various offices, being treasurer for 13 years.

110 Boys End Camp Season

CAMP MINNE WONKA, Three Lakes, Wis., Aug. 28.—The sixteenth season of Camp Minne Wonka ended last Wednesday when 110 boys and counsellors departed for their homes.

The last week of camp was crowded with activities, final meets, championship tournaments and ball games. St. Louis youths had prominent parts in various events. Clark Butler, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Butler of 18 Parkland place, won the senior tennis championship. In the final rifle tournament Fred Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Davis of 5149 Westminster place, again proved to be the best shot in camp.

Joseph Muckerman, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Muckerman of 5 Southmoor, and Charles Erker, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Erker of 7008 Forsythe avenue, were awarded the camp "M" for being the best shots in the senior and junior divisions respectively. Among the boys who were awarded the sharpshooter's medal by the National Rifle Association were: Warren Brown, Fred Davis, Joseph Muckerman, Charles Erker, William Cramer, Elliot Betts, John Davis and Allan Adams. Leo Fink, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Fink of 17 Parkland place, was awarded the Marksman medal.

The final model sailboat regatta was the climax of one of the most interesting projects ever sponsored by Camp Minne Wonka. Forty-two boys made their boats during the summer and all but three were completed for the regatta.

The annual farewell banquet was held Wednesday night just before train time, at which the Honor Trophy was awarded. The Honor Trophy is the highest honor the camp has to bestow and was awarded this year to Pierre Grace, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Grace of Webster Groves.

Among recent visitors at camp were ex-Senator and Mrs. X. P. Wilfley of Westminster place. Mr. and Mrs. Branch Rickey also visited the camp on Wednesday with their son and daughter. Dr. and Mrs. H. W. Lyman of St. Louis and their daughter, Elizabeth, stopped in to see their son, Edward, who is a junior at the camp. Mr. and Mrs. J. G. T. Spink of Polo Drive visited the camp for a few days to see their son, Johnston.

Among the 65 boys arriving in St. Louis Thursday from Three Lakes, Wis., were the following St. Louis boys: Charles and William Allen, sons of Mr. and Mrs. C. Allen of 4238 Westminster place; Jack Baur, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Baur, 4025 Magnolia avenue; Warren Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Brown of 3968 Utah place; Jack and William Cramer, sons of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Cramer, 7100 Lindell boulevard; Tom DePew, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. DePew, 6242 Waterman avenue; George Dyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. George L. Dyer, 4443 Pine boulevard; Leo Fink, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Fink, 17 Parkland place; Norbert Harms, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Harms, 7108 Lindell boulevard; Edward Lyman, son of Dr. and Mrs. H. W. Lyman, 5657 Vernon avenue; Hiram and Robert Martin, sons of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Martin, 5911 Pershing avenue; Walter Neun, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. G. Neun, of 5915 Clemens avenue; Louis and Henry Putzel, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Christian Peper, 6955 Waterman avenue; Ben Reese, son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin H. Reese, Senate apartments; O'Neil Rombauer, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Rombauer, 2630 Tennessee avenue; Walter Schmieder, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Schmieder, 68 Aberdeen place; Edward Tobey, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Tobey, 7068 Maryland avenue; Edward and Jack Pape, sons of Mrs. Walter Haeussler, Gatesworth Hotel; Miltenberger Cain, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Cain, 4484 West Pine boulevard, and Edgar Carson, son of Dr. and Mrs. E. M. Carson, 7166 Pershing avenue.

Camp Minne Wonka is owned and directed by Dr. F. H. Ewerhardt, 5204 Kensington avenue, of the Barnes Hospital staff.

Announcements of Recent Weddings And Engagements

Mr. and Mrs. Stanton Curtis of 406 Clara avenue announce the marriage of their daughter, Dorothy McKay, to Robert A. Learnard, son of Mrs. S. S. Curry of Danville, Ill. The wedding took place at Danville Friday. The bride attended Washington University and Mr. Learnard is an alumnus of Washington University.

The marriage of Miss Dorothy Berninghaus, daughter of Oscar Berninghaus of Taos, N. M., and St. Louis, to John Peter Brandenburg, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Brandenburg of Norman, Ok., took place yesterday noon at the home of Dr. Reiter of Santa Fe, N. M., who officiated at the ceremony. The only guests were immediate members of the families.

The bride, who was unattended, wore a traveling frock of queen's blue crepe, trimmed with lighter blue crepe that matched her close fitting hat. She attended at Washington University where she was a member of Delta Gamma Sorority, and has served as a maid at the Veiled Prophet ball several seasons. She has been popular since her debut a few years ago.

Mr. Brandenburg is a graduate of the University of Oklahoma where he was a member of Phi Delta Theta. He and his bride departed immediately after the ceremony for California, where they will spend six weeks motoring up the Pacific Coast. They will go to their home at Norman, Ok., when they return from their western trip. In November they will come to St. Louis to attend the wedding of Miss Arline Lecoutour and Charles Briner.

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Arthur Schneff, son of Mrs. Clara Schneff of 5897 Washington avenue, and Miss Charlotte Nadler of Birmingham, Ala., Aug. 15.

Mr. Schneff and his bride will make their home in New York. She attended Columbia University and the Damrosch College of Music. Mr. Schneff attended Leland Stanford University and was graduated from Washington University. He has been connected with the Post-Dispatch for several years. Among the guests at the wedding were the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Clara Schneff, his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Grand, and his aunt, Miss A. Gisella, all of St. Louis.

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Miss Marie Huber of 1901 Virginia avenue and Stephen A. Walters of 668 Amelia avenue, Webster Groves, at Alton August 24. Mr. Walters and his bride are making a tour of the West.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Mazur of Chicago have announced the engagement of their daughter, Edith, to Jack Mayer, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Mayer of 6228 Fauquier drive.

The marriage of Miss Mabel Flinn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Flinn of 5866 Etzel avenue, and Adolf Klapprodt of Detroit took place yesterday morning at 10:30 o'clock at the Cabanne Methodist Church. The Rev. Raymond B. Kimbrell officiated. The ceremony was followed by a reception at the home of the bride's parents.

The bridesmaids were Miss Clara Klapprodt of Amboy, Ill., a sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Vera Flinn, a sister of the bride. Helen Brookes Flinn, young niece of the bride, was flower girl. Glenn McCracken of Chicago was best man and Dr. Charles Brady of Joliet, Ill., was groomsman. Mr. Klapprodt and his bride will be at home at Detroit after September 15.

The marriage of Miss Lydie Cherry, daughter of Mrs. Rose Cherry of 751 Interdrive, to Sol M. Rose of Portland, Ore., will take place Thursday evening. A reception will be held at the home of the bride's mother.

The engagement of Miss Louisiana Hurlburt of 3834 Delmar boulevard and Marvin R. Fischer of Fayette was announced yesterday

Summer Spoiled Skin Removed by Absorption

Because summer exposure leaves an undesirable surface of tan, redness, roughness and freckles, the sensible remedy is to peel off the entire surface. For this purpose is nothing better than pure mercolized wax, which actually absorbs an ugly complexion. In just a few days the thin outer layer of skin is removed, gently, gradually, but surely, without inconvenience or detention indoors. Get an ounce at any drug store, use as directed. In a few days the under skin blooms forth a marvel of spotless purity and beautiful whiteness. Mercolized wax brings out the hidden beauty.

Court Decides What Are Pearls.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, Aug. 27.—"What are pearls?" has been decided in favor of the oyster by the French courts. The case was a test brought by defenders of the Japanese "cultivated" pearl. These also are grown in oysters and so they are not "false," the Court said, but they are not "real" or "natural." The Court ruled that they must be designated as "cultivated" or given some equivalent description. This ruling, long awaited by jewel experts, was decided on appeal. A recent jewel experts' congress, representing 13 countries, decided the French court's verdict would be accepted as a trade rule.

Decrease in German Births.

BERLIN, Aug. 27.—The German stork is working shorter hours, judging from the Reich's vital statistics for 1926, just issued. Marriages numbered 482,937 which is about the normal figure, but the birth rate has reached another low record by a further decline of 1.2 per thousand compared with the previous year. The surplus of births over deaths has decreased 11.4 per cent since 1925. Births have decreased conspicuously in Mecklenburg, East Prussia and Pomerania.

Tent Daughters Plan Activities.

The Mary Lavinia Joel Tent Daughters of Union Veterans, of which Mrs. Martin Carlson is president, is planning its year's program. A benefit bridge for the flag fund will be held in the church of Redeemer Hall, Webster Groves, Oct. 5, and a recital will be given in the ball room of the Chase, Armistice day, by Mrs. Donald MacDonald.

Cow East Five Geese.

BERLIN, Aug. 27.—The village of Staffelstein, near Bremen, has a cannibal among its cows, according to the Weser Zeitung. This cow discovered a crate of geese standing before the barn, ready for shipment. She dropped the hay she was chewing, edged her way up to the crate and leisurely munched five geese before the farmer discovered what was happening.

Grill Room in Paris Dress Shop.

PARIS, Aug. 27.—A wholesale dressmaking house has added a refreshment bar and buffet to its establishment. Fatigued buyers may nourish and sustain themselves without quitting the premises and possibly falling into the hands of competitors. Not only soft drinks but cocktails and "hard liquor" are available. A small grill room is run with the bar. American buyers are particularly enthusiastic in their approval of the innovation.

Dogs Attend London Weddings.

LONDON, Aug. 27.—Dogs are now part of the up-to-date Mayfair bride's equipment for the altar. Mrs. Quintin Dick and Lord Howe dispensed with most of the "fixtures and trappings" of the society wedding when they were married at St. Mark's, and also dispensed with the usual honeymoon trip. There was no reception. The bride, however, followed the recent fashion of bringing her dog along, in this instance, a Labrador.

Last Days of Our Semi-Annual Sale

Just a few days remain in which to make furniture selections at substantial savings. Further suites and odd pieces have been put on our floors for these last days and additional "markdowns" have been made—in many cases reductions range from ONE-THIRD to ONE-HALF!

Every homemaker should anticipate their furniture needs now, as the important savings will justify purchasing for future requirements. BUT REMEMBER, ALL REDUCED PRICE TAGS WILL BE REMOVED AFTER THIS SALE.

CONQUER YOUR NERVES

—Or Your Nerves Will Conquer You

Nerves! Nerves! Nerves! We hear and see it everywhere today! Only a few people can escape this enemy of health, youth and happiness!

It is not surprising that the toll of nervousness is so great, for the mile-a-minute life of today is enough to break down the strongest constitution. If only a few of the symptoms of nerve exhaustion attack you—nervous indigestion, restlessness, "that tired feeling" and the mental symptoms: fear, self-consciousness, irritability—your life becomes dull and uninspiring—for to be nervous is to be but half alive. Tonics and physical exercises alone can be of little avail in correcting nerve troubles. The cure lies only in a sound and thorough understanding of the functioning of the nerves, and more especially, knowledge of your own nervous characteristics and weaknesses.

If you are one of the unfortunate many who has sought relief in vain, you will find it in the pages of "NERVE FORCE," a book dealing with every phase of nerve troubles and their correction, and written by an authority who has devoted his whole life to the study and advancement of this science—Paul von Boeckmann.

Send for the book today. It will be a revelation to you and will teach you for the first time how to master your nerves and avoid future "slipping." Your money refunded if you are not fully satisfied.

Eyes Injured by Heat and Glare of Sun, Say Doctors

Recommend Simple Home Treatment, Which Instantly Relieves Irritation and Often Strengthens Eyes 50% in One Week.

Eye weakness, strain, squinting and irritation caused by exposure to heat, sun-glare, smoke, dust or wind—all can now be easily prevented or overcome. For eye specialists have perfected a simple but amazingly effective treatment, which instantly relieves all discomfort, sharpens vision and often makes glasses unnecessary.

This treatment is known as the Bon-Opto system, and is now being prescribed by physicians and specialists everywhere. It is based on the latest scientific discoveries. Scientists have recently found that 90% of all eye trouble is due to weakness in certain little muscles which adjust the eye. Eyeglasses alone will not strengthen these muscles, but the Bon-Opto treatment goes direct to them, heals and tonics them and soon restores them—and therefore the eyes—to their old-time strength and vigor.

Don't neglect your eyes. The burning and aching felt after an auto trip, a movie, close work, are important danger signals. Yet every irritation and discomfort can usually be instantly banished by a Bon-Opto eyebath, and more serious trouble prevented

Bon-Opto should be in every home. You would not think of doing without brushing your teeth. Yet your teeth are far less important than your eyes.

Get a package of Bon-Opto today. Results are positively guaranteed. Your money back without question if you are not delighted and amazed with the improvement in your eyes and sight. Bon-Opto is sold by good druggists everywhere, including Walgreen Drug Co., Wolff-Wilson Drug Stores and Enderle Drug Co.

Foods Deliciously Broiled

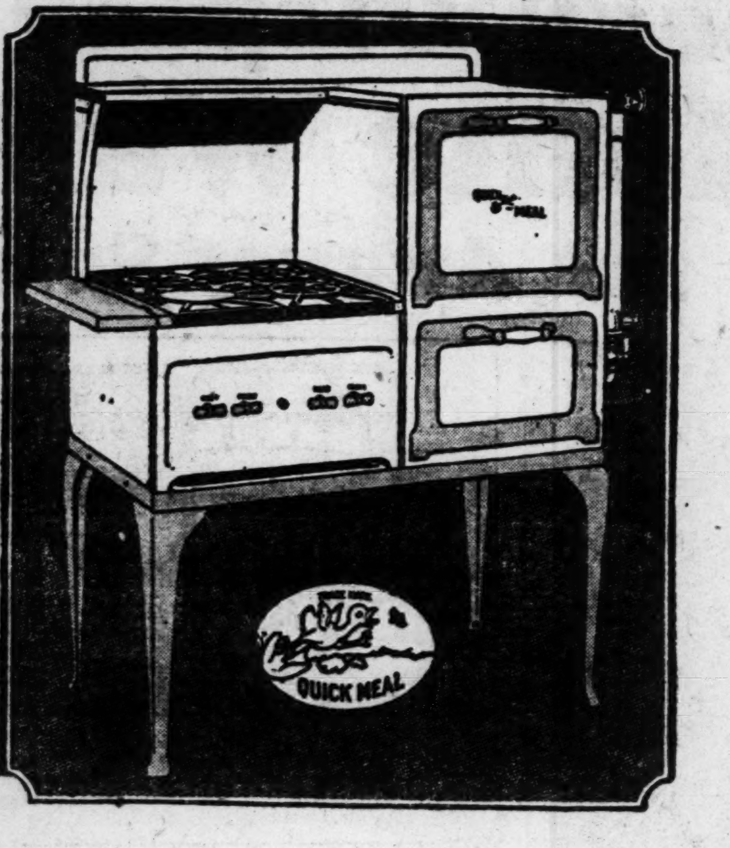
in this New Quick Meal Gas Range with Red Wheel Lorain Regulator



YOU have noticed, of course, how much more juicy are meats broiled before or over an open fire. It is more than the picnic spirit that makes barbecued meats taste better. ❦ ❦ Direct rays of heat such as those from an open fire, called radiant heat, penetrate more readily, dry and scorch the surface less, and prevent the escape of wholesome meat juices.

The Quick Meal Radiant Broiler is based on this principle. It is made of fire clay sections. When the oven burner is lighted these instantly become white hot, giving off direct radiation at the almost unbelievable temperature of 2000 degrees. ❦ ❦ Bread can be toasted in this heat—starting with a cold broiler—in a minute's time, and after the burner is hot, toasting takes but a few seconds, deliciously done, crisp and soft. Meats, fish, and fowl are also quickly and tastily broiled, retaining all their fine flavors and juices. Broiled steaks—so tender and soft that you can cut them with a fork!

This Stove approved by the American Gas Association Research Laboratory.

Miss Edna Morrison Tells How Cuticura Healed Her Mother

"Eczema broke out on my mother's fingers in little pimples that filled with water. Later the pimples broke and then festered. It itched and burned causing her to scratch, many times waking her up in the night. The fifth winter it got so bad that she could neither open nor shut her hands, and it spread nearly to her wrists. When she put her hands in water it hurt, and it was hard for her to do her work.

"A neighbor recommended Cuticura Soap and Ointment so she purchased some, and in about a month she was healed." (Signed) Miss Edna Morrison, R. 1, Box 62, Sparksville, Ind., Feb. 1, 1927.

Use Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Talcum to promote and maintain skin purity, skin comfort and skin health; the Soap to cleanse and purify, Ointment to soothe and heal and Talcum to powder and refresh.

Soap 25c. Ointment 25 and 50c. Talcum 25c. Sold everywhere. Sample each free. Address: "Cuticura Laboratories, Dept. K, Malden, Mass." [illegible] Cuticura Shaving Stick 25c.

Multiplies Beauty!

"Here's a lesson I've learned in beauty arithmetic," says pretty Miss Rose Edge, of Brooklyn, New York. "Some face powder really subtracts from beauty by appearing like something added or artificial; but the flattering Black and White Face Powder multiplies charm by lending its own exquisite texture and tints to any skin it touches. It blends as the part of my complexion, and its soft fluffiness prevents its being ground into my skin and causing large pores."

This flower-fragrant face powder is deservedly popular among the other high-quality Black and White Beauty Creations such as Cleansing Cream, Cold Cream, Beauty Bleach and Peroxide (Vanishing) Cream. Each one fills a definite complexion need and infinitely multiplies your beauty. You can get them from the better dealers everywhere at the low, popular 25c and 50c prices.

Best results come from using Black and White Skin Soap with the other Black and White Beauty Creations.

GOOD FISHING POINTS CLOSE TO ST. LOUIS

Joachim River Reported Best—Others Are Femme Osage and Cuivre Rivers.

There are few points within a 50-mile radius of St. Louis which offer the combined opportunities of a pleasant one day's outing and fishing.

Most places popular a few years ago have been fished out, others are unaccessible because of rough roads. There are about five places which have been reported as satisfactory.

Joachim River Best.

The Joachim River, within the 50-mile radius of St. Louis, in the opinion of the writer, is the best of a number within this area. Benson's Mill on the Joachim—42 miles distance—is weekly visited by motorists in quest of a day's outing with the possibility of fishing. Here the "pole-and-line" fisherman can in his class be as successful as the experienced fly and bait angler. To get there concrete U. S. 61 is followed to Festus—38 miles beyond St. Louis—and from this point Hematite, where Benson's Mill is located, is but six miles distance, easily accessible over old State Highway No. 9.

North of St. Louis is the Cuivre River at Moscow Mills—40 miles north of St. Louis on U. S. 61—ideal for the fisherman on a day's outing. This river was well stocked early this year by backwater of the Mississippi. To reach it from St. Louis one follows U. S. 40 through St. Charles and at Wentzville U. S. 61 is taken north to Moscow Mills.

Try the Femme Osage.

In the same vicinity is the Femme Osage, best accessible two miles beyond Hamburg on the old Daniel Boone Trail. This place is but 22 miles from St. Louis. U. S. 40 is followed through St. Charles to two miles beyond this point where is the junction of U. S. 40 and Boone Trail. The trail is macadam and follows closely the bluffs of the Missouri River.

HIGHWAY ATLASES, STATE ROAD AND VICINITY MAPS READY AT POST-DISPATCH

Atlases of the Eastern and Western sections of the United States, individual road maps of the states, and a map of St. Louis and vicinity, are available at the Post-Dispatch Resort and Travel Bureau, first floor, Post-Dispatch Building, Twelfth and Olive streets.

The atlases are 50 cents each, or 66 cents by first class mail. The Eastern States atlas includes the Eastern provinces of Canada and Missouri. The Western atlas includes Illinois, Kentucky and Tennessee.

The State road maps are 10 cents each, or 12 cents by first-class mail.

The maps of St. Louis and vicinity show all roads, lakes and streams within a 50-mile radius of St. Louis and are 20 cents each, or 24 cents by first-class mail.

GRAVEL ROAD TO LEASBURG TO BE OPEN LABOR DAY

The new 2.1 miles gravel road from concrete U. S. 66 to Leasburg Mo, which is being constructed over a new right-of-way recently plotted by the State Highway Department, will probably be open to traffic on or several days before Labor Day, September 5, according to George Ridgway, assistant divisional engineer at Webster Groves. The new road will eliminate the old Leasburg road which merges with U. S. 66 two miles beyond Bourbon. This road is virtually always rough and after rain is impassable.

Aside from its use by people of Leasburg, the road is principally used by tourists en route to Onondaga Cave, five miles beyond that point.

HIGHWAYS AS FINE AS SCENERY IN VIRGINIA

Tour Through "Old Dominion" State Has Historic Interest in Every Mile.

By RICHARD G. BAUMHOFF.

"Carry me back to ol' Virginny". . .

These familiar words take on new meaning for the motorist who turns his wheels into the Old Dominion. His voice may assume real feeling when he sings to be carried back to Virginia. Skidamaree, gypsy car of the Post-Dispatch, in the course of a long journey, slipped across this colonial State over 370 miles of well-nigh perfect highway, through a smiling, sparkling, lovely country, where are the comforts of modern hotels and the fascination of a region whose history is of the oldest of any American state.

Easily Reached From St. Louis.

There are fine highways throughout Virginia, and at every hand the tourist encounters scenes and spots of interest, but this account will be confined to a trip, which closely paralleled the western border, from Bristol, Tenn.-Va., through the Shenandoah Valley, to Harper's Ferry, W. Va., and on to Baltimore—83 miles in West Virginia and Maryland in addition to the 370 in Virginia.

Bristol is readily accessible from St. Louis over excellent roads, and through the attractive Cumberland Gap, Ky. That trip has been described in these columns. It may be augmented by a circle from Cumberland Gap to Knoxville, Tenn., through the Great Smoky Mountains to Asheville and then north to Bristol. At the other end, the whole northeastern quarter of the nation is open to the motorist, who may turn off readily for Washington, D. C., strike west for St. Louis on the National Highway, or go where his fancy pleases.

But the trip across Virginia is a never-to-be-forgotten pleasure, a pilgrim's progress on a King's highway. From Bristol to Roanoke, route No. 10 is followed from Roanoke to Winchester, No. 33, and for a little way beyond, No. 37; then West Virginia No. 50 and an unnumbered Maryland route via Frederick.

Mountains and Paved Roads.

All this distance, the pavement is smooth, mostly of an asphaltic type, like a park drive. Driving, physically, is entirely subordinated to the joy of the landscape and town. There was, when the writer made the journey last autumn, one detour, 19 miles long, across the Blue Ridge Mountains, immediately south of Roanoke. But construction was going on then and the new pavement is open now.

This section of the Blue Ridge is the wildest country encountered on the trip—real mountain stuff—but all the way through Virginia the highway follows a narrow valley averaging 2000 feet above sea level, in sight of the soft blue hills on either side. At the northern end, this valley is the basin of the storied Shenandoah River. The eastern tip of West Virginia is crossed on a plateau and the road twists over rugged mountains in Maryland for a way east of Harper's Ferry.

Three great national forests, supervised by the Department of Agriculture, lie on either side of the route, flanking the Shenandoah Valley. They are Natural Bridge Forest, a little east of highway No. 33, between Roanoke and Staunton; Shenandoah Forest, on either side of the highway, from the famous grotto region north almost to Winchester, and, not far west, Monongahela Forest, in West Virginia.

These are all in the Blue Ridge, whose loveliness and primitive charm would fill a book. Good roads penetrate them all, and fishing, swimming and horesback riding are among the sports.

Where History Was Made.

Northward from Roanoke it is the Lee Highway. All Virginia, perforce, breathes the epic of Gen. Robert E. Lee, but it is steeped, too, in the memories of English gentlemen adventurers, who named the land for their patron, Queen Elizabeth; of pioneers and their struggles with Indians; of revolutionary battles with the redcoats; of the development of the cavalier First Families of Virginia; of the ebb and flow of civil warfare, and then of a change from drowsy plantation ways to the motorized bustle of nowadays, punctuated by the khaki times of 1917-18.

Let us set out from Bristol, a business and college town spread on both sides of the Tennessee-Virginia line, early on a bright morning, with our speedometer set at 00.0.

For some distance the land is of a rocky sort, and there is about it an indefinable air of age, emanating perhaps from the old rural mansions, that contrast with many homes of recent construction but true colonial design.

The next town is Abingdon,

Two Century Old House a Feature of Virginia Motor Tour

"Chatham," a 200-year-old home near Fredericksburg, Va., which lies south of Washington, on the Richmond road. The house was built by William Fitzhurg two centuries ago. Washington and his bride visited there on their honeymoon. Under its trees, Robert E. Lee courted the girl who became his wife.

ILLINOIS PLANS FORTY FOOT SUPER-HIGHWAY

Expect New Kankakee-Chicago Route to Relieve Traffic Congestion.

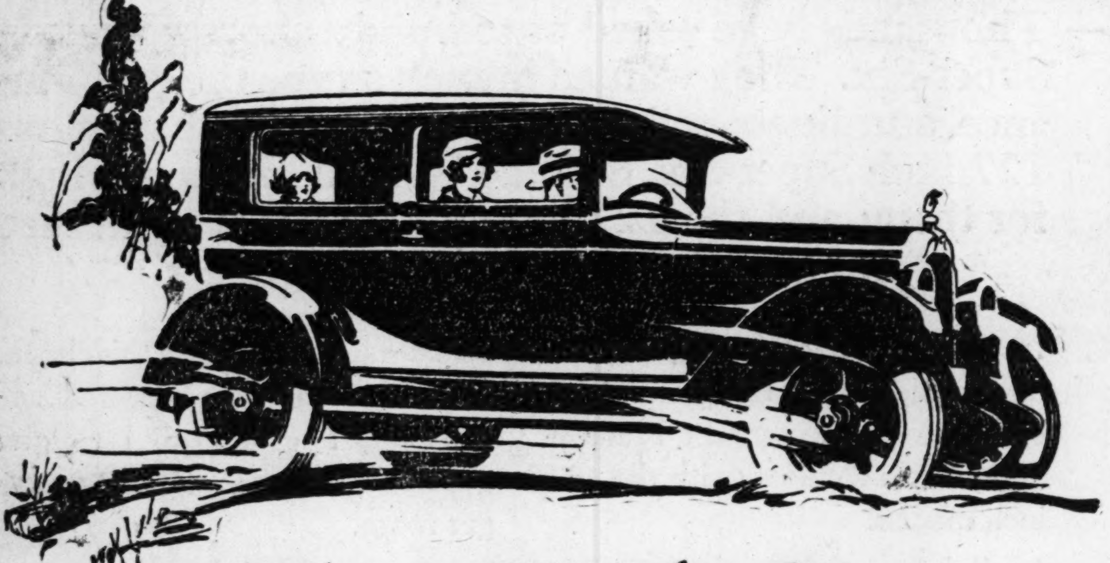
Special to the Post-Dispatch.

KANKEKEE, Ill., Aug. 27.—A proposed super-highway, 40 feet wide and running in a direct line from Kankakee to Chicago, a distance of 60 miles, planned to be constructed early next year, marks the beginning of a move in Illinois to relieve traffic congestion into Chicago from the south. The route is to be known as Illinois Highway 49 and is to be paid for out of the $100,000,000 Illinois road bond issue.

The board of supervisors of Kankakee county have assumed a disinterested attitude in regard to the new road. Thus far they have not even plotted the right-of-way for it, and as a result the exact date on which construction will begin is problematical. Recently, Governor Small went before the board and urged them to provide the necessary right-of-way immediately so that preliminaries could be expedited and delay in construction kept at a minimum.

The new route, which will begin at Kankakee, will closely follow the Illinois Central Railroad right-of-way through Monee, Peotone and Manteno.

With the construction of the road St. Louisans will be given an alternative route from Kankakee to Chicago when traveling over the St. Louis-Chicago route via Effingham and Champaign.



AFTER 1933 — EVERY AUTOMOBILE MANUFACTURER CAN BUILD KNIGHT-ENGINED CARS

Falcon-Knight Six
America's finest type of motor

The famous Knight sleeve-valve engine is recognized by automotive engineers as the finest type of automobile motor.

The new Falcon-Knight six-cylinder engine, with seven-bearing crankshaft, is designed and built to give a superior degree of performance that is always smooth and quiet. It has a flash of pickup and instant speed not generally found in other types of motors.

The fame of the Knight engine is built on its record of countless thousands of miles of service with freedom from carbon trouble and mechanical repair—known as "The motor that never wears out."

The Falcon-Knight chassis throughout is designed and constructed in keeping with the excellence of its motor.

Multiplies Beauty!

"Here's a lesson I've learned in beauty arithmetic," says pretty Miss Rose Edge, of Brooklyn, New York. "Some face powder really subtracts from beauty by appearing like something added or artificial; but the flattering Black and White Face Powder multiplies charm by lending its own exquisite texture and tints to any skin it touches. It blends as the part of my complexion, and its soft fluffiness prevents its being ground into my skin and causing large pores."

This flower-fragrant face powder is deservedly popular among the other high-quality Black and White Beauty Creations such as Cleansing Cream, Cold Cream, Beauty Bleach and Peroxide (Vanishing) Cream. Each one fills a definite complexion need and infinitely multiplies your beauty. You can get them from the better dealers everywhere at the low, popular 25c and 50c prices.

GRAVEL ROAD TO LEASBURG TO BE OPEN LABOR DAY

The new 2.1 miles gravel road from concrete U. S. 66 to Leasburg Mo, which is being constructed over a new right-of-way recently plotted by the State Highway Department, will probably be open to traffic on or several days before Labor Day, September 5, according to George Ridgway, assistant divisional engineer at Webster Groves. The new road will eliminate the old Leasburg road which merges with U. S. 66 two miles beyond Bourbon. This road is virtually always rough and after rain is impassable.

Aside from its use by people of Leasburg, the road is principally used by tourists en route to Onondaga Cave, five miles beyond that point.

HIGHWAYS AS FINE AS SCENERY IN VIRGINIA

Tour Through "Old Dominion" State Has Historic Interest in Every Mile.

By RICHARD G. BAUMHOFF.

"Carry me back to ol' Virginny". . .

These familiar words take on new meaning for the motorist who turns his wheels into the Old Dominion. His voice may assume real feeling when he sings to be carried back to Virginia. Skidamaree, gypsy car of the Post-Dispatch, in the course of a long journey, slipped across this colonial State over 370 miles of well-nigh perfect highway, through a smiling, sparkling, lovely country, where are the comforts of modern hotels and the fascination of a region whose history is of the oldest of any American state.

Easily Reached From St. Louis.

There are fine highways throughout Virginia, and at every hand the tourist encounters scenes and spots of interest, but this account will be confined to a trip, which closely paralleled the western border, from Bristol, Tenn.-Va., through the Shenandoah Valley, to Harper's Ferry, W. Va., and on to Baltimore—83 miles in West Virginia and Maryland in addition to the 370 in Virginia.

Bristol is readily accessible from St. Louis over excellent roads, and through the attractive Cumberland Gap, Ky. That trip has been described in these columns. It may be augmented by a circle from Cumberland Gap to Knoxville, Tenn., through the Great Smoky Mountains to Asheville and then north to Bristol. At the other end, the whole northeastern quarter of the nation is open to the motorist, who may turn off readily for Washington, D. C., strike west for St. Louis on the National Highway, or go where his fancy pleases.

But the trip across Virginia is a never-to-be-forgotten pleasure, a pilgrim's progress on a King's highway. From Bristol to Roanoke, route No. 10 is followed from Roanoke to Winchester, No. 33, and for a little way beyond, No. 37; then West Virginia No. 50 and an unnumbered Maryland route via Frederick.

Mountains and Paved Roads.

All this distance, the pavement is smooth, mostly of an asphaltic type, like a park drive. Driving, physically, is entirely subordinated to the joy of the landscape and town. There was, when the writer made the journey last autumn, one detour, 19 miles long, across the Blue Ridge Mountains, immediately south of Roanoke. But construction was going on then and the new pavement is open now.

This section of the Blue Ridge is the wildest country encountered on the trip—real mountain stuff—but all the way through Virginia the highway follows a narrow valley averaging 2000 feet above sea level, in sight of the soft blue hills on either side. At the northern end, this valley is the basin of the storied Shenandoah River. The eastern tip of West Virginia is crossed on a plateau and the road twists over rugged mountains in Maryland for a way east of Harper's Ferry.

Three great national forests, supervised by the Department of Agriculture, lie on either side of the route, flanking the Shenandoah Valley. They are Natural Bridge Forest, a little east of highway No. 33, between Roanoke and Staunton; Shenandoah Forest, on either side of the highway, from the famous grotto region north almost to Winchester, and, not far west, Monongahela Forest, in West Virginia.

These are all in the Blue Ridge, whose loveliness and primitive charm would fill a book. Good roads penetrate them all, and fishing, swimming and horesback riding are among the sports.

Where History Was Made.

Northward from Roanoke it is the Lee Highway. All Virginia, perforce, breathes the epic of Gen. Robert E. Lee, but it is steeped, too, in the memories of English gentlemen adventurers, who named the land for their patron, Queen Elizabeth; of pioneers and their struggles with Indians; of revolutionary battles with the redcoats; of the development of the cavalier First Families of Virginia; of the ebb and flow of civil warfare, and then of a change from drowsy plantation ways to the motorized bustle of nowadays, punctuated by the khaki times of 1917-18.

Let us set out from Bristol, a business and college town spread on both sides of the Tennessee-Virginia line, early on a bright morning, with our speedometer set at 00.0.

For some distance the land is of a rocky sort, and there is about it an indefinable air of age, emanating perhaps from the old rural mansions, that contrast with many homes of recent construction but true colonial design.

The next town is Abingdon,

Two Century Old House a Feature of Virginia Motor Tour

"Chatham," a 200-year-old home near Fredericksburg, Va., which lies south of Washington, on the Richmond road. The house was built by William Fitzhurg two centuries ago. Washington and his bride visited there on their honeymoon. Under its trees, Robert E. Lee courted the girl who became his wife.

ILLINOIS PLANS FORTY FOOT SUPER-HIGHWAY

Expect New Kankakee-Chicago Route to Relieve Traffic Congestion.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

KANKEKEE, Ill., Aug. 27.—A proposed super-highway, 40 feet wide and running in a direct line from Kankakee to Chicago, a distance of 60 miles, planned to be constructed early next year, marks the beginning of a move in Illinois to relieve traffic congestion into Chicago from the south. The route is to be known as Illinois Highway 49 and is to be paid for out of the $100,000,000 Illinois road bond issue.

The board of supervisors of Kankakee county have assumed a disinterested attitude in regard to the new road. Thus far they have not even plotted the right-of-way for it, and as a result the exact date on which construction will begin is problematical. Recently, Governor Small went before the board and urged them to provide the necessary right-of-way immediately so that preliminaries could be expedited and delay in construction kept at a minimum.

The new route, which will begin at Kankakee, will closely follow the Illinois Central Railroad right-of-way through Monee, Peotone and Manteno.

With the construction of the road St. Louisans will be given an alternative route from Kankakee to Chicago when traveling over the St. Louis-Chicago route via Effingham and Champaign.

ST. LOUIS OLDSMOBILE DEALERS TO ORGANIZE

Plans for $3,000,000 Factory Expansion Outlined by Olds Motor Works Official.

Formation of a St. Louis Oldsmobile Dealers' Association was decided on Wednesday night at a dinner of dealers as guests of the Lambert-Graves Co., Inc., Olds distributor. Officers are to be elected at a meeting set for noon the first Tuesday of September, at the Coronado Hotel. R. L. Samuels, Oldsmobile branch manager, was selected to act as temporary chairman of the association and Norman Devoy, of the Devoy-De Largy Motor Co., as temorary secretary.

The principal speaker at the dinner was E. F. Glenny, chief supervisor of Oldsmobile branches for the United States, who outlined, among other things, the $3,000,000 expansion program of the Olds Motor Works.

This program, which is to include provision for production of the higher priced Olds car planned as a companion to the present Olds six, includes erection of a building 900x130 feet and another 1500x150 feet at Lansing, Mich.

Glenny said that the August schedule for Olds sixes had been stepped up to 7500 cars as a result of the steady increase in sales. He remarked on the recent passing of its 30th year as an automobile manufacturer by the Olds Motor Works and its growth through the years until now its plant occupies a 78-acre site at Lansing.

Glenny plans to assist C. E. Graves, secretary-treasurer of the Lambert-Graves Co., and W. H. Lambert, president of the firm, in an intensive Olds sales campaign in St. Louis. W. H. Lambert has joined the Lambert-Graves Co. after sales promotion work in New York.

Among the speakers at the dinner were A. W. Lambert, vice president, who is father of the president of the Lambert-Graves Co., Branch Manager Samuels and Joseph H. White, metropolitan sales manager of the branch.

Among the Olds dealers in the St. Louis district are: Grebe Brothers' Motor Co., which has just opened a new headquarters at 1645 South Grand boulevard; Tucker-Rohrback Motor Co., which has opened new headquarters at 3657 Gravois road; Devoy-De Largy Motor Co., 3739 Page boulevard; Peerless Motor Co., 4001 W. Florissant avenue; Heinrich Automobile Co., 5123 Delmar boulevard; Kingchester Motor Co., 4576 Manchester avenue. An Oldsmobile dealership is to be established in Maplewood and one on the Olive street road.

Fines Gossipers.

According to Police Magistrate Louis I. Tumen of Asbury Park, N. J., women talk too much to be good drivers. His decision was the result of fining a woman $5 for passing a red tarffic light. Her excuse was that she was engaged in conversation and did not see the light.

Leave the set alone and call in a good repair man when anything goes wrong.

The New Gabriel Snubbers never cause a constant "jiggle" on seemingly smooth pavements, because they cannot preload or restrict the car springs in the lower ranges of action. They enable them and the tires to absorb the jiggle, as intended.

On rough roads, passengers and cars are equally safeguarded by Gabriel's multiple coils. Their powerful extra friction instantly snubs down the sudden, wicked throw of a heavy bump.

The New Gabriel Snubbers are so moderately priced that no motorist can afford to do without the greater riding comfort which they bring to any car.

CHEVROLET FIRE APPARATUS INTERESTS TOWN OFFICIALS

Officials of towns on the route of the Chevrolet Motor Car Co. truck caravan, which has just completed a 2000-mile tour of Missouri and Illinois points, inspected the Chevrolet triple combination fire-fighting apparatus, which was one of the units in the caravan, according to O. E. Nonn, Chevrolet zone manager at St. Louis.

The Jaeger apparatus is manufactured by the Jaeger Manufacturing Co. here and is mounted on a standard Chevrolet one-truck chassis. It can operate two 250-foot streams at pressures up to 250 pounds. It also carries a 50-gallon chemical tank with hose, as well as two smaller chemical tanks.

The apparatus operates wherever there is water within hose length, whether the intake hose be attached to hydrant or submerged in stream, pond, cistern or well and carries 1200 feet of standard two and one-half inch fire hose. An eye-bolt in the rear is for towing additional equipment.

NAMED QUINCY DISTRIBUTER

The Hoener Motor Car Co., Quincy, Ill., has been appointed Willys-Knight and Whippet distributer in that territory, according to W. A. Elliot, branch manager of Willys-Overland, Inc., here. The new firm is composed of L. W. Hoener, J. O. Schrader and Paul Saxe.

Recommends Wider Roads.

The New York State Automobile Association has recommended to the Highway Department of the State of New York that in the future all main trunk lines be built to a minimum width of 40 feet, at least 24 feet of which shall be paved with a hard surface material.

Thousands have asked us to build a shorter Hudson Super-Six. They wanted in such a type the performance, sturdiness, reliability and luxury of the famous 127 inch Super-Six. So the 118 inch Hudson is built for them; and the 127 inch Super-Six is continued for those who prefer the longer car.

In every detail of motor, clutch, transmission, axles and four-wheel brakes this new compact Hudson Super-Six is identical with the 127 inch models.

Its lighter weight makes possible sensational performance at all speeds. Few drivers will ever call for its maximum. Fuel economy is of a standard never excelled in a car of this power.

Two body types—the Coach and Sedan—are available on this chassis. They are richly upholstered and finished, and designed to give generous, even lounging passenger room.

For those who wish Hudson mechanical and performance leadership on the longer wheelbase, there are five models: the custom-built Brougham, Phaeton and 7-passenger Sedan, and the Standard Coach and 5-passenger Sedan.

NEW PEERLESS SEDAN MODELS ON DISPLAY

Changes in 6-80 Line Confined to Body Design and Interior Fitments.

New sedan models of the Peerless 6-80 line arrived in St. Louis this week and are on display today by the De Luxe Automobile Co., Peerless distributor. The price of this body type remains at $1795 delivered, fully equipped.

All changes in the 1928 Peerless 6-80 line have been confined to body design and interior fitments. The engine remains the same as used in the 1927 models. It is a six-cylinder, seven-bearing crankshaft motor with 3¼-inch bore and 4⅝-inch stroke, and develops in excess of 60 horsepower.

Upholstery changes and seating arrangements in the new line add both to comfort and appearance. Seat backs in the front compartments have been built about four inches higher, and the rear seat has been divided in a form-fitting arrangement for three passengers, the effect being three separate cushions, joined together. The upholstery is heavy duo-tone velour.

Interior hardware is finished in brushed silver and gold, and includes vanity cases and smoking sets. These accessories are made of Persian gray leather and are embossed in gold design.

A new walnut instrument board, with all instruments, including gasoline gauge, clock, speedometer, ammeter, oil gauge and motometer, are under one glass panel.

Semiautomatic ignition is a new feature, with the old spark lever on the wheel replaced with a similar lever which controls the lights. The spark control is placed on the dash.

Available color combinations are Rolls-Royce blue, London smoke and Ohio blue in dutotone lacquer finish. Window reveals are finished in Rolls-Royce blue or ivory.

TO PAVE LEMAY FERRY ROAD SOUTH OF POINT BREEZE

Bids for the construction of 1.1 miles of paving on Lemay Ferry road, a part of U. S. 61—the St. Louis-Fredericktown-Sikeston-Memphis highway—are to be advertised Friday, September 2, the St. Louis County Court announced. The State Highway Department, according to the court, has agreed to remove the old unused car tracks of the Grandview line at the west side of Lemay Ferry road from the city limits to Point Breeze and substitute a 20-foot paving and to resurface the present 18-foot asphalt roadway adjoining it.

HIGHWAYS AS FINE AS THE SCENERY IN HISTORIC VIRGINIA

where Daniel Boone camped on his first trip to Tennessee, whence he went on the old Wilderness Trail to Cumberland Gap. So the towns run, present charm of many vying with the spice of things that happened here when Missouri was inhabited solely by Indians. Marion has an Indian fort with tombstones dating back to 1746. Next is Rural Retreat, one of the highest points in the Alleghany Mountains, about 3000 feet above sea level.

The Famous Natural Bridge.

Beyond Wytheville is the site of Fort Chiswell, which British troops occupied in 1755. Pulaski is a busy industrial place, with large furnaces to work the iron ore deposits of the neighborhood. From Christiansburg into Roanoke there is a mountain climb, with fine views. In this region, toward the West Virginia line, is Mountain Lake, where the Federal army burned a Confederate wagon train and threw guns into the water. Roanoke is a growing city, with good hotels, once only a stage coach station called Black Lick, where travelers put up at the Black Horse Tavern. Roanoke is at mile 167.0.

Forty miles north is the renowned Natural Bridge. The smooth highway runs over the top of this wonder of nature, on a sharp, brake-trying decline, yet there is scarcely an intimation of its presence from the car. Private interests have been permitted to retain the spot, and the environs of the bridge, which is a gap in the rock 90 feet wide and 212 feet high, have been fenced in. Any visitor who cares to pay for the privilege may gain access for $1 plus war tax.

Shrine of Lee and Jackson.

Lexington is at mile 227.0. It has many claims to interest and distinction, beginning with the old and narrow streets and the quaint buildings. Entering town, the road passes the cemetery where Gen. Stonewall Jackson, Confederate leader, is buried. To the South, this is nearly as great a shrine as the tomb of Robert E. Lee in a memorial chapel in the heart of town, on the pleasant campus of Washington and Lee University. A recumbent statue of Lee occupies a crypt back of the rostrum, beneath which is the brick Mausoleum of the Lee family. Across a hall, downstairs, is the office Lee occupied as president of the college, in his quiet days after the war—just as he left it, even to his palm fan. Everywhere are the Stars and Bars. The University buildings are of sturdy colonial construction. On a hill to the north are the battlements of Virginia Military Institute.

West of Legington are scenes of Indian warfare, of the early military activities of George Washington and of camps where ailing Indians rested by medicinal springs. To the north are the places where McCormick invented the reaper and Gibbs the sewing machine, also Fairfield, where Sam Houston was born.

Country of Caves.

At mile 259.0 is Staunton, another fine old town, perched on steep hills. One excellent hotel is two stories higher in back than in front by virtue of the slope. Here Woodrow Wilson was born and the little house that was his first home has become dear to those who believed in his ideals. Staunton, from 1738 to 1770, was capital of the country west of the Blue Ridge, including Kentucky, Ohio, Illinois, Wisconsin and part of Michigan.

Additional highway signs leading on from Staunton, of the Shenandoah Pike, herald the approach of the valley. Lee's army marched this way to Gettysburg. Only once does the road cross the Shenandoah River, but the stream is not far away, nestling under the Blue Ridge. The farms are prosperous looking and the country is reminiscent in its settled appearance of parts of New England.

The region is best known for its caverns. Near the town of New Market, notably, are the Grand, Endless, Luray and Shenandoah caverns.

In the Civil War battle of New Market, the V. M. I. cadet battalion bore the brunt of fighting Dr. Walter Reed, noted army medical man, lived south of this town as a boy and Abraham Lincoln's grandparents resided west of it and entertained Daniel Boone when he was a youth.

Woodstock was the pastorate of Gen. Muhlenburg, when he shouldered arms in the Revolution and raised a company. Beyond there the pike follows the route of Gen. Sheridan's celebrated ride to Winchester, which changed hands 72 times in the Civil War, and which once was the headquarters of the powerful Shawnee tribe of Indians. All over this quarter of Virginia an historical map is dotted with crossed swords, which indicate the scenes of battles. Winchester is at mile 354.0. It has an excellent hotel. Here our route bends east to Berryville, thence north to West Virginia.

On to Harper's Ferry.

Driving toward Harper's Ferry (mile 386.0) there is a striking view—the road traverses fertile fields of West Virginia, and the right-hand or eastern horizon is the tip of the Blue Ridge of Virginia, hovering over the Shenandoah, while the left or northern background is the steep mountain range of Maryland. There is precipitous descent into the little town, made famous by John Brown's raid and attractive by the confluence of the Potomac and Shenandoah. A resort hotel on the bluff commands a broad prospect. From the chief business street two highway bridges cross, into Virginia and into Maryland, and a railroad track slips over the Potomac into a tunnel.

Our route goes to Frederick, where Barbara Fritchie defied the rebel, where Francis Scott Key, author of the national anthem, is buried, and where Admiral Winfield Scott Schley, hero of the Santiago, was born. It has a new hotel. Nearby is the Monocacy battlefield of the civil conflict. Frederick is mile 406.0. It is 47 miles farther, through delightful country and pretty suburbs to Baltimore, whose port, university, fine new buildings, queer old ones and history of toleration would require another story.

PEERLESS
Three New Sixes

AGAIN—Peerless leads the way in real car value. The new 1928 models are ready today—even finer, even better, even more complete than this year's models that swept Peerless into unprecedented popularity . . . that made Peerless double the greatest production records it had established in a quarter century of outstanding success.

Each is an engineering triumph, new in power, performance, pick-up—new in comfort—new in handling ease—new in value, even for Peerless.

Each has the freedom from vibration made possible only by a big 7-bearing crankshaft.

—the silken smoothness that comes from Nelson Bohnalite Pistons,
—the magical steering ease of a Ross Cam and Lever gear,
—the positive safety given by Lockheed hydraulic four-wheel brakes,
—the riding ease produced by long, yielding springs,
—the long life guaranteed by Timken bearings throughout.

And there are innumerable other advantages to anticipate every demand you make of a car.

Bodies are long—low—smart—rich in color—luxurious in deep pillowy comfort.

And prices are so low as to appeal to the shrewdest buying sense.

—and the New 1928
90° V-type Eight-69

The most famous car Peerless has ever built—even finer—even more truly the leader among cars of highest quality. With that famous motor around which so much of Peerless reputation has been built.

See these new Peerless cars. Select the one that suits you best in price, size, body design. Ride in it. Try it out through traffic, up hills, along the level road. Drive it once and you'll want it for your own.

What's New in Cars

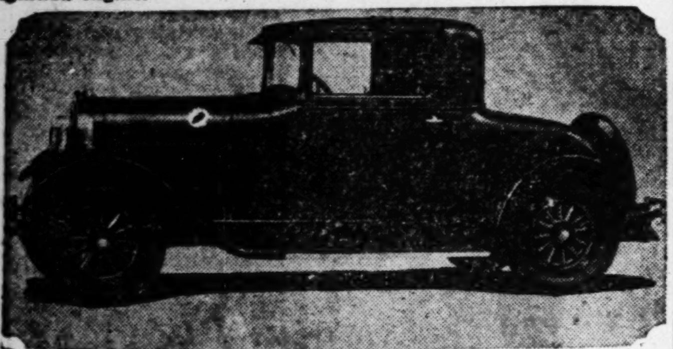
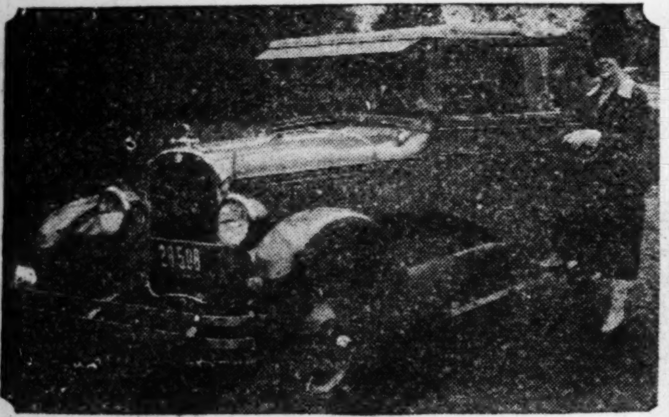
This new series "80" Pierce-Arrow sedan landau, is built on 130-inch chassis and is powered by a six cylinder, single valve, single ignition engine.



This new Dodge business coupe is the latest addition to the new Dodge 4-cylinder line.



Marion Telva, noted opera star, and her Oldsmobile coupe purchased from Lambert-Graves, Inc., Olds distributer, during her stay here the past week to sing in the final week of the Municipal Opera.

New Pierce Sedan Landau

The latest addition to the Peirce-Arrow Series "80" line is a sedan landau now being displayed by the Western Automobile Co. Pierce-Arrow distributer here.

The new car, which is priced at $3375 fully equipped, has a six-cylinder, single valve, single ignition engine. It is built on 130-inch wheelbase chassis.

The body color of the sedan landau is Brewster green, the running gear black. Wooden wheels are standard, and are painted to match the body color. Body beading is black with green centerline.

Upholstery is dark broadcloth. Interior fitments include vanity case and smoking set, which are of chrome silver.

Reo Wolverine Cabriolet on Display

The new six-cylinder Reo Wolverine cabriolet with rumble seat is now on display by St. Louis Reo, Inc., Reo distributer. The car is priced at $1350 delivered, fully equipped.

The new cabriolet has a grey body, dark green hood top and deck and a top of heavy Spanish grain leather matching the body color. Wooden wheels are standard equipment and are done in bright red.

The running gear is black, as is the body beading. Window reveals are grey.

Upholstery, both front and rear compartments, is dark green Spanish grain leather.

Oakland Sport Roadster on Display

The sport roadster of the new Oakland All-American six cylinder line now is on display by the Mississippi Valley Motor Car Co. Oakland-Pontiac distributor. The car is priced at $1210 delivered, fully equipped.

The new car has a light tan body and light green running gear. Natural wooden wheels are standard equipment.

The upholstery, both front compartment and rumble seat, is tan Spanish grain leather.

The tan mohair top folds back compact. Don Lee windshield and trunk rack and bumpers are standard equipment.

Chandler Uses Many Color Combinations

A pleasing colo. combination is found on the Chandler special six sportster. The body is of Cumberland beige with Mountain Ridge green mouldings and stripes of the latter color on the hood louvres. The wheels are of Mountain Ridge green with Cumberland beige stripes. The top panels of the rear doors are of Mountain Ridge green. Optional colors on the special six sportster are Andrews gray and Blue Devil blue with a fine white stripe on moulding.

Stearns-Knight Cabriolet Roadster Here

The latest addition to the Stearns-Knight line of six and eight cylinder cars is a cabriolet roadster now on display here by Willys-Overland, Inc., factory branch.

Three passengers may ride in full comfort on the wide single front seat of this cabriolet roadster. A rumble seat is provided for additional passengers.

A body feature is the division of the moulding at the cowl with one line curved upward to frame the top of the cowl while the other line follows back along the contour of the rear deck.

Standard equipment includes spare tire, bumpers, motometer, automatic windshield wiper and all necessary accessories.

Pleasing Colors on Chrysler "72" Roadster

A pleasing color combination is that on the new Chrysler "72" convertible coupe with rumble seat on display by Midwest Motors, Inc., Chrysler distributor.

The new car has an ivory colored body. The hood, deck, doors and running gear are done in ebony.

The tan mohair top is collapsible. When up it is supported by nickel cabriolet irons.

Upholstery, both front and rear compartments is tan Spanish grain leather.

The car is priced at $1943 delivered, fully equipped.

Today's trend shows
Whippet's tremendous influence

Public Preference has swung to this Modern Light Car of Proved Superiority

In a little over a year's time the Whippet has revolutionized light car design. With more than 120,000 Whippets in the hands of enthusiastic owners, and the popularity of this modern car increasing everywhere, other makers now must follow Whippet's lead.

Whippet set a wholly new standard of economy and introduced such big car advantages into the light car field as 4-wheel brakes, lower center of gravity, higher speed, increased roominess and force-feed lubrication.

Today the Whippet is still a year ahead of the industry. For Whippet design has been proved by hundreds of millions of miles of driving.

Even a short ride in a Whippet will demonstrate the car's remarkable qualities—flashing acceleration, great power on hills, high speed, easy riding, convenient handling and parking, increased safety and economy.

BROCKMAN SEES NO USED CAR PANACEA

President of St. Louis Auto Dealers Speaks in Quincy and Jacksonville, Ill.

Philip H. Brockman, president of the St. Louis Automobile Dealers' Association and former head of the St. Louis police board, delivered two addresses the past week—one on Wednesday before the Lions' Club at Quincy, Ill., the other Thursday before the automobile dealers of Jacksonville, Ill.

At Quincy, Brockman discussed "City and Police Government," drawing on his intimate association with politics and police work for facts and figures. Brockman recommended that all police departments be equipped with high powered automobiles in order better to cope with criminals who too often escape because they use speedier cars than the police can command.

Speaking at Jacksonville, Brockman remarked that in 1926 there were manufactured 4,428,226 passenger cars and trucks. There are approximately 22,000,000 passenger cars and trucks in operation in the United States today and our business ranks first. It is the largest of the United States' manufactures, based on wholesale value of product and exceeds the great packing industry as well as the steel industry.

"There are employed in the automobile industry, directly and indirectly, over 2,743,000 men and women. It is estimated that over $712,000,000 was paid in motor vehicle taxes, federal, state and municipal, in 1926."

Discussing used cars, Brockman said:

"In my judgment, the saturation point will never be reached so long as automobiles wear out and body changes and new models are designed.

"It is true that we now have about a 95 per cent replacement market. The replacement of cars is here, and always will be.

"Many solutions and plans have been suggested of taking care of the used car. But, to my knowledge, not one of them has ever worked successfully. I believe it is an individual proposition for every dealer to work out in his own way.

"I suggest that you subscribe to some good automobile appraisal book and show these appraisal figures to the prospect, especially when he wants $400 and your offer is $200. Be careful of trading open cars and realize that the car owner, as a rule, is a far better salesmen than we are and that some owners misquote what the other dealer offered.

"You dealers should co-operate with each other as to allowances, especially when a customer states that he was offered so and so, which allowance is considered higher than the allowance you made."

SCHLECHT JOINS RIEFLING CO. AFTER YEARS ON AUTO ROW

Joseph A. Schlecht, one of the most widely known executives on St. Louis' Auto Row, has joined the Riefling Automobile Co., 2327 South Jefferson avenue, authorized Ford dealer. He is to be connected with the company's sales department.

Schlecht was one of the old Banner Buggy Co. executives who went into the automotive industry and for years he and the Riefling brothers were competitors in the horse-drawn vehicle business. He recently sold out his interest in the Mound City Automobile Co.

Schlecht was president of the St. Louis Automobile Dealers' Association for two successive terms, and several times has served as a director. He is secretary and treasurer of the Industrial Warehouse Co., which handles the warehousing of most of the automobiles shipped by the various factories to dealers in the St. Louis territory.

Auburn Breaks Total of 37 Stock Car Records

Average of 68.5 M. P. H. Actual Running Time, and 61.3 Total Elapsed Time, for 15,000 Miles Made on Atlantic City Speedway

Special Correspondence of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 27.—Three Auburn 8-88s—two roadsters and a sedan—were run in distance record trials on the Atlantic City board speedway at Amatol, N. J., from July 27 to Aug. 7, inclusive, with the result that one of the cars covered 10,000 laps, a distance of 15,000 miles in 218 hours, 41 minutes and 1.51 seconds actual running time.

The average actual running speed of this Auburn car for the 15,000 miles was 68.5555 miles per hour.

The average elapsed time speed of this Auburn for the 15,000 miles, making allowances for all stops, even for fuel or for oiling and greasing, was 61.377 miles per hour.

The second of the two Auburns which completed the 15,000 miles covered the distance in 221 hours, 49 minutes and 27.33 seconds, actual running time, an average running rate of 67.621 miles an hour. The third car, one of the roadsters, covered 12,525 miles in 185 hours, 48 minutes and 48.85 seconds, actual running time, at a rate of 67.4062 miles per hour.

Car No. 2, a roadster, at the end of 10,000 miles, was put into the pits, tuned, oiled and greased, and then was run 1000 miles at an average of 72.512 miles per hour—an extraordinary performance after so many thousands of miles at better than 62 miles per hour. This 1000-mile test was A. A. A. timed, but the Contest Board would not award an official record for it, because it was part of the 15,000-mile trial that had been sanctioned.

| 13,000 | 62.957 MPH | |
| 14,000 | 61.661 MPH | |
| 15,000 | 61.377 MPH | |

The Auburns were run continuously except for pit stops which for Car No. 1, the roadster that made the best running time, totaled 25 hours, 42 minutes and 28.5 seconds. The Auburn sedan, car No. 3, which finished despite the fact that it was wrecked before it completed 5000 miles, spent 17 hours, 22 minutes and 38.5 seconds in stops.

37 Records Broken.

Performances of car No. 3 were not accepted beyond the point of its accident since it was ruled by officials of the contest board of the American Automobile Association, under whose sanction the runs were made, that it was not a fully equipped stock car at the end of its journey. This car skidded in the rain on lap 1758, at the end of 2637 miles, and turned completely over. Both left doors and three fenders were torn from the car. It resumed running six and a half hours later, but lack of doors and fenders caused the ruling that it no longer was a stock car.

Comparison of the official times and averages for all the standard distance of sanctioned records for stock cars disclosed that the Auburn cars broke 37 American stock car records for machines of 300 cubic inch piston displacement.

For the first time in this country records were set for distances exceeding 5000 miles.

Throughout the long runs numerous stops were made. These were mainly for fueling, greasing and oiling. Constant attention was given the water pump, and this unit was greased continuously. Battery changes also were made and occasionally stops were made to tighten various units that had become loosened by the long grind.

Stops were made every two or three hours to take on gas, oil and water. Regular halts were necessary to change drivers, although frequently changes were made without complete stops.

Lining Up for Start of Record-Making Trials

Start of 15,000-mile speed and endurance trials on Atlantic City speedway in which Auburn cars set 34 new stock car records and broke 37 records.

FRANKE MOTOR CO. HOLDS SPECIAL PRE-FALL DISPLAY

WHEN BETTER AUTOMOBILES ARE BUILT, BUICK WILL BUILD THEM

Perfect Comfort-- for the woman driver

The steering column is adjustable to suit your individual convenience

Buick for 1928 is extremely thoughtful of feminine comfort. One indication of this consideration is Buick's new steering column, which may be adjusted to the most comfortable position for women, as well as men.

Obviously, a steering column which attempts to suit everyone cannot entirely suit anyone. If space is left for a six-footer, it is not quite right for the average man, and is entirely wrong for the average woman.

Buick for 1928 has individualized the driver's seat by making the steering column adjustable to suit the owner's preference.

And in addition, Buick for 1928 has a new steering wheel—slender to fit feminine fingers—yet deep and solid to provide the firm grip men demand.

Buick for 1928 pleases women because it is easier to drive—because it is more comfortable to ride in—because it is the style-leader among motor cars. That's why you see so many Buicks at fashionable gatherings, and on the smartest boulevards.

MANY MILLIONS SPENT IN CAR STYLE CHANGES

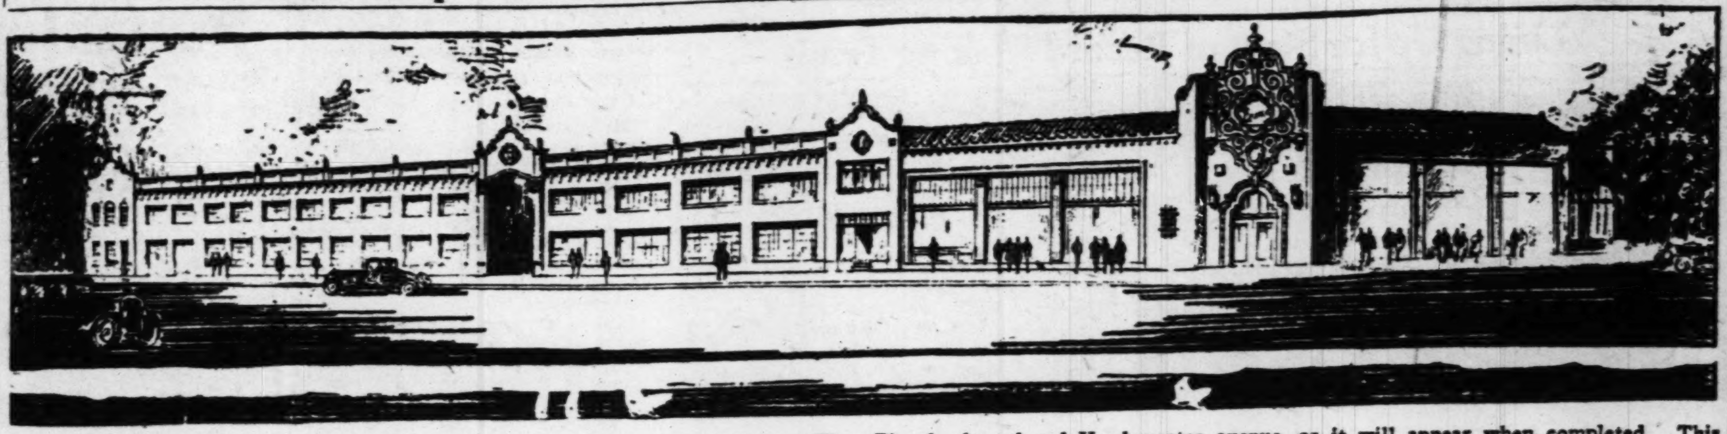
$100,000,000 Expenditure Necessary in 1927 to Meet Public Demand.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—"Changes in style" will cost the automobile manufacturers of the country approximately $100,000,000 before the end of 1927. The automobile business today was likened by one of its chief executives to the millinery business, because the public demands changes in models frequently and because when an innovation by one company shows signs of capturing the favor of the public, all of the other producers are forced to follow suit.

Manufacturers have spent millions and will spend millions more this year on this account, since it is more expensive to produce a variety of body types and furnish a wide range of colors than to stick to a few models and paint them all black as did Henry Ford for so many years. It also has cost car buyers millions, but that hasn't kept them from demanding all the "trimming."

How New Vesper-Buick Auto Co. Headquarters Will Look When Completed



Architect's drawing of the block-long Vesper-Buick Auto Co. building, at West Pine boulevard and Vandeventer avenue, as it will appear when completed. This building is to be retail, wholesale and maintenance headquarters for the Buick distributer in St. Louis.

HUDSON-ESSEX CARS KNOCK PROOF, SAYS DISTRIBUTER

"On any old gas at all," is the answer motorists receive when they ask what type fuel they should use for best results in the high-compression motor of the new Essex super-six, says Hudson-Frampton Motor Car Co., Hudson-Essex distributor, in explaining that the design of both these cars is such that the use of chemically treated or "doped" gasoline is not at all necessary, despite the cars' high compression.

"The Essex motor has an exceptional compression ratio. It is about 25 per cent higher compression than has been carried in standard motors, and it results in better performance and improved fuel economy. The owners of Essex super-six motors are well aware of the zip and power of their cars."

PACKARD POWERED PLANE STAYS IN AIR 11 HOURS

A Packard Motor Car Co. achievement was recorded recently when Lieut. Byron Connel piloted a PN-10 flying boat into the air at San Diego with a total gross load of nearly 11 tons and remained aloft 11 hours, 7 minutes and 18 seconds. The PN-10 was driven through the air by two 600-horse power Packard motors, says a factory statement.

"Packard began recording its achievements in 1904 when the "Gray Wolf" racing car traveled a mile in one minute 46 2-5 seconds," continues the statement. "Since then on land, water and in the air, Packard motors have established more than 60 world records. One of these was the automobile speed mark of 149.8 miles an hour for one mile set up by Ralph De Palma in 1919. The following year Lieut. Mosley of the U. S. Army traveled 178 miles per hour for 30 miles to win the Pulitzer Cup race for airplanes, his Packard 600-horse power engine giving Packard another world's record.

CHRYSLER

Four Great Cars in Four Great Markets

In Every Price Class Chrysler Standardized Quality Builds Greater Value

Search as you will you can find no such cars as those offered by Chrysler in their four great price fields—not within hundreds of dollars of them.

Chrysler's mastery of scientific engineering and precision manufacturing, Chrysler's inveterate habit of stepping faster than the procession, Chrysler's ability to marshal features beyond the resources of the imagination of the ordinary builder and crowd them into a glowingly beautiful vehicle without forcing up the price—

These are the unique advantages Chrysler gives the buyer as the result of its exclusive principle of Standardized Quality.

As originated and practiced by Chrysler, Standardized Quality extends its benefits to four great lines of cars—the New "52," the Great, New "62," the Illustrious, New "72," and the Imperial "80"—specifies uniformity in high grade steels and other materials, sets new close limits of precision manufacture, establishes new standards of accuracy of inspection, cuts down costs, but always raises quality to higher levels.

More than that. It means that Chrysler, with its vast resources, can apply refinements developed in its cars of top price to those in lower price ranges.

Chrysler is in a strategic position to maintain such a policy and pass the benefits to the buyer. The public has been quick in appreciating these benefits, and, by its approval, has raised Chrysler from 27th to 4th place in three years.

New Chrysler "52"—52 and more unvarying miles an hour. Smoothness of operation no other low-priced car can approach. Full-sized bodies of wood and steel, with ample capacity for adult passengers. Saddle-spring seat-cushions. Fine mohair upholstering. Utmost handling ease with steering wheel easily adjustable to driver's convenience. Handsome instrument panel, indirectly lighted. Narrow corner pillars for maximum driving vision. Cadet visor. Bullet type headlamps. A comparison with other cars in the same price class will strikingly reveal the superiorities of the Chrysler "52."

Great, New Chrysler "62"—6-cylinder motor with 7-bearing crankshaft. 62 and more miles per hour. Invar-strut pistons. Oil filter and air cleaner. Ventilated crankcase. Impulse neutralizer and rubber engine mountings. New cellular type radiator. 4-wheel hydraulic brakes. Road levelizers, front and rear. Performance and luxury not approached by any car at anywhere near its price.

Illustrious, New Chrysler "72"—75-horsepower motor with 7-bearing counter-weighted crankshaft. Speed ability of 72 and more miles an hour. 5 to 25 miles in 7 seconds. Hill-climbing ability that takes even mountain grades at constant acceleration. Spring ends anchored in blocks of live rubber instead of metal shackles, giving riding smoothness hitherto unknown, and eliminating road sounds as well as the need of lubrication. Longer, more beautiful bodies, tastefully appointed, luxuriously roomy. Never before has the industry produced a fine car of such speed, power, beauty and comfort at such a startlingly low price.

Chrysler Imperial "80"—80 dashing easeful miles with whispering smoothness. 92 horsepower in instant obedience to your slightest driving wish. An ease and luxury of driving and riding that makes motoring comfort take on a new meaning. Supremely beautiful and ultra smart, it has won the reputation among sophisticated motorists as being "as fine as money can build."

New Chrysler "Red-Head" Engine—designed to take full advantage of high-compression gas, produces extra speed, still faster acceleration and even greater hill-climbing ability than the standards announced.

This remarkable development is standard equipment on the roadsters of the "52," "62," "72," and sport roadster of the Imperial "80." It is also available, at slight extra cost, for all other body types. For a reasonable charge it can be applied to earlier Chrysler cars now in use.

Stock Gardner 85 Victoria Has Remarkable Roadability

Acceleration Smooth and Instant and as Hill Climber It Surprised, Says Observer on 50-Mile Test Run.

A stock six-cylinder model 85 Gardner Victoria fully equipped, was taken the past week on a 50-mile test run through parts of Missouri and Illinois, and performed excellently on a variety of roads. Its roadability was remarkable, its accelleration smooth and instant, and as a hill climber it surprised the writer.

The car was driven by E. H. Wiles, assistant engineer of the Gardner Motor Car Co. in charge of experiments, and the writer was the observer. An interesetd passenger was Joseph Steinger, president of Steinger-Tuthill, Inc., Gardner distributor here.

The Missouri section of the trip was over concrete, asphalt, gravel and rough dirt roads in St. Louis county. This part of the test was allotted to observing the acceleration and roadability of the Gardner.

The car rides well. It was sent over several miles of rough Warson road at 25 to 40 m. p. h. and the "feel" of the bumps in the car was negligible. The car floats along easily on its long spring surface, and the chassis seems to absorb road shocks.

Its acceleration is exceptionally swift and sure. Only seven seconds was required to bring the car from a standstill to 25 m. p. h. in high, several tests revealed. Its finest acceleration performance, however, is in the higher speeds, where, after all, this is most essential. The ability of a car to quickly pass another car doing perhaps 40 m. p. h. or more on the highway is of great value to the owner. The Garner 85 can do this.

Running at 20 m. p. h., the driver stepped on the accelerator and, by a stop-watch check, reached a speed of 43 m. p. h. in 10 seconds and 60 m. p. h. in 20 seconds.

The hill climbing test was made in Illinois on a road turning to the left from State Highway No. 3 at a point about two miles beyond Dupo. The hill swings up the Mississippi Bluffs and from base to top is one-half mile long. It is not a straightaway hill and has three sharp L curves around which it is necessary to drive at 15 m. p. h. The grade is steep all the way up. Beginning at the base of the hill at 20 m. p. h., the Gardner was twice successfully driven to the summit in high gear, once going over at 15 m. p. h. and the other time at 13 m. p. h.

The Gardner 85 is powered by a special Lycoming-built Gardner engine, having a 2⅞-inch bore and 4¾-inch stroke and develops 85 h. p. at 2600 r. p. m.

LARGEST SPEAKER IN A HOME POSSIBLY IN ST. LOUIS HOUSE

Possibly the largest radio loud speaker in a home is one that is operating every night in a St. Louis residence. It is a giant Temple speaker, with an exponential air column about 12 feet long and a mouth so large that a grown man could curl up in it and go to sleep. It is made of a flinty composition, weighs about 300 pounds, and is so devised that it occupies a space about 3½ by 3 feet.

The tone quality of this giant speaker is exceptionally rich and full, and it reproduces the deep bass notes with a timbre pleasingly true and round. For example, the bass tuba solo in last Tuesday night's Eveready Hour came through this speaker with a depth and fullness of tone that fairly made the floor quiver. The effect of the Goldman Band or the New York Philharmonic Orchestra, playing full blast, when heard through this giant speaker is harmonious, pleasing and without distortion. It is equally good when the volume from a radio set is turned down to a whisper, even then the rich, full quality being unmistakable.

This giant horn is a duplicate of one that was made by Temple, Inc., of Chicago for the Government and was displayed by the company at the recent Chicago radio trades show merely as a side attraction for its exhibit of loud speakers. The writer and 77 other show visitors were so pleased with the quality of reproduction through this horn, that they made the Temple firm agree to ship them duplicates of it.

The writer has placed his giant speaker in one corner of a large living room, beneath a special three-cornered, round-edged table on which his radio sets stand. It floods a large 14-room house with melody, or, at choice, can barely be heard outside the room it stands in.

It is expected that a number of these giant Temple speakers will be used by radio dealers for special demonstrations, for auditorium radio reproduction, and for sidewalk music. When used with a radio set that can give out fine quality of tone, this giant speaker can give any radio fan a thrill.

Trade Notes.

The A. E. Schmid Co., 1113 Pine street, has taken the exclusive distributorship of Pfanstiehl radio receivers in this territory.

Franklin McDermott, 610 Louderman building, has been appointed factory representative for Temple radio speakers. He has appointed the following Temple speaker distributors: Beck & Corbitt Co., Benwood-Linze Co., Geller, Ward & Hasner, and the Barrett Electric Co.

Federal-Brandes, Inc., has been licensed to manufacture radio sets under patents held by the R. C. A. group, thus being enabled to make Kolster receivers on even terms with other leaders in the industry.

The Trickle Charger.

If a chemical type trickle charger has been in use for six months or more, clean it thoroughly and put in a fresh charge of electrolite. The chances are that the charging rate is very low.

TIME LIMIT ON ENTRIES FOR SINGING CONTEST

District Auditious Soon—KSD to Broadcast St. Louis Contest During Radio Show.

Ambitious men and women singers in Missouri who desire to enter the nation-wide radio singing contest sponsored by the Atwater Kent Foundation should get their entries into the hands of the various district committees at once and not later than Sept. 6. For KSD is to broadcast the St. Louis district auditions during the radio show in the Coliseum the week of Sept. 19, and is to broadcast the State audition in October.

The State has been divided into districts, and entries should be sent to the following chairmen in the various districts:

St. Louis district—Mrs. Frederick Nussbaum, Musical Arts Building, Boyle avenue and Olive street.

Kansas City district—Mrs. Florence M. Woodward, 3003 E. Thirty-second street, Kansas City.

St. Joseph district—L. B. Clough, 808 Francis street.

Springfield district—Mrs. F. C. Kinsey, Springfield.

Joplin district—James A. Gibson, Chamber of Commerce, Joplin.

Sedalia district—Mrs. Edwin F. Yancey, 803 Broadway, Sedalia.

Hannibal district—F. T. Russell, Chamber of Commerce, Hannibal.

Jefferson City district—Mrs. Joseph Heimberger, Jefferson City.

Cape Girardeau district—Mrs. Allen R. Hinchey, 419 Bellevue, Cape Girardeau.

Kirksville district—J. L. Biggerstaff, State Teachers' College of Music, Kirksville.

Mexico district—Col. Fred A. Morris, Mexico.

Contestants should send their entries to the chairman in the city nearest to them. Entry blanks may be obtained by writing to the chairmen.

Contestants must be between the ages of 18 and 25 years; must never have been associated with a professional, theatrical or operatic company; must never have been paid principals in any concert outside their own states; must declare an intention to follow a musical career, and must be free from theatrical or musical contracts. This limitation permits choir singers to enter the auditions, even though they may have received financial compensation for singing in churches.

BROADCAST SCHEDULE OF KSD THIS WEEK

Ann Mack to Sing in the 100th Atwater Kent Concert — Other Features.

The vibraphone, which is a feature of the KSD Sunday evening concerts from the Capitol Theater, in New York, is similar in appearance to the xylophone. The keys are metal and beneath each is a cylinder with a resonator. Within each cylinder is a rotating fan operated by an electric motor which amplifies the sound and increases the resonance of the instrument. A damper pedal enables the performer to control the vibraphone vibration and stop the bells as he pleases.

Ann Mack, a product of radio who has become well known as a concert soprano, has been selected to sing the 100th Atwater Kent concert in the series broadcast regularly each Sunday night through KSD from WEAF, New York.

Miss Mack, a native of Kansas City, was the first of the more promising singers to make her professional debut in America over the radio, when she sang the fiftieth Atwater Kent concert Sept. 12, last year.

Miss Mack's program:

Down in the Forest........Ronald

A Little Bit O'Honey........Bond

The Black Bird ..........J. Hook

No-No-No (Spanish)

"Waltz Song" from Romeo and Juliet ..........Gounod

Five Little White Heads..Bischoff

Pierrot ............De C. Rybner

Opera Concert Monday

Thirty minutes of a tabloid version of "Carmen" will be broadcast through KSD tomorrow, in the grand opera concert. Frances Sebel, soprano; Paula Heminghaus, contralto, and Carl Rollins, baritone, will be featured.

The program follows:

Overture to "Oberon"..Von Weber

Promesse De Mon Avenir from "Le Roi De Lahore" Massenet

Carl Rollins, baritone

Elsa's Dream from "Lohengrin" Wagner

Frances Sebel, soprano

Intermezza from "Cavalleria Rusticana" ..........Mascagni

NOTED RADIO ENGINEERS TO ATTEND ST. LOUIS SHOW

Noted radio engineers and announcers, as well as leaders in the development of the industry, are to address the dealers' convention which is to be held during the annual St. Louis radio show scheduled for a week in the Coliseum, beginning Sept. 19. The principal addresses are to be made from the plate glass broadcasting studio in the Coliseum through loud speakers and broadcast throughout the country.

Special days have been arranged by the manager of the exposition, W. P. Mackle, executive secretary of the St. Louis Radio Trades Association.

On St. Louis day the artists are to be former St. Louisans, who have won fame abroad. This will be Monday, Sept. 19.

Special Radio Trades day will be Tuesday, Sept. 20.

National Radio day will be Wednesday, Sept. 21, when nationally known announcers will appear before the microphone.

Baseball day will be Thursday, Sept. 22.

Aviation day will be Friday, Sept. 23.

Listeners' day will be Saturday, Sept. 24.

Tips for Efficient Receiver.

The following suggestions are listed to have the set in efficient working order:

Keep antenna and lead-in tight.

Keep all connections tight and clean.

ANOTHER CROSLEY CONCERT SERIES ON KSD BEGINS SOON

Powel Crosley Jr., president of the radio corporation that bears his name and owner of station WLW, has authorized the National Broadcasting Co. to announce that at 4:30 Sunday afternoon, Sept. 4, the Crosley Moscow Art Orchestra will begin a series of concerts to be broadcast for him by stations on the Red Chain, including KSD.

Two patents have just been issued to the Atwater Kent Manufacturing Co. covering and authorizing the fundamental principles of the Atwater Kent one-dial receiving sets. These patents give to the company exclusive rights to the use of scientific discoveries to the simplicity and easy operation of its one-dial reception.

DEBS MEMORIAL FUND GETS LICENSE FOR STATION WEVD

A license has been granted to the Debs Memorial Radio Fund to operate Station WSOM at Woodhaven, Long Island, whose call letters will be changed to WEVD, in honor of Eugene V. Debs, the late Socialist leader. The station will continue to operate on 245.8 meters, 1220 kilocycles.

ESTABLISHES

34 NEW RECORDS In

One Continuous Run On Atlantic City Speedway Under A. A. A. Sanction Starting July 28th — Ending August 7th

Daring and unprecedented. Far in excess of any test ever imposed on stock cars. Not done behind pad locks and timed by factory employees, but publicly, under American Automobile Association sanction and supervision.

We decided to go to extremes never before undertaken by any manufacturer in order to completely, conclusively, and overwhelmingly prove Auburn is a faster, more efficient and more durable stock car.

We decided to entirely silence competitive claims by letting the finer engineering, the stronger structural strength and the wonderfully greater value of the Auburn Straight Eight speak for itself.

And what a thrilling and eloquent story these three can tell—Over 42,000 miles of continuous driving at high speed. To do that required utmost confidence in every part of the cars. Through blinding fogs; through down pours of rain, under the hottest sun in years; 28 thousand times around the 1½ mile track on slippery boards; never have men and machines endured such abnormal strains!

Nine drivers, working relays days and night, could not over tax the endurance and speed of the Auburn cars. The cars defied the men to fathom their limits. Old records completely smashed from 5 to 5000 miles for fully equipped stock cars. New records at every revolution of the wheels from 5,000 to 15,000 miles. Never before had anyone dared to attempt such sustained speed and prolonged performance. The speed was phenomenal . . . . 34 new stock car records . . . .

But What Of It?

We knew all along that Auburn cars are that fast. But, it is not Auburn's proven speed superiority that is most significant . . . frankly, that was easy and incidental. What IS important is the fine character of car necessary for all three cars to survive such speed.

How's This For Proof?

After one of the roadsters had run the unequalled distance of ten thousand gruelling miles, in less than 9,479 minutes at an average speed of over 63 miles per hour, it was taken off the track, thoroughly checked—necessary replacements made—tuned and greased. Then the driver was told to "step on it" (just as though it had not already been driven at what he thought was the extreme limit for ten thousand miles.)

Then, for 1,000 miles more, this same car spurted forward at over 72 miles per hour. That proves reserve power, speed and endurance unknown in motor cars until now.

Another Thriller

After 2,637 miles, the Sedan running at about 70 miles an hour speed, turned over on the wet track, during a rain storm in the middle of the night, slid on its top with all four wheels in the air, for about 50 feet, righted itself and then crashed into the railing. Two doors and three fenders were torn off, radiator and windshield smashed. It was dragged off the track and considered out of the test until one of the mechanics (who knew the sturdiness of Auburn construction) crawled under the car and declared it in perfect mechanical condition. Seven hours were spent for photographs, radiator and other body repairs and the car went back on the track with the same driver, who had not even been scratched in the accident. It caught up with the other cars, and finished the 15,000 miles at over 62 miles per hour speed. That proves the strong construction, and endurance of Auburn cars, although because in the accident, it lost three fenders and two doors, its entire distance cannot be counted as an official A. A. A. record, but it was officially timed by the A. A. A.

Triple Proof

It would have been perfectly startling if one car had broken all these records, but three Auburn cars were in this test—and all three of them did honor to the name of Auburn.

We bought an 8-88 Sedan from a private owner. Then took two 8-88 Roadsters off factory assembly line. All three cars started in the longest and hardest test ever imposed. Here is the record of each one of them:

Car No. 1, Roadster

|---|---|
| 5 Miles at 68.248 | m.p.h. |
| 50 Miles at 71.86 | m.p.h. |
| 100 Miles at 72.378 | m.p.h. |
| 500 Miles at 70.297 | m.p.h. |
| 1000 Miles at 69.90 | m.p.h. |
| 2000 Miles at 64.686 | m.p.h. |
| 3000 Miles at 65.523 | m.p.h. |
| 4000 Miles at 63.198 | m.p.h. |
| 5000 Miles at 62.343 | m.p.h. |
| 10000 Miles at 62.391 | m.p.h. |
| 15000 Miles at 61.377 | m.p.h. |

Total elapsed racing time of Car No. 1 was 244 hours, 23 minutes and 30.01 seconds. The net running time of this car was 218 hours, 41 minutes and 1.51 seconds. Basing 15,000 miles on the net running time Car No. 1 averaged 68.555 miles per hour.

Car No. 2, Roadster

|---|---|
| 5 Miles at 73.9766 | m.p.h. |
| 50 Miles at 75.427 | m.p.h. |
| 100 Miles at 76.111 | m.p.h. |
| 500 Miles at 75.138 | m.p.h. |
| 1000 Miles at 70.310 | m.p.h. |
| 2000 Miles at 70.084 | m.p.h. |
| 3000 Miles at 63.902 | m.p.h. |
| 4000 Miles at 64.391 | m.p.h. |
| 5000 Miles at 63.695 | m.p.h. |
| 10000 Miles at 63.302 | m.p.h. |

After 10,000 miles of more than mile a minute driving Car No. 2 was taken from the race, thoroughly checked—necessary replacements made—tuned and greased and then placed in the race again. It ran 1000 miles at an average speed of 72.512 m.p.h. and 24 hours at the rate of 72 miles per hour. These are not A. A. A. records as application for these distances was not made before they were run but are official A. A. A. times. Car No. 2 then continued to 12,558 miles averaging 63.09. At this point it was taken from the race with a cracked cylinder block.

Car No. 3, Sedan

|---|---|
| 5 Miles at 64.0752 | m.p.h. |
| 50 Miles at 68.027 | m.p.h. |
| 100 Miles at 67.671 | m.p.h. |
| 500 Miles at 65.841 | m.p.h. |
| 1000 Miles at 65.590 | m.p.h. |
| 2637 Miles at 65.583 | m.p.h. |

At this point in the test Car No. 3 skidded on the wet track, turned over, slid 50 feet on its top, crashed thru the retaining wall and landed top side up. The frame was not out of line or sprung and the motor showed no damage except radiator.

After being out nearly 7 hours because of the wreck and losing many other hours for fuel, driver relief, etc., Car No. 3 averaged over 67 miles per hour during actual running time for the entire 15,000 miles.

|---|---|
| 4000 Miles at 58.835 | m.p.h. |
| 5000 Miles at 60.069 | m.p.h. |
| 10000 Miles at 62.289 | m.p.h. |
| 15000 Miles at 62.709 | m.p.h. |

The 7 hours this car laid out is included in total time. Because of the wreck this car was officially counted non-stock after 2637 miles, but time was officially recorded.

WATCHING PLANES L WORLD'S LARGEST IS BERLIN'S NE

Crowds at Tempelhofer Feld Days of First Steam Trains- ger Flyers Arrive Ther

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispa Evening World.
(Copyright 1927)

IF YOU ever lived in a small town you may principal diversions, after the day's work wa railway station to watch the trains come i the principal diversions in Berlin today—onl visitors watch airplanes arrive.

At the Tempelhofer Feld, as the airport of Berlin is called, more than 25 passenger airplanes depart every day for Paris, London, Stockholm, Moscow, Warsaw, Vienna, Munich, Zurich and other points north, east south and west. It is the greatest airport in the world. Naturally as many planes arrive daily from the same cities. And as most of the departures are in the morning and most of the arrivals are in the late afternoon it is quite the fad to ride out to the flying field, which is only ten or twelve minutes from the heart of the city, to watch the planes come in.

When St. Louis builds its airport it should copy many of the features of this great flying field, which before the war was the Kaiser's famous parade ground. In addition to the necessary hangars, administration buildings and a hospital, the Tempelhofer Feld has two large restaurants—one a summer garden adjoining the cement runway on which the planes take off and the other a terrace restaurant from which the diners can watch the planes arrive. In addition, there is an enormous parking space for motor cars—a very necessary provision, as flying fields as a rule have to be located a considerable distance from the center of the city.

Comfort and Cheer for Visitors.

Under the gayly colored umbrellas that cover the tables in the summer garden hundreds of Berliners take their afternoon coffee while watching one of the most interesting sights Europe has to offer. The time may come when airports will be as common as railway stations, but even then restaurant facilities will be needed, for planes, like trains, have a habit of running behind time. And friends who are waiting for arriving travelers must be made comfortable. But for a few years at least a big passenger airport anywhere in the world will attract thousands of visitors, and there is every reason why they should be made comfortable.

When you approach the Tempelhofer Feld you will notice thin columns of smoke ascending from various parts of the huge field, which covers nearly a square mile of level ground. These are to show the direction of the wind. As you near the entrance, where you have to pay 40 pfennigs (about 10 cents) to drive in, you will see a collection of spic and span buildings with towers and masts decorated with various flags. And as you come nearer you see the attractive summer garden and the nearby terrace restaurant. The whole effect is decidedly attractive and when you leave your car you can walk to the fence that separates the fields from the visitors' section in less than a minute.

The Arrival Signal.

If you arrive about 5:30 in the afternoon, as I did, you will hear the shrill blast of a siren which will be followed by a rush of visitors to the fence and a general interruption of all eating and drinking activities. For the siren announces that a plane has been sighted by the watchers in the tower and a moment later you will see the plane in the sky yourself. If the weather is fine the plane will seem to drop out of the heavens, and almost before you know it it will be taxiing

WATCHING PLANES LAND AT WORLD'S LARGEST AIRPORT IS BERLIN'S NEWEST FAD

Crowds at Tempelhofer Feld Reminiscent of Days of First Steam Trains—25 Passenger Flyers Arrive There Daily.

When you approach the Tempelhofer Feld you will notice thin columns of smoke ascending from various parts of the huge field, which covers nearly a square mile of level ground. These are to show the direction of the wind. As you near the entrance, where you have to pay 40 pfennigs (about 10 cents) to drive in, you will see a collection of spic and span buildings with towers and masts decorated with various flags. And as you come nearer you see the attractive summer garden and the nearby terrace restaurant. The whole effect is decidedly attractive and when you leave your car you can walk to the fence that separates the fields from the visitors' section in less than a minute.

The Arrival Signal.

If you arrive about 5:30 in the afternoon, as I did, you will hear the shrill blast of a siren which will be followed by a rush of visitors to the fence and a general interruption of all eating and drinking activities. For the siren announces that a plane has been sighted by the watchers in the tower and a moment later you will see the plane in the sky yourself. If the weather is fine the plane will seem to drop out of the heavens, and almost before you know it it will be taxiing across the field to a point within a few feet of the main building. A dozen uniformed attendants surround it the moment it stops and its passengers and baggage are unloaded with amazing speed. A few minutes later its pilot continues taxiing to the huge hangars, where he shuts off his engines and jumps out.

Sometimes before one plane has discharged its passengers the siren gives a second warning and another plane drops out of the sky. The afternoon I visited the flying field the planes from Paris and Moscow both arrived at the same time—one coming from the west and the other from the east. The passengers from Moscow had left there at 3 o'clock that same morning, while the Paris passengers had not left Le Bourget until 10:30 a. m.—about seven hours before they reached Berlin.

Junker Planes Are Used.

No sooner had these big Lufthansa all-metal planes started for their hangars than the siren sounded again and a small one-seater dropped out of the sky—a plane used by one of the local newspapers to deliver its afternoon editions at the various North Sea bathing beaches. Naturally, it did not attract any attention and it taxied off the field without even stopping.

The schedule of arriving planes showed that one from Stettin was due at 6 o'clock and one from Munich at 6:15. And a few minutes after six I saw a plane in the north before the warning signal was given. It landed in the middle of the field and had to taxi nearly half a mile before it could discharge its passengers. The Munich plane made a landing directly in front of the administration building—almost on the minute.

Nothing Like It in All the World

And that is why there is always a big crowd at the Tempelhofer Feld—in fine weather. It is not the novelty of seeing a plane, but the precision with which this great passenger air service is conducted. There are other large airports in France and England, but there is none from which as many planes arrive and depart daily in every direction. And there is no big company that has had as few crashes as the Lufthansa Co., which controls this wonderful airport. For while there were many "air routes" in operation from Berlin last summer, last winter was the first winter that they were maintained throughout the entire year. And this summer is the first summer the restaurants on the field have been in existence.

St. Louis' airport should be made an attractive place—one of the show places of the city. There are many features at Tempelhofer, as this "flughaven" or airport is called, which might be copied to advantage. While air mail flyers fly more miles in the course of a year than Germany's passenger planes—the distances here are comparatively short—we are years behind her when it comes to handling passenger traffic in the air. And one of the most important adjuncts to air travel is an attractive, well-equipped airport. For it stimulates air travel. And the best proof of this is that I reserved a seat in the morning plane for Fuerth, the airport of Nuremburg.

Publication of Telegram Sent By Field Man to Secretary Hoover Advising Withdrawal of Life-Saving Measures Would Have Caused Great Wave of Feeling, He Says.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.

THEORETICALLY, at least, American policy for the conduct of foreign affairs is dictated by the President and the Secretary of State, subject to the approval of the Senate. In regard to the problem of the recognition of Russia, however, another member of the Cabinet is given credit for influencing greatly if not actually directing the American course of action.

Herbert Hoover, Secretary of Commerce, is the other Cabinet officer, and he exerts his influence unofficially rather than officially. As chairman of the American Relief Administration, which distributed more than $60,000,000 worth of food and medical supplies in European Russia from 1921 to 1923, he has at his command a greater fund of information about the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics than any other official in the Government, the Secretary of State not excepted. If Hoover should call for American recognition of Russia, it is almost a certainty that Governmental and business propaganda soon would reflect his view.

A digest of the great mass of Russian information at Hoover's disposal is contained in a recently published 560-page volume by H. H. Fisher, chief of the historical department of the American Relief Administration and lecturer on history at Stanford University, California. The title is "The Famine in Soviet Russia, 1921—1923," and the sub-title is "The Operations of the American Relief Administration." It was written from A. R. A. archives, now in the Hoover War Library at Stanford.

Report Interprets Opinions of Hoover.

The volume is more than a history. It is an accounting to the American people of the millions of dollars they contributed for famine relief in a country whose Government they refused to recognize. It is a handbook for relief programs. It is a testimonial to the hard-boiled young men who risked their health and their lives in the typhus stricken Volga and Ukraine famine districts. To the writer it is an explanation of Hoover's refusal to recommend recognition of the Soviet Government.

Fisher takes a frankly conservative attitude in his observations on the A. R. A.'s activities and its troubles with the Russian Government. There are few direct criticisms of the Soviet theory of government, but there is a wealth of material on the repudiation of the Riga agreement, negotiated in August, 1921, between Litvinoff, Assistant People's Commissar of Foreign Affairs, and Walter Lyman Brown, A. R. A. director for Europe.

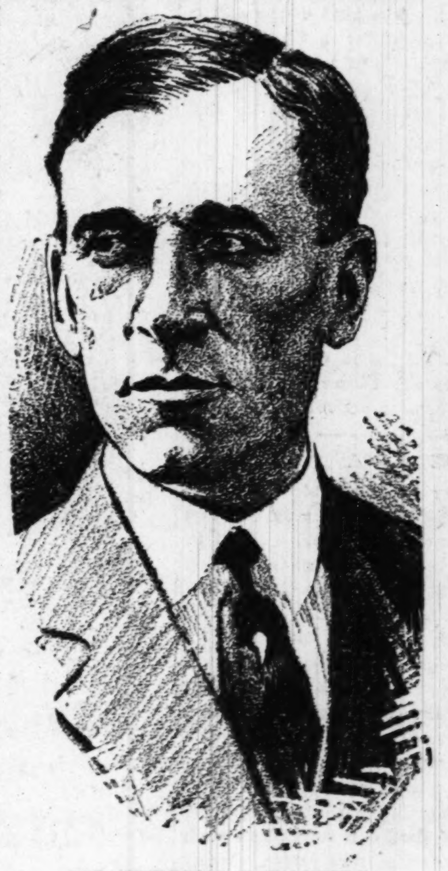
The recurring theme throughout Fisher's book is that the Soviet Government did not see fit to live up to its obligations and that the A. R. A. carried out its program. The history reveals that twice the A. R. A. threatened to withdraw its relief work unless the Government sincerely tried to fill its part of the agreements. The details of these episodes were not made public at the time.

Fisher declares that, if Hoover had wished, the publication of one of Haskell's telegrams—Col. Haskell was A. R. A. Director for Russia—"would have loosed a wave of anti-Communistic attack that would have washed away the pedestal of respectability that Soviet diplomacy was painfully building."

Leader Slurs Motives of American Workers.

This episode occurred in the spring of 1922, when the Russian Government was centering its attention on the Genoa Conference, to which Secretary Hughes formally declined an invitation to be officially represented.

Trotsky had accused the A. R. A. of giving relief with one hand and subsidizing counter-revolution under Baron Wrangel with the other. The basis for this statement was that the A. R. A., together with the American Red Cross and the League of Nations, was feeding the Wrangel refugees in Constantinople. Kameneff, less publicly, struck at the United States through the A. R. A. when Haskell, exasperated at the obstruction and inefficiency of the Soviet representatives in getting transportation for the relief supplies, asked that the A. R. A. be allowed to deal directly with the railroad officials. Kameneff observed that so long as the United States refused to recognize Soviet Russia, there was no possibility of A. R. A. having freedom of action in its relief work.



COL. WILLIAM N. HASKELL.

Fisher says that the Soviet representatives with whom the A. R. A. dealt interpreted Genoa to mean that Russia need no longer ask favors. Haskell had made the request because supplies to the A. R. A. districts in the famine provinces were not moving. The Russian railroad system had reached a crisis. The railroad workers had not been paid for five months and they demanded a share in the relief supplies, a demand outside the Riga agreement.

Finally, to get the supplies moved to the provinces, Haskell promised to lend the Government 8500 tons of corn, with the understanding that this was to be turned over to the railroads only at times and at points agreed upon in advance. The Government was to repay this loan within two months and, to insure repayment, would deposit gold security with the A. R. A. in London. These terms were accepted by the Government.

Soviet Repudiated Pact, Writer Says.

Then followed, what Fisher calls a direct and positive repudiation of the agreement. The railroad workers began to take over food supplies on the tracks without any notice to the A. R. A.

"Haskell ordered all deliveries to the railroads stopped," Fisher writes. "He protested, loudly, continuously, but without effect. Eiduk (the Soviet representative assigned to co-operate with the A. R. A.)—was as impervious to protests as a mule to honeyed phrases, and Kameneff, when Haskell tried to reach him, sent word he was so busy with political matters that Haskell would have to wait. Meanwhile Eiduk, to show his interest in the matter sent Pinous (his subordinate) to investigate the reputed seizures. Pinous reached Petrograd and immediately told the railways to go on with the good work and take 11 more cars.

"To more protests, the only answer was an order from the railways to unload at Petrograd, daily, 44 A. R. A. cars billed to the Volga famine regions. Then another order directed that 52 cars, billed by the A. R. A. to Kazan, go instead to Ribinsk for storage, and that all subsequent shipments from Reval port, regardless of A. R. A. orders, go to the same point.

"The object of these orders was to get empty cars which could be returned to Reval, through which the Soviets, as well as the A. R. A. were shipping supplies. The railways took similar action at Koslov, before the A. R. A. had authorized any unloading at that point. Darragh, the A. R. A. controller there, protested to the limit of his vocabulary, and when he resisted the breaking of American seals, was arrested by Cheka."

Haskell Advises Hoover to End Relief Measures.

Haskell made a final effort to see Kameneff and again was put off. He immediately wired to Hoover over the Soviet diplomatic wire, which gave his message the effect of an ultimatum, that he could "positively recommend that not another pound of relief supplies should be added to the existing program." He added. "I recommend that all pending shipments from America be stopped beyond actual present commitments until such time as I can advise how present difficulties are met here and whether a sincere effort to co-operate with us manifests itself. No supplies should be collected in America above our program because they could not be transported to the famine areas before harvest."

This message hardly had reached the wire, Fisher says, when Eiduk telephoned Haskell that Kameneff was eager to see him. After a conference lasting two hours and a half, Kameneff repudiated the railways' actions and promised better co-operation. Haskell accepted the repudiation but was doubtful about the promises. He telegraphed Hoover that "the definite record of services rendered by the Russian Railways and accomplishments in fact were the only evidences acceptable to him from the Russian Government."

Haskell later conferred with the notorious Djerjinsky, who had lately taken over the Commissariat of Communications. Fisher's description of the organizer of Cheka gives an insight into the A. R. A. man's love of result, irrespective of politics or prejudice.

"The A. R. A. found this legendary figure mild-mannered, courteous and soft-spoken," Fisher writes. "He lacked all the bluster and aggressive mannerisms which had deceived some of the A. R. A. men into believing Eiduk was a man who could get results. Djerjinsky apparently was the anthesis of the traditional go-getter. Except for a calm imperturbability, there was nothing in his bearing to suggest the capable executive.

Railroad Service Better Under New Chief's Rule.

"It gave great pleasure to the A. R. A. men to notice that, whenever the railway experts were asked to state the number of cars they could provide at a certain point, Djerjinsky always warned his men to promise only what they were absolutely sure they could carry out. The absolute reliability of all the information secured from the railways under Djerjinsky's administration, no less than the improvement of the service, won the admiration of the A. R. A. traffic men for the new railway chief."

As a result of these conferences with Kameneff and Djerjinsky, Haskell was allowed to deal directly with the railway officials. He telegraphed Hoover that co-operation had been obtained.

"And so ended an episode which was the turning point in the A. R. A.'s relation with the Soviet Government," Fisher says. "Had Kameneff been less flexible, had the affairs been left in the hands of Eiduk, or of a die-hard Communist, there would have come a disaster. Had the violation of the agreement not been whole-heartedly repudiated, the suspension of the A. R. A. program would have continued, and the reasons therefore published. There would have followed bitter controversy, and perhaps wholesale seizure of American relief supplies. At any rate, the heavy price would have been paid by the hungry millions, who, soon, with the swift mounting of American feeding, found security from starvation in the sacks of golden corn.

"In quite a different respect is this incident remarkable. Communists in Russia, near-Communists and others in the United States, delighted in accusing the A. R. A. of being in Russia not for relief, but for economic espionage, and in abusing Hoover as the arch-enemy of the proletarian state, stopping at nothing in his efforts to destroy the Soviet Government and discredit the Communist cause.

Chance to Harm Soviet Passed Up by Hoover.

"It is doubtful if anyone ever had such a perfect weapon to injure the Soviet Government as Haskell's telegram placed in Hoover's hand. Merely to have published it, without comment, would have loosed a wave of anti-communistic attack that would have washed away the pedestal of respectability that Soviet diplomacy was painfully building. Moreover, publication of this telegram would have effectively turned the tables on those who during these critical months had been accusing Hoover and the A. R. A. of misrepresenting the seriousness of the transport situation in order to reduce the volume of relief, and thereby injure Russia. The telegram was never published, for the A. R. A. was engaged in the business of saving human life."

In that encounter Haskell not only secured

Menace of Russian Bolshevism and World Peace

BY MARSHAL FOCH, O. M.
Generalissimo of the Allied Forces, 1918
(In an Interview)

Copyright, 1927, by the Press and Pulitzer Publishing Cos. (The New York World and the Post-Dispatch.)

RUSSIA is like a house that is being built on a marshy quagmire, and I see little prospect of improvement where she is concerned. Consider the naked facts: A country spiritually neither wholly western nor wholly eastern; with a population that combines the Slav yearning for novelty and revolution with the tortuous cynicism and barbarism of the Tartar; a tyranny exercised by a minority that would subvert every institution that we hold to be indispensable; a new religion, or credo, that threatens to submerge our Western World if we do not unite and make a common front against its attacks.

No, I see little prospect of Bolshevism's terminating as a system of government for many years. The Russian is too supine and lethargic to fight his own battles.

On an historic occasion, in February, 1919, during the early days of Leninism, when at the Ambassadors' Conference and also at a meeting of the Allies, I declared that if only the states surrounding Russia were provided with ammunition and the sinews of war I would undertake to stamp out the Bolshevist menace once for all. I was overruled on the ground of war weariness, but the sequel soon showed how right I had been.

Proved Right by Time.

When, one year afterwards, the menace of communism had not only grown apace but become so crying a problem that even the most dilatory statesman was compelled to take it into consideration, I again met a certain well-known statesman whose opposition had been the principal instrument of the defeat of my scheme. On meeting him I could not help alluding to my former proposal and pointed out that communism would by then have been stamped out if I had been listened to. "You are quite right," he replied, "and I greatly regret the short-sightedness which I then displayed. I trust you will make no mention of it when you describe the occurrence in your memoirs."

My opinion of Russian mentality, in short, is that owing to its maudlin sentimentality, its tortuous cruelty, and its utter lack of poise and balance, it is incapable of embracing a doctrine as pernicious as communism without the most appalling results accruing from it, while I believe its crusading zeal to be so insistent that only the exercise of combined effort and the most vigilant precautions on the part of France and England will really insure its contagious doctrines being not spread far and wide.

In this domain, as elsewhere, England and France should act not singly but in unison and harmony, while every effort should be made to discourage those guileless traders who so persistently turn their longing eyes to the possibility of trading with Russia. It is this extraordinary gullibility that accounts for the persistence with which the soviets continue to dangle bribe after bribe in the shape of concessions before the deluded eyes of such people.

Policy Toward Germany.

As to Germany, now as heretofore, only one policy holds good: Union between France and England and the strictest observance of treaties. No internal flaws should be permitted to obstruct the great partnership that was cemented between our two countries on the battlefield, for the entente cordiale is the only reliable security against war that the world possesses—Great Britain for economic, political and geographical reasons being committed to take as great an interest in the security of France as if it were her own.

Although there is a genuine and general desire in France to get on the best possible terms with the Reich, the execution of Locarno should ever remain within the framework of the Treaty of Versailles; assuming this disposition on the part of Germany, there is no reason why good relations should not be resumed between the two countries.

But great as is our desire to facilitate a rapprochement with Germany, which—whatever many may say—we are not the last in desiring, I do not see how uneasiness can be dissipated and this rapprochement effected until a new spirit of conciliation is visible in that country; until, in fact, she has consented to dissolve her military associations, satisfactorily dispose of the arsenals which she is keeping in violation of the treaties, and also complete the destruction of the forbidden fortifications. I confess that I have so far seen little sign of such a disposition.

Disarmament Utopian.

I hold the view, therefore, that disarmament is utopian, since no country can possibly agree to disarm so long as there are unknown factors in superior industrial equipment which might give, as in the case of Germany an advantage to any particular country.

If England and France had always remained united, the last war would never have taken place. And if our present entente remains tomorrow as it is today, the peace of the world will be assured for many years, since there is no country that will dare to challenge this combined hegemony.

I consider that Germany is now at the cross-roads and that however great her desire to keep a foot in both camps, she will have to choose definitely between an orientation westward or eastward.

One of the principal reasons given in support of the admission of Germany to the League of Nations was the belief that when this had taken place she would align herself with the rest of Europe against the Bolshevists. For a considerable time she has successfully evaded this issue, but she can no longer do so—thanks to the firm attitude taken by the British Government which is compelling her to come out into the open. My belief is that the day is approaching when she will have to turn westward and so help us to defeat the common enemy. As for Russian communism, it will doubtless linger on for many years if we do not all follow the British example.

Keep Pacts Implacably.

In regard to the peace agreements, I hold that they should be maintained implacably. Trianon and all the other treaties cannot and must not be revised, for if any readjustment of frontiers is made to the benefit of any one state it would set a precedent that might lead to the reopening of innumerable frontier disputes which have been settled.

In conclusion, while I feel distinctly hopeful with regard to the future of my country, and hold the view that the peace of the world would not easily be disturbed if Great Britain and France constituted themselves guardians of the peace treaties (those parts which, as Benes has written, are the juridical basis of the new world), I considered that the future of the two countries that have lately completely revolutionized their constitution is equally secure.

I feel that Mussolini has immensely benefited and increased the prestige and prosperity of Italy and that his system will long remain the established form of government of that country if only he lives to complete his work. Should he die, however, before terminating his program, I foresee trouble and possibly counter-revolutions.

WATCHING PLANES LAND AT WORLD'S LARGEST AIRPORT IS BERLIN'S NEWEST FAD

Crowds at Tempelhofer Feld Reminiscent of Days of First Steam Trains—25 Passenger Flyers Arrive There Daily.

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and the New York Evening World.

BERLIN, Aug. 27.

IF YOU ever lived in a small town you may recall that one of the principal diversions, after the day's work was over, was to visit the railway station to watch the trains come in. And this is one of the principal diversions in Berlin today—only instead of trains the visitors watch airplanes arrive.

At the Tempelhofer Feld, as the airport of Berlin is called, more than 25 passenger airplanes depart every day for Paris, London, Stockholm, Moscow, Warsaw, Vienna, Munich, Zurich and other points north, east south and west. It is the greatest airport in the world. Naturally as many planes arrive daily from the same cities. And as most of the departures are in the morning and most of the arrivals are in the late afternoon it is quite the fad to ride out to the flying field, which is only ten or twelve minutes from the heart of the city, to watch the planes come in.

When St. Louis builds its airport it should copy many of the features of this great flying field, which before the war was the Kaiser's famous parade ground. In addition to the necessary hangars, administration buildings and a hospital, the Tempelhofer Feld has two large restaurants—one a summer garden adjoining the cement runway on which the planes take off and the other a terrace restaurant from which the diners can watch the planes arrive. In addition, there is an enormous parking space for motor cars—a very necessary provision, as flying fields as a rule have to be located a considerable distance from the center of the city.

Comfort and Cheer for Visitors.

Under the gayly colored umbrellas that cover the tables in the summer garden hundreds of Berliners take their afternoon coffee while watching one of the most interesting sights Europe has to offer. The time may come when airports will be as common as railway stations, but even then restaurant facilities will be needed, for planes, like trains, have a habit of running behind time. And friends who are waiting for arriving travelers must be made comfortable. But for a few years at least a big passenger airport anywhere in the world will attract thousands of visitors, and there is every reason why they should be made comfortable.

When you approach the Tempelhofer Feld you will notice thin columns of smoke ascending from various parts of the huge field, which covers nearly a square mile of level ground. These are to show the direction of the wind. As you near the entrance, where you have to pay 40 pfennigs (about 10 cents) to drive in, you will see a collection of spic and span buildings with towers and masts decorated with various flags. Then another order directed that 52 cars, billed by the A. R. A. to Kazan, go instead to Ribinsk for storage, and that all subsequent shipments from Reval port, regardless of A. R. A. orders, go to the same point.

"The object of these orders was to get empty cars which could be returned to Reval, through which the Soviets, as well as the A. R. A. were shipping supplies. The railways took similar action at Koslov, before the A. R. A. had authorized any unloading at that point. Darragh, the A. R. A. controller there, protested to the limit of his vocabulary, and when he resisted the breaking of American seals, was arrested by Cheka."

Haskell Advises Hoover to End Relief Measures.

Haskell made a final effort to see Kameneff and again was put off. He immediately wired to Hoover over the Soviet diplomatic wire, which gave his message the effect of an ultimatum, that he could "positively recommend that not another pound of relief supplies should be added to the existing program." He added, "I recommend that all pending shipments from America be stopped beyond actual present commitments until such time as I can advise how present difficulties are met here and whether a sincere effort to co-operate with us manifests itself. No supplies should be collected in America above our program because they could not be transported to the famine areas before harvest."

This message hardly had reached the wire, Fisher says, when Eiduk telephoned Haskell that Kameneff was eager to see him. After a conference lasting two hours and a half, Kameneff repudiated the railways' actions and promised better co-operation. Haskell accepted the repudiation but was doubtful about the promises. He telegraphed Hoover that "the definite record of services rendered by the Russian Railways and accomplishments in fact were the only evidences acceptable to him from the Russian Government."

Haskell later conferred with the notorious Djerjinsky, who had lately taken over the Commissariat of Communications. Fisher's description of the organizer of Cheka gives an insight into the A. R. A. man's love of result, irrespective of politics or prejudice.

"The A. R. A. found this legendary figure mild-mannered, courteous and soft-spoken," Fisher writes. "He lacked all the bluster and aggressive mannerisms which had deceived some of the A. R. A. men into believing Eiduk was a man who could get results. Djerjinsky apparently was the anthesis of the traditional go-getter. Except for a calm imperturbability, there was nothing in his bearing to suggest the capable executive.

Railroad Service Better Under New Chief's Rule.

"It gave great pleasure to the A. R. A. men to notice that, whenever the railway experts were asked to state the number of cars they could provide at a certain point, Djerjinsky always warned his men to promise only what they were absolutely sure they could carry out. The absolute reliability of all the information secured from the railways under Djerjinsky's administration, no less than the improvement of the service, won the admiration of the A. R. A. traffic men for the new railway chief."

As a result of these conferences with Kameneff and Djerjinsky, Haskell was allowed to deal directly with the railway officials. He telegraphed Hoover that co-operation had been obtained.

"And so ended an episode which was the turning point in the A. R. A.'s relation with the Soviet Government," Fisher says. "Had Kameneff been less flexible, had the affairs been left in the hands of Eiduk, or of a die-hard Communist, there would have come a disaster. Had the violation of the agreement not been whole-heartedly repudiated, the suspension of the A. R. A. program would have continued, and the reasons therefore published. There would have followed bitter controversy, and perhaps wholesale seizure of American relief supplies. At any rate, the heavy price would have been paid by the hungry millions, who, soon, with the swift mounting of American feeding, found security from starvation in the sacks of golden corn.

"In quite a different respect is this incident remarkable. Communists in Russia, near-Communists and others in the United States, delighted in accusing the A. R. A. of being in Russia not for relief, but for economic espionage, and in abusing Hoover as the arch-enemy of the proletarian state, stopping at nothing in his efforts to destroy the Soviet Government and discredit the Communist cause.

Chance to Harm Soviet Passed Up by Hoover.

"It is doubtful if anyone ever had such a perfect weapon to injure the Soviet Government as Haskell's telegram placed in Hoover's hand. Merely to have published it, without comment, would have loosed a wave of anti-communistic attack that would have washed away the pedestal of respectability that Soviet diplomacy was painfully building. Moreover, publication of this telegram would have effectively turned the tables on those who during these critical months had been accusing Hoover and the A. R. A. of misrepresenting the seriousness of the transport situation in order to reduce the volume of relief, and thereby injure Russia. The telegram was never published, for the A. R. A. was engaged in the business of saving human life."

In that encounter Haskell not only secured

Menace of Russian Bolshevism and World Peace

BY MARSHAL FOCH, O. M.
Generalissimo of the Allied Forces, 1918
(In an Interview)

Copyright, 1927, by the Press and Pulitzer Publishing Co. (The New York World and the Post-Dispatch.)

RUSSIA is like a house that is being built on a marshy quagmire, and I see little prospect of improvement where she is concerned. Consider the naked facts: A country spiritually neither wholly western nor wholly eastern; with a population that combines the Slav yearning for novelty and revolution with the tortuous cynicism and barbarism of the Tartar; a tyranny exercised by a minority that would subvert every institution that we hold to be indispensable; a new religion, or credo, that threatens to submerge our Western World if we do not unite and make a common front against its attacks.

No, I see little prospect of Bolshevism's terminating as a system of government for many years. The Russian is too supine and lethargic to fight his own battles.

On an historic occasion, in February, 1919, during the early days of Leninism, when at the Ambassadors' Conference and also at a meeting of the Allies, I declared that if only the states surrounding Russia were provided with ammunition and the sinews of war I would undertake to stamp out the Bolshevist menace once for all. I was overruled on the ground of war weariness, but the sequel soon showed how right I had been.

Proved Right by Time.

When, one year afterwards, the menace of communism had not only grown apace but become so crying a problem that even the most dilatory statesman was compelled to take it into consideration, I again met a certain well-known statesman whose opposition had been the principal instrument of the defeat of my scheme. On meeting him I could not help alluding to my former proposal and pointed out that communism would by then have been stamped out if I had been listened to. "You are quite right," he replied, "and I greatly regret the short-sightedness which I then displayed. I trust you will make no mention of it when you describe the occurrence in your memoirs."

My opinion of Russian mentality, in short, is that owing to its maudlin sentimentality, its tortuous cruelty, and its utter lack of poise and balance, it is incapable of embracing a doctrine as pernicious as communism without the most appalling results accruing from it, while I believe its crusading zeal to be so insistent that only the exercise of combined effort and the most vigilant precautions on the part of France and England will really insure its contagious doctrines being not spread far and wide.

In this domain, as elsewhere, England and France should act not singly but in unison and harmony, while every effort should be made to discourage those guileless traders who so persistently turn their longing eyes to the possibility of trading with Russia. It is this extraordinary gullibility that accounts for the persistence with which the soviets continue to dangle bribe after bribe in the shape of concessions before the deluded eyes of such people.

Policy Toward Germany.

As to Germany, now as heretofore, only one policy holds good: Union between France and England and the strictest observance of treaties. No internal flaws should be permitted to obstruct the great partnership that was cemented between our two countries on the battlefield, for the entente cordiale is the only reliable security against war that the world possesses—Great Britain for economic, political and geographical reasons being committed to take as great an interest in the security of France as if it were her own.

Although there is a genuine and general desire in France to get on the best possible terms with the Reich, the execution of Locarno should ever remain within the framework of the Treaty of Versailles; assuming this disposition on the part of Germany, there is no reason why good relations should not be resumed between the two countries.

But great as is our desire to facilitate a rapprochement with Germany, which—whatever many may say—we are not the last in desiring, I do not see how uneasiness can be dissipated and this rapprochement effected until a new spirit of conciliation is visible in that country; until, in fact, she has consented to dissolve her military associations, satisfactorily dispose of the arsenals which she is keeping in violation of the treaties, and also complete the destruction of the forbidden fortifications. I confess that I have so far seen little sign of such a disposition.

Disarmament Utopian.

I hold the view, therefore, that disarmament is utopian, since no country can possibly agree to disarm so long as there are unknown factors in superior industrial equipment which might give, as in the case of Germany an advantage to any particular country.

If England and France had always remained united, the last war would never have taken place. And if our present entente remains tomorrow as it is today, the peace of the world will be assured for many years, since there is no country that will dare to challenge this combined hegemony.

I consider that Germany is now at the cross-roads and that however great her desire to keep a foot in both camps, she will have to choose definitely between an orientation westward or eastward.

One of the principal reasons given in support of the admission of Germany to the League of Nations was the belief that when this had taken place she would align herself with the rest of Europe against the Bolshevists. For a considerable time she has successfully evaded this issue, but she can no longer do so—thanks to the firm attitude taken by the British Government which is compelling her to come out into the open. My belief is that the day is approaching when she will have to turn westward and so help us to defeat the common enemy. As for Russian communism, it will doubtless linger on for many years if we do not all follow the British example.

Keep Pacts Implacably.

In regard to the peace agreements, I hold that they should be maintained implacably. Trianon and all the other treaties cannot and must not be revised, for if any readjustment of frontiers is made to the benefit of any one state it would set a precedent that might lead to the reopening of innumerable frontier disputes which have been settled.

In conclusion, while I feel distinctly hopeful with regard to the future of my country, and hold the view that the peace of the world would not easily be disturbed if Great Britain and France constituted themselves guardians of the peace treaties (those pacts which, as Benes has written, are the juridical basis of the new world), I considered that the future of the two countries that have lately completely revolutionized their constitution is equally secure.

I feel that Mussolini has immensely benefited and increased the prestige and prosperity of Italy and that his system will long remain the established form of government of that country if only he lives to complete his work. Should he die, however, before terminating his program, I foresee trouble and possibly counter-revolutions.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Reasons For Death Penalty.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I DO not think Mr. William D. Edwards who does not believe in capital punishment, has ever been confronted by a highwayman with a gun. Others have, Mr. Edwards, and in most cases the highwayman knew how to use the gun and was willing to use it if necessary. Had you been held up and shot without a chance to defend yourself, your murderer would be apprehended, given a fair trial, lawyers to defend him and possibly after much expense to the State condemned to die. Compared to the manner in which he shot you down, do you think that he was treated fairly and deserved to die? This, Mr. Edwards, is a basic reason for capital punishment, to make the aggressor hesitate. If he were punished the same for murder as for robbery, he would not hesitate at murder.

Again, after putting the State to much expense to conduct a trial, why should a man when found guilty be kept for life as an added burden on the State? Many, when given life sentence are paroled and soon find their way back to the courts for new offenses.

There are persons put to death for crimes they have not committed, but not thousands of them as you claim. The odds are always in favor of the prisoner.

When you've been confronted by a gun without a chance to help yourself, Mr. Edwards, I think you will change your mind. C. J. S.

Fabulous Russia.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

THE very latest news from Russia tells of armies of starving children sweeping through Moscow. It is not generally known that the food supplies in Russia gave out long ago and the people that starved to death last year are all starving to death again this year. And the crops have failed three times since the first of March.

The supply of vodka of all officials and police has been cut to one quart a day, and it is feared it won't last, for the wild children from the woods are making raids on it and nothing can stop them.

It has been noticed that the lines of latitude and longitude run zigzag all over Russia and the sun does not shine there more than one-half the time, and the compass does not point north any more. The zenith has shifted its position and now points at an angle F. O. B. to the horizon. And the Government is still going down, falling and tottering and collapsing just the same as ever.

Russia is shrinking dreadfully. What little of Petrograd is left is only 38 miles from Moscow. The Ural Mountains have shrunk till they are not more than knee high, but the country is so much smaller that they can be seen from Moscow. The thunder comes before the lightning, so one cannot tell which way to dodge, and there is no more hope for Russia, for all the rainbows they have are little dinky affairs that have to be propped up with poles. ### The Problem of Governmental Coercion.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

HUGH RUSSELL FRASER'S letter reminds me of a curious and sinister dilemma.

No one doubts that social order involves some degree of governmental coercion of the individual. No one doubts that unlimited governmental coercion of the individual would be as fatal to social order, and to all that anyone could plausibly mean by progress and worthwhileness of human life, as would pure anarchism.

Thus Demos finds himself between the horns of a dilemma. You would naturally think that a being so highly endowed with reasoning power as Demos really is would long since have thanked the Lord for narrowing the range of sensible human conversation about government, and having indicated beyond question that the crux of the problem is: How much coercion of the individual?

But, no. Instead of recognizing that in a world of human beings of widely varying moral and rational reactions the line of workable limits for governmental coercion can never be hard and fast; and that government, therefore, must at best reflect not an affair of fixed principle but a tentative cross-section of that elusive thing we call public opinion, men have traditionally clouded human thought about the nature of government by endless argument implying that one or the other of the two horns of our political dilemma must support the true theory. Witness the hoary controversy of individualism vs. collectivism. It simmered down to counter charges of addiction to pure individualism on the one hand, and pure collectivism on the other.

Neither charge was true. Common sense knew better, and so democracy has muddled through, in a way, but common sense has never yet clearly visualized its curious neglect of our basic need to draw the line of limitation for governmental coercion of the individual in full view of the palpable truth that neither the will of God, nor act of man, nor consent of governed can ever make that line anything but a reflex of such judgment of human nature as any people can muster.

S. D. MERTON.

399 B. C.—1927 A. D.

Socrates, of whom it has been said that he brought thought down to the earth and gave it to men, was executed in 399 B. C. for "rejecting the gods of the city, introducing new divinities, and corrupting the youth." He proposed to his judges that they build a monument to him as a public benefactor, a proposal to which they responded by sentencing him to death. Here is what Socrates said to his judges, one of the greatest and truest of human utterances:

> You shall not escape the consequences of this deed, however much you may think so. Men will come after you to reproach you, younger men whose accusations will be very hard to bear. You cannot escape blame by putting men to death; no, for the only and sure way is not to silence reproaches but to live a life so perfect that it is above reproach.

John Huss was burned at Constance, Switzerland, for heresy July 6, 1415. He left Prague after a long and rebellious scholastic career for fear the fundamentalists of that time would take his life, but they followed and executed him. The fury of the Bohemian's followers involved his country in one of the most terrible wars in history. He became then and is today the symbol of rationalism in Central Europe.

Joan of Arc, the Maid of Orleans, was burned at Rouen for sorcery, May 30, 1431. The evidence against her was so slight that she was long held in suspense by the British, whose captive she was. They finally immolated her for political reasons which made the evidence against her quite adequate. She became one of the most picturesque of historical characters, the inspiration of poets and playwrights. Mark Twain wrote a book about her, and she is the subject of a play by George Bernard Shaw. She has become the symbol of cruelty, the touchstone of our incredible heartlessness.

Savonarola was hanged at Florence for heresy July 6, 1415. A bronze tablet marks the spot where perished on the gibbet the former idol of the Florentines, whose passion for reform carried him at last into the net of the waiting conservatives. He was an intense champion of the masses, scorned the reigning house of the Medicis, and for a time maintained in Florence what modern Europe would term a dictatorship of the proletariat. Ostensibly a heretic, he was in truth executed for his political beliefs. His impression upon civilization was tremendous, and his influence can hardly be said to have perished from the earth today. He may be said to have been one of those who, destroying feudalism, gave the world democracy.

Giordano Bruno, father of pantheism, was burned at Rome for heresy Feb. 17, 1600. One of the great scholars of all time, a man whose writings profoundly influenced Spinoza, Hegel, Kant and Bergson, he could not keep away from Italy and so fell into the hands of the Inquisition. Bruno said before the pyre was lighted:

> You, O my judges! feel perchance more terror in pronouncing this judgment than I do in facing it.

As well they might. Nor is delay in the law a new thing. Bruno also lay in prison seven years before he was burned.

John Brown, abolitionist, was hanged at Charlestown, W. Va., Dec. 2, 1859. He led a raid on the Federal arsenal at Harper's Ferry, and was charged with treason. He was a fanatic, but nevertheless his rash act and its consequences were among the prime causes of the Civil War. The favorite camp and marching song of the Union troops was "John Brown's Body Lies a Mould'ring in the Ground." According to that song, his soul was still marching on, and they marched with it.

It was to this impressive list of those, irrespective of their faults, whose dramatic death scenes graphically illustrate human progress, that Massachusetts added Monday night by electrocution Nicolo Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti, who are henceforth to symbolize legal injustice in that State. Vanzetti said:

> If it had not been for these thing, I might have live out my life, talking at street corners to scorning men. I might have die, unmarked, unknown, a failure. Now we are not a failure. This is our career and our triumph. Never in our full life can we hope to do such work for tolerance, for joostice, for man's onderstanding of man, as now we do by an accident. Our words, our lives—our pains—nothing! The taking of our lives—lives of a good shoemaker and a poor fish-peddler—all! That last moment belong to us—that agony is our triumph!

Like many of these others, Sacco and Vanzetti were of the lowly of this earth. We do not know if they were guilty or not. They did not die like it. Neither does Massachusetts know. If she had, she would not have waited seven years to kill them.

We do, however, know that they long ago entered that great domain of human psychology in which time at last evaluates all things truly, making the calendar of intolerance and injustice complete from 399 B. C. to 1927 A. D.

ACHILLES HEEL OR HOMERIC NOD?

There is scarcely a good orthodox Republican in the whole country but has sagely remarked at some time or other in this post-war period that Andrew W. Mellon is the greatest Secretary of the Treasury since Alexander Hamilton. And now former Gov. Pinchot of Pennsylvania, addressing the Winona Lake Congress, declares that Mr. Mellon is "the chief obstacle to complete enforcement of prohibition in the United States." And the Washington correspondent of the New Republic, commenting genially on Mr. Coolidge's withdrawal, observes that the banking interests of the East—meaning New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts, Connecticut and New Hampshire—can, and will, name the next Republican candidate for the presidency, and the most powerful of those interests, the final voice of authority, are, he says, the Mellon interests. Still, this Nietzschean superman, it will be recalled, was not able to put over his distinguished candidate for the United States Senate in that memorable "golden primary." How do his courtiers or his tireless critic, Pinchot, diagnose that? Achilles heel or Homeric nod?

ALABAMA—ON SHE GOES!

The onward march of Alabama continues. She has sent a number of her floggers to jail. She has set in motion a wave that will drown Tom Heflin in ridicule. And now an enlightened grand jury, finding the Ku Klux Klan guilty of "intolerable" outrages, moves unanimously for a law forbidding masking on the public highways.

If Massachusetts—there she stands!—sickens the heart, turn to Alabama for relief.

SHADED HIGHWAYS.

If Missouri has been the last State to build her sector of a national highway from the Atlantic to the Pacific, she can be the first to institute the refinement of shade trees along the highway, an improvement that despite its youth, is winning for Ontario and Quebec, two of the Canadian provinces, the acclaim of every automobile tourist who visits them.

Why not begin in Missouri by shading the State highway from St. Louis to Kansas City? It would make Missouri unique among the states traversed by this great national avenue. We have a profusion of trees adaptable to such a use. Some of the old pike roads in the State were made beautiful in this way with elms, oaks, sycamores, cottonwoods, hackberries, box elders, wild cherry, persimmon, sassafras, walnut, hickory, butternut and sugar maples. No one who has ever motored on those old highways in summer and known the grateful shade of their trees will ever forget them.

Indeed, it is in this way that every highway in Missouri can be made lovely and in a practicable sense peculiar to the State. The heat of the sun is an abomination to every motorist who has a tire to change, and how the shade of the roadside tree is everywhere sought for a noonday luncheon! Why not capitalize that well known fact and make Missouri highways famous for shade?

Ontario for several years paid 80 per cent of the cost of planting trees beside the highways, assessing the balance to the counties. In six years there were planted under this policy 14,378 trees. Quebec assumes the entire cost of tree planting beside the highways, and is putting them in at the rate of 20,000 per annum. She is now in the fourth year of this program.

What an idea for Missouri! And what a time to begin when the highways are themselves new and popular enthusiasm in them is active!

A DIVINE DEVICE.

We have good news for those chronic crabs who are always saying that politics is very, very bad, and that nothing much can seemingly be done about it. This news is that a German psychologist has invented a machine which will probe the human soul.

What has this to do with the uplifting of politics? you may ask. Why it has everything to do with it! Our proposal is that this spiritual diagnostician be persuaded to bring his device to this country, and give it a thorough test. If it makes good we'll have laws passed requiring every elected or appointed office holder, before he assumes his tasks, to undergo the ordeal of this soul testing machine, and come through with a high rating. Then we could sleep at nights in the knowledge that our rulers had such admirable qualities as idealism, will power, charity and "good"—all of which the German inventor claims can be detected by his machine.

Think what trouble such a proceeding would make impossible! Just recall what trouble it would have made impossible, had we possessed it back in March, 1921, when Harding assumed office. We would have had no Ohio Gang, with its purple spectacle of corruption and carnality. We would have had no Forbes and no Fall. The Navy would have kept Teapot Dome and Elk Hills, instead of having to take them back in a second-hand condition.

Bring on that device!

FREE CITIES.

While our Latin-American policy was being bombarded at the Williamstown Institute of Politics, Gov. Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland was exploding an even more significant bombshell at the Institute of Public Affairs of the University of Virginia. He was sounding a clarion call to the cities of the country to throw off the yokes of bondage by which the Legislatures now control them, and to become really free cities.

Gov. Ritchie expressed his thankfulness that a pronounced current in this direction already was making itself felt. But he appeared to think that this had originated from the cities' dislike of the abuses of some state commissions, and the reluctance of some State Supreme Courts to recognize the constitutionality of local regulations such as zoning ordinances. In this, we believe, Mr. Ritchie is mistaken. Those are irritants which the cities resent but which they probably would have submitted to had not something occurred to make the dominance of the rural interests unbearable.

This something was the capitulation of the country politicians, who control the Legislatures, to the demands of the Anti-Saloon League and the consequent saddling of prohibition upon urbanites who were bitterly opposed to it. Then the unrest which had been accumulating because of the rural interference in the moral life of the city dweller—an interference which had already, in most places, produced laws against such things as boxing matches and betting on horse races—produced a reaction which rivals anything of the sort ever known in our political history.

Today this reaction is gaining in momentum. The political teachings of Thomas Jefferson, that greatest of all the apostles of local self-government and individual rights, have experienced a rebirth and are being indorsed by politicians of all colors. Gov. Ritchie, like Senator Reed and Gov. Smith, sees this, and has sounded a call in which the other contenders for the Democratic nomination should join him. The principles with which Jefferson endowed the party are precisely those for which the cities are now yearning, and which will show them the way to freedom.

HOW TO MAKE REVOLUTIONS.

To make a revolution all you have to do is grind the people under the heels of a few exploiters, leave it long enough to ferment and then stir with a competent agitator like Danton, Juarez, Sun Yat Sen, Bolivar, Tom Paine or Lenine, and you have your blow-off.

They are having one just now in Bolivia. Three recent travelers have told us what is the matter with Bolivia. Nine-tenths of the people in Bolivia are exploited by the other tenth. You can see the sort of thing that inspired "The Man With the Hoe" all over the country—a people debased in body and intellect until they are of no use either to those who hold them in bondage or themselves.

They have at last revolted. What else could they do?

SHADED HIGHWAYS—AN IDEA FOR MISSOURI.

RELUCTANT IMPERIALISM

Have United States Marines, Like the Ancient Mariner, Shot the Bird That Made the Wind Blow?

CHARLES S. DETWEILER, in The Baptist.

THREE hundred Nicaraguans, the larger part of a band that attacked a small and isolated garrison of marines, were recently slaughtered by airplane bombers of the United States marine corps. The State Department said that they were bandits. Even their former liberal commander-in-chief has disowned them. But their leader claimed to be fighting to vindicate the national honor; and by defying the marines he expected to appeal in a dramatic way to the conscience of the world. Already his appeal has awakened sympathetic response in Latin America and outbursts of horror at the methods of our Government. Have the United States marines, like the Ancient Mariner, shot the bird that made the wind blow? Has the imperialism of the United States killed pan-American friendship?

For the most part, the American people are unconscious of any imperialistic design upon Latin American countries; and it would surprise them to learn how many separate military interventions have occurred in the Caribbean between 1898 and 1927; in Cuba, four; in Panama, five; in Nicaragua, six; in Santo Domingo, one; in Haiti, one; in Mexico, two; in Honduras, six; in Costa Rica, one. Some of these have attracted little attention, as they were unattended by any loss of life and were for short periods.

But Latin American countries are fully aware of the steady advance of the political influence of the United States, and as far away as Argentine popular protests have been awakened. President Coolidge in a speech in New York on April 25, definitely stated that the United States had a moral responsibility for the countries north of Panama not attaching to other nations; in effect he seemed to say that we had assumed a mandate for them. Of these countries, Mexico is the only one strong enough to make an effective protest; and Mexico is apparently seeking the sympathies of all the other Spanish-speaking republics and carrying on a newspaper propaganda against Yankee imperialism. In appraising this situation, the following facts should be kept in mind:

1. There have always been in each republic men of influence who were willing to co-operate with American intervention and profit by it. President Diaz of Nicaragua invited our Government to send marines to his country. Even in Mexico, while no one would suggest military intervention, presidential candidates in their pronouncements seem to make a bid for American support.

2. The United States Government has other expedients besides military intervention for carrying out its policy in these countries; these are the recognition or nonrecognition of Presidents, the placing or the lifting of an embargo on the shipment of arms and the approving or disapproving of loans from American banks.

3. There are never lacking weighty reasons for exercising political pressure upon these weaker republics. First of all, there is the growing demand for the protection of our citizens and their property. In the second place, the citizens of European countries must be protected, as the Monroe Doctrine bars their Governments from intervention. In the third place, the internal affairs of a Caribbean republic may become so distressful by reason of civil strife, that the interests of humanity demand intervention. This is what happened this last year in Nicaragua. Under the circumstances, the forcible disarmament of both factions was the wisest policy, but it is true that our Government was responsible in large measure for those circumstances by its previous blundering. If it had not given moral and material support to Adolfo Diaz, his Government would have quickly fallen and there would have been no prolonged civil strife. Finally there are the interests of the United States in the Panama Canal and in the second canal on which we have purchased an option from Nicaragua. Last winter it was announced from Washington that the success of the liberal revolution, backed as it was by Mexico, and with tendencies toward bolshevism, would endanger the Isthmian canal interests. Washington evidently fears Mexican influence in Central America.

4. Our policy in the Caribbean has earned for us the ill-will of all Latin America. There has been a disparity between our theory and our practice. We have disclaimed having any designs upon our fellow republics prejudicial to their liberty, their independence, and their sovereignty; and yet their sovereignty has been provisionally set aside by our intervention and their consciousness of nationhood wounded. Herein is the cause of most of their distrust and hatred of the United States.

5. On the other hand, our intervention has been of marked material benefit to each country concerned. Vera Cruz was a new city after the American occupation in the time of President Wilson. Cuba and Santo Domingo have been set forward many years in the progress of civilization because of the administration of American Governors for periods of a few years. Haiti is now being transformed by sanitation, public works, educational and financial reforms. There is no question but that Nicaragua will benefit greatly because of the temporary marine occupation. It is even likely that the liberals who raised the revolution against the Diaz Government, and who were thwarted in their purpose by our Government, will win the presidency next year in orderly elections under foreign supervision. It seems a pity that we cannot help these countries without provoking anti-American outbursts of wrath and without such a heavy cost in human life. If there must be intervention in the interest of humanity, could not other Latin American nations be associated with the United States in accordance with some plan previously agreed upon?

Meanwhile our overlordship in the Caribbean is a growing concern to other nations. We are reluctant to acknowledge imperialism, but our achievements outrun our conscious purposes. It is time to ask whither we are drifting as a result of maintaining the Monroe Doctrine as an unilateral policy.

FABLE.

NOW the King of the Land that Never Was, being minded to conduct an experiment, called before him the Chancellor of the Royal Exchequer and the Court Poet, and said, "Speak, vassals, the desire of your heart, and it shall be granted."

And the Chancellor of the Exchequer, being material-minded, answered, "Sire, that I may be happy."

But the Court Poet, who saw things no other man saw, and was angry at being disturbed while writing a sonnet, said only, "Discontent." Now the King thought this a queer request, but poets always have been considered a queer lot.

And the Chancellor, being happy, never noticed the magic of the moon, nor the light of love in a maiden's eyes, nor the song of birds, nor the innocence of childhood. But because there was in him that which demanded more than the counting of pence, as he lay on his deathbed, the Chancellor exclaimed, "I am discontented."

But the poet, being discontented, fell in love with the maiden of heart's desire, which is a failing poets have. But being discontented that he could not give her all that he wished, he went to work, which is a failing poets conquer as best they can. And in the evening, enchanted by the magic of the moon, and the song of birds, and the innocent laughter of children, and the light of love in his lady's eyes, he hymned her praises. But because he never was satisfied that any poem was an adequate expression of his affection and his lady's charms, he sang every night, so that, as he lay dying, he exclaimed, "I die happy."

MRS. MARGARET IVES DIES IN SWITZERLAND

Widow of Art Museum Director and Daughter of Rufus J. Lackland.

Word of the death at Lucerne, Switzerland, of Mrs. Margaret Ives, widow of Halsey C. Ives, artist and director of the St. Louis Art Museum, was received here yesterday by her nephew, Edgar Lackland Taylor, of 4607 Maryland avenue, in a telegram from her son, Neil Ives, of Woodstock, N. Y.

Ives announced he had received a cablegram from his sister, Miss Caroline Ives, who was accompanying her mother on a world tour, that Mrs. Ives had died suddenly Friday. The cause of death was not given.

Mrs. Ives was 69 years old and made her home at Hotel Chase. She and Miss Ives left St. Louis in April, intending to travel for a year. She was the daughter of the late Rufus J. Lackland, banker and St. Louis County farm owner, for whose family Lackland road was named.

MacDonald to Stay in Public Life.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Aug. 24.—Ramsay MacDonald's recent declaration concerning his health has provoked a storm of discussion. "I am going to turn over no new leaf," MacDonald said. "I am not going to take care of my health any more than I did before." MacDonald's serious illness during his recent visit to the United States and his enforced rest from leadership of the Labor party on his return gave rise to rumors that he must leave public life. The former Labor Premier's declaration that he will carry on at any cost has won much approval from public men, who believe there is too much mollycoddling nowadays.

Russian Relief and Recognition

his direct contact with the transportation officials, but obtained more cars and eventually was repaid for the corn.

After the 1922 harvest, and after the A. R. A. had reached 10,490,297 Russians with its American supplies, the Soviet officials again attempted to repudiate their agreement. Eiduk, who had consistently hampered the A. R. A. men in Moscow and in the provinces, had been supplanted by Lander, who had been working harmoniously with the Americans. In the second episode, when the Riga agreement was tentatively repudiated, the Soviets were able to obtain a compromise.

The Russian harvest in, the A. R. A. was prepared to adapt its program to fighting the effects of the famine. A tentative program calling for feeding 3,000,000 children was under consideration. Haskell informed Kameneff that the A. R. A. would continue its work in Russia only under provisions of the Riga agreement. Kameneff replied it was his opinion that it would be unnecessary to conclude a supplementary agreement. He stated that he presumed an exchange of letters between Haskell and himself would suffice to reach an understanding.

New Set of Rules Made by Soviet Headquarters.

Haskell therefore was amazed in October, when one Sunday afternoon a messenger from Lander's office handed him an undated memorandum which said in effect that all future relief work would have to be conducted through a new Soviet organization, the Central Committee for Fighting the Consequences of the Famine (shorteend by the Russians to "Posledgol") and that no more kitchens or other relief stations of any kind would be permitted where similar soviet institutions already existed. It further stated that dry rations must be supplied to the existing soviet stations, and that where new kitchens were opened, permission must be secured in advance from the Soviet Government.

Regarding what was known as the "food draft parcels"—$10 packages paid for by individuals outside Russia and payable in food to individuals or groups in Russia—the memorandum stated: "The Trade Union organizations are to be drawn into the closest participation in the distribution of parcels. It also is necessary to grant the Russian Trade Union the right of ordering and buying parcels in preference to other persons and organizations. The representatives of the Soviet Government and the Trade Union reserve the right of controlling the distribution of parcels and refusing to permit the delivery of parcels where speculation or abuse is discovered."

As for medical supplies, the memorandum stated the same principles applied to food relief and parcels delivery should be applied, namely, that the selection of the beneficiaries and the allocation of supplies should be only by agreement with the Commissariat of Health. These demands violated three fundamental paragraphs in the Riga agreement: (1) That the A. R. A. should be allowed to set up the necessary organizations for carrying out its relief work free from governmental and other interference; (2) that in obtaining Russian and other personnel, the A. R. A. should have complete freedom as to selection, and (3) that the A. R. A. relief would be for the children and the sick, without regard to race, religion, or social or political status.

Haskell Delivers Ultimatum.

Haskell delivered a 46-hour ultimatum to Lander. After stating his objections to the memorandum, he bluntly concluded by asking: "Does the Soviet Government intend to maintain the sanctity of the Riga agreement during the time the American Relief Administration continues its relief operations in Russia?"

Five hours later, Haskell had an informal explanation from Lander, which said that he had not intended to raise the question of revision of the Riga agreement and the memorandum was issued for other relief organizations. One hour before the ultimatum expired, he presented a formal answer which said that while the question of revision of the Riga agreement had not been raised by his Government, its details and its interpretation were subject to discussion and negotiation for the purpose of co-ordinating the work. After considerable negotiation, the A. R. A. finally decided to interpret the agreement liberally, and by reducing its program, gradually concentrated its feeding in soviet institutions, under close A. R. A. inspection.

While Moscow was having its difficulties, the men in the provinces were having more trouble with the actual distribution. They were confronted by orders signed by Lander and Kameneva, Commissar Kameneva's wife and a sister of Trotzky, telling them that an agreement had been reached between the soviet officials and the A. R. A. in Moscow, whereby all future supplies were to be turned over to the soviet officials. Even after the Moscow office had refused the demands of the soviet officials, the A. R. A. men in the provinces were met with two other orders which said that the supplies must be turned over to the soviet officials for distribution.

Men Ordered to Sit Tight.

Very little, if any, American food was turned over. The Moscow A. R. A. had ordered its men in the provinces to sit tight and handle the distribution themselves.

Fisher's history does not go into detail on the methods by which soviet officials, on direct orders from the Moscow center, attempted from the very outset to get control of the American food and medical supplies. He contents himself with such paragraphs as: "In Gomel, the provincial authorities were at first extremely eager to be agreeable and all went well until a liaison representative appeared, who had been sent down by Eiduk's office to make matters easier for he A. R. A.

"With his arrival troubles began, and continued as long as he was on the ground to prevent direct relations with the head of the provvince, who was an able and broadminded young communist."

Concerning living conditions Fisher has this to say: "Attempts to supply Orenburg with interpreters imported from Moscow never met with success, for after two or three days in that wild and uncivilized town, neither arguments, the promise of reward in this world and the next, or anything else to persuade a Moscow citizen to tarry longer." Yet the Americans were there, exposing themselves to typhus and the bandits. Harold Blandy of New York, who had served with the British air forces in the World War, died of typhus in Ufa in May 1922, and in October, the same year, Philip B. Shield of Richmond, Va., a wearer of the Croix de Guerre, disappeared. The only tenable explanation of his disappearance was that he had been killed by bandits whose depredations on an A. R. A. warehouse he had uncovered.

Sources of Soviet Enmity.

Throughout his book, Fisher makes plain his conception of why the soviet officials refused wholehearted support to the American program—the organization for hich was identical to that gladly accepted by Middle Europe and the Balkans. He emphasizes that they were afraid of a bourgeois organization, headed by an American Cabinet officer who was opposed to the Soviet Government. He points out that they tried to get control of the distribution in order to get credit for the supplies. The soviet officials did effect a change in the A. R. A.'s administrative system, for the most enthusiastic A. R. A. worker would not contend that the A. R. A. was able to use the fullest extent in Russia, the technique the A. R. A. workers developed in Belgium, Poland, Germany and Austria, where they obtained the utmost co-operation from the governments.

The reader will ask: Why did the A. R. A. stay in Russia when the soviet officials tried to repudiate their agreements and to hamper the relief workers in every conceivable way?

The answer to that is given in the statistical tables in Fisher's heavily documented book. These tables show that approximately $8,000,000 worth of medical supplies were distributed where they would save the most Russian lives, that more than 4,000,000 children and 6,000,000 adults received food, and that at least a million lives were saved.

That was a work of charity. Recognition of Soviet Russia is a matter of governmental policy and business. Recognition may come some day, but if Secretary Hoover has anything to do with it, it will be after the Soviet officials give evidence that they will respect their governmental and business obligations more sincerely than they did their obligations in the famine relief work. That is the big impression one gets from the book.

ZONING LAWS AID GERMAN CITIES DEAL WITH SMOKE

Chairman of St. Louis Abatement League Reports His Findings on Tour in Europe.

There is plenty of smoke in European cities, but the factories making it are located where prevailing winds will blow it away, Victor J. Azbe, chairman of the Citizens' Smoke Abatement League, has discovered on his European tour to study European methods of dealing with smoke.

His first report, submitted to the Smoke Abatement League here from Berlin, said he had found more of a social conscience with respect to smoke among individuals in Germany than here.

"They have smoke in Europe, plenty of smoke," the report read. "Hamburg apparently has nearly as much smoke as St. Louis, but the smoke there is not of a particularly harmful variety. Why this is so, I have not been fully informed.

Zoning Laws in Force.

"There is smoke in Berlin also, but it is not apparent in the western and central sections. I am accustomed to changing my shirt every second day in St. Louis. Here, however, my collars and shirts do not appear to get dirty. With the high cost of laundry in hotels, I am tempted to and certainly could wear my shirts a whole week.

"The reason why smoke is not so apparent in the residential and business sections in Germany lies in the long established German zoning laws. These have been handed down in part from the old Roman times. Almost invariably the factory district of a German city is in the east or north. The prevailing wind is from the south or west and so the dirt, smoke and industrial dust, are carried away. In St. Louis, some of our worst smoke and dust producers are located in the direction of the prevailing winds and the largest portion of the city has to suffer from the resulting contamination of the atmosphere.

"Over here there is more consideration for one's neighbor. In St. Louis, the owners of many smoking chimneys either do not realize these are a liability to the community, or they do not care. Over here they realize this and do the best they can with their equipment, which is often quite antiquated.

German Fireman Trained.

"I think that European progress in efficient burning of coal under boilers is decidedly behind ours. While over here more coal is fired by hand than by stokers, the reverse of the case in America—the firemen here are better trained. Every fireman has to gothrough a school where he is thoroughly instructed, and is thereafter licensed, which is not the case in St. Louis.

"The unfortunate distribution of factories in residential districts, together with the well-developed tendency of the smoke producer to say—I don't give a ——, or his inability to comprehend the damage he does, makes the difference between St. Louis and Berlin, where one could wear a shirt a whole week, compared with a maximum of two days in St. Louis. In other respects, the damage from dust and smoke here is much less. Vegetation here is beautiful. In the downtown section there are flowers and trees that you could not even imagine in the downtown district of St. Louis. There is also an absence of nasal irritations.

"Technically they have nothing on us," Azbe concludes, "but from their consideration for their neighbors and for the community we have much to learn."

Azbe will go to Dresden, Prague, Vienna, Munich, Leipsig, Cologne, Paris, Brussels, London and several other cities in England.

German Lager for Abyssinians.

BERLIN, Aug. 27.—Abyssinians are to be educated to drinking German lager beer. A company has been formed here with 675,000 marks—partly Abyssinian capital—to erect a brewery in Addis Abeda, the Ethiopian capital. It is expected that lager beer will be on sale there next year.

SCOUTS APPROACH END OF CAMPING SEASON

Largest Enrollment of Summer, 225 Boys, in Final Week at Irondale Reservation.

With the approach of the school year and the closing of the Scout camps at Irondale and Pevely but a week distant the summer activities of the St. Louis Boy and Girl Scouts are nearing termination.

The end of summer and its outings, made doubly pleasant this year by the cool weather, does not mean the end of outdoor activities for the Boy and Girl Scouts, however. Leaders of the respective organizations are already preparing a schedule of autumn hikes and overnight camps that promise an interesting program in the open.

The 40 St. Louis Scouts, who toured the East as members of the Teepee, or all-summer camp, returned home today with a host of interesting experiences to relate. After spending six weeks at Irondale and Big Springs Park near Van Buren, Mo., the 40 lucky Scouts went on tour, visiting the Gettysburg battlefield, the Annapolis Naval Academy, Philadelphia and Washington and on the way home stopped at Indianapolis, Ind. The trip was highly instructive in addition to being the occasion for many good times. Comrades of boys making the trip are eagerly awaiting first hand accounts of the journey.

225 In Final Group.

The closing groups attending the Irondale and Pevely camps departed from St. Louis a week ago yesterday and will return the end of this week. The largest group of the summer, 225 boys, are attending the final two-weeks' period at Irondale. A total of 1105 boys attended the camp this summer and, in addition 1047 Scouts have made week-end trips to the Lions' Den encampment site near Imperial, Mo. The majority of those making the week-end trips also put in two weeks at Irondale. The Lions' Den will also be closed next Saturday.

A feature of the Irondale Camp was a 250-mile horseback ride through the Ozarks by the Rangers, advanced scouts. The ride, which was a pleasant and successful innovation will probably become a part of the regular summer program for advanced scouts. The program for the camp in general included all-day hikes, swimming, baseball and for first-class scouts a merit camp of special instruction. The camp was the best attended since the Irondale site was obtained for Scout purposes.

Activities of Girls' Groups.

The Girl Scouts Camp at Pevely with an attendance of 278 girls was also the best attended for that organization. The camp was divided into three groups according to age. Girls 10 to 12 years old form the Woody Glen Cabin group and study woodcraft. Those girls 13 to 14 years old are designated as the Rocky Ridge group and have devoted their time to nature study. The 15, 16 and 17-year-old group are the "pioneers" and stay at "Pioneer Hill."

"Pioneering," advanced girl scout work, includes camp cooking, advanced nature study and woodcraft and the building of bridges and towers. The total attendance at the Pevely Camp was 38 more than at the encampment held at Jefferson Barracks last year, the best previously attended camp.

St. Louis Boy Scouts will assist as usual in making the annual orphans' picnic, to be held at Forest Park tomorrow, as enjoyable as possible. The Scout Bugle and Drum Corps will contribute to the musical end of the entertainment and between times will help out where needed in entertaining the orphans.

NORTH DISTRICT.

Four scouts of Troop 206 are at Camp Irondale. They are R. Godt, E. Godt, Herzog and Miller. At the last meeting two new scouts were added. They were Burns and Taylor.

Troop 3 is at Highland, Ill., today.

WEST DISTRICT.

Troop 94 of the St. Barbara's School, held an overnight hike at Ferguson, Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 20 and 21. Numerous tests were passed, and 13 scouts were present. A Campfire was one of the features.

Troop 23 has held several outings recently. Ray Molliter is a new member.

SOUTH DISTRICT.

In the mystery contest of Troop 143, Lloyd Kirk is still leading with 55 points and Howard Forshee is second with 45. This troop will not meet again until after the opening of the school term.

VETERANS LEAVE FOR DETROIT

A delegation of members of the United Spanish War Veterans and its auxiliaries left Union Station last night for Detroit where the annual national encampment will begin tomorrow.

The local delegates occupied several cars in a special train from the Southwest. Many other delegates from St. Louis are motoring to Detroit, including Department Manager Charles W. Seaman.

MO.-PAC. VETERANS LEAVE TODAY FOR HOT SPRINGS

Special Train to Take Them to National Park for Two-Day Stay.

A special train will leave Union Station over the Missouri Pacific at 8:30 this morning, carrying 150 members of the Veterans' Association of the Missouri Pacific Railroad and members of their families to Hot Springs, Ark. The party will arrive at Arkansas National Park at 7:50 o'clock tomorrow night and will remain until Tuesday. A special dinner will be served on the train tomorrow, with the veterans as guests of the railroad.

Members of the association from all the states served by the Missouri Pacific were in St. Louis yesterday attending the first annual convention of their organization in the Railway Exchange Building.

The association was formed July 10, 1926, in St. Louis. It has 177 members, all of whom have at least forty years' service with the railroad.

Champagne Used in Bath Water.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Aug. 27.—Champagne is now being put up in special bottles for Mayfair baths. The bottles are smaller than the usual size, complete with knobby corks, wired and covered with gold foil. They cost more than the regular kind. They are sold by Mayfair and Belgravia beauty parlors. One bottle of the bath champagne is diluted with a tub of water for milady's bath.

J. L. WOODS WILL BUILD $350,000 APARTMENT HOUSE

Detroit Man Leases Corner at Olive and Theresa as Site for 100-Room Building.

PROPERTY AT 22D AND OLIVE SOLD

Negotiations Under Way for Lease of Corner at Nineteenth and Olive.

By Berry Moore.

A 100-room apartment building is to be erected at the northwest corner of Olive street and Theresa avenue. Exclusive of the site, the cost of the building is estimated at $350,000.

The building is to be erected by J. L. Woods of Detroit, owner and operator of the Arcade Dance Hall, who has acquired a 99-year lease on the site. Plans for the structure, which will be of the three room efficiency type, are being prepared by Preston J. Bradshaw, architect. The plans provide for four stores on the Theresa avenue front.

Original blue prints contemplated a building with 75 apartments, but the plans later were expanded to embrace 100 apartments.

144 Feet on Olive.

The site has a frontage of 144 feet on Olive street, extending from Theresa on the east to West End Place on the west, and a frontage of 250 feet on Theresa, running from Olive street to the east and west alley of this block. It is owned by R. W. Walsh, an architect.

As now planned, the building will occupy the north half of the site, with the East and West alley as its north line, or 125x144 feet. A garage, with parking space along the Olive street front, will occupy the south half of the site.

The height of the building will depend upon the number of tenants available. Contracts already have been let for the wrecking of twenty-four dwellings which now occupy the Olive, Theresa and West End place fronts of the site.

The apartment building project is heralded as the forerunner of others of its type on Olive street.

Woods recently purchased the property at 3549 Olive street with a frontage of 120 feet. This holding is situated between the Knights of Columbus and the Metropolitan Building.

Another Site Sold.

Real estate agents report renewed demand for property on Olive street, which is being widened into a 100-foot boulevard.

Hugo Wurdach, a client of the Mercantile Trust Co., has purchased the southeast corner of Twenty-second and Olive streets, with a frontage of 200 feet. The depth on this side of the street has been reduced by the widening of the thoroughfare to 67 feet. The grantor in the transaction was the Hart estate.

Negotiation also have been concluded, it was understood, for the northwest corner of Nineteenth and Olive streets, 160 feet by 109 feet, which is to be acquired under a 99-year lease.

Market Street Deal.

A deal in Market street property, east of Vandeventer avenue, made in view of the approaching widening of Market street to a 100-foot boulevard, was announced.

The Independent Plumbing and Heating Supply Co., 1119 Chestnut street, of which I. R. Goldberg is president, purchased from Mrs. Lily Busch the property numbered 3824 to 3840 Market street. This property fronts 281 feet on the south line of Market, east of Vandeventer, and has an area of about 47,500 square feet. It is served by two Wabash railroad tracks.

A modern fireproof warehouse, containing a branch retail store, will be erected on the property by the new owners. The building will be used as a distributing point for the products which it handles, as St. Louis agents of eastern manufacturers.

Other recent realty activities in the same neighborhood have been the new building of the Century Electric Co., on the north side of Market street, and the purchase by the Missouri Pacific Railroad of the Southern Wheel Co. property, for the reported purpose of new team track yards. The district is served by the Missouri Pacific, Wabash and Terminal belt lines.

Reports Two Bungalow Sales.

Louis A. Bosso & Son report the following sales: lot 60x300 feet on the south side of Rosalie street, east of Shreve, to William L. Soete; lot 40x145 in Bellemoor Park to a client; 6476 Wanda avenue, bungalow, to a client; 6473 Wanda avenue, bungalow, to E. A. Baals.

E. A. Ganss Moves Office.

E. A. Ganss, formerly at 220 Buder Building, has moved his real estate office to room 303, Title Guaranty Building, 706 Chestnut street.

A 100-room apartment building is to be erected at the northwest corner of Olive street and Theresa avenue. Exclusive of the site, the cost of the building is estimated at $350,000.

The building is to be erected by J. L. Woods of Detroit, owner and operator of the Arcade Dance Hall, who has acquired a 99-year lease on the site. Plans for the structure, which will be of the three room efficiency type, are being prepared by Preston J. Bradshaw, architect. The plans provide for four stores on the Theresa avenue front.

Original blue prints contemplated a building with 75 apartments, but the plans later were expanded to embrace 100 apartments.

144 Feet on Olive.

The site has a frontage of 144 feet on Olive street, extending from Theresa on the east to West End Place on the west, and a frontage of 250 feet on Theresa, running from Olive street to the east and west alley of this block. It is owned by R. W. Walsh, an architect.

As now planned, the building will occupy the north half of the site, with the East and West alley as its north line, or 125x144 feet. A garage, with parking space along the Olive street front, will occupy the south half of the site.

The height of the building will depend upon the number of tenants available. Contracts already have been let for the wrecking of twenty-four dwellings which now occupy the Olive, Theresa and West End place fronts of the site.

The apartment building project is heralded as the forerunner of others of its type on Olive street. Woods recently purchased the property at 3549 Olive street with a frontage of 120 feet. This holding is situated between the Knights of Columbus and the Metropolitan Building.

Another Site Sold.

Real estate agents report renewed demand for property on Olive street, which is being widened into a 100-foot boulevard.

Hugo Wurdach, a client of the Mercantile Trust Co., has purchased the southeast corner of Twenty-second and Olive streets, with a frontage of 200 feet. The depth on this side of the street has been reduced by the widening of the thoroughfare to 67 feet. The grantor in the transaction was the Hart estate.

Negotiation also have been concluded, it was understood, for the northwest corner of Nineteenth and Olive streets, 160 feet by 109 feet, which is to be acquired under a 99-year lease.

Market Street Deal.

A deal in Market street property, east of Vandeventer avenue, made in view of the approaching widening of Market street to a 100-foot boulevard, was announced.

The Independent Plumbing and Heating Supply Co., 1119 Chestnut street, of which I. R. Goldberg is president, purchased from Mrs. Lily Busch the property numbered 24 to 3840 Market street. This property fronts 281 feet on the south line of Market, east of Vandeventer, and has an area of about 7,500 square feet. It is served by the Wabash railroad tracks.

A modern fireproof warehouse, containing a branch retail store, will be erected on the property by the new owners. The building will be used as a distributing point for the products which it handles, as St. Louis agents of eastern manufacturers.

Other recent realty activities in the same neighborhood have been the new building of the Century Electric Co., on the north side of Market street, and the purchase by the Missouri Pacific Railroad of the Southern Wheel Co. property, for the reported purpose of new team track yards. The district is served by the Missouri Pacific, Wabash and Terminal belt lines.

Reports Two Bungalow Sales.

Louis A. Bosso & Son report the following sales: lot 60x300 feet on the south side of Rosalie street, east of Shreve, to William L. Soete: 40x145 in Bellemoor Park to a client; 6476 Wanda avenue, bungalow, to a client; 6472 Wanda avenue, bungalow, to E. A. Baals.

E. A. Ganss Moves Office.

E. A. Ganss, formerly at 220 Bu- Building, has moved his real estate office to room 308, Title Guaranty Building, 706 Chestnut street.

25-STORY APARTMENT HOUSE FOR CHICAGO'S LAKE FRONT

Chicago's tallest apartment house will be a 25-story building at 5000 East End avenue, the site of the old Chicago Beach Hotel, famous hostelry of the World's Fair days of '93. S. W. Straus & Co. has completed the negotiation for construction.

A unique feature will b. two 10-room bungalows on the roof of the structure. The building will contain approximately 100 apartments, ranging in size from five to 10 rooms.

In architecture the new building will be modern Tudor Gothic after an interpretation of a style developed by the late Bertram Goodhue. It will be treated architecturally alike on all four sides.

BRINGS RECENTLY REVIVED PUMICITE INDUSTRY TO CITY

With the establishment of the Pumicite Co. in general offices on the eleventh floor of the Ambassador Building an ancient industry, lately revived, has come to St. Louis. Pumicite, a volcanic ash, used in concrete mixtures to add strength and workability, is especially useful on jobs where the concrete mix must be carried a considerable distance from the mixer before being poured. Volcanic ash was used 2000 years ago by the Romans. The Pantheon of Rome, built in 27 B. C., was built partly of this material.

Beds of volcanic ash have been found in Kansas, Oklahoma, Nebraska and Georgia, and engineers employed by the Pumicite Co. are searching other localities for deposits.

The personnel of the Pumicite Co. comprises Ray E. Pickeral, president; J. C. McCoy, vice president; R. W. Hoffman, vice president, and J. H. Cornell, treasurer.

LINDELL APARTMENTS TO BE READY SEPT. 15

Building at 4515 Lindell Boulevard Has Modified Italian Interior Scheme.

The apartments at 4515 Lindell boulevard, now nearly completed, were designed and are being erected under the supervision of Norman B. Howard and M. C. Finley, associated architects, for the St. Louis Realty and Development Corporation. They are to be finished by Sept. 15.

The building contains 60 suites, ranging from the single studio living room apartment to suites with two bedchambers.

There is provided, in a separate building at the rear, accessible through the lobby, garage facilities for all tenants.

All apartments are finished in oak floors. Choice of decorations to be left to the tenants.

Italian Interior.

The architectural treatment of the exterior is an adaptation of the Italian, modified to suit the requirements and proportions of the building. All walls are executed in an ivory-toned matt brick, relieved by hand modeled terra cotta in the natural clay.

The lounge and lobbies also carry the Italian style, with Travertine stone wainscoting and textured upper walls and ceilings. The upper walls are treated as a field upon which are planted armorial devices, in low relief. The woodwork is of oak in an old rubbed finish. The effect is completed by the hand-wrought rough iron light fixtures. The furnishings have been carefully selected to harmonize with the architectural treatment to lend an atmosphere of comfort and rest.

Cost $650,000.

The officers of the St. Louis Realty and Development Corporation are Norman B. Howard, president; M. C. Finley, vice president; and C. B. Howard, secretary.

The project was financed by the Fidelity Bond and Mortgage Co. The lot is 100x250 feet, and the cost of the building, not including the site, is $650,000.

GRAND-GRAVOIS PARK SALES TOTAL $410,000 IN 7 DAYS

Buyers in 50-Acre Subdivision, Promoted by Stedelin Bros., Are Largely Builders—Residence and Apartment Section Planned.

Sale of lots in the Grand-Gravois Park subdivision on Gravois-Spring-Chippewa and Meramec streets, already totals $410,000, a record in the subdivision field in St. Louis, according to David P. Leahy, associated with Stedelin Bros. in the sale of the tract.

The property, comprising 50 acres, formerly the site of the Hydraulic Press Brick plant, was purchased seven days ago by Stedelin Bros. in connection with Leahy, through the Mercantile Trust Co.

None of the lots is more than three blocks from either the Grand or the Cherokee line on Gravois avenue. The initial purchases, chiefly by builders, have been for parcels of from 150 to 500 feet. Notable of these is that of the Dougherty-Sheehan Realty Co. This firm bought 200 feet on Spring and Duncan and plans to erect a series of apartment buildings or flats.

Other sales include 150 feet at the corner of Keokuk and Leona to J. M. Liebowits, 165 feet on Gravois to the A. Mayer Realty Co., 400 feet on Chippewa to Rose Gottlieb, 115 feet on Gravois to Harry and Eugene Freund, who also purchased 200 feet on Chippewa street, 280 feet on Dunnica to E. R. Ott and 180 feet on Keokuk to F. A. Daeumer.

Building plans disclosed by the purchasers are for development of the tract on a handsome scale, with apartments, flats, bungalows and dwellings.

Improvements of the property are now under way. All streets will be either concrete or asphalt with curbs and gutters, sewers, water, gas and electric mains. Three grading outfits now are engaged in shaping up the tract.

Stedelin Bros. and Leahy have developed some of the outstanding subdivisions in the city in the past few years, notably Priesters Park, Grand and Meramec, Wayne place, Gravois and Estes streets, and Arsenal and Watson Park.

CONSTRUCTION OF TRELLIS TEA ROOM ADDITION EXPEDITED

Work on enlarging the Trellis Tea Room in the Ranelagh-Wilmar apartment at 453 De Baliviere avenue, is being expedited. A 30x40 foot addition is being constructed. The tea room recently was added as a feature of the apartment.

It is under the supervision of Mrs. Minnie Housam, president of the Housam Realty Co. which built and owns the apartment building recently increased with a 6-story addition known as the Wilmar.

The addition was constructed in anticipation of the widening of De Baliviere, which is becoming one of the most important west end apartment thoroughfares.

CRYSTAL MIRROR PLATE CO. BUYS BUILDING FOR PLANT

Isaac T. Cook & Co. has sold to the Crystal Mirror Plate Co. the two-story building at 2733-35-37 Cass avenue and a large triangular lot of ground directly across the alley to the Crystal Mirror Plate Co. Mr. M. C. Murnane, president of the Crystal Mirror Plate Co., says the firm will not leave its present location at Tenth and Spruce streets until the new plant is in operation, which will be about Dec. 15.

NEW CONSTRUCTION CONCERN

Rauck-Gillespie Co. Will Operate in Real Estate Field.

ROOFS OF CONCRETE TILE FIREPROOF AND DURABLE

One-Fifth of Residential Fires Caused by Inflammable Roof Coverings.

According to fire statistics 20 per cent of the fires in residential buildings is due to inflammable roof coverings. The figures which are taken from the fire underwriters statistics, suggest that all persons owning their own homes should protect their residences by using fireproof roofing materials.

Among the many desirable materials coming under this category is concrete roofing tile.

Concrete roofing tile are permanent roof coverings. Because waterproof requirements necessitate rich concrete mixtures a greater strength than is actually needed results. Just as concrete grows stronger with age, so concrete roofing tile becomes more resistant to disintegrating elements as they age on the roof.

Contrast this with the many roofing materials which sooner or later disintegrate because of the destructive forces of age and weather. Concrete tile have thoroughly proved their ability to resist exposure in the most severe climates, making replacements unnecessary.

The fire resistant qualities of concrete roofing are acknowledged by insurance companies by giving them the best ratings procurable for roof coverings. The combination of concrete masonry walls, concrete floors and concrete tile roof coverings renders a building practically safe from fire of either exterior or interior origin.

Five-Room Brick Bungalow

INDIVIDUALITY FEATURES THIS 5-ROOM BUNGALOW

This five-room brick bungalow is a combination of a good design and an excellent plan. The exterior is pleasing and every inch of space has been utilized to the best advantage in the interior. The front presents a varied and individual treatment. The stuccoed gable walls show toward the front. A lower window is set in this wall, which presents a pleasant effect, while the arched panel above with the stone keystone adds to the costly appearance.

The plan sparkles with individuality as well as the elevation. It is one of which any housewife would be glad to tell her friends. It follows the modern bungalow design with the door opening into the living room. A nice fireplace adds to the attractiveness, while two leaded glass casement windows center on the fireplace. A large plastered arch connects the two dining rooms with the living room. An interesting feature of the opening is the pedestals on both sides which are nice places to set books or plants.

The bath centers between the bedrooms and is convenient to all the rooms of the house. Both bedrooms have good ventilation and large closets.

This home can be built for $6700 to $7100, including heating, sodding, screens and fixtures.

FOR EXCHANGE

We have several pieces of clean, desirable, improved St. Louis real estate, consisting of business, residence, flats and apartment buildings.

The majority of these pieces are held by the builders or the original owners—and, therefore, can be traded at a more reasonable figure than property which has been sold numerous times.

To those seeking a fair exchange and desiring good, clean property, we have something that will appeal.

A COMMUNITY OF THRIFT

Thirty families have taken advantage of this wonderful opportunity.

$50 DOWN

A new and novel plan that actually makes it possible for you to move into a home of your own on an initial payment of only $50. For $1675 on payment of $50 cash, we will provide a practical bungalow garage and lot 60x113, which, with a little effort on your part can be completed into a comfortable three-room home.

$25 MONTH

Rock Streets—
Kirkwood City Water—
Electricity—
Concrete Sidewalks—
Sanitary Sewers—

For less than the rent you now pay, you can own your own home—and with a down payment that even the most modest purse can afford. Do not deny yourself this opportunity! Come out today! Field office open till dark every day!

Take Manchester bus at Maplewood car loop—get off at Denny road—walk 3 blocks west. Or, drive out Manchester road to property. Just west of Denny road.

If you have any ambition to own a home of your own—if you want to give your children the same chance for health and happiness that others have—if you are red-blooded and energetic—this is an offer that will appeal to you.

BUNGALOWS AND COTTAGES For Sale

West

BEAUTIFUL BUNGALOW

This is a snow white stucco, over hollow tile, with Portland cement lining between them. This makes a three-ply wall, impervious to heat, cold, or dampness, in fact better than a brick wall. It has a red tile roof, copper gutters and spouts, hardwood floors, beautiful woodwork, decorating, electric fixtures, shades and screens. Lot 50x125, all sodded and has ample shrubbery. The price is cut to $11,725 with easy terms. No. 30, Sunset Court, Pasadena Park.

LOANS
$25 TO $300
A DIGNIFIED LOAN SERVICE
6 PRIVATE CONSULTATION ROOMS FOR YOUR CONVENIENCE
YOUR FRIENDS DO NOT HAVE TO SIGN FOR YOU. NO COMMISSION OR FEES, NO DEDUCTION; YOU GET FULL AMOUNT APPLIED FOR.
You do not have to have a finely furnished home to borrow money from us, as your ability to pay a small monthly payment is all we ask.
Your employer is never notified, neither do we make inquiries of friends or relatives, therefore all transactions are between you and us.
When dealing with an old established firm which does not use "high-power" methods you risk neither your security nor your peace of mind.
YOU MAY PAY
$ 1 per month on a $ 20 loan
$ 2 per month on a $ 40 loan
$ 3 per month on a $ 60 loan
$ 4 per month on an $ 80 loan
$ 5 per month on a $100 loan
$10 per month on a $200 loan
$15 per month on a $300 loan
On our Twenty-Payment Plan with LEGAL RATE of interest payable monthly. It costs nothing to investigate.
Every dollar paid on the loan reduces the cost.
OLD LOANS REFINANCED

HOUSEHOLD LOANS
THIS CORPORATION is operated under the SUPERVISION OF THE STATE OF MISSOURI, and provides a place where any honest person may borrow from $10 to $300 in a dignified business-like manner, without being imposed upon in any way or paying more than the LEGAL RATE of interest.
Our service is PERSONAL and CONFIDENTIAL. We do not notify your employer; neither do we make inquiry of your friends, relatives or trades people.
NO INDORSERS necessary, no delay, no fees. You receive the full amount of the loan and pay only for the actual time you keep the money.
If not convenient to call, phone or write us and we will be glad to have our representative call at your home.

CARD OF THANKS

Mrs. G. H. Morse and relatives wish to thank their many friends and neighbors for their sympathy and floral offerings in the loss of their beloved mother, Mrs. Jack P. Richardson Sr.

I wish to extend my sincere thanks and appreciation for the many beautiful floral offerings and sympathy extended to me in my sad bereavement in the loss of my dear husband, Vincent Spicuzza.

MRS. GLADYS SPICUZZA.

We extend our appreciation to the staff of the city infirmary and friends for their kindness to us during the illness and death of our father, Raymond R. Foster.

BONNIE E. FOSTER, MILDRED LAXTON. (c)

We wish to extend our sincere thanks for the acts of kindness, sympathy and beautiful floral offerings secured from the many friends, relatives and pallbearers of Arthur J. Klorer. We especially thank the Rev. Father Dillon of the Mt. Carmel Church.

MR. AND MRS. JOSEPH GLORER AND FAMILY.

I wish to thank my many relatives and friends for their kindness and sympathy shown me during my sad bereavement in the loss of my dear husband, Otto Wegener. I wish to thank the Rev. Eilts for his consoling words, the pallbearers, and for the beautiful floral offerings.

MRS. IDA WEGENER.

We wish to thank our many friends and relatives who so kindly assisted and for the words of sympathy and beautiful floral offerings extended at the death of beloved mother. We especially thank Rev. Henry Ehrhard for his consoling words.

STEPHEN P. RYAN and THE RYAN FAMILY. (c)

We wish to extend our sincere thanks for the kindness and sympathy shown us by our relatives and friends in the death of our dear husband and father, Erwin Schoenfeld, also the Rev Bleibtreu, the undertaker, pallbearers and members of the Missouri Lodge No. 20, Order of Mutual Protection.

MRS. SCHOENFELD AND FAMILY. (c)

We wish to extend our heartfelt thanks and appreciation for the many acts of kindness, sympathy and beautiful floral offerings received from the relatives and many friends of Vincent Spicuzza. We especially wish to thank the Rev. Father Spigardi for his consoling words.

The bereaved Mr. W. L. Rutkowski and daughter Florentine.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES

The Post-Dispatch reserves the right to reject any query. Personal and telephone calls or answers by mail cannot be given attention, except letters on medical questions of undoubted sincerity when accompanied by stamped addressed envelope.

WORRIED.—A male dog is considered an adult at the age of from 7 to 11 months.

TELEPHONE OPERATOR. — Kindly make your inquiry direct to the department you ask about.

HELEN.—Colors and materials used in motion picture photography are described in books that may be had at the public library.

ANXIOUS AND A. F.—Baby shows are usually held in connection with some exposition, such as the pure food show. No dates have been announced this year.

A. T. H.—Stores selling art materials have the modeling clay in general use by sculptors. If there is any substitute for the clay it might be found through such stores. See answer to G. R.

THANK YOU.—There is no objection to painting the inside of a bird house provided there are no birds in the house during or for some time after the painting. If the bird house is used out of doors the inside should be a rather dark color. If used indoors, the inside may be of a light color.

WEBSTER GROVES.—As the term for fur you ask about may be a trade name, ask the furrier or department stores about it. We refrain from comment on articles sold under a trade name.

INQUISITIVE. — As sororities are social organizations their membership is regulated by the wishes of those in the sororities. The antecedents of a person are considered important, though it is possible the circumstance you mention might never be inquired about.

HOPEFUL.—We frequently see names of firms who advertise in the classified want ads to have needlework done at home and returned as finished. The Woman's Exchange, see telephone book, has a plan for selling fancy work. The 1900 nickel of any type is worth only 5 to 7 cents.

DOUBTFUL.—It is not correct for a lady to walk between two men. For instance, if walking with a brother and a guest of the family, the guest would walk with the lady, the brother on the other side of the guest. A friend would walk by the lady and his acquaintance on the other side of the friend. In any case, the men walk together. A gentleman does not walk between two ladies. He walks on the side of the walk nearest the street if they are walking in a street.

G. R.—The following is a coating for damp walls: Thirty parts of tin are dissolved in 40 parts of hydrochloric acid, and 30 parts of sal ammoniac are added. A powder composed of freestone, 50 parts; zinc oxide, 20 parts, pounded glass, 15 parts; powdered marble, 10 parts and calcined magnesia, 5 parts, is prepared, and made into a paste with the liquid aove mentioned. Coloring matter may be added. The composition may be used as a damp-proof coating for walls, or for repairing stonework, or for molding statues and ornaments.

LEGAL INFORMATION

(By a Member of the St. Louis Bar Association)

C. B.—The landlord is entitled to keep the five dollar deposit if he held the rooms for you.

L. O. R.—You can "tie up" your husband's money in the bank when you file your divorce suit. Consult a lawyer.

J. F. D.—If you are going to publish your plan you can have it copyrighted. We know of no other way by which you can legally protect an idea.

P.-D. PURCHASER.—One must have been a resident of the State of Missouri for one whole year before filing suit for divorce. The cost would probably be from $50 to $100. It is not a fact that a divorce can be obtained for the sum you mention. In Colorado and in California one must have resided one year before filing suit for divorce.

YOURS TRULY.—In the case of a man who has not known for five years where his wife is living, he will have to get a divorce in the usual way before he can legally marry again.

A. B. C.—In regard to the term "tenants in entirety," a tenancy by the entirety is different from a joint tenancy in some respects, but it is like it in that on the decease of one tenant the survivor becomes the sole owner.

MEDICAL QUESTIONS

Health and sanitation questions of public interest only will be considered. Diagnosis or treatment of individual cases will not be given.

M. N.—There is no lasting effect on the body from the habit you mention.

G. S.—For advice and treatment you should apply at the psychiatric clinic, 153 Municipal Courts Building.

R. B. Q.—The answer to your question about the possible effect on your children is no, certainly not.

RED HEAD.—White vaseline is not harmful when applied to the eyelashes. We do not know of any such solution as the one you ask about.

MARY.—It would be advisable to see a physician for the bowel condition. After this is corrected you will no doubt improve in general health.

WORIED MOTHER. — You should be under the care and treatment of a competent physician and if you will send self-addressed, stamped envelope, will recommend someone for proper service.

F. J.—You should try the following: ichthyol; two drachms, oil of sweet almonds; four drachms, rose water; one ounce, lime water; four drachms, glycerine; one ounce. Mix and apply on linen saturated in the lotion twice daily.

ASHAMED.—We do not know, and hence cannot advice, concerning the place you mention. We will give you the name of specialists to consult for the care and treatment of your trouble if you will send your address. Your letter has been destroyed, so refer to File 16, under which the names are held for you.

THANKFUL. — You are completely tired out. If you are not nursing your baby a tonic of iron, quinine and strychnine should be taken in teaspoonful doses 1-2 hour before meals in 1-2 glass of water. This will improve your appetite and make you more lively. After you have gained some strength the tonsils should be removed which apparently are the basis of your trouble. Proper rest and elimination are essential to an improvement.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to extend our most heartfelt thanks to our many relatives and friends for their kind words of consolation, for the many beautiful floral offerings in our late bereavement in the loss of my dear husband and our dear father, William C. Sucher. Special thanks to the Rev. F. G. Wieberg for his wonderful sermon. Special thanks to the pallbearers and Ziegenhein Bros. for their most efficient service.

THE BEREAVED FAMILY.

We wish to express our sincere thanks to our relatives and friends for the sympathy shown us in our last sad bereavement in the loss of our dear mother, Augusta Breitshaft, especially thank Rev. P. Press for his kind and consoling words and the singer for her beautiful songs rendered, the pallbearers for their kind services, Kriegshauser Und. Co. and our many friends for the beautiful floral offerings.

THE BEREAVED CHILDREN.

We wish to express our sincere thanks to our relatives and friends for the kindness and sympathy shown us in our last sad bereavement in the loss of my dear wife and beloved mother, Theresa Gentry, we thank the pallbearers for their kind service, Rev. English for the kind words of consolation, we thank the Ladies of the World Fair Review, No. 24, W. B. A. for their large attendance, Kriegshauser Und. Co. for their efficient service and our many friends for the beautiful floral offerings. The bereaved

JAMES F. GENTRY AND CHILDREN.

We wish to extend our sincere thanks to our relatives and friends for their sympathy and kindness in the sad bereavement in the loss of my dear son, Anthony J. Schnatt, and especially thank the Rev. Fathers Naes, Ehlenz, Koester and Morfeld, the Knights of Columbus, Bailey Council 981, and C. K. of A. 552 and Young Men's Sodality, Perpetual Help Church, and Frisco employes, and for the beautiful floral offerings, and the Kron Undertaking Co. The bereaved family,

MR. AND MRS. FRANK HOFFMEYER.

To all our relatives, friends and the Thirty-fifth Division of the Missouri National Guard we wish to extend our heartfelt gratitude and sincere thanks for their expressions of kindness and sympathy, as well as the beautiful floral offerings tendered us in our recent bereavement caused by the death of our beloved son and brother, Lieut. George J. Stumpf. Especially do we wish to thank the Rev. H. T. Bahnsen for his kind service and consoling words; also Ziegenhein Bros., undertakers, for their friendly and excellent services.

MR. AND MRS. JOHN G. STUMPF AND FAMILY.

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of my dear husband, John Nadler, who died August 27, 1926. We saw you suffer and heard you sigh, as you left us to weep. Missed by all.

In loving memory of Martin Meiser, who died Aug. 31, 1925, dear father and grandfather of MRS. STIFTEN AND FAMILY.

In loving memory of our dear mother, Mary Dittmar (nee Schied), who departed this life August 29, 1925. Sadly missed by her CHILDREN.

In memory of my dear husband and our dear father, Herman Sievers, who passed out of this life August, 1926:

Gone, but not forgotten by those who loved him.

MRS. HELEN SIEVERS AND CHILDREN (c)

In memory of our darling baby, Mary Louise Stansbury, who died Aug. 26, 1926, aged 1 year and 10 months:

We had a little treasure once,
She was our joy and pride;
We loved her, perhaps too well,
For soon she slept and died.

Sadly missed by
MOTHER, DADDY AND ALL WHO LOVED HER. (c)

In memory of our dear husband and father, Frederick M. Diater, who departed this life Aug. 28, 1921:

The call was short, the shock severe,
To part with one we loved so dear.
When evening shadows fall and we are sitting all alone.
In our hearts there comes a longing,
Oh, if we could only bring him home.

Sadly missed by
WIFE AND CHILDREN.

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of Edward Essmueller, who departed six years ago, Aug. 28, 1921. Sadly missed by

FATHER, MOTHER AND SISTER. (c)

In loving memory of Oliver C. Smart, who departed this life Aug. 24, 1926:

Dear son, can it be true
One year has passed since God called you?
The call was short, the shock severe,
To part with this one we loved so dear.
When evening shades are falling
And we are sitting all alone
In our hearts there comes a longing
If you could see our home.

Sadly missed by
THE BEREAVED FAMILY. (c)

In memory of my dear husband and father, John Clark, who departed this life Aug. 27, 1918:

You are not forgotten, father dear,
Nor ever shall you be;
As long as life and memory last
We shall remember thee.

Sadly missed by
HIS WIFE, SON AND DAUGHTER, ANNA WILKEN.

In loving remembrance of our dear husband and father, John F. Ruschenberg, who passed away one year ago, Aug. 31, 1926.

Dearest daddy, how we miss you
Since from earth you passed away.
We remember all your kindness
As we think of you today.
A happy home we once enjoyed
How sweet the memory still,
That yet has left a vacant place,
This world can never fill.

Sadly missed by his WIFE, SON AND DAUGHTERS.

The Demand Is For Trained Men

The Business Man no longer has the time or inclination to educate untrained help. Today, nine times out of ten, the first question asked is: "What training have you had?" "What can you do?" There are two ways of acquiring experience. One is to spend long years at poorly paid routine work; the other is a RUBICAM TRAINING.

Why not take the short route to a better-paying position by entering our classes now?

Day and Evening Classes are now forming. Write or phone today for Catalog.

DREDGING MACHINE WALKS ON THREE LEGS

It Begins Stroll to River for Shipment on Barge to Rosedale, Miss.

"The biggest thing that walks"—a 280-ton piece of dredging machinery that walks on three mechanical legs—has been set up here and is awaiting shipment by Federal barge line to Rosedale, Miss.

Its first stroll, a block south to Barton street and then a half block east to the Mississippi and a waiting barge, began yesterday afternoon. The whole structure, a 125-foot structural steel boom and housed machinery as big as a seven-room bungalow, is to go on a single barge.

The boom, from which the dredging bucket can swing over a 300-foot circle, will be lowered from its digging position, in which it reaches up to 70 feet, in order to clear bridges. Huge timbers are being laid from the bank entirely across the barge, so that as the ponderous machine "walks" aboard its weight will be evenly distributed and cause no tipping.

"Walking" is accomplished by two mechanical "feet," each 34 feet long, at the sides. The machine when still rests on them and a third "foot" in the center, which is its turntable. In walking, the two side "feet" are operated by 3½-foot cams, or eccentric wheels.

As the cam-wheels turn, the two feet are driven downward, lifting the excavator, and then back, propelling it forward. As the turn continues the feet lift again, letting the excavator rest on its third "foot," the turntable, and swing forward for another step. The excavator will take three seven-foot steps a minute.

Power for walking, as well as dredging, is provided by a 240-horsepower Diesel-electric plant, with the same type of control which enables some of the newer craft of the Navy to be operated by a single man in any one of 16 control positions. It places control of the excavator, which does the work of 60 men and 60 teams, in the hands of two men, an operator and an engineer.

The advantage of walking is said to be that the machine can travel where even the caterpillar type of propulsion would stall. The machine was built in Chicago for Herman J. Sternberg of St. Louis. Its parts were brought here on 10 freight cars last month. Sternberg is shipping it to Rosedale to build a levee for the Government.

870 TONS OF SOOT ANNUALLY TO SQUARE MILE IN ST. LOUIS

Engineering Bulletin Says City Leads Country, Basing Estimate on 4-Month Record.

St. Louis led the country last winter in the cloak of soot business, according to a statistical comparison made in The Forge, bulletin of the St. Louis section, American Society of Mechanical Engineers.

The soot fall for St. Louis, on the basis of the four sootiest winter months of 1926-27, is estimated at 870 tons to the square mile annually. The estimate for Memphis is 600 tons a square mile. A figure for the city of Chicago as a whole is not given, but it is shown that the deposits of soot were much less in both the business and residence districts of that city than in the corresponding districts here.

Soot was collected last winter at 12 points in the city of St. Louis and one point each in University City and Richmond Heights. The heaviest fall was at Twelfth and Poplar streets, the next on Market street west of Grand boulevard and the third at 5386 Pershing avenue. The first two places are in the railroad yard district, the third in an apartment district near two steam railroad lines.

DUKE HEIRS TO GET $1,000,000

Sum for Two Sons Is in Addition to $20,000 Yearly Income.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—In addition to receiving the income from half of their father's residuary estate, the two sons of the last Angler B. Duke will divide more than $1,000,000 at once and will receive about $20,000 a year each from a trust fund created by their father.

This was disclosed today in an opinion of the Court of Appeals in an action by the Guarantee Trust Co. in which the trustees asked instructions as to distribution of the accumulated income. The payments result from the father's failure to designate in his will persons to whom the surplus income was to be paid after his death.

TWO WOMEN FAIL TO IDENTIFY HEADLESS BODY OF SLAIN MAN

Descriptions of Missing New York Chauffeur and of Delicatessen Man Do Not Tally.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—What seemed at first an identification of the headless, unclad body found late yesterday in a desolate piece of ground bordering on Whitestone and Flushing, Queens, failed tonight.

Mrs. James Marmaro, whose husband, a chauffeur, has been missing from Ozone Park, Queens, since Monday, identified the body at the Bellevue morgue as that of her husband. But police, who pointed out various discrepancies, were sure she was mistaken. Members of the family also said the body was not that of Marmaro.

Finger print evidence caused police to discount Mrs. Marmaro's identification. When she admitted to detectives her husband had been arrested twice, they found his fingerprints in police records and learned they bore no resemblance to those of the dead man.

Another clew also seemed to fail when Mrs. Nelly Hatty, wife of Charles Hatty, missing delicatessen keeper of Whitestone, was found in a bungalow at Silver Beach, Queens, and told detectives the description given to her did not tally with that of her husband, a much younger man than the victim.

Police now think the man may have been killed as an informer. They base this belief on the finding by a policeman today of what they believe is a human tongue split in two, a few feet from the body.

Digging Up Coronado's "City of Gold"

Discoveries Near Lyons, Kansas, Start Excavations on Site Where Spanish Conquistador Hoped to Find Unlimited Treasure.

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch Sunday Magazine

Naturally Coronado was disappointed with what, approximately, is now Lyons, Kansas. The streets were not paved with gold; where he had expected bejeweled edifices he found only grass huts.

TOPEKA, Kansas.

THE explorer's spade is sinking into the sod where once stood the seven cities of Quivira. Out near Lyons, Kansas, they have begun to excavate the territory once claimed by those ancient Americans whose city streets were reported as being paved with gold.

It was those glimmering, golden legends of glimmering golden streets and ornamented temples, rich in precious stones, that brought Francisco Vasquez de Coronado, the Spanish explorer, on his 3000-mile trip from Mexico to the territory that now lies within the confines of the State of Kansas. It was a noble journey in those days, but the Spaniard made it and arrived at Quivira in 1541, just 79 years before the Pilgrim Fathers landed at Plymouth to found their settlement.

There was just one reason for Coronado's journey. He had heard they had gold in the Quivira regions, gold and plenty of it, and he wanted it. So in the best seventeenth century fashion, Senor de Coronado, evidently suffering from the widespread seventeenth century American idea that any riches owned by the natives were the honest due of any European white man who could rob them, set out for Quivira hoping to find quantities of loot greater even than his brethren had stolen from the Incas of Peru.

He readily believed the tales of the wealth of the cities of Quivira; what was more, he wanted to believe them. His fellow countryman, Pizarro, working down in Peru, had taken great riches and sent great gifts to the Spanish King; it was Coronado's wish to deliver even greater riches at the foot of the royal throne.

CORONADO accordingly set out from Old Mexico in 1539. With him he had 270 Spaniards and several hundred Indians.

It is to uncover traces of the Spaniards' visit and to learn the truth about the unknown civilization of Quivira that the archeologists are digging around Central Kansas.

Early last spring, John Malone, farmer, of four miles west of Lyons, plowed his land for wheat planting and so dug up a crop of old stones fashioned for tommyhawks. Malone, not knowing as much about tommyhawk stones as he did about wheat, called in the aid of the Kansas State Historical Society. Those stones were remnants of Quivira's civilization.

The fragments of a large bowl were found. It was put together. Several primitive corn-grinding implements were discovered. And then Malone put a temporary end to the investigation, as he had a perfect right to do, because he wanted to wait till his crops were grown and harvested before they turned his land inside out. But, crops or no crops, harvesting or no harvesting, a civilization of 400 years ago was lying under Farmer Malone's land.

Now, nobody really believes that Quivira's streets were paved with gold. Coronado made the venture, and his loot was light. He was merely a gullible fellow pursuing a story, pretty but ephemeral. This does not mean that the people of Quivira were entirely without gold and silver. They had some small amount of it, and their smiths worked with it. But their gold and silver was confined to gold and silver trinkets.

Coronado was not the first explorer to set out for the promised land. At least two others preceded him. Their journeys ended in failure. But Coronado, enthusiastic and believing, got a commission from the King of Spain to outfit and equip an expedition, and his commission allowed him the use of Spanish soldiers.

He set out. He was uncertain as to the right direction. He had many guides and each guide told him a different way. Finally he started toward the Northwest. After months he arrived at the stone pueblos of what is now New Mexico and Arizona. These were known as the cities of Cibola. Coronado expected to find gold here.

He was disappointed. The desert village held nothing to please the eye of His Spanish Majesty. Guides, who had told the explorer that here he would find treasure, were executed. But Coronado was not discouraged. There still were gold-paved streets some place in this land, he argued, and he would find them. Another guide now stepped up to him and Coronado heeded his counsel.

This particular fellow was "The Turk," so called because of the beard he wore, which true enough, was a strange appendage for an Indian. "The Turk" told stories of gold-paved cities. He had visited them, he said, and he could find them again. Coronado listened and followed. Another wild-goose chase was on the road.

Mark E. Zimmerman, Kansas archeologist.

It appears that what really happened was a deliberate effort to mislead the Spaniard. For "The Turk" had been to Old Mexico, he had seen the results of Spanish oppression, he had no wish that they should find Quivira and make off with what few treasures it had.

With implicit confidence the gullible Coronado followed his lead. Due east they went, toward the waste regions of the now Central Texas. There their guide hoped to lose them. On, on they went, until water became scarce and food hardly more plentiful. And now other Indians, who all the way had insisted to the commander that "The Turk" was leading him astray, began to prevail. Far to the north, these men told Coronado, were the cities he sought.

Cow Creek.

Coronado, his faith in "The Turk" destroyed, made him prisoner. A camping place found, the leader left his party and with 30 of his soldiers and a few Indians, rode to the north. "The Turk," still a prisoner, was taken along.

The little party crossed the present lands of Texas, Oklahoma and Southern Kansas. They crossed the now Arkansas River about where today stands Sterling, Kansas. They were in the country of Quivira. Along the banks of Cow Creek they sighted the villages. And the Indians, seeing the approaching cavalcade, ran out and prostrated themselves before the "white gods."

Old Indian jar found along Cow Creek.

Naturally, Coronado was disappointed with what he found. The streets were not paved in gold; where he had expected bejeweled edifices he found only grass huts. What little precious metal he discovered was hardly worth the trouble of taking back. But he did find a civilization that was superior to that of any of the other Indians in the region. For these people of Quivira lived in permanent camps; they grew crops of corn, instead of depending very nearly entirely on the spoils of the chase; they had a better government than their neighbors; and their grass huts were superior to the tepees of the Indians roundabout.

Coronado, outraged at the perfidy of "The Turk," had him slowly strangled to death before the people of all the villages.

The Spaniards spent several weeks in the region. Scouts were dispatched in various directions to ascertain if in this land were any villages worth the looting. These emissaries, so it is believed, progressed as far as Nebraska on the north, Colorado on the west, Missouri on the east. Nothing was discovered.

What today's archeologists hope to find, then, are not streets paved with gold nor diamond-studded towers. What they are after are the foundation stones of huts, rocks marking Quivira's walks and pathways, the implements of the tribe. The excavating will be conducted by carefully plowing the land several times, in an effort to find surface indications, then going deeper. These villages have been deserted 200 years. No sign of such life was found when the first white settlers came to Kansas.

The archeologists are hopeful some trace of Coronado's visit may be found. The men and their horses were armored; it is probable, say the excavators, that some pieces of worked iron were lost or left behind. This—for the Indians didn't use iron—would be fine evidence of Coronado and his men.

As for Coronado, once he was satisfied that the streets of gold and the jewel-encrusted edifices were a myth, he set out for the camp where he had left the rest of his party, gathered them up and safely conducted the expedition back to Mexico.

OF THE Quivirians, Mark E. Zimmerman, Kansas archeologist, has his particular theory. Zimmerman has just been commissioned by the Kansas State Historical Society to proceed to Western Kansas to inspect the territory in an attempt to prove the site of the villages of Quivira.

It is this archeologist's belief that a band of colonists sailed from Scotland in 1171 and reached America. Once on this continent these Scots joined together with a band of Norsemen and together they ruled over a confederacy of Indians in Eastern America until about 1400, when they were driven westward by an uprising. The whites, cut off from a retreat to the sea, believes Zimmerman, fled down the Ohio Valley, up the Missouri River, and finally took refuge in the hills which border the Missouri in Northeast Kansas.

Zimmerman was first attracted to the theory of an early Celtic civilization in the Middle West by peculiar graves, or stone cists, which he discovered in the country of the hut Indians. A few graves like these had been found in the Ohio Valley. Zimmerman's efforts brought this long, thin trail of yesterday into the hills of Kansas.

Then he heard that graves like these had been discovered in Scotland and Ireland. Zimmerman found a grave the stones of which were laid perpendicular to the ground to form the grave wall, exactly like some discovered in Scotland

SO HE cast about for some historical explanation of the burial places he had found in Kansas. And he discovered that Prince Madoc of Scotland is credited with having made three trips to a strange western land, the last time starting out in 1171 with 10 ships. On them were Scots, Picts and Welshmen. No further news was ever heard of that expedition.

Zimmerman thinks these people formed a coalition with Norsemen living near present Boston, a district known to these Norsemen as Vineland. Legends tell of a great uprising of Iroquois and Delaware Indians about 1400. It is believed that the band of whites was then cut off from the sea, and fled westward. The graves found in Ohio indicate the direction they took, and the seeming conclusion of such graves in Kansas marks their last stand.

Zimmerman thinks that skeletons found in these graves bear out his contentions. Some of them are nearly seven feet in height, while the skulls are much more elongated than Indian skulls found in the vicinity.

There also is the historical record telling of Maurice Griffith, who, with five Delaware Indians, made a trip up the Missouri River in 1765, and in the hilly country was taken to a council house of Indians who lived in the ground and were ruled over by white chiefs who understood Spanish and had manuscripts of Biblical works.

The archeologist feels certain Kansas was the territory visited, because that was the country of the hut Indians. Circular holes still are found where these old inhabitants sank some of their houses four or five feet into the earth and then covered this excavation with a roof of poles and grass.

There are evidences that lead Zimmerman to believe the end of the tribe was sudden and violent. Skeletons in great profusion are found about the sites of some of the houses and near many of them weapons were discovered; in a great pot was discovered a whole buffalo ham, likely as it had been put to cook centuries ago.

The Iowa Indians, says Zimmerman, had always coveted the fine hunting grounds in the hills, and to them he lays the end of the people of Quivira.

IF MARY KENWORTHY of 320 Lami street had chosen to desert her widowed mother for her paternal grandparents 10 years ago, she might by now have been the mistress of a great Brazilian estate. She might have been brought up to a life of ease and luxury with servants, pretty clothes and motor cars. She could have had all those things. They were laid at her door when she was 12 years old and she had only to choose between them and a life of comparative poverty with her mother, whose only income was derived from daily toil in a cotton mill.

But Mary Kenworthy chose to stick by her mother and accept such fortune as Fate might bring. At 23, she is still sticking by her mother. They live in a single room of an unlovely rooming house in an unlovely section of the city. They work hard for a livelihood and enjoy few luxuries. Having had high school training and a course in a business college, Mary does stand out a bit as one of the better educated persons of her community. She is employed in an office at typing and clerical work. As for financial rating and material prospects, however, she and her mother are to all outward appearances no better situated than the other toilers who are neighbors. There remains only the difference that they are Kenworthys and, in this case, the difference is significant. In a short time it may mean the difference between poverty and a life of ease and plenty.

Mary and her mother, Mrs. Emma Kenworthy, are keeping a close watch these days on the mails. Far to the south, across the equator in Sao Paulo, Brazil, a court battle is raging. Though she is several thousand miles away and is not even missing a day at the office because of it, Mary Kenworthy is the central figure in that fight. A great estate is involved. A will is being contested. If Mary's attorneys are successful in the contest, Mary, as a grandchild, will share equally with half a dozen other heirs in that estate, which totals $1,500,000. Her share is expected to be something like $200,000. Victory will mean comfort and luxury and it will also mean that Mrs. Emma Kenworthy may end her long service of 20 years in a cotton mill.

IN the spring of 1922, Mary got a letter from Brazil. It was written by Mrs. Mary Jane Kenworthy, her grandmother, wife of an Englishman who had gone many years before to South America to make his fortune in the cotton business. That letter was the forerunner of the situation which resulted in the present court fight. It follows:

St. Louis Typist Battles for a Brazilian Fortune

Claiming Her British Grandfather Disinherited Her Because She Refused to Leave Her Mother, Mary Kenworthy Demands the Rights of a Legitimate Heir.

Charles Kenworthy, with his daughter, Mary, just before his death.

Emma Kenworthy, Mary's mother.

Mary Kenworthy, as she appears today.

Charles Kenworthy, as a young man.

IF MARY KENWORTHY of 320 Lami street had chosen to desert her widowed mother for her paternal grandparents 10 years ago, she might by now have been the mistress of a great Brazilian estate. She might have been brought up to a life of ease and luxury with servants, pretty clothes and motor cars. She could have had all those things. They were laid at her door when she was 12 years old and she had only to choose between them and a life of comparative poverty with her mother, whose only income was derived from daily toil in a cotton mill.

But Mary Kenworthy chose to stick by her mother and accept such fortune as Fate might bring. At 23, she is still sticking by her mother. They live in a single room of an unlovely rooming house in an unlovely section of the city. They work hard for a livelihood and enjoy few luxuries. Having had high school training and a course in a business college, Mary does stand out a bit as one of the better educated persons of her community. She is employed in an office at typing and clerical work. As for financial rating and material prospects, however, she and her mother are to all outward appearances no better situated than the other toilers who are neighbors. There remains only the difference that they are Kenworthys and, in this case, the difference is significant. In a short time it may mean the difference between poverty and a life of ease and plenty.

Mary and her mother, Mrs. Emma Kenworthy, are keeping a close watch these days on the mails. Far to the south, across the equator in Sao Paulo, Brazil, a court battle is raging. Though she is several thousand miles away and is not even missing a day at the office because of it, Mary Kenworthy is the central figure in that fight. A great estate is involved. A will is being contested. If Mary's attorneys are successful in the contest, Mary, as a grandchild, will share equally with half a dozen other heirs in that estate, which totals $1,500,000. Her share is expected to be something like $200,000. Victory will mean comfort and luxury and it will also mean that Mrs. Emma Kenworthy may end her long service of 20 years in a cotton mill.

IN the spring of 1922, Mary got a letter from Brazil. It was written by Mrs. Mary Jane. Kenworthy, her grandmother, wife of an Englishman who had gone many years before to South America to make his fortune in the cotton business. That letter was the forerunner of the situation which resulted in the present court fight. It follows:

March 19, 1922.

Dear Mary:

I hope this will find you and mother well. My husband, as I told you in my last, has been very sick. I am glad to say that he is on the improve, but not yet able to attend to business and he wishes me to tell you that he can not continue to send you the amount of money he has been sending you. I got him to send you this for your education and he, thinks you ought to be now able to get your own living.

I must now tell you we do not want you to go to work in a cotton mill. There are other ways of making a living. Your father was very clever at school. Our boys were all good boys, but they never earned anything for us. All they earned was their own and while at home we kept them in food and most of their clothing. So you see that what we have is from our own earnings. We have had fifteen children and are now eighty-four years old, so we must keep something for ourselves because one never knows how long business may keep good. I must tell you that Hattie of Waltham has been earning good money since she was younger than you. There are phone girls and typewriters always wanted all over the world. I see them advertised in our papers. Now I must close as I am tired.

With love to mother and yourself and hoping you will meet with something soon,

Your Grandmother.

FIVE months after the grandmother wrote that letter, she and her husband made their wills. Three years later, in 1925, both died. It was then found they had left an estate of approximately a million and a half.

With the sending of the letter a $40 a month allowance to Mary Kenworthy was discontinued, and when the will was filed it was found that while other grandchildren of the Kenworthys received their full share of the estate, amounting to about $200,000 each, Mary, in St. Louis, was bequeathed an insignificant sum of a little more than $1000.

Here is the story of why Mary Kenworthy, poorest of all the Kenworthy heirs, was cut off with the smallest bequest. It is a story that dates back to the last century, when Mary's grandparents lived in Oldham, Lancashire, England.

John Kenworthy, with years of experience in cotton mills, saw a future in the growing countries of South America. He had been successful in England and, after amassing a sufficient sum of money, emigrated with his large family to the Republic of Brazil. There he established a mill. Among the sons of John Kenworthy was Charles Frederick Kenworthy, then 24 years old. All the Kenworthy children had been well educated and Charles had attended Oxford. He had been regarded as a good student and was a master of seven or eight languages. Mechanics, however, was his particular interest and in Brazil he devoted himself to a study of machinery in his father's mill. In time he married a Brazilian girl. Then something happened.

Trouble developed between Charles and his young Brazilian wife. Her relatives took up the quarrel and are said to have challenged him to a duel and threatened his life. Charles fled from Brazil and came to the United States and, about 1900, married Emma Allred, a cotton mill girl, and daughter of a blacksmith of Charlotte, North Carolina. He was then almost 40 years old and she was 19. After three years of wandering, during which they lost their marriage certificate in a railroad accident, they came to St. Louis, "broke." Kenworthy became a sufferer from chronic rheumatism about that time and his wife supported them by working in a cotton mill. They lived in a boarding house on South Seventh street and it was while they were living there in almost destitute circumstances that Mary was born, in December, 1904.

During all their married life, Charles Kenworthy said nothing to his wife about his first wife in Brazil. He seldom, if ever, wrote to his parents there, and to them he never mentioned the fact that he had married an American girl. And he had been too proud ever to ask his wealthy father or mother or any of his brothers for help. But with the birth of his daughter, he swallowed his pride and wrote to his father.

His family rejoiced to hear from him and they immediately began to plan for his return. His brother, Frank, promptly wrote inviting him home.

While the letter was on its way to St. Louis, Charles' illness became serious. He felt that he was about to die and he called his wife to his bedside, and told her of his marriage in Brazil. And on April 5, 1905, nine weeks after he had written his letter of appeal and confession, Charles died.

Kenworthy's people in Brazil had been surprised and grieved to learn of his second marriage, but their attitude toward the widow, Emma Kenworthy, and her baby daughter, Mary, was one of kinship and affection. The brothers wrote to her, addressing her as "Dear Sister Emma," and old Mrs. Kenworthy concluded her letters with "Yours very sincerely, Mother."

The Kenworthys were very eager to visit their son's grave in St. Louis and to make the acquaintance of his American wife and child. Thus in 1907 the old couple, then in their late sixties, came to St. Louis from Brazil. They satisfied any doubts they might have had about the dead man being their son and the woman and child being his widow and daughter.

And yet in spite of this and notwithstanding that they were wealthy people, the elder Kenworthys did very little for the woman whom they addressed as their daughter and the infant whom they called their grandchild. They did pay the expenses of Charles' funeral, but their only effort to relieve the difficult position of their son's widow, who was still forced to earn a living for herself and her child by labor in a cotton mill, found its expression in a gift of $100. When the Kenworthys returned to Brazil they continued to maintain an affectionate correspondence with their daughter-in-law, occasionally sending small sums of money and always asking for photographs of the baby.

Once in 1910, when Mary was six years old, her grandparents visited relatives in Massachusetts and Mary, the grandchild, was sent East to visit them. When Mary was nine years old her grandparents began to show an interest in her education and then they decided to have the child make her home with them in Brazil and to educate her as a young lady of good family. But the response to these overtures was not very favorable. Mary did not want to leave her mother and the mother did not want to lose her daughter, and since the elder Kenworthys did not want their son's second wife to come down, their offer was not accepted. The Brazilian wife of their son Charles had died in 1912, but obviously they were afraid their position might be damaged if their son's second wife were to appear.

IN 1916, when Mary was twelve years old, they again evinced considerable interest in her education and again insisted on her coming to live with them. They said they would put the mother on an allowance at the same time if she would consent to that arrangement, although they still refused to have her come, also. In that year Mary's uncle, Albert Kenworthy, a brother of the deceased Charles, came to St. Louis expressly to take Mary back with him. She refused to go without her mother. Still affectionate letters continued to be exchanged, Mary now doing most of the writing instead of her mother, and the occasional gifts of small amounts continued. They began to give Mary an allowance of $10 a week for her schooling, but at the end of a year this was discontinued and instead, at irregular intervals, they sent her various small sums. When the Kenworthys in Brazil saw Mary was firm in her refusal to live with them unless she might have her mother with her, their attitude toward the grandchild and the mother began to change. Mary was now a girl of eighteen and was attending McKinley High School.

FINALLY, in 1922, the grandparents definitely realized that Mary would not abandon her mother for them. Since they could not have their son's child they decided not to help her and, if possible, not even to recognize her as such. It was then that they wrote the letter already quoted. In August, 1922, the grandparents made their wills, dividing their estate, including among other things two large and prosperous mills and several luxurious homes, in equal parts among their living children and grandchildren whom they describe in these documents as their "legal heirs." Without including Mary Kenworthy as a "legal heir" they simply bequeathed her the sum of ten "contos," then equivalent in American money to about $1380. They never wrote again after that either to Mary or her mother, although Mary wrote to them.

The grandfather died in February, 1925. When Mary heard of this she wrote a letter of sympathy to her grandmother, but received no answer. In December of the same year the grandmother died. Mary then learned, for the first time, that she had not been included among the legal heirs to her grandparents' large estate. Letters to her various uncles were returned to her unopened and now Mary, through her attorneys, has filed suit to have the will set aside so that she may get her legal share as a grandchild. The outcome of her suit for her share of the Kenworthy fortune is expected to be favorable in view of the laws of Brazil governing such cases, for Mary's mother innocently married Charles Kenworthy in the belief that he was a single man, and although according to Brazilian law such a marriage is voidable, the child resulting from it is a legitimate offspring and entitled to inherit as such.

RUBY WAS A BALKY BRIDE

And the Reason Appeared When Her Childhood Sweetheart Dashed Up in a Car, as She Was Being Led to Her Marriage, Threw Her in the Tonneau, and Carried Her Away.

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch Sunday Magazine

WASHINGTON, D. C.

THEY were in the courthouse. The minister was there. So were their relatives; all waiting for the ceremony to begin. And then Ruby Harding absolutely refused to marry Theodore Fouts, this man who was about to become her husband, and despite the fervent pleas and reproaches of her stepfather and sister and brother, despite her mother's hysteria, she declined to change her decision.

That was a strenuous moment in Ruby Harding's life. But it was not nearly so strenuous as what the day was still to bring forth, for Ruby's adamantine decision, ably aided by the ingenuity of one Lawrence Auth, the young lady's childhood sweetheart, was to be responsible for a grave amount of grave concern to everyone who had anything to do with the almost wedding.

It was years ago, as children, that Ruby Harding and this Lawrence Auth first met. As children they played together. They went to school together. And then, as they grew up, they went to the same parties, belonged to the same clubs, played golf together on the same club links.

And this young woman—a dark-eyed person, small but vivacious—listened to Lawrence and what he had done and what he planned to do. But they never spoke of love.

But about six months ago there was some trivial misunderstanding between the two and the attachment between them which had persisted since childhood was abruptly cut off. Ruby Harding, suddenly parted from someone who had meant much in her existence, became depressed and spent many a melancholy hour.

It was just about that time that Theodore Fouts, a well-to-do young man, appeared in Ruby's particular scene. And he became a pleasant and interesting refuge in her loneliness.

SO SHE grasped at this new companion, and her mother, Mrs. I. J. Hatcher, saw in this new suitor all the qualities which she believed would make for the right husband for her daughter. Mrs. Hatcher, it is declared, openly urged Ruby to consider him.

Fouts proposed. He proposed again. After weeks of protestations, during which Ruby never heard from Lawrence Auth, she finally accepted Fouts.

It was not long before the news of the engagement came to Lawrence Auth. And once he heard of it, he called her. He asked her to drive with him to a place on Chesapeake Bay. She accepted. During the drive he asked her if the rumors of her engagement were true. She denied them. She said Theodore Fouts was nothing more than a very good friend to her. Auth, apparently much relieved, made an engagement with her for the next Sunday.

But when he arrived at home he was told that his father, during the afternoon, had received a call from Miss Harding's mother. She had told his father that Ruby was engaged to be married, and she thought it best that Lawrence should see no more of her.

Lawrence's faith in Ruby was shaken. And he obeyed her mother's request. The following Sunday Ruby, unaware of her mother's conversation with Mr. Auth, waited and waited for Lawrence to arrive. The afternoon passed. Lawrence hadn't arrived. Ruby, embittered, called Fouts and told him she would marry him whenever he chose.

Fouts set the date for a week from the next Tuesday, insisting, against her wishes, that the ceremony be very quiet, with only the members of the immediate families present. The wedding was to be held at the courthouse in Rockville, Maryland, just 16 miles from Washington. A party in honor of the approaching wedding was planned for the next Friday night. Ruby, in spite of Lawrence Auth's apparent slight, asked him to attend.

THROUGHOUT the early part of the evening Lawrence paid very little heed to her. But as the party neared its close, he came to her side and sat down next to her.

"So you're really going to be married to him?" he said.

She nodded her head.

"And you love him?" he asked her.

She looked up quickly. "No," she answered, "I don't love him."

Lawrence was astonished and he made no effort to conceal it. He sought an explanation.

"Why," he wanted to know, "are you marrying him—if you don't love him?"

She shrugged her shoulders. And then she said: "There doesn't seem to be any way out. The family wants me to marry him. He's nice enough."

Lawrence was quiet for a moment. And then said to her: "You simply don't love anybody, so you're taking him because your family wants you to. Is that it?"

She shook her head. "I do love someone," she said.

"Who?" he asked.

"You."

As Auth tells the story now, she said it simply. There was no coquetry about it, nothing flirtatious. And he told her that he loved her and that he had always loved her. He told her that she must not marry this man whom she did not love. Even though all the plans were made, even though the minister was engaged and her trousseau gotten together. She must get out of it some way. He would see her the following Sunday and tell her how she could do it.

On this Sunday he told her she must refuse her family if they insisted she marry Theodore Fouts. If it was necessary, he said, he would kidnap her at the very altar and take her away to safety.

The day of the wedding came. Fouts and his family, in one car, Ruby and hers in another machine, drove to Rockville and to the courthouse. There they found the minister and they stood chatting in the entrance for a few minutes. They did not know that Ruby, as soon as she saw she would have to go at least to Rockville with them, had called Lawrence Auth and that he, with several friends, was following the wedding party to the courthouse.

And as they stood in the entrance, Lawrence drove up to the curb, jumped out of his machine, and ran up the steps to her.

"You're not going through with this, are you?" he said.

"No, Larry," she replied, "I'm not."

They all turned and looked at her.

"What?" asked Fouts.

"I'm sorry, Teddy," she said to him. "I just can't marry you. I don't love you."

Her mother fainted. Her stepfather demanded an explanation. She had none to offer. Lawrence Auth, satisfied, told her good-by, promising to call her the next morning. The rest of them got into their cars and drove back to the city. All the way home they pleaded with her, reproached her, begged her to change her mind.

Back home again, they continued to urge her. They kept at her, constantly. Then, at about 7 o'clock, her brother took one arm, her sister's husband the other, between them they marched her to an automobile, and they told her they were going back to Rockville.

It was up to Ruby to find a way out. She said she was ill. They paid no attention to her. She cried out, threw her hand to her forehead, and slumped to the bottom of the car. Frightened, they drew up to the curb and tried to revive her. They carried her into a nearby drug store. They gave her ammonia. She opened her eyes and started to cry. The pharmacist said she was suffering from nerves; he believed they had better let her rest there a while. Her brother agreed and went outside, where he and Fouts smoked a cigarette.

But he had hardly left the store before Ruby called Lawrence Auth on the telephone. He told her to use every effort to delay the wedding party until he could get there. Then he jumped into his large car, his sister and another girl in the back seat, two of his friends in the front seat with him, and sped across the city.

Meanwhile, Miss Harding's brother had grown tired of waiting. Against her protests, he made her go back to the car. Fouts started the motor. Ruby glanced down the boulevard in the direction Larry Auth would arrive from. The car moved off. Suddenly, far away down the boulevard, she saw a car with blazing headlights speeding toward her.

"Stop. Let me out," she screamed at her brother. "I'm ill."

They stopped their machine. She jumped to the sidewalk. Into the drug store she ran, through it, and out another door. Auth's car had already drawn up to the curb and he was running to meet her. She opened her arms as she ran to him, threw them about his neck, and he picked her up, carried her to his machine, put her into the back seat with his sister and her friend, then, getting into the driver's seat, he roared away.

Ruby Harding's brother and Fouts started in pursuit. But Auth's big red car had too great a start, and soon it had lost its pursuers. Fouts and Ruby's brother went to her home and told Mr. and Mrs. Hatcher what had happened. The police were informed, and they started on the search. But the police couldn't find them.

IF Mrs. Hatcher had been hysterical in the afternoon, she was doubly so now. She cried all night and half of the next morning. Police had not only been unable to find the missing bride-to-be, they had not even discovered the car, nor Larry Auth, nor any of his companions.

Just before noon, however, the telephone rang, and Ruby's voice asked for her mother.

"I just called up," she said, "to tell you that I'm safe with friends, and as happy as I could be under the circumstances. I don't want you to worry, but I do want to tell you that I won't come home until you promise that I won't have to marry Teddy Fouts."

Mrs. Hatcher, however, was not yet ready to give in. It was necessary, she felt, to uphold parental discipline.

"You'll do as I say," she informed her daughter. "And I advise you to come home immediately."

"All right, mother," Ruby replied. "We won't argue it. I'm sorry you feel that way. I'll call you again tomorrow morning. Maybe you'll have changed your mind in the meantime."

The phone clicked off before Mrs. Hatcher could answer. By the next morning she had, sure enough, changed her mind. And the daughter, true to her word, came home.

Larry Auth, after rescuing his lady, had taken her to the home of friends, and, leaving her there, went with his sister and companions to his summer home in Maryland, some 15 miles away.

Theodore Fouts has gone to his lodge.

Lawrence Auth, having rescued the sweetheart of his childhood, is now trying to make up to her for his lack of appreciation in the past.

And Ruby Harding, the young lady herself, while she seeks to conciliate her family, says:

"I hated to cause any trouble to the family, or any worry to anyone. But I'd do it again."

Sergeant Sandes, standing in carria

By GUY FORSHEY
Of the Post-Dispatch Staff

FLORA SANDES—Captain Flora Sandes she is, from Ireland—had the misfortune to be born a woman instead of a man. She thinks it was a misfortune. She always thought so. Indeed, as a small girl, she relates, she used to pray every night she would wake up and find herself a boy. But nature didn't do anything about correcting the mistake, and Flora Sandes grew up wearing skirts. Finally, she took matters into her own hands and became a man anyway. And she made a pretty good one. She shouldered a rifle and went to war. That was in 1914. She started in at the beginning and fought it for three years past its finish. In those seven years she rose from private to Captain in the Serbian Army, and if there had been more of it she would have stayed longer and rose maybe to be a Colonel or a General. "For," says she, becoming a woman again, "I never loved anything so much in my whole life."

Having put away her uniform and shoulder bars; having learned again how to buy dainty hats in millinery stores and to walk for short distances in high heeled shoes; having reverted to type as far as it is possible for a hard-boiled army captain to accomplish such a metamorphosis, and having lost all her old pals in the process, Captain Flora swears up her courage and undertakes the hazardous business of living over the grand and gory days in her memoirs. Her book "The Autobiography of a Woman Soldier," has just appeared from the press of H. F. & G. Witherby, of London.

It seems that with all Flora Sandes' love for manly occupations, she picked the most womanly of callings when she first ventured out to Serbia. She went as a nurse, sailing from London on August 12, 1914, with Madame Mabel Grouitch's little Red Cross unit of seven. When the war didn't end in three months, as expected, she rejoined the Serbian Red Cross and drifted by easy stages from a base hospital to the most active front line trenches and from nurse to soldier. She was a dresser with an ambulance unit at Baboona Pass, near Monastir, when the little Serbian army began its retreat through the Albanian mountains. There were no roads and no ambulances could be taken along. So Flora Sandes took the Red Cross off her arm and said very well, she would join the Second Infantry Regiment as a private.

"THE soldiers in the ambulance," she writes, "seemed to take it for granted that anyone who could ride and shoot—and I could do both—would be a soldier in such a crisis. To their minds there was nothing particularly strange about a woman joining up; there had occasionally been Serbian peasant girls in the army, and there was one in this same regiment. The only thing that distinguished me particularly, and made them treat me with so much affection and respect, was the fact that I, an English woman, was willing to rough it with them and to fight for Serbia."

The story of that retreat through Albania, Captain Sandes told in a previous book, "An English Woman Sergeant in the Serbian Army." "All right, mother," Ruby replied. e won't argue it. I'm sorry you that way. I'll call you again torrow morning. Maybe you'll have nged your mind in the meantime."

The phone clicked off before Mrs. cher could answer. By the next rning she had, sure enough, nged her mind. And the daughter, e to her word, came home.

Larry Auth, after rescuing his lady, taken her to the home of friends, , leaving her there, went with his er and companions to his summer e in Maryland, some 15 miles y.

Theodore Fouts has gone to his ge.

Lawrence Auth, having rescued the etheart of his childhood, is now ng to make up to her for his lack appreciation in the past.

Flora Sandes Tells How She Went to War In the Serbian Army, Was Wounded And Won Promotion.

Sergeant Sandes, standing in carriage, at a Serbian peasant wedding.

By GUY FORSHEY

Of the Post-Dispatch Staff

FLORA SANDES—Captain Flora Sandes she is, from Ireland — had the misfortune to be born a woman instead of a man. She thinks it was a misfortune. She always thought so. Indeed, as a small girl, she relates, she used to pray every night she would wake up and find herself a boy. But nature didn't do anything about correcting the mistake, and Flora Sandes grew up wearing skirts. Finally, she took matters into her own hands and became a man anyway. And she made a pretty good one. She shouldered a rifle and went to war. That was in 1914. She started in at the beginning and fought it for three years past its finish. In those seven years she rose from private to Captain in the Serbian Army, and if there had been more of it she would have stayed longer and rose maybe to be a Colonel or a General. "For," says she, becoming a woman again, "I never loved anything so much in my whole life."

Having put away her uniform and shoulder bars; having learned again how to buy dainty hats in millinery stores and to walk for short distances in high heeled shoes; having reverted to type as far as it is possible for a hard-boiled army captain to accomplish such a metamorphosis, and having lost all her old pals in the process, Captain Flora swears up her courage and undertakes the hazardous business of living over the grand and gory days in her memoirs. Her book "The Autobiography of a Woman Soldier," has just appeared from the press of H. F. & G. Witherby, of London.

It seems that with all Flora Sandes' love for manly occupations, she picked the most womanly of callings when she first ventured out to Serbia. She went as a nurse, sailing from London on August 12, 1914, with Madame Mabel Grouitch's little Red Cross unit of seven. When the war didn't end in three months, as expected, she rejoined the Serbian Red Cross and drifted by easy stages from a base hospital to the most active front line trenches and from nurse to soldier. She was a dresser with an ambulance unit at Baboona Pass, near Monastir, when the little Serbian army began its retreat through the Albanian mountains. There were no roads and no ambulances could be taken along. So Flora Sandes took the Red Cross off her arm and said very well, she would join the Second Infantry Regiment as a private.

"THE soldiers in the ambulance," she writes, "seemed to take it for granted that anyone who could ride and shoot—and I could do both—would be a soldier in such a crisis. To their minds there was nothing particularly strange about a woman joining up; there had occasionally been Serbian peasant girls in the army, and there was one in this same regiment. The only thing that distinguished me particularly, and made them treat me with so much affection and respect, was the fact that I, an English woman, was willing to rough it with them and to fight for Serbia."

The story of that retreat through Albania, Captain Sandes told in a previous book, "An English Woman Sergeant in the Serbian Army." The later chronicle relates how she marched victoriously back into devastated Serbia. For two and a half years she marched with that war-worn but triumphant army, taking her turn on the outposts, hiding in fox holes and going over the top with the rest. Once she was herself badly wounded and time after time she was there to hear the last groans of a comrade going "west." There were times when she scorched on the mountainsides by day and shivered by night with no covering but an overcoat. There were daily casualties among the men around her in her celebrated unit—the "Iron Regiment"—which twice had been decimated by the Turks. It was in this sturdy outfit—2d Vod (Platoon), 4th Company, 1st Battalion—that she was taught by veterans of two previous wars how to be a soldier. From confused memories of the 1916 campaign, when she was serving her apprenticeship, she recalls the question she asked the first night her regiment went into action. She writes:

"We had been told to hold ourselves in readiness all day, and then suddenly—so suddenly that even Vukoje, our vodnik (platoon officer), was taken by surprise—at 5:30 p. m., without any further warning, we got the order and said goodby to kit bag, blanket and everything except rifle, ammunition and knapsack. To my great surprise we suddenly marched off, as though we were going to stop the whole Bulgarian army, though there were no signs of an enemy as far as I could see.

"On this first and particular occasion we dashed down a stony hillside, through a stream at the bottom and up the other side. Just after we started artillery fire broke out somewhere ahead of us, followed at once by the cracking of rifles and bursting of bombs, and we were apparently making a bee line for the scrap; the noise and the flashes increasing every moment as we neared it.

"I was in pretty good condition, but just as I was beginning to wonder whether I could possibly stay the pace till we reached those flashes, our vodnik suddenly halted us at a little line of funk holes dug near the crest of the hill.

"IT was my first real advance, for hitherto all my experiences had been confined to retreating slowly in Albania, and as I ran I had been picturing to myself a tremendous scrap.

"Later on I heard that the first man from the regiment to be killed in this little minor scrap, as it turned out to be, was a young officer who had been playing cards with me and a couple of others only an hour before.

"The little funk holes were just big enough for two people to sit in, and were already half full of water and mud.

"'Where are we going to sleep?' I asked Vukoje.

"'Sleep?' he echoed vaguely, 'why, here, of course.' I looked at the squelchy black mud and sat down gingerly beside him without further comment.

"I carried a little notebook in my tunic pocket, and whenever I had time would jot down in a few words the events of the preceding day and night. As my first impressions are blunted now, I think I cannot do better than put down just what I wrote in my diary for this particular night, a sample of dozens of others.

"'Slept a bit. About 1 a. m. order came to go forward again. Cold, pouring buckets and blowing. Awfully rough going over the hills. Got to the top of a stony rise, where we lay on the stones on our tummies in pelting rain, with rifles and bombs ready, but nothing happened; then forward again; blowing a gale and pitch dark; across some fields and up a stony hillside. Awfully cold at dawn and pretty wet, but managed to sleep for all that in my overcoat, no blanket; all that has to stay behind with the gomorra (mule transport). Breakfast, cold stew brought to us at 6 a. m. As soon as sun got up, roasting hot, no shade. Stayed there on one spot till 2 p. m.'"

As the writer remarks, this was an unusually full entry. A seat in the mud of a shell hole was not the place for taking profuse notes on army life. There were scenes such as that encountered when Flora Sandes' advancing company came upon a detachment of Bulgarians in a little hollow—a nook where the Serbian shell bursts had been heavy. "In that group," writes this woman veteran, "not a man had been left alive. Some were blown to bits, but one group of four men still sitting around a blazing camp fire must have been killed simply from concussion. There was something cooking in a pot on the fire, and so perfectly natural were their attitudes that I thought at first sight they were still alive."

Lieutenant Sandes, drilling troops.

"A man who has strength left to bellow, even though he may be in severe pain, is never very bad," she observes. "The really dangerous case is the fellow who says nothing at all, or only groans a little. So brutal does one unconsciously become that when we used to creep out at night on a bombing raid, we always congratulated ourselves on being most successful when the crash of our bomb was followed by a few groans and then silence. Were there a tremendous hullaballoo we used to say disgustedly that in all probability it meant only a few scratches, or the top of someone's finger—a very sensitive place—torn off."

Through the winter and spring of 1915, Flora Sandes and her bedraggled Serbian comrades fought on. So far she had escaped unwounded. Then came late autumn and a march toward some mysterious objective. Her story continues:

"While we were munching our sticky lunch, the Colonel and his staff dismounted nearby and the Colonel sent over an orderly to invite me to come and have coffee.

"'I thought you wanted to go to Ostrovo, Sandes,' he said to me. 'Why didn't you go?'

"'But we are going to the front,' I said.

"'Oh, we're only going to hold some lines of communication near another reserve; we'll not be near any fighting. You have plenty of time to stay away for several days, and I'll give you a horse to start now if you like.'

"COLONEL MILITCH had always talked German to me from the time I first joined up—when I knew no Serbian—and he had forgotten that, by this time, I had picked up a considerable amount, for, in turning to one of his staff, he said with a smile and in Serbian, 'You know we are going right into the thick of it, and it's such a pity for her to get killed. I'd like to keep her out of it.'

"They all had to laugh when I answered in my best Serbian, thanking him for his thoughtfulness, but saying I would rather stay with my company.

"ONCE before, when feeling upset at the loss of so many of his best officers, he had told me that the regiment had been twice entirely wiped out—the first time in the Turkish war, where they received their nickname—and that this was going to be the third time. 'For,' he said, 'we are fighting to the last man—the last man.'

"When we said 'au revoir' it was the last time I ever saw him, for two or three weeks afterward, when lying in a hospital wounded, I heard that the last man to be killed on that offensive, and by a stray shell through his tent, when the regiment had already gone into the reserve, was our gallant, jolly little Colonel.

"Bitolj, our great goal, was the last stronghold of the Turks, who had overrun Serbia for 500 years, until finally driven out by the Serbs in 1912. It was again taken from the latter by the Bulgars in 1915, and now, from Hill 1212, we were looking down upon it and preparing to take it again.

"Hill 1212 is a fairly high mountain, and the Bulgars were strongly entrenched on the top of it.

"About 10 p. m. my company was halted behind a big pile of rocks, some way up, and close to the battalion commandant. We now found we were Battalion Reserve with the rest of the battalion on the other side, facing the enemy, who preserved a dead silence all night.

"It was bitterly cold, so we spread our ground sheets on the snow, and slept wrapped up in our overcoats. No Serbian carres a blanket. They scornfully contended a man wasn't a soldier if he couldn't sleep out on the mountains in midwinter with only his overcoat.

"Dawn was just breaking when I was awakened by the sudden crackle of rifle fire, followed clearly, loudly and ominously close, by the wild 'hourra, hourras' of the Bulgarians' attack. . . . .

"Everything seemed mixed up on the other side. The Bulgars had attacked, driven out the regiment in front of us, and were following them down the mountain side. Higher up everything was shrouded in dense mist. For the moment we could not see the enemy, only hear him, and between us was a steep bit of mountain side, covered with snow and dotted over with rocks. Behind these latter groups of men from both regiments were sheltering, sometimes with their officers, who were trying to urge them to go forward up the slope again in the teeth of the Bulgar rifle and machine gun fire, which swept the whole open space.

"'FORWARD, forward,' urged our commander, lying alongside me in our little group. A moment's hesitation, a 'now or never' sort of feeling and we scrambled to our feet and raced forward, and I forgot everything else except the immediate business in hand. As we flung ourselves on our faces again a group of Bulgars emerged out of the mist, not 10 paces above us, and, dodging behind the rocks, welcomed us with a volley of bombs. They were almost on top of us, and it was actually our close quarters that saved us, for they threw the bombs over and behind us.

"I immediately had a feeling as though a house had fallen bodily on top of me with a crash. Everything went dark, but I was not unconscious for I acutely realized that our platoon was falling back. I heard afterwards that every single one of them had been wounded by that shower of bombs. One had his face split from nose to chin, another an arm broken, but none, except myself, had actually been knocked out.

"I could see nothing, and it was exactly as though I had gone suddenly blind; but I felt the tail of an overcoat across my face. Instinctively I clutched it with my left hand and must have held on for two or three yards before I fainted.

"The men only fell back to the nearest rock, to face round again, and it was then that Lieutenant D—— saw me stretched on the snow between them and the enemy. Under the very noses of the Bulgars he crawled back over the snow towards me, and I came to again to hear him telling me to stretch out my arm. Finding I could not even do that, but still doggedly determined to get my corpse, as he thought it was, he crawled still nearer, got hold of my wrist and shuffled backwards again like an agile crab, dragging me with him. . . . Next day ten of our men were found with their throats cut, lying in a row near the spot where I was wounded. They had been taken prisoner and despatched at once."

LIEUTENANT D——, by that heroic rescue, won the highest Serbian decoration for valor, and Soldier Sandes, with a grand total of 24 wounds, won a few weeks' respite in a British field hospital. The sisters, serving as nurses, didn't want to take her in at the hospital. They tried to send her to a women's hospital, but the soldiers wouldn't stand for that. Then her comrades protested because she was put in a tent by herself. They thought she ought to have the companionship she was accustomed to and they felt, besides, that they could give her better care than the nurses. One sergeant major with a shattered arm said there was an empty bed in his tent between him and another man and that Sandes ought to have it. He got quite indignant when the sisters refused his offer and became sarcastic over the woman patient's supposed desire to be moved into the men's tent. The sisters got one shock after another while Flora Sandes was in the hospital. They couldn't understand her and she had forgotten how to understand them.

It was the same way when, after fighting her way up from private to Captain in the succeeding years of conflict, she was mustered out. First, last and always she had been one of the boys. Turning back again into a woman she found a slow and painful process.

"It was like losing everything at one fell swoop," she writes, "and trying to find bearings again in a new and different world.

"When I look back now upon my service it seems as though it were some previous life I had lived, and that, by some strange freak, I am still able to remember many indelible incidents; also I find a permanent incapacity to settle down to anything."

LONGVIEW, Washington.

OF THE numerous emergencies that have arisen this summer on the bathing beaches that dot the banks of the swiftly-flowing Columbia River none was solved more spontaneously or more efficiently than that which recently involved the rescue of 9-year old Lila McIver. And by an ironical twist of circumstances the 17-year-old heroine of this rescue was nearly drowned the next day by a mishap which left her partially paralyzed, faced with the possibility that she may never swim again

The child, Lila, a fairly good swimmer, had become frightened 100 feet from shore. As she struggled in the water she raised a cry for help.

Lucille Chamberlain, a high school senior with ambitions to be a nationally known aquatic star, was just stepping out on the bank after completing a record swim across the river when she heard the cry. Without a moment's hesitation, breathless and exhausted as she was, she plunged back into the stream. In remarkably short time she had brought the child to safety.

FOR once it chanced that impulsive action, an immediate and unthinking response to a stimulus, was coupled with the skill and efficiency necessary to prevent a tragedy. Lucille Chamberlain was an expert swimmer and diver, who was well on the way to national championship honors.

There was never a moment of her spare time—a half-hour here or an hour there that could be edged in—that Lucille did not give to her swimming. It was in Seattle, where her family then lived, that Lucille, at the age of 11, learned to swim.

Seattle has always done a great deal to make good swimmers out of its citizens, even going so far as to sponsor classes in the city park pools. It was in the city park swimming classes that Lucille acquired her first skill in the water. At 13 she was a member of Seattle's championship team for girls under 15. Moving to Longview in 1924, she continued to improve under the tutorship of Miss Gladys Thorpe, woman's physical director at the Community Y. M. and Y. W. C. A. here.

She annexed a senior life-saving certificate and became a junior examiner in the American Red Cross. The speed record for the local pool was hers almost from her arrival here. Gertrude Ederle was her idol. She began to dream of channel swims.

But first there were a few more laurels in the immediate environs of Longview to be garnered. One Sunday not long ago she decided to try to lower the record for the Columbia River swim. She started from a ferry landing at Ranier, Oregon, and headed for a ferry landing at Longview, on the Washington side. A Sea Scout ship and scout executives accompanied her to time the swim.

In 27 minutes Lucille had covered approximately 8500 feet, breasting her way through the swift current of the Columbia. This is believed to be record time for any swimmer, amateur or professional, on this part of the river, 50 miles inland from the Pacific Ocean, where the Columbia is 3500 feet wide.

THE rescue of Lila McIver was brought about so swiftly that it was not five minutes after Lucille had touched bottom, concluding her record swim, before the whole thing had happened. The men who had accompanied her scarcely realized what was occurring when, before they could even think of acting, they saw the child on the bank. A boy's efforts to rescue her had been futile.

On the following day Lucille was a member of a swimming party in the Coweeman River, near here, a stream in which thousands of huge Douglas fir, cedar and hemlock logs are floated annually from lumbering camps in virgin stands of timber to the Columbia. Lucille, who has leaped from the top of every bridge in this locality within the last two years, made one dive from a log rollway, from a height of about 25 feet above the water.

Several members of the party warned her that the river, only seven feet deep at that location, was too shallow for diving. Her only response was a defiant smile, flung back as she clambered up a slightly higher structure, stood poised a moment at the top, and then flung out in a graceful arc.

When she came to the top, her hands were waving wildly. She sank and came up again, face downward, holding her hands to her head. A young boy, the first to appreciate her danger, dived to her aid. She struggled frantically and they went down together They were both rescued by another member of the party, Mike Price, champion log roller of Southwest Washington. Lucille was paralyzed from the waist down and in a semi-conscious condition. Investigation disclosed that she had struck her head on a submerged log.

"I wonder if I'll ever be able to swim again," she said when she had regained consciosuenss sufficiently to be able to talk.

AN EXAMINATION at the hospital to which she was taken revealed the dislocation and fracture of several vertebrae in the neck. An operation was necessary to remove portions of three cervical vertebrae. Her condition was extremely critical, since her spinal cord had been kept in compression for more than 20 hours.

Her father spends every possible moment at the hospital with her. For it was Lucille, who, upon the death of her mother, held the Chamberlain household together. She has taken care of her little brother, helped her older sister, and has been, according to neighbors, an excellent housekeeper. The father, Walter W. Chamberlain, is cashier at a local railway station and in very modest circumstances. It is not only at the swimming resorts about Longview that Lucille is missed.

Lucille herself refuses to think of anything but a complete recovery that will permit her to swim and dive again, that will enable her to realize her ambition, which is to go to college and become a director of physical education.

"Yes, I'll dive again," she says. "I was just beginning to get on to two new fancy dives and I want to get them down pat."

BRISTOL, Pennsylvania.

Charles Capella.

AT THE age of 9 Charles Capella is a hero—no one disputes that—but a hero who will not be lionized. He refuses to accept hero worship seriously.

When Charles pulled little Mary Muffit out of water over her head not long ago, it made his sixth rescue. Six times has he been a hero and six times has he slipped away unobtrusively at the moment when puffing out his chest in the limelight was in order.

There is a movement on foot to secure for him the Carnegie medal for heroism. But his friends and his parents say that if his fellow townsmen expect to present him a medal in the swimming season they will have to restrain him forcibly or get up very early in the morning. However, since Charles is a hero, it is almost necessary to submit to certain rites and ceremonies—newspaper interviews for example.

The correspondent sought Charles out at the home of his father, Joseph Capella.

"Home! Charles at home! That boy's never at home. He's some place swimming. That boy's never out of the water." ,

Charles was discovered at last swimming in his favorite swimming pool, near one of the locks of the Delaware and Lehigh Canal that flows through the borough here. He was asked to tell the story of his rescues.

IN ANSWER, he flopped over and curved down into the water, coming up after what seemed an interminable time to float lazily on his back, spouting a stream of water from between pursed lips.

"I forget who the first one was, it happened so long ago," he said, when he had paddled lazily over to the bank, where he clung idly for a moment, like a water bug in one of those infinitesimal moments of quiet between its darting and twisting.

One of the other boys volunteered the information that Charles performed his first rescue two years ago, when he was 7. He pulled a little girl of about his own size and weight out of the water, after a frantic struggle to keep her from binding his arms and choking him in her panic. It had taken all his strength to bring her safely to shore.

"I forget who the next one was, too," Charles added, and then he did a kind of flipflop, disappearing beneath the water feet first, to emerge a moment later, run up onto the springboard and tip off in a perfect swan dive.

"Harry Russo was the third one," Charles said in the next moment of comparative quiet. Comparative because he was jumping up and down in water which was up to his chin. "Harry was used to going in the water, but he couldn't get to shore that day—I don't know why. It wasn't very hard work."

THE correspondent had another long, long wait while Charles flirted and skipped about for all the world like a water rat. Then again he hovered for a moment near the edge of the water.

"Frank Green was the fourth one," he volunteered. "He was a year or two younger than I am. And he went beyond his depth, while we were playing water tag."

Charles had been the first to notice the boy's danger, according to the story the others told.

In the interim, Charles had dived and reappeared, dived and reappeared, dived and reappeared, and each time his head came above the surface he imitated some water animal, all in a roistering spirit of play and with nothing of the "show-off" about him.

"Oh, yes, the fifth was Lillian Weissblatt," he again volunteered. "She was a lot bigger than I am, and she's married now. I don't just remember what happened after she went in the water that day."

The sixth and last rescue was a little more vividly impressed in his memory. A number of children were swimming in the canal when little Mary Muffit went beyond her depth and was unable to help herself. Again it was the swiftness of Charles' perception of the situation and the remarkable co-ordination between perception, impulse and swiftly executed action that bought him to her side almost before the others were aware of the danger. Because she was smaller he was able to get a firm grasp and bring her to the bank without too great difficulty.

"What about this business of rescuing people?" the correspondent asked. "How do you do it?"

"Why, you just see them in the water and then you pull them in. That's all."

It is a very simple formula, as set forth by Charles. All who know him, however, are agreed that it is his remarkable co-ordination and his swift perception, his alertness, that have made him a hero six times over at the age of 9. That is a point on which Charles wished to make a correction. He was 9 when he made his sixth rescue, but several days later, on August 2, he was 10. And there's a great deal of difference between being 10 years old and being 9 years old.

NO ONE seems to know who taught Charles to swim. No one is able to remember—not even his mother—when he couldn't swim.

There are six children in the Capella family, some of the older ones now married. "But all of us can swim, even my smallest sister," Bristol's hero boasted as he pointed to a very small girl on the bank.

Bristol, and in particular Charles' home, is ideally located for the development of aquatic heroes. The canal and several streams meander pleasantly through the town and the surrounding countryside, affording a swimming hole at every turn, and Charles knows every one of these holes and pools. The canal is a hundred feet from his doorway.

So far he hasn't given a thought to the future. He laughs at a suggestion that he will doubtless be a lifeguard. So far he is content just to swim. And—well, yes, occasionally go to school.

PLEASE PASS THE POTASSIUM

A FRIEND of mine has been losing his hair, his money and his appetite. The first two calamities have resulted in his being dismissed by all the young ladies he was wont to associate with; his third tragedy has endeared him as never before to his family, for he is a bachelor fellow by both his own choice and that of everyone else, and he has remained very close to his parents, especially at mealtime, when, to tell the truth, is about the only time they see him.

Why he has lost his money has been no secret to either himself or to me, for consistently he has attempted to corner various markets which, as far as he was concerned, consisted entirely of curves, and sweeping ones at that. But the loss of his hair and his appetite have mystified us both and worried him. Why, if a man must lose his appetite, should his hair go, too? and, on the other hand, why, if his hair is leaving him in his hour of need, should his appetite likewise desert him? It was too much for me and entirely too much for him. The only thing left to do was to get scientific aid.

We went to a first-rate physician who gave him several tests and examinations, all recalling my friend's college days, for he flunked them miserably. At last the physician decided that my friend ate too much meat. And we left the office. My friend has confined himself, in as great a measure as possible, to a liquid diet, consisting of white soda, limes, a stirring rod and whatever is handy, for more than five years. For instance, he always drinks his lunch. He has had nothing more solid than a piece of ice at noonday for more than five years. So the question of meat was as preposterous as the physician who advanced it.

We walked disconsolately down the street, my friend bemoaning his sad plight and murmuring again and again that he was a hale fellow, all wet. And then, in anguish, he remarked, "If I had to lose something, why, oh, why, couldn't I have lost my teeth? I never use them anyhow."

That gave me an inspiration just as it would have given you an inspiration, and I hurried him up an elevator to a dentist, declaiming on the way, in a most learned manner, on the danger of the decayed tooth as related to tuberculosis, leprosy, paranoia and kindred diseases. By the time we reached the dentist's office, I had convinced my friend and myself that he had all of them and, at that, from a decayed tooth. The dentist examined his teeth minutely and declared them the finest he ever had seen.

And I gave up. My friend's morale was ruined entirely. He just sat around, the while his hair and his money and his appetite faded away. He became a hyper-hypochondriac. He visited palmists, psalmists, theosophists and psychologists, and like his hair, his money and his appetite, he found them a losing game.

Then it happened. He visited a dietician.

"Do your knees crack when you walk?" asked the dietician. "They do, they do," shouted my friend. "Of course," came the answer, "to be sure. You haven't enough potassium in your system."

And there it was. The cause of his retreating hair, his declining appetite. As obvious as the nose on your face. My friend didn't have enough potassium in his system. Why, I remember when the old chap was chuck full of potassium. Why, he used fairly to reek of potassium. He once was a synonym for potassium. And now he was getting full of calcium, when, what he really needed, was potassium.

So now he is eating all sorts of certain green things that cherish potassium. And his hair is coming back; he not only drinks his lunch, but he must eat the limes, too; and the other day he won on a weather ticket. Please pass the potassium.

A SHORT WIFE and a GAY ONE

BY

Howard Brubaker

WHEN the tail light of the motor car had disappeared around a curve in the driveway Blake Harley turned to his young hostess, a dim white figure on the shadowy veranda.

"How do you like Mrs. Buford?"

"She's my husband's mother," Hazel replied, "and I love her."

Harley pretended not to have heard her answer.

"How do you like Mrs. Buford?"

"She's fine. Of course, she's dignified and proper and all that, but she's a square shooter. And she's been awfully good to me."

A little louder this time, and more distinctly:

"How do you like Mrs. Buford? If you miss this one, you're out."

"What do you think this is, a night school?"

"I thought so," Harley said, ambiguously.

"Well, it isn't. It's a dancing school and you promised to teach me the Charleston."

They put a record on the machine inside the open French windows and danced on the wide veranda until Hazel knew as much about the Charleston as her teacher did, and a little more. Presently they sat down to cool off. It was a fragrant evening in late August and there were pools of moonlight and islands of shrubbery on the Buford lawn that rolled away to High street.

"Some night!" said Harley. They agreed about this matter. The young woman felt that she had not acquitted herself quite handsomely in her last talk and she tried again.

"Pretty soft for li'l Hazel! A year ago I was a pale, skinny kid, lugging a tray in mother's boarding house in Gregory. Only one season in the sticks and look what I've got. I'm 10 pounds heavier and I have a home-grown complexion and the best husband ever constructed and a mother-in-law that will do anything for me, and a nice bus to drive and a fine big house in a sweet little town."

"It's nice in Newtown, all right," Harley conceded, "if you can't live in Gregory."

"YOU'VE come to the wrong house to peddle Gregory—I bit on that one once." Hazel was silent for the space of three cricket chirps. "Right this minute the mob is fighting to get on the cars down on Jackson street and everything is hot and messy and the gang is crowding into the movies and the news kids are yelling, 'Hah, Gregs win!' I can almost hear the old trolley shrieking on the rails where it turns from Grant into Thirteenth. Bells ringing—cars honking—horrible racket!"

"Yes," said Harley, "and your little shell-like ear is aching for that racket this very minute. You can't high-hat your Uncle Dudley. I'm the original John W. Wiseguy."

"Trouble with you fellows from the Class B cities," countered Hazel, "you think we're dead ones out here because we don't spend all our night juggling our feet and making comic on the piano."

"That's a hot one from you, too, Haze. Ted Jefferson told me your old nickname was little 'Twinkletoes,' and he said you could beat the piano until it shrieked for mercy."

"I don't have to live in Gregory to annoy the piano. Come in and I'll tickle the baby grand for you right now."

"Before mother and James come home from the hospital meetings?" asked the cynical Harley. "All right, I'm on."

Hazel Buford lay awake that night hating Blake Harley. She hated him because he said things that were so outrageous and so true; because he knew what a stranger had no business to know; because he had forced her to make damaging admissions.

As the wife of James Buford, banker, and as the daughter-in-law of the little town's social arbiter, she was a part of all that was best in Newtown society and she longed for the gaiety of the firemen's ball, she wanted to gather the boarders around the piano and lure them to song; she wanted to run down to Riverview on the trolley with somebody like George Bamby, a brakeman on the G. & E., and dance holes in her stockings.

"Some social light!" she said to herself and then went to sleep.

Next evening her mood still sagged. Nature had changed her mind over night and there was a chill, rainy twilight. As Hazel waited for James to come home to dinner she could see through the splashed windows the blue spruces waving in the wet wind and the rhododendrons looking like bushes full of soggy sponges. To this city sparrow the country always seemed gloomy in the rain. She glanced at her wrist watch. Six. In Gregory people would be hurrying home on shining pavements, packing into cars smelling of wet rubber, laughing as tired people do when released from toil, the theaters blazing with invitations to foolishness.

At 30 her husband, James, would be the president, by inheritance, of the Farmers' Loan Bank. Some day this big house would be all their own. Life stretched out safe and spacious before her, and here she was aching for the sounds and smells of a second-rate boarding house in Gregory. She was on the citadel and she longed for the warm human life of the valley.

"I'm a hopeless lowbrow—a lowbrow on High street. They know it, and they're trying to do me over. They want to make me old before my time"——

The talk at dinner was mainly about the Hospital Fund Carnival, into which Mrs. Buford had thrown the full weight of her patronage. These festivities were to be held in early September in Maple place, the funny short thoroughfare which ran from Main street to the river. The householders there had given their consent: the block was to be cut off from the world for two days, lined with booths and shows and known as "Joytown on the Banks of the Laughing Ladaga." Committees were hard at work and the affair promised to be a brilliant social and financial success.

Hazel's own part in the gaieties was not yet clearly defined. She had promptly offered her services to the commissary department, but without success.

"Oh, we shall need you for something much more important than that, dear," Mother Buford had replied. That, Hazel knew, was mother's sweet, gentle way of saying: "This is not the time to display the family skeleton. Let the dead past bury its boarding house."

Tonight the young lady tried another line.

"I could do something about the dancing—organize a crowd of girls to dance in the street. I saw that done once in Gregory and it was lovely. They could pass the tambourine and get a lot of jack—I mean"—this in deference to Mother Buford, who did not understand modern languages—"collect a good deal of money for the fund."

"THAT might be good, dear. We must consider it carefully. We mustn't rush into things."

She knew what would happen next. Mother and son would take the matter under advisement and hand down a decision. She had never known James to do a hasty or impulsive thing—except to fall in love with her in about 20 minutes, and maybe he regretted that rash act.

When the expected decision came the next morning after James had gone to work, Mrs. Buford was so sweet and tactful about it as to disarm the younger woman.

"Of course, you may carry out this dancing play, dear, if you like—only" (I knew there was a catch in it someplace, thought Hazel) "only it will take a great deal of time, and I don't see how I can do without your help. I have a thousand and one things to do in a week, and I'm not as strong as I used to be. I expected to lean pretty heavily upon you—but, of course"——

In a free translation this meant that Hazel was to be a combination secretary, chauffeur and maid of all work, always working under that eagle eye. But since Mother Buford made such a personal matter of it, Hazel could only say:

"All-righty; I'll help you all I can. Maybe," she added, "we can make this Blake Harley do some of the dirty work. He seems to belong to the army of the unemployed."

"That reminds me—just how much do we know about Mr. Harley?"

"I don't know much. He's a good dancer and fun to talk to, but that's as far as I've got. Of course, he knows Ted Jefferson, in Gregory, but Ted knows all kinds of people, so that doesn't mean anything. James seems to like him."

"Yes, James has some business transactions with him—I don't know just what. Of course, we have to be agreeable, but I wonder whether I haven't encouraged him too much. It isn't as if we knew all about him."

Again Hazel translated into English: "Go slow with this lad."

MOTHER BUFORD had a habit of running things, and Hazel was one of the things. Mother Buford never shrank from a duty, and Hazel was a duty.

This time the young woman scarcely bounced at all. She felt herself hedged in by forces that were too big for her, confined in a stuffy room. As she went about with James' mother, helping in the petty details of the carnival, she took on the subdued color of her background. She no longer laughed so easily or broke so spontaneously into song.

In such a situation Blake Harley was like a spark to gunpowder—and gunpowder can be extremely explosive when confined. In one way or another she managed to see a good deal of Harley during that busy week.

Harley was a lively, nimble-witted, nimble-footed youth with polished shoes and polished hair. He was distinctly good looking, though Hazel felt that he had not taken his face outdoors enough in the daytime and that his hands showed lack of exercise. He spoke her language, sang her songs and laughed at her jokes. Her spiritual need was to entertain and to be entertained, and Blake Harley filled the bill. She was thirsty for life, and if there wasn't any life on tap she would take a substitute.

"I'll have some fun," she said to herself, "if I have to patronize a fun-runner."

During the course of the next few days Hazel realized that Blake had managed somehow to acquire a lot of information about Buford affairs without giving out any about Harley affairs. Garrulous enough on all other subjects, he was tight-lipped about the business that had brought him to Newtown. Not that she cared—unless he was throwing the books into James.

She made one attempt to get light on this subject from James.

"What is Blake Harley doing here? I can't pry a word out of him. He didn't come to Newtown to run errands for us perfect ladies."

"Well—it's rather a confidential matter just now."

"Anything in it for Mr. Bu'ful?"

"I'm not sure yet; I'm looking into it carefully."

"If it's such a good thing, you ought to let the little woman in on it."

"Not yet, but soon. Blake and I agreed to keep it dark for the present. It has to be settled one way or the other next Monday, so you won't have long to wait."

Hazel had an uneasy feeling that she was involved in a game which she did not understand. Maybe Blake was using their friendship for business purposes. Or was it James who was using it? He had not registered the slightest objection to her playing around with Blake Harley. She ought to have liked that token of perfect trust, and yet she didn't—at least not quite. He might, she thought, have put in one little kick.

Another thought thrust itself forward. Monday! Who fixed the time limit? All the stock peddlers that had ever infested the Rathburn home had done that. Ted Jefferson, who works in a Gregory bank, had once made that clear to her as follows:

"Remember this, little Twinkletoes. If it's a high-class investment it'll wait till you get ready for it. You never have to decide by Thursday noon."

MUSIC and dancing, colored lights and flowers, bright costumes, food and drink, decorated booths, games of skill and chance, moonlight glittering on the Ladaga—with such ingredients as these Latin peoples would have stirred up a boiling pot of gaiety. But these hard-working Nordics had forgotten how to play. Through a partly cloudy Friday and a fair and warmer Saturday the carnival had walked its sedate way. There had not been as much fun as the occasion demanded, and, what was worse, the receipts at James' temporary office at the entrance—in private life, William H. Bamby's flour and feed store—had not been up to expectations.

Hazel had done her desperate best throughout the two days of revelry. Not being attached to any booth or department, she had put in her services wherever they seemed most sorely needed.

Now it was Saturday night. The street of the miniature village was crowded. Now, if ever, Joytown must be infected with recklessness. In this desperate situation, Hazel turned for help to Harley.

"Blake, we've got to do something. We Greggies must stand together. This party is all wet. Nobody is having any fun; nobody is loosening up. Where will the poor sick people get off?"

He clutched wildly at the insubstantial moonlight and fell into the river with a most delicious splash.

"All right, partner. What'll we do?"

"Dance," said Hazel. "We've got to shake our feet until we get the gang waked up. First, let's see if we can throw some pep into the Tuneful Trio."

The jazz dispensers thus self-styled had been captured in darkest Gregory and imported at great expense. They were now going through their paces sadly and mechanically, and the little open-air dancing floor, admission 10 cents, was sparsely populated.

"Give us a hot one now," said Hazel to Bim Jackson, the peerless leader. "My gen'lman friend and I are going to do a Charleston."

"Yes'm. I'll wake 'em up. We'll give you a good hot one. Yes'm. That's our middle name."

As the Tuneful Trio blared into "Magnolia," Hazel and Blake Harley started off with a bang. The other dancers, suddenly aware that something unusual was afoot, formed a circle and watched. The young man at the gate was deluged with newcomers' dimes.

Of the intricacies of this strange form of barbarism, Hazel knew nothing whatever, but she had learned its fundamental principles—if one can call them principles—and she had an amazing instinct for rhythm. The queer, puzzling tempo of the Charleston was a challenge to Hazel; she threw her whole body into the job, arms and legs and shoulders, and under her expert management even the strange, knock-kneed, pigeon-toed, grotesque postures became somehow graceful. She and Blake were doing this dance—what they knew of it—expertly and amusingly, and the crowd was swaying and clapping with the time.

When it came to an end, the customers demanded more.

HAZEL wanted to do an encore, but something told her that it was the psychological moment to stop.

"No, that'll be all the Charleston. Now we'll do the Joytown."

As the Tuneful Trio crashed into a foxtrot she surrendered herself to the arms of Herb Stanley while Blake carried off Sibyl Meredith. Thus far Hazel's idea was working beautifully; the little pine floor, now the center of the night life of Joytown, was crowded, overcrowded. The time came when Hazel could carry out her cherished plan. Like a merry monarch, she now decreed: "Let there be dancing in the streets."

"You move your gang over here," she told Bim Jackson, "and toot that saxophone as if you were in the ball park." She chased all the younger dancing set out into the roadway. There was an agonizing moment when she could not be sure whether the innovation would succeed or fail; but her guess proved to be a shrewd one. The young dancers spread the disease and the larger public caught the infection. Before the astonishing evening was over the whole street was filled with dancers.

When the harvest was ripe for the sickle, Hazel rushed into James' office.

"Give me the official lid," she cried. "I think we can shake 'em down for a hatful now."

Other girls were provided with other hats and the intoxicated public fell an easy prey to these lovely blackmailers.

"This is marvelous!" James dumped the silver out upon the table.

"Wait till you see what's coming from the booths. The poor fish are buying right and left."

"This is all your doings, Hazel. You've put this over."

"A short wife and a gay one," she laughed. There was a line of worry on James' forehead that she had never seen before.

"What a rectangular person!" she thought as she hurried away. She referred not to her husband but to a stranger who studied an art calendar on the wall and did not come forward to be introduced—a square-shouldered, square-headed, square-toed man.

"Doesn't James ever dance?" asked Blake Harley later.

"Sure; but not tonight. He's got a lot of double-entering to do."

THE time inevitably came when the clock in the town hall struck 12. At the stroke Joytown melted away like Cinderella's magnificence, leaving only Maple place and a lot of tired people packing up the remnants. Hazel and Blake Harley had the last dance together and its end found them near the dock. By common consent they stepped around the little boathouse on the wooden platform overhanging the water.

Standing there in the cool moonlight, by the sparkling river, Hazel felt relaxed and peaceful and happy, conscious of a job well done, grateful to her dancing partner for his help.

"Little Twinkletoes," he said, earnestly, "you are a perfect wonder."

"Well, you're some jazz baby yourself."

"I don't mean just your dancing—I mean you."

"You've been a fine sidekick, Blake. I could never have got by without you."

"Maybe you'd like to do me a little favor."

"Anything within reason."

"James and I have a deal on. He's about to put his name on the dotted line, and you must sign, too."

"Why drag me in?"

"James hasn't got all it takes, but you know he's got some perfectly good property to mortgage. That needs the signature of the missus. Just a formality, of course; I ought to have let James spill it—but you've been such a good pal of mine. It's going to be a big thing for friend husband."

"What's the idea?"

"I don't suppose you care for all the dull details"——

"If I've got to sign something, I'd better know. I might be buying a set of books."

"NO KIDDING; this is good. Well, the fact is I discovered some time ago that there are valuable oil lands in Arkansas which belong by rights to the Buford family, and James is entitled to a fat share. This thing is so big that it will make everybody rich—including little Willie. Of course, it will take a piece of change to put it through and"——

"Blake Harley, do you mean to say you're pulling the inheritance game? Well, if this isn't like old home week! Why, father bit on that one before I was born. If this isn't a scream! Don't tell me there's a Spanish prisoner in yours."

"You've got me all wrong, Hazel. I wasn't trying to put anything over on you. I know a wise guy when I see one."

"Oh, I get you," said Hazel calmly. "Just a little game of us two to gyp my only husband. And where would I come in?"

"You won't come in—you'll go out. You won't be separated from James' jack; you don't even need to part with that bus you like so much."

"Now, how in the world," thought Hazel, "did I ever get myself into a jam like this?" She gradually became conscious of Harley's words again—"Florida"—"A million dollars in real estate"—"a week from now we'll be parking our educated dogs on a houseboat instead of a boathouse.

"We were just built for each other—you know that as well as I do. There's nothing between us but a measly little marriage license."

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch Sunday Magazine

PARIS.

THERE is no way to down Rochette. It seems impossible to keep him in jail or to prevent him catching suckers—to use the French expression, "picking the pears." The French police have got him, but there is nothing to prove they will succeed in holding him, any more than in the past.

Rochette, whose Christian names are Raoul Henri, is too well known in France to be called anything but plain Rochette. He is the French Ponzi. Rochette did the small French investors for 200,000,000 francs 20 years ago, and succeeded in keeping out of jail. # They Just Can't Keep Rochette in Jail

French Ponzi Has Mulcted Millions From Small Tradesmen and Peasants, but He Is Still Laughing at the Law.

a Special Correspondent of the ost-Dispatch Sunday Magazine

PARIS.

THERE is no way to down Rochette. It seems impossible to keep him in jail or prevent him catching suckers—use the French expression, cking the pears." The French ice have got him, but there is thing to prove they will succeed holding him, any more than in e past.

Rochette, whose Christian names re Raoul Henri, is too well own in France to be called any- ing but plain Rochette. He is the ench Ponzi. Rochette did the all French investors for 200,- 0,000 francs 20 years ago, and ceeded in keeping out of jail. e has now induced them to invest ,000,000 more in stocks that ren't worth their money, but ugh he is in jail for the mo- nt it looks as if he had learned w to stay just within the law.

Rochette found out before he s 20 that "a pear ripens every ond." All an intelligent man s to do is to go out and pick em. If the pear-headed "come- s" give him their money to in- st and he invests it for them at e day's rate on the Bourse, Ro- tte regards that as a matter be- een himself and his clients, and ents amiably—he is always iling—the interference of the lice. The fact that he has bought a lot of the stock for next to thing and has helped it grow onger on the Bourse is, accord- g to him, his personal affair. He s not promised his client to do ything more than buy him stock a certain rate with the hope of rease in value. If the stock terward goes down to nothing—ll, doesn't stock often fall after having made a sensational rise?

At any rate, that is Rochette's game and he works it by a clever combination of banking and publicity.

On this last occasion he built up an investment bank called "Bourse et Finance" and at the same time printed a financial bulletin sheet also called "Bourse et Finance." He picked out one provincial city after another, in rapid succession, established a small banking office and issued a "blurb" artfully written in such a way as to appeal to the avidity of the small investors.

His local organization was three-fold. First he made a list of investors from whom he hoped to get 2000 or 3000 francs apiece only. To them he sent his "Bourse et Finance," with a marked paragraph about some new stock on the Curb Exchange in which he was already interested. This was followed by a letter from the local manager of his newly established branch bank. Next appeared a plausible salesman, sometimes with a collection of highly embossed stocks in his limousine.

THE salesman's line of talk is easy to guess. He told the simple peasants, retired postmen, and, of course, widows, that they might as well get in on the big killing as any one else.

Sometimes the stocks actually were good, so that people did not always lose their money. It depended upon their luck in picking one of perhaps a dozen new stocks. Rochette himself didn't know. In fact it wasn't in his scheme to know. His game consisted in buying them all cheap, and selling them for a lot more than cost.

The French people are considered pretty shrewd about money. They are supposed to lay it away in old stockings and to part with it as slowly as an old woman who has her purse sewn in her third petticoat. But Rochette's agent had no difficulty in getting them. The greed for big profits will bring even the French peasant's sock out of the mattress.

It was found as soon as Rochette was arrested the last time that he had made it very difficult for the state to build a case against him. Obviously, it wasn't so much a question whether Rochette should go to jail, as whether the French investors should not be protected against their own folly—for Rochette had not taken a cent of money that had not been freely given him to invest, and he had duly made the investments.

Raoul Henri Rochette, with cigar in his mouth, talking to detectives.

Rochette as a soldier.

Rochette was born at Melun. His first real job was at keeping the crooked accounts of an investment banker who was launching a South American gold mine. When this shady financier failed and cleared out Rochette gathered up the worthless stock, launched a company, cleaned up on it—and then let it fall. He had discovered where his game lay.

He started a little bank called "The Mining and Industrial Installment Bank," and simultaneously a little financial sheet called "Practical Finance."

This first venture was capitalized for half a million francs, but within a few weeks Rochette was launching subsidiary companies, beginning at two millions and running within a year up to twenty millions, piling one investment on another, and working the provinces hard. He had the whole country divided into zones for his stock salesmen and had tens of thousands of "pears" on his list: He worked so fast that he would have ten new companies going on the Bourse for every one that failed.

ROCHETTE was going at a dizzy rate, and if he had happened to fall upon some stock that had made a substantial rise he would probably have become one of the biggest bankers in France. But he did not have the luck to pick any prize stock to keep his kite flying and they got him in 1908.

It was figured that his investors lost 200 millions. He was condemned to three years' imprisonment, but kept on appealing until 1912. Meanwhile he went at it again under another name until he was arrested again, this time in Rouen, where he was planning to build up another investment company on the same old lines. The game was just too good for Rochette to leave alone.

When he was condemned, however, the second time he had already jumped the bail. He disappeared, and tried his hand successively in New York, Mexico and Athens. He was caught in Austria at the outbreak of war, but got back to France under a false passport and enlisted under a false name.

When he was discovered, three years later, he said nonchalantly:

"Yes, I am Rochette, a crook if you like, but a Frenchman just the same."

He hoped his war record would wipe out the past, and was hurt when he found out it did not. So he fought the old cases, and eventually went at the old game again, under an alias, of course.

In 1921 Rochette got a year's imprisonment. But he wasn't out of jail three days before he was at his old tricks.

However, he stepped more cautiously than before, so it was quite a long time before the new generation of police came to realize that the old fox was on the rampage again. When, finally, they came down upon him they found he had learned some new tricks meanwhile. He had been through the courts often enough to know the law couldn't touch him simply for selling stock to people, even if he had made them appear rather more wonderful than they were.

As there are always "pears," Rochette, who is now 49, need only keep within the law and he may still get his game on a good business basis and become rich and respectable.

A SHORT WIFE AND A MERRY ONE

(Concluded from page 8.)

"Only one?" There was a honey sweetness in Hazel's tone that, to one who knew her better, would have been a warning that something cataclysmic and devastating was about to happen.

"Well—two, if you want all the statistics."

The next job was pleasant and easy work for a healthy girl who had spent her years carrying trays and golf clubs. She swiftly placed one accomplished foot where it would do the most good and gave Harley a hearty push. He clutched wildly at the insubstantial moonlight and fell into the river with a most delicious splash.

"That," thought Hazel as she rounded the boathouse to the shore, "will give the Ladaga something to laugh about."

When she entered the seat of government of Joytown, she was appalled to find that she had walked into an ovation. James was taking in the funds from the booths and shows, methodically counting the money. He looked white and tired, but he worked swiftly and efficiently. "And yet he was falling for one of the oldest con games in history," thought Hazel.

The good ladies made it clear that Hazel had brought victory out of defeat. She was showered with thanks and congratulations.

To James she whispered, as she threw a light cloak over her nurse's costume:

"Mother is all in. I'll take her home in the car and come back for you."

"Don't bother about me, dear. The walk will do me good."

"No, listen! Let's take a little run down the river road and blow our brains out."

"Righto! I'll try to be ready when you get back."

HAZEL hurried away with Mother Buford to escape from these painful congratulations, but the older woman proved to be even more distressing.

"We owe everything to you and to Mr. Harley. I'm afraid I wasn't quite fair to that young man. I thought you were seeing too much of him. I'm old-fashioned and I can't change. Please forgive me."

This apology was almost more than Hazel could bear, but Mother Buford must be protected from the truth, even at the cost of hypocrisy.

"That's all right. No harm done."

"We must have him to dinner tomorrow."

"Well," laughed Hazel, "we could lock up the solid silver and"——

This well-intentioned pleasantry missed its mark.

"I deserve that," said Mrs. Buford solemnly, "but I shall not interfere in your affairs again."

At the door Hazel drowned her mother-in-law's apology in the roar of the motor and drove away hurriedly, feeling as if she had just set fire to a home for crippled children.

She found James putting the Joytown treasury to bed in the flour and feed store safe. This gave her a few minutes of reprieve.

As they sped out through the quiet streets, Hazel decided to tell him about the personal matter first. It was about time to find out whether James was a husband or only a collector of revenue.

Now they were winding along the river road and she brought the car to a halt at a favorite spot of theirs, where the Ladaga, fringed with white birches, lay beneath them in a wide silvery arc. There she told him the truth about Blake Harley.

"We picked a bad one, James. I thought he was such a nice playmate, and it all seemed so innocent and happy. I got a lot of jazz out of my system and helped the show—and then he spoiled everything."

"You mean he got fresh?"

"Well, he wanted me to elope with him and beat it for Florida, if you call that fresh."

There was a moment of deathly silence.

"Let's see, now; what had I better do?"

It was agonizing to find him so cool and calculating.

"There's nothing for you to do." Hazel's voice was like sharp, cold steel. "You were busy with your precious bookkeeping and I didn't want to bother you, so I pushed him into the river."

It took quite a number of earnest words to convince James that she meant this literally. "Of course he'll sneak out of town on the early morning train. I'm sorry if I've interfered with your plans for Monday."

"THAT'S all right. I suppose you didn't know that you were throwing quite a wad of money into the river."

"I know all about that. He wanted me to sign away the old homestead. I'm surprised at your falling for that old one. Some Napoleon of finance!"

"You've got me all wrong, Hazel."

"That's exactly what Blake said."

"I was going to tell you about it tonight. We were supposed to sign the papers on Monday, with the kind assistance of Mr. Sweeney."

"Who is Mr. Sweeney?"

"The man you saw in the office tonight, my alleged attorney. As a matter of fact he's a detective from the Bankers' Protective Association. When Blake Harley made his proposition to me I wrote the usual letters of inquiry and awaited developments. This Sweeney came here tonight with theories and suspicions.

"He identified Harley when he saw him dancing the Charleston with you. I suppose Blake has a real name, but he is known to the trade as The Jazz Baby. It seems he has quite a list of confidence games to his credit, but he has always been too clever to leave damaging evidence. This would have turned the trick and there would have been a reward from the association. The money, of course, would have gone to the hospital fund."

"So Blake Harley was to be arrested on Monday?"

"YES, and I was looking forward to Monday as if I had a date with the electric chair. I'm glad you pushed him out of the picture He has defrauded a lot of people, in one way or another, and it was my duty as a banker to help lock him up, but I hated to be mixed up in it. He was nice to you. He gave you something you needed in your business — something I couldn't give you myself. I know what you've been up against; I'm not as dumb as you think."

Hazel relaxed her grip on the steering wheel and fastened it on James.

They got close to the naked truth out there in the clear September night. Hazel said things that she had never found it possible to say before. "A triangle story"—the phrase somehow crept into their talk. Yes, it was one of the commonest and most baffling of all triangles—one wife, one husband and one mother. James said they would all work this out and find the answer.

"I suppose," she said at last, "we'd better end this petting party and go home."

"Let me drive this time." They shifted places and James took the wheel.

"Here is a place to turn around," said Hazel.

But James, who never did an unexpected thing, treated her to a surprise.

"We're not going to turn around. We're going to Gregory. We'll rest up and then we'll have a glorious time."

HAZEL saw the whole plan in a wave of happiness. They were going to start over. They were going to recapture the fine, careless rapture of those great days. But it was she, this time, who furnished the sober second thought.

"Mother Buford will worry."

"We'll telephone her from the next town."

"Have we got any money?"

"Enough to start with."

"How about clothes? You're all right in that suit, but I haven't anything to wear."

"We'll buy some. It's about time you had a change of scenery, anyhow."

"It'll look as if you were eloping with your nurse. All righty; I'm game if you are."

"We ought to be there by daylight."

"Dawn is the movie word," said Hazel. "The dawn of a brighter day."

"Yes. I am going to lead a better life. I've learned something from that jazz baby of yours. You watch my smoke this winter. You'll have me dancing the Charleston before it's over. I'm a reformed character."

"A reformed bookkeeper."

"I'm going to be a wife-keeper from now on."

"Oh, Lord! I've married a wisecracker."

"So that problem," said James, "is solved."

"That problem is solved," echoed Hazel. She knew, way back in her wise little head, that there was a whole page of other problems ahead and more pages beyond that and so on to the end of the book.

James, of course, would never be a jazz baby; but she'd meet him 50-50. She would be a soberer and wiser wife.

They were on a straight, level road now and the motor had settled to a rhythmic beat. In her happy, drowsy consciousness it set up a cadence, a white toe tapped it out upon the floor.

Science Says the Flatworm Is Immortal

Investigators Discover the Zoological Fountain of Youth and Other Wonders of Biology.

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch Sunday Magazine

SOME really astounding things have been going on, and are still in progress in obscure places—in laboratories where pale, bespectacled men, generally overworked and underpaid, patiently fuss around with little animals and microscopes.

These men call themselves biologists and they are studying the science of life. They are, in fact, juggling with living things of all kinds. And their most recent performances are nothing less than miracles, miracles which may some day be worked upon our own human bodies, and which may eventually make of us a race of supermen, freed from all diseases, with physiques as strong as we want them to be. They may also make it possible for us to live almost as long as we want to live—to stave off death indefinitely.

Take the case of one particular worm, whose bodily faculties may well arouse the envy of any of us. This worm has been granted nothing less than immortality by our modern biologists. He is generally called a "flatworm," but he also sports the elegant scientific name of "Pathyhelminthis."

A whole collection of these flatworms, placed under special treatment in a Chicago laboratory, have recently been kept alive together, while 19 generations of their fellows, allowed to lead their normal lives, were successively born and successively passed away in death. And there is no reason why these ageless worms could not have been kept alive indefinitely—forever. Such worms may be literally immortal; they have been endowed with the elixir of life.

This scientific feat, which really throws new light on the great problems of life, growth, old age and death, is the achievement of a redoubtable professor of zoology (a branch of biology) at the University of Chicago—Charles Manning Child. The quest of the fountain of youth by laboratory methods has occupied his attention during the past dozen years.

And now, at length, he has actually discovered this miraculous fountain—but its waters can be quaffed with benefit only by certain of the simplest and lowest forms of living beings, notably by the members of the flatworm family.

THE flatworm is a creeping fresh-water animal; it ranges in size from half an inch to an inch long; and possesses the remarkable power of living on itself when in circumstances of starvation. If it gets nothing to eat, it proceeds to nourish itself with the reserves of food stored within its own small body. It does not die; it simply grows smaller and smaller until it is reduced in size to less than that with which it emerged from its egg at birth. This strange behavior had already been noted by Prof. Lillie, another Chicago biologist, some years before Child began his experiments.

The still more remarkable fact that was noticed by Prof. Child was that the starved flatworms not only grew smaller, but also grew younger. That is, their bodies lost their adult characteristics and gradually assumed the form of younger worms—finally, of infant worms. If they were not fed they did not become smaller adult worms but became genuine baby worms.

A family of flatworms, then, was divided into two groups. One group was supplied with plenty of food; its members lived their normal lives; they grew older as well as larger, had children and duly died. Then their children likewise grew older, reared another generation of offspring and died likewise.

But the members of the lucky second group were not permitted to die in this way. When they grew old they were starved, and grew smaller and younger. Then they were fed again and grew larger and older. Then they were again starved and had a third childhood. This process was repeated again and again; the second group of flatworms passed through life after life and did not die, while the first group went through 19 generations of children, the grandparents dying as their grandchildren were born.

In terms of human life, 19 generations are the equivalent of five or six hundred years, if we count one human generation as about 30 years. If, then, the flatworm experiment could have been carried out on human beings around the year 1400, the subjects of the experiment would still be alive now, enjoying their nineteenth childhood. And if the experiment could only be successfully applied to human beings today, the subjects would still be living five or six centuries from now. Barring violent accidents, they would live on while nations and empires rose and fell. They would never need to die—for there is no reason to suppose that the second group of flatworms could not be alternately starved and fed, and thus kept alive practically forever.

BUT our bodies are not as simple as are those of the flatworms. It is true that we also possess the power of living on our reserves of food and energy if we starve ourselves, but we can do so for only very short periods of time. After a few weeks of fasting, our stored-up resources are exhausted, and we die.

Our scientists, taking up the quest of the elixir of life and of the fountain of youth where the alchemists of the Dark Ages left it in despair, are untiring in their efforts to lengthen the span of human life. Maybe they will succeed—who can tell? Researches like those of Professor Child may indeed be the beginning. If worms can be made to live forever, why not slightly higher forms of life, such as snakes or frogs, and so on up in the scale of the animal kingdom until man himself is reached.

Meanwhile, although actual immortality of our bodies still seems very far off, the efforts of biologists, aided by physicians and public health officials, have actually resulted in lengthening the average life of the civilized human being. Within the last 65 years, for instance, the average "expectation of life," as insurance experts call it, has been extended some 15 years. That is to say, if a child, living in the year 1862, might reasonably have expected to live to be 45, that same child, living today, might reasonably expect to live to be 60.

There is no reason why our life-span may not be further extended.

In an address a few weeks ago, Dr William H. Welch, noted pathologist of Johns Hopkins, declared: "New discoveries, utilization of recently acquired knowledge, improved working and home conditions—these are the things counted on to bring further decreases in the death rate. Public care of health and the spreading of medical knowledge among the people already have helped. Life has been lengthened materially, even in the last 20 years. But much more may be done."

THE long and successful wars that have been waged against infectious diseases have been chiefly responsible for this accomplishment. Malaria, smallpox, yellow fever, bubonic plague, sleeping sickness—here are a few of the plagues which have been almost expelled from the civilized world and will slowly but surely fade from the uncivilized as well. This method of control by extermination can be extended not only to larger parasites but to all animals noxious to man. Given time and a little trouble, biologists can make for us a world without centipedes, tarantulas, scorpions, biting insects and poisonous snakes as effectively as the United States Health Service has rid the Panama Canal Zone of malaria and yellow fever.

Two years ago, for instance, the gypsy moth was working untold damage along Cape Cod. Dead trees were standing everywhere. For some years there had been no leaves on any tree in some neighborhoods, and the caterpillars came down, when they had stripped the trees, to eat the grass and flowers. Hundreds of thousands of dollars a year were spent by the State in spraying and other curative measures, but with only meager results. Then the biologists came to the rescue. Having discovered just what natural enemies the gypsy moth had, they imported those enemies, a beetle and a winged insect whose brood, deposited as eggs in the caterpillar, devours the growing animal. These keep the gypsy moth in check, so that today the countryside is green again. Thus the world is being made safer and pleasanter to live in.

Recent experiments with ultra-violet light (invisible rays found in sunlight or produced artificially in laboratories) have also had most remarkable results in increasing health and happiness. Biologists have found that these rays heighten the natural resistance to infection, they alter the blood pressure, they tone the skin, they stimulate growth. Miraculous effects, particularly with children, are being obtained in hospitals all over the world with this light treatment.

Slum children, tubercular, emaciated, pale, rickety, with ulcers and sores upon them, come, for a month or two, to such places as the Treolar Hospital, near London, or to any of a half-dozen hospitals in New York, and go back vigorous and healthy.

Equally miraculous effects are being obtained upon tropical animals at the zoo.

When our most reputable and sober biologists are bold enough to make public statements regarding the results of experiments such as these, then the fantastic visions of writers like old Jonathan Swift, like the modernists, H. G. Wells and G. Bernard Shaw, may not seem so very far-fetched. In the third book of "Gulliver's Travels," for instance, there is a story of a race of people who were not permitted ever to die; they were called Struldbrugs and (as Swift was an embittered pessimist) grew more and more ill-natured, dirty, disgusting and hateful as they advanced in age. They did not grow younger, but in other respects they were much like Prof. Child's immortal flatworms. Quite otherwise are the immortal "ancients" in Shaw's "Back to Methuselah," who grow more and more intelligent as time passes. And Wells, in his romance, "When the Sleeper Awakes," imagines a man slumbering, Rip Van Winkle-like, for centuries, and awakening to find a miraculous world filled with all kinds of ultra-modern inventions.

Consider, then, the lowly flatworm. Think of Prof. Child's strange experiments; and perhaps you will begin to wonder what you would do with "all the time in the world," if, like a flatworm, you were suddenly presented with it.

Colorful as flawless honey. Her hair is yellow gold. Her skin is amber diluted with whitest milk. She should wear Naturelle Pompeian Beauty Powder and Medium or Orange Pompeian Bloom.

By MME. JEANNETTE DE CORDET, Beauty Specialist

TWO sisters—so exquisitely fashioned it seems a miracle that line of cheek, cleft of chin, and curve of lips could be so exactly alike. Yet—their coloring is not the same. At first glance they are two blondes—but look again and they are amazing contrasts. Do they dress in the same colors? No indeed. Nor do these sophisticated sisters wear the same shade of powder or the same tone of rouge. They are conscious of their twinship in features—but more conscious of their individual coloring.

The tone of your skin—rather than the color of your hair and eyes—determines your type. The deft accentuation of their own particular tone of skin is the subtle art by which many women achieve arresting beauty. They study their own type! They do not disguise their skin with a too-light powder, nor an odd tone of rouge, but skilfully aid Nature in accenting their natural coloring, thus giving emphasis to their individual type of beauty.

Pompeian Beauty Powder and Pompeian Bloom come in perfect shades. There are no odd colors among them—only those tender gradations of tones we find in the skin-tones of exquisite women. The Powder adheres perfectly, remaining in a velvety, smooth finish for hours at a time. Its delicate odor is as evasive as that of spring flowers. The Bloom, a rouge of absolute purity, blends with Pompeian Beauty Powder in complete harmony.

Pompeian Bloom is now presented in the daintiest of new containers. Ask for the "purse-size." Discriminating women all over the world are using Pompeian Beauty Powder and Pompeian Bloom to complement their natural coloring. Powder and Bloom each priced at 60c.

THE CIRCEAN BRUNETTE

Her amazing clear green eyes give her hypnotic beauty. Her skin has a delightful healthy pallor. She should wear Nude Pompeian Powder with Oriental Bloom and use Pompeian Lip Stick.

THE NEUTRAL BLONDE

Hers is a most sophisticated charm that flames into loveliness with the correct make-up. The Nude shade of Pompeian Powder forms a rich background for the Medium tone of Pompeian Bloom.

THE CREOLE BEAUTY

Her beauty is inherited from Spanish and French ancestors—her skin is like creamy velvet—it needs only a light dusting of the Nude shade of Pompeian Powder and a deft touch of Medium Bloom.

gusting and hateful as they advanced in age. They did not grow younger, but in other respects they were much like Prof. Child's immortal flatworms. Quite otherwise are the immortal "ancients" in Shaw's "Back to Methuselah," who grow more and more intelligent as time passes. And Wells, in his romance, "When the Sleeper Awakes," imagines a man slumbering, Rip Van Winkle-like, for centuries, and awakening to find a miraculous world filled with all kinds of ultra-modern inventions.

Consider, then, the lowly flatworm. Think of Prof. Child's strange experiments; and perhaps you will begin to wonder what you would do with "all the time in the world," if, like a flatworm, you were suddenly presented with it.

THE VENETIAN BLONDE

has rich coloring. Red-gold hair and a smooth clear skin. For her—the Rachel shade of Pompeian Powder with Oriental Bloom.

THE WATTEAU BLONDE

is delicately colored. Light gold hair, pale skin. For her—Naturelle Pompeian Powder with Light Bloom.

THE CIRCEAN BRUNETTE

Why Fat
Is Being Fought

Largely because of short skirts. But more because a slender figure suggests health and youth and vitality.

Look about you—note how slenderness prevails. Then ask those people how they get it.

Many will mention Marmola Prescription Tablets. It is the easy, pleasant method which acts by correcting the cause. People have used it for 19 years. The use has grown and grown, until people now are using Marmola in a very extensive way.

This method is easy and pleasant. No abnormal exercise or diet is required. The method is scientific, based on modern research. It is helpful and effective, else it never could have gained the place it holds.

Learn what Marmola means to you, as multitudes have done. Perhaps you have tried strenuous exercise and starvation. Now try the easier, more enduring way. If fat is offensive to you and your friends, do this to end it—now. Then tell others the results, as others will gladly tell you.

Marmola prescription tablets are sold by all druggists at $1 per box. If your druggist is out, he will get them at once from his jobber.

The Pleasant Way to Reduce

A cooling drink for your Labor Day holidays

"CANADA DRY" is an especially good drink for a hot summer day because it does not contain capsicum (red pepper) in any form. Its fine flavor is the true ginger flavor because we use only the highest grade Jamaica ginger.

This ginger costs us considerably more than ordinary ginger, but we use it day after day and year after year in order to make "Canada Dry" the finest ginger ale that modern scientific methods can produce or money can buy.

We take great care in selecting this ginger and every step in its preparation is carefully supervised. We even grind it ourselves to make sure that it is not adulterated with the foreign substances sometimes found in ordinary commercial ginger.

Drink "Canada Dry," therefore, because it isn't syrupy sweet like ordinary beverages, but crisp and keen with the delicate, inviting taste of real Jamaica ginger. Drink it because it cools and refreshes! Because it is served in the great hospitals of this country and of Canada and you know it is genuinely good for you.

PARDON ME, SIR. DID A GOLF BALL COME OVER THIS WAY?
WE'D BETTER LOOK FOR YOUR DAD DON, SO ROD CAN HAVE HIS INTERVIEW
SURE, AFTER ALL, ROD'S FUTURE MEANS MORE THAN A FEW HOLES OF GOLF
8-28
10
SAY, DORA, THIS FUNNY LOOKING, OVER-STUFFED WALRUS CLAIMS I HIT HIM WITH A BALL! SHALL I SOCK HIM ONE?
WHY, ROD, THAT'S MR SPANKLE, THE MAN THAT'S GOING TO GIVE YOU WORK!!
11
I CERTAINLY DIDN'T COME OUT HERE FOR A FIGHT
WE'LL GO IN THE CLUBHOUSE AND DANCE UNTIL DINNER
I'LL SEE THAT YOU GET WORK! - IN THE WORK-HOUSE!
SHE AIN'T DUMB - ITS ME!
